Railways Get 7.4% Boost From Board

General Increase Will Be Added To Freight Rates

OTTAWA, March 1—(CP)—A general increase of 7.4 per cent in railway freight rates was authorized today by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The Commissioners ruled that an interim eight-per-cent increase granted to the railways last September should be boosted to 16 per cent over the rates prevailing before the award. This amounts to 7.4 per cent. over current rates.

The two increases are on top of a general 21-per-cent hoist awarded the railways in 1948. In all, they amount to a combined increase of about 40 per cent. over the wartime rates on the traffic to which they apply.

The increase is applicable to most traffic within Canada except grain and grain products moving within Western Canada, which are exempted, and coal and coke, upon which the Board authorized an increase of seven cents a ton on top of eight cents a ton awarded in September.

The railways are expected to apply the increases to the full extent of the award except on competitive rates — those that have been depressed to meet competition—on which they likely will modify any rises in accord with competitive factors.

Get $28,000,000

The award, it was estimated unofficially, will yield the railways a gross of about $28,000,000 a year.

The new rates may be put into effect by the railways on 15 days' notice.

A three-man panel of the board headed by Hugh Wardrope, assistant chief commissioner, delivered the judgment.

The judgment, which came within four percentage points of the full amount of a 20-per-cent application filed originally by the railways in 1948, was unanimous.

Commissioner Wardrope and Howard B. Chase concurred in the main 10,000-word decision.

And The Lion Roared

March In No Playful Mood

Winter took wings from the 1950 calendars this morning, but in the Monaghan countryside, in the probabilities and in the thermometer columns, it had all the appearance of a tenant with no notion of moving out.

Hopes for March arriving as playful and friendly as the gambling lambs that are bringing increment to farm flocks in the district were buried under the deeper blanket of snow that fell Tuesday and during the night. There was promise of spring in the bright sunshine, but otherwise today's weather was typical of February.

Wind was blowing the light snow into a luminous curtain just beyond the township borders that cut off vision at something like a quarter of a mile. Snow was swirling across the Monaghan fields, plainly drifting and making trouble for traffic beyond the main roads over which early plows had made satisfactory motoring.

March came in like a lion, in the phrase of weather lore. More tempestuous lions have been on the prowl at this season, but it was nevertheless quite a boisterous fellow that was abroad out toward Reeve Melville Johnston's country this morning. The snow screen slanting across the southern reaches of Monaghan Road and Park St. drew in the visible boundaries of the city in that direction. From Romaine St. you could not see past McKellar St. when the wind was sweeping up the loose snow and tossing it about.

The philosophy of the corner store familiar has been confirmed these last two weeks. The Canadian winter usually demonstrates its rigors, and if you don't shiver from them in mid-season you are bound to encounter the sting in its tail.

U.K. Key Posts In Cabinet Left Unchanged

LONDON, March 1 — (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee has reshuffled his Labor cabinet along strong political lines to meet the threatened Conservative challenge in parliament which opens today.

Attlee, whose Labor party majority in the 625-member House of Commons was cut to a scanty seven in last week's elections, kept his three top Cabinet aides: Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, and Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

He made some 15 changes, chiefly in the lower brackets, in a move obviously aimed at strengthening the party for new elections which most observers feel will be called within a few months at most.

He increased his cabinet from 17 to 18 members — elevating several Labor members who are expected to swing considerable weight in any new election campaign.

Include Dalton

The new cabinet post went to Hugh Dalton as Minister of Town and Country Planning, which was raised to fifth in order of importance. Dalton, formerly holding the trouble-shooting job as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, succeeded Lewis Silkin, who was not a candidate for re-election to the Commons.

Emanuel Shinwell, former War Secretary, was promoted to Defence Minister, replacing Viscount Alexander of Hillsborough. Lord Alexander got Dalton's old job in the Duchy of Lancaster post.

James Griffiths, former Minister of National Insurance, was promoted to Colonial Secretary filling the post left open by Arthur Creech Jones, who failed to get re-elected. Dr. Edith Summerskill, Britain's only woman minister for several years, got the National Insurance post. She was formerly Parliamentary Secretary in the Ministry of Food.

Another promotion went to Scotsman Hector McNeil, former Minister of State and United

Grants To Municipalities Need Revising Oliver Says

TORONTO, March 1—Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver Tuesday told the Ontario Legislature that it was time the whole system of grants to municipalities was revised. Mr. Oliver, in the debate on the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, urged that a conference be held between the Ontario government and municipalities to restore "initiative" and adequate taxing power to the municipalities. Mr. Oliver charged that the Provincial government was giving "only lip service" to the idea that municipalities were best governed by "the government closest to the people." Grants to school boards and municipalities were subject to conditions laid down by the Ontario government.

Mr. Oliver moved an amendment to the address, regretting that the throne speech contained no indication that a provincial-municipal conference would be called before the convening of the dominion-provincial conference.

He described the present government as "the greatest taxing government the province has ever had." Premier Frost "with all the appearances of Santa Claus" told the legislature last week that the government was giving more money for highways, hospitals and education than ever before.

"You would almost think the government was a philanthropic society which is able to give with no thought to the fact that the larder must be replenished from the pocketbooks of the people of Ontario."

The Ontario government could "do something" to help the farmer who was being "squeezed between the sterling and dollar areas." The government had made a "serious mistake" in removing the subsidy from hogs and cheese. With the loss of the British bacon market the hog bonus would have "gone a long way" to stabilize the bacon industry.

RESCUES 2 CHILDREN

TORONTO, March 1 (CP)—A young mother suffered burns to her legs today when she leaped through flames in the kitchen of her suburban North York township home to rescue two of her small children. Mrs. Irene Darlow, carried Ralph, one, and Barry, [illegible] Ronnie went for help.

30 Patients Evacuate Lodge

TORONTO, March 1 —(CP)—About 30 elderly patients were led out of Lambert Lodge, city-owned home for the aged, today as a measure during a two-alarm fire in a nearby warehouse in which a dozen members of the lodge staff were working.

No one was injured. The workers in the warehouse reached safety without difficulty, as did more than 12 staff members who were in the lodge itself. A dozen nurses lent their residence during the fire.

The two-storey warehouse had been used in part to store bundles for Britain. The lodge, in west-central Toronto, is the former Christie Street Military Hospital.

Ruble Changes Hit Satellites

WASHINGTON, March 1. —(AP).—United States government officials said today that Russia's new currency change probably marks the beginning of the period of "ruble diplomacy" in exploitation of the Communist satellites.

Evidently the Russians are also trying to use the ruble as a propaganda weapon even beyond the Communist area by showing it off as a monetary unit even more dependable, in their claim, than the US dollar.

While they speculated along these lines, State Department officials said it may be some time before the full intentions of the Kremlin are clear.

The monetary moves cover three lines of action. Prices on a number of consumer commodities, including [illegible] beef and wine were cut, the ruble was switched from a dollar standard to gold as a measure of its value; and the value of the ruble was increased from about 19 cents to about 25 cents.

Diplomatic informants said the price cuts had been rumored in Moscow f several weeks and in fact had been expected earlier this year.

Will Extend Old Law Another Year

Decide Government Should Determine Orderly De-Controls

OTTAWA, March 1—(CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today unanimously upheld the validity of Federal rent regulations, paving the way for extension of controls for at least another year.

Decision of the Court was announced by Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret. Federal officials said later that Finance Minister Abbott, within the next few days, will introduce legislation in the Commons to renew domestic rent regulations "for at least another year."

The controls otherwise would expire March 31.

Seven justices rendered opinions in the rent case, which was fought before the court for three days, Jan. 31-Feb. 2.

All agreed that parliament has the right to enact legislation which deals with national emergencies arising out of war.

They also agreed that it is up to parliament to decide the length of time necessary to eliminate such legislation when the emergency no longer exists.

This decision of the court is in the nature of an opinion and in a legal sense is not binding on anyone.

Answers Question

It is an answer to a federal question put to the court which asked the justice to decide:

"Are the Wartime Leasehold Regulations ultra vires—beyond the jurisdiction of parliament—either in whole or in part and if so in what particulars or to what extent?"

The decision means the federal government can ask parliament to extend controls on domestic rents.

Two judgments of the judicial committee of the Privy Council, one made in 1923 and the other in 1947, were the basis of opinion that federal rent controls are valid.

The early case is known as the Fort Frances case, involving First World War paper controls. The other was the Japanese reference case in which the federal government's right to move Japanese from the west coast during the war was upheld.

These cases were described by Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret as authority for opinion that even after hostilities end, parliament is empowered to continue to control of rents for the purpose of winding up its rent-control program in an orderly manner.

Leopard Dies After Capture

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 1—(AP)—Oklahoma City's now famed leopard died in his cage at 6:45 [illegible] he was captured following a concentrated hunt.

Julian Frazier, zoo director who led the 61-hour hunt, which finally ended in the fugitive cat's passive capture, said "it is hard to say what caused his death."

The animal, which leaped to freedom from his pit Saturday afternoon at the Oklahoma City Zoo, was taken in the early morning hours—about 2 a.m.—after he ate two drugged chunks of meat.

Frazier said zoo keeper Roy Roberts found the leopard dead in his cage only 30 minutes after Dr. R. W. Bowerman, a veterinarian, checked the big cat and reported his respiration good.

The 175-pound leopard had been drowsy throughout the day —the effects of the powerful drug. Dr. Bowerman said an autopsy will be performed this morning.

"It's impossible to say for sure what caused his death," Bowerman said. "We feel that the leopard ate more of the drugged horse meat than we anticipated. He consumed two large pieces.

"My instructions were to be sure to put enough choral hydrate in each piece to put him to sleep and assure the capture."

MAXIMUM PENALTY of 14 years' imprisonment was handed out today to Dr. Klaus Fuchs, British atomic scientist found guilty of giving secrets to Russia.

Unemployment Jumps 2,700 In Two Weeks

OTTAWA, March 1 — (CP).—Unemployment in Canada increased by 2,700 during the two weeks ended February 16, the Labor Department reported today.

At that date, there were 378,300 persons seeking work through the National Employment Service, the Department said in a periodic review of the employment situation.

This compared with 375,600 jobless a February 2, 323,000 at January 12, and 261,000 at December 22.

A peak of 380,900 was reached at February 9 before the total tapered off to the February 16 figure.

Dealing with the decline between Feb. 9 and 16, the department said the drop was greatest in the Pacific region, where 3,600 fewer jobless were reported. It attributed this to improved weather conditions which permitted loggers, sawmill and construction workers to return to their jobs.

Up Elsewhere

However, the Pacific decline was offset to some extent by increases in unemployed in the Maritimes and Quebec. Slight declines were reported from Ontario and the prairies.

The department said information received from most local employment offices "points to a definite improvement in the employment situation."

"Out of 180 local national employment service office areas, 80 reported a decline in the number of job seekers: most of the rest indicated a slowing down in the rate at which persons were registering for work."

By regions, this was the unemployment picture across Canada at Feb. 16, with Feb. 2 totals in brackets:

Atlantic 57,000 (54,900); Quebec 110,900 (109,300); Ontario 90,100 (89,800); prairies 54,200 (52,900); Pacific 66,100 (68,700.

The department had a bright word for the unemployed.

It said that during the next month or two "more and more job openings for many of those at present out of work are in prospect, as construction, transportation and agriculture become active in the spring."

Jail U.K. Atomic Scientist For 14 Years, Dr. Fuchs Given Maximum

Judge Tells German His Spying Does Britain 'Irreparable Damage'; Makes Things Difficult To Accept Refugees

LONDON, March 1—(CP)—Dr. Klaus Fuchs, brilliant German-born British scientist, today was sentenced to 14 years imprisonment after pleading guilty to betraying his adopted country by turning over British and American atom bomb secrets to Russia. The punishment handed out to Fuchs was the maximum sentence the court could impose. Fuchs, 38-year-old leader in British atomic research, had pleaded guilty in an old Bailey Court before the Lord Chief Justice, Lord Goddard.

Fuchs' trial moved so swiftly in the No. 1 court of Old Bailey, it was over in 90 minutes.

"You have imperilled the right of asylum which this country has hitherto extended to political refugees," Lord Goddard told the 38-year-old Jekyll-Hyde scientist. Fuchs arrived in Britain in 1933, a refugee from Nazi persecution.

Fuchs Ashamed

Fuchs was charged with betraying secrets to Russian agents while in Birmingham, England, in 1943; in New York in 1944; in Boston in February, 1945, and in England again in 1947.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, the prosecutor, pictured Fuchs as "disillusioned and ashamed" for having placed himself and his country in "this terrible position."

Fuchs was arrested on a tip by the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation. He had been trusted with the deepest secrets of British and American atom research and had worked at Los Alamos, N. M., where the atom bomb was perfected and exploded.

Fuchs, a Communist since 1932 and a naturalized British citizen, was told by Lord Goddard:

"You have betrayed not only the inventions of your own brain for which this country was paying you, but you have caused grave suspicion to fall on those whom you falsely treated as friends.

"You might have imperilled the friendship between this country and the great American Republic with whom His Majesty (the King) is allied.

Irreparable Harm

"You have done irreparable harm both to this land and the USA and you did it as your statement shows—clearly for the purpose of furthering your political creed."

The Lord Chief Justice was referring here to Fuchs' confession, in which he had said he deliberately split his personality into

Find 2 Bodies In Hamilton Box Car Fire

HAMILTON, March 1 (CP) — The bodies of a man and woman, burned beyond recognition, were found in a box car on the siding of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. this morning. The car contained bales of crude rubber, and the charred bodies were found lying on the bales by firemen.

Police said that the pair may have been trapped in the car through error and started the fire to attract attention to their plight.

The cargo of crude rubber was destroyed in the blaze.

Not Identified

The victims, both in their early 30s, were not identified.

The woman's body toppled to the ground along with several burning bales when firemen with crowbars pried open the car door. The body was burned beyond recognition, firemen said. The head and one leg were separated from the rest of the body.

Both legs of the man were almost burned off.

Firemen said that when they opened the car, what appeared to be a wine bottle fell out and was broken.

Royal Assent For Jobless Bill

OTTAWA, March 1—(CP)—Some of Canada 375,000 unemployed today became eligible for special and supplementary unemployment insurance benefits.

The bill providing for the benefits, to be paid this year from March 1 to April 15, were adopted in the Senate Tuesday and given royal assent shortly after by Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret. It was the first legislation approved at the second session of the present parliament to be given royal assent.

The special and supplementary unemployment benefits will amount to about 80 per cent of what the unemployed received under the former Unemployment Insurance Act [illegible] to aid workers unable to find em[illegible] season [illegible] will not prejudice the worker's claim for full benefits under the act at some future time.

Pact Countries Meet

LONDON, March 1 (AP)—The foreign ministers of the 12 Atlantic pact countries are planning to meet this spring, probably in Europe, the foreign office said today. A foreign office spokesman said the meeting of "the council of the North Atlantic pact" might give the United States, British and portunity to hold special big three meetings.

Police Rapped For Negligence

MONTREAL, March 1 (CP) — The city's executive committee today found a "certain degree of negligence" on the part of the police morality division and declared that Police Director Albert Langlois "has not produced the results required."

The committee, top governing body of the city of Montreal, issued a statement following a study of vice conditions. It said the morality division "was not up to the standard of their task."

The committee said it found less serious than some people would like to make out, is nevertheless not satisfactory."

The committee did not comment on recent police recommendations which resulted in city orders to close several night clubs and a theatre.

No Written Reasons For IUE Rejection

TORONTO, March 1 (CP) — P. M. Draper, chairman of the Ontario Labor Relations Board, said today there are no written reasons for the board's decision rejecting an application for certification of the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO) as bargaining agent for 3,200 employees of the Canadian General Electric plant at Peterborough.

He declined to give reporters any details of the Board's discussion of the case.

The IUEW sought to supplant the electrical workers as the employees' representative in collective bargaining.

Unemployment Projects Not Needed Yet—St. Laurent

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—(CP). — The Federal government does not share in the belief that it is necessary to undertake unemployment relief projects this year, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Tuesday.

He said the government has reached this decision because private enterprise plans a large capital investment program again this year. Surveys show capital investment in 1950 should not be less than last year, he told a Montreal delegation of businessmen seeking a federal grant of $4,000,000 towards a sports centre.

The Prime Minister said the amount of work actually accomplished would not be increased if the government undertook projects not already planned since it likely would be competing with private interests for available manpower.

He regretted there is unemployment at this time and said he was sorry for those out of work. However, he believed that unemployment estimated at 375,000 by the Labor Department—was seasonal and would disappear.

Lucien Roy, president of Bilingual Association, read a brief in which the delegation outlined plans for the sports centre. It would cost $10,000,000. The federal government would be asked to pay $4,000,000, the Quebec government $4,000,000 and the city of Montreal $2,000,000.

Mr. St. Laurent did not turn down the request. He said he and his cabinet colleagues would study it in the light of other commitments. Expenditures on defence were preventing the government from doing many things which the people wanted.

Sentenced 20-40 Yrs. For New York Murder

NEW YORK, March 1 (CP) — Ralph Edward Barrows today was sentenced to serve from 20 to 40 years for the first-degree manslaughter death of Colin Cameron Mackellar, prominent Montreal business man.

In imposing the maximum sentence, Judge Saul S. Streit branded the 20-year-old Grand Rapids, Mich., youth "a sexual maniac" and "a menace to society."

Barrows, husky former high school athlete, was convicted in the slaying of Mackellar, 56-year-old vice-president of Dominion Textiles, Limited. An all-male jury heard the case in January.

Stage Hands, 'Met' Stars Throw Party For Old Boss

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP) — The men and women of the opera —from stage hands to stars — threw a party last night for Edward Johnson, the man who has been their boss for 15 years.

Johnson, a native of Guelph, retires in May as general manager of the Metropolitan Opera

There was a full house — the thing he always liked to see — on hand to bid him farewell.

Past and present members of the company, including prop men, oilers, billposter, conductors, musicians, clerks, world-famous singers, members of the board of directors, firemen and mechanics were present.

Twelve unions volunteered their services for the affair, which began with a performance of Puccini's "La Costa" and included sketches of 12 of the 72 operas that have been produced under Johnson's direction.

Proceeds, estimated at $46,000, were designated for an Edward Johnson testimonial fund.

In a brief speech, tinged with emotion, Johnson said the money would be available to the Metropolitan in periods of stress — several of which the Met has weathered during Johnson's management.

Johnson, who made his debut at the Met as a tenor in 1922, called his years at the opera "fruitful, exciting and very happy."

Gifts presented to him included a portrait which will be hung on the walls of the famous old opera house, along with the top figures in history.

Rudolf Bing takes over as general manager for the 1950-51 season.

Top Trade Officials Seek Potato Solution

OTTAWA, March 1.—(CP). — Top Canadian and United States trade officials will meet here Friday to seek a solution for wheat and potato problems confronting the two countries.

Informed sources said Tuesday night that Charles Brannan, United States secretary of agriculture, will meet with Trade Minister Howe to discuss Canadian wheat exports under the multilateral international wheat agreement and the opposition of U.S. potato growers to the appearance of Canadian spuds on the American market.

Differences between Canada and the U.S. over wheat quotas for Germany and Japan became known a few months ago when the Council of the International Wheat Agreement met in London.

Ask Hydro Rates Equalized For All Ontario

TORONTO, March 1—(CP)—Equalized Hydro rates for all of Ontario were asked in a resolution endorsed Tuesday by the convention of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association.

Delegates from Niagara Falls argued that the geographic location of their city should be recognized by a low rate but others contended that the cost of transmitting power to areas far distant from generating sites should be share by communities closer to the source.

Mr. Saunders said that the Des Joachims plant on the Ottawa river would be generating 180,000 horsepower by next July, and an additional 400,000 horsepower by January of 1951. Pine Portage on the Nipigon river would provide an initial output of 80,000 horsepower by September. The Mississagi River generating station would add 56,000 horsepower by June.

Protection for North

A line system connecting generating stations in northern and southern Ontario would be completed during the summer, said Mr. Saunders, protecting Northern Ontario against any power shortage during the next fall and winter.

R. Butter of Owen Sound was elected president of the Association of Municipal Electrical Utilities of Ontario with M. W. Rodgers of Carleton Place vice-president. Directors-at-Large are N. A. Grandfield of Brantford, R. S. Reynolds of Chatham and O. H. Scott of Belleville.

District Directors are V. A. McKillop of London; A. W. Bromley, Kitchener; H. A. Howard, Thorold; G. E. Chase, Bowmanville; N. A. Belfrey, Uxbridge; N. J. Douglas, Smiths Falls; A. W. H. Taber, Fort William, and R. H. Martindale, Sudbury.

Weird Career of Dr. Klaus Fuchs – Selfmade 'Jekyll and Hyde'

Flight from the Gestapo

Wins easy access to most secret atomic data

His two selves—good and evil.

Evil self takes charge.

Better self triumphs.

Dr. Klaus Emil Julius Fuchs, 38-year-old British scientist found guilty on charges of betraying atomic secrets to Russia, was forced to flee his native Germany in 1933 because of his Communist underground activities. Then only 22, but already recognized as a brilliant physicist, he sought refuge in France, later in England. Interned with hundreds of other aliens in 1940, in Canada, he was released two years later to participate in research at Birmingham University and Harwell, the British atomic centre. He revealed in his confession that he decided to inform Russia immediately on learning the nature of his work. He became a naturalized British subject, took several loyalty and security oaths, and was sent to the US in 1943, where he had ample opportunity to study the most secret details of the atomic bomb project at Los Amos. He was among those who witnessed the first test explosion at Alamogordo in 1945. He also worked under Hans Bethe, author of the theory on which the hydrogen bomb project is based. Returning to Britain in 1946, he later became head of theoretical research at Harwell, and continued his atomic energy studies.

Fuchs, in his confession, told the strange story of how he deliberately developed a "split personality" to reconcile his allegiance to Britain with the Marxian beliefs which led him to commit espionage. Thus he was a self-made "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"—brilliant and popular with his associates, and at the same time capable of passing on secret information to Soviet agents in the darkest cloak-and-dagger tradition. Fuchs called it "controlled schizophrenia." According to a prosecution witness at the scientist's preliminary hearing, he admitted giving atomic data to foreign agents in London, New York and Los Alamos from 1942 on. Fuchs said he reduced, and finally stopped his flow of information after the war when he began to feel doubts regarding Russia's policy. When his father, a Protestant minister, moved to the Soviet Zone of Germany, Fuchs approached the Harwell security officer to ask if it would make any difference in his status. Already suspicious of his activities, security officials were thus given an opportunity to conduct the questioning which led to his confession. He was convicted and sentenced to 14 years in prison.

Pension Dispute Will Be Taken Before Ottawa

WINDSOR, March 1 (CP) — The United Automobile Workers and the Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. are to take their pensions dispute before the federal government, it was reported here late Tuesday. They plan a meeting of both company and union officials with Health Minister Martin in Ottawa Thursday morning.

This is believed the first joint action by union and management toward federal government intervention in organized labor's demand for a company-paid retirement pension plan in Canada.

Union officials issued a statement late Tuesday saying:

Ask Means Test Out

"We are going to Ottawa to press for elimination of the means test in the old age pension and the lowering of the age requirement from 70 to 65 years."

The decision to meet federal officials was reached earlier Tuesday at the first meeting between the UAW and Ford of Canada since their pensions negotiations first broke down here last November.

An Ontario conciliation board recommended last week acceptance of the company's offer of $55 a month pension. The union is seeking $100 a month retirement pension for its 11,000 auto workers at Ford at the age of 65 after 25 years' service.

Roy England, president of the UAW's Ford Local 200, said he and Wallace H. Clark, Ford's industrial relations manager, requested the appointment with Mr. Martin. Other company and union officials are expected to attend the Ottawa meeting.

The union statement issued by England, said: "We feel that the government ought to get into this thing now before this country has serious strikes on its hands. The union and company are in agreement that the government should be in the picture."

Church Members Indifferent Semple Charges

TORONTO, March 1—(CP)—In a speech to the annual meeting of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada, Dr. James Semple of Peterborough said today that churches "are sick with the great white plague of Christendom—inactive, indifferent members." He added:

"No method of evangelism will be successful, however many pople are won, if they are not held . . . in the heyday of mass evangelism we lost 80 per cent of the converts within a year, because we had no assimilation program."

He said that people assume that the taking of vows of membership guarantees everything, "forgetting that the Church is a society and not a group of individuals."

Need Planned Economy

Rev. Milton Little of East Angus, Que., also addressing the meeting said today that the "withering blight of unemployment is already here" and called for a fundamental and drastic change.

". . . . Nothing less than an economy planned for production for the use of the whole people, instead of unplanned economic anarchy for the benefit of a privileged few, will finally solve the problem."

Rev. Dr. R. C. Chalmers, Associate Secretary of the Board, said "there is a lack of adequate preaching on moral issues in our pulpits. The Christian forces must become better organized in various centres across Canada," he said.

"The Church must be realistic and face the fact that Christianity is becoming the faith of a minority in Canadian life," he said.

Note Prices Stronger On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, March 1 —(CP)— Prices strengthened slightly in moderately active trading on the Toronto stock exchange today. Gold stocks were in good demand for some moderate advances. Activity slowed slightly as trading interest shifted from low-priced mining stocks to more established junior and senior producers.

Volume for the first three hours was 648,000 shares.

Gains by Quemont and Noranda pulled base metals onto firmer ground. A few western oil issues showed gains up to five cents.

Senior golds showed fractional gains and a handful of key juniors chalked up advances ranging up to 10 cents. Gains were best in early dealings and prices tended to sag in mid-session.

Market leaders pushed ahead fractions in industrials. Papers while agricultures and steels tended easier.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

CLOGGED DRAINS CAN BE AVOIDED

Every year, thousands of home-owners are faced with the nuisance of clogged-up sewer lines. The trouble is often caused by tree roots that get into the pipe through leaky joints. This means a costly clean-out job is usually necessary.

Johns-Manville makes a white sewer pipe that's engineered to prevent root-clogging. It is called Transite House Connection Pipe, and has special tight-fitting joints designed to keep roots out. Made of asbestos and cement, it cannot rust or rot. If you're planning sewage disposal facilities for your home, be sure to get this protection. Twin Non-Confidence Vote Rejected 148-55 By MP's

OTTAWA, Mar. 1—(CP)—The Commons Tuesday voted 148 to 55 against a double-barreled Progressive Conservative motion aimed at testing confidence in the government and at sounding out feeling on a proposal for a Commonwealth Trade Conference. The motion was moved by John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre). He charged the government with keeping the true trade facts from parliament and urged that Canada take the initiative in calling a Commonwealth Trade Conference.

His proposal, moved in the form of an amendment to a motion for the House to go into Committee of Supply, was tantamount to a want-of-confidence motion. It was supported by Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit parties and two Independents — Raoul Poulin (Ind.—Beauce) and P. E. Gagnon (Ind.—Chicoutimi).

Finance Minister Abbott rejected the proposal, saying he did not see what would be gained by a further conference.

"Whatever our difficulties may be, they are not due to lack of conferences," said Mr. Abbott. "Such conferences, however, are always helpful. We have never refused an invitation to attend a conference of this kind. I do not think any steps need be taken by Canada to institute such a conference."

Into Committee

After the motion was defeated the house went into committee of supply and the first items of the departments of External Affairs, Defence and Agriculture were called. This means that the estimates of expenditures of these departments can be called in future without a formal motion.

The debate on the throne-speech was resumed briefly, prior to adjournment.

Speakers in the trade debate included M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, Solon Low, Social Credit leader, Hon. Earl Rowe (PC-Dufferin-Simcoe), Joseph Noseworthy (CCF-York South), Victor Quelch, (SC-Acadia), and E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops).

Surprised By Attitude

In leading off in the trade debate, Mr. Diefenbaker said that Canada's unemployment problem is connected with the loss of overseas markets. He feared the situation would deteriorate unless something was done immediately.

Patient Dead When Sander Arrived-Doctor

MANCHESTER, NH, March 1 —(AP). — The defence today read into the records a statement by a fellow physician that Mrs. Abbie Borroto was dead before Dr. Hermann N. Sander ever reached her bedside.

The statement allegedly was made by Dr. Albert Snay, who examined the cancer-ridden woman the morning of December 4 a few minutes before Dr. Sander is alleged to have injected air into her veins.

Sander is on trial on a charge of first-degree murder.

Dr. Snay was quoted as saying he carefully examined Mrs. Borroto, found no pulse, no reflex of the eyeball, no heart sound through a stethoscope and therefore:

"I concluded then that she was dead."

"The patient appeared to be gone," read Dr. Snay's statement. "Dr. Sander walked in, and I said something to the effect there is nothing to be done."

Could Be Mistaken

Earlier, a state medical witness at the so-called "mercy murder" trial admitted that a physician might make a mistake in judging whether a patient was alive or dead.

Under cross-examination, the county medical referee, Robert E. Biron, was asked by Sander's defence lawyer:

"On the question of judging life and death, a physician whose emotions are strongly moved — such a physician may make a mistake about whether a patient is alive or dead?"

Dr. Sander is accused of injecting air into the veins of 59-year-old Mrs. Abbie Borroto as she lay dying of cancer.

Commissioner F. M. MacPherson wrote a separate decision in which he concurred in the increase but expressed the view it would have been preferable to limit the amount of increases on basic commodities being hauled long distances. However, Commissioner MacPherson said there were difficulties in the way of that procedure at this time.

There was no immediate comment from counsel for the seven provinces that have been fighting rate increases for the last three years.

Knock Off 6 Million

In determining the amount to [illegible] would be entitled, the board knocked about $6,500,000 off the amount which the Canadian Pacific Railway—"yardstick" line for rate-making—alleged was its revenue "deficiency" in 1949.

The CPR had contended this deficiency was $36,310,000 without taking into account the relatively small sum obtained from less than three months' operation of the former eight-per-cent increase.

The board sliced this down to $29,971,000. Biggest item cut off was about $4,000,000 in income tax, which the CPR had included as a "theoretical" figure for rate-making purposes, though it expects actually to pay only $565,000 income tax on rail income for 1949.

Had the board included this sum in CPR requirements, the judgment said, it would be "including as a just and reasonable item of expense a wholly ficitious sum in excess of $4,000,000."

Final Disposition

In handing down the decision Chief Commissioner Wardrope observed that it does not depart from the basis set out in the board's "interim" eight-per-cent award of last September. It constitutes the final disposition of the case of which that award was a partial decision.

Besides applying to straight freight rates, the increase covers a wide range of miscellaneous railway services, as is customary in general increases granted by the board. These include such items as switching charges, storage, wharfage and protective service. However, demurrage and penalty charges are not included.

Exceptions include joint international rates — except on coal and coke—between Canada and the United States, which have been increased as the result of U.S. action; rates between U.S. [illegible] Canada, export and import rates to and from Canadian ports which now are on a parity with rates to or from U.S. ports.

Plan Build Railway To Alberta Coal Fields

EDMONTON, March 1 (CP)— The Edmonton Bulletin said Tuesday in a newspage story that a $6,000,000 railway link to Alberta's Highwood coal field, one of the biggest beds of hard coal in Canada, will be built this year.

The newspaper says the railroad will be privately built from Calgary 65 miles southwest into the foothills area and the Highwood anthracite field.

The newspaper quotes Gordon H. Allen, Calgary solicitor, as saying he has been informed by company officials that they plan to start construction this year.

"It will be known as the Highwood Western Railway Company, a subsidiary of the Ford Highwood Collieries which will work the coal field," the story continues.

Are Hospitals Beyond Cities' Means?

In the last five years the Federal Government, the Provincial Government and municipalities have poured millions of dollars into hospitals, yet the cost to the patient is going up. Despite hospitals now being subsidized as never before, they are becoming institutions which neither the municipalities nor the patients can afford. A hospital in point is Peterborough's new civic hospital.

* * *

This institution will be ready for occupancy some time this year. It is being built at a cost of more than three and a half million dollars. Into the hospital funds all sorts of agencies have poured money: the Federal Government $230,000; the Provincial $230,000; the County of Peterborough has provided its mite of $150,000; the City Trust handed over from its reserves of surplus on city financing $300,000; the Utilities Commission provided $50,000; the Nicholls Hospital Trust Fund is adding $240,000; it is hoped (without too much present foundation) to realize $200,000 from the sale of the old hospital buildings; and the citizens of this city have, by two direct votes, approved the issue of bonds mortgaging their future to a grandiose total of $2,100,000. From all sorts of clubs, women's and church societies are coming cash donations, equipment and the like.

* * *

Despite this really impressive flow of money, the Board of Governors of the hospital this year are asking the City Council to cover a deficit, in this one year, the first in the new hospital, of $80,000. That is, the hospital is going to cost $80,000 more to operate than the Governors can find from all their ordinary sources of revenue. In addition to this, the rates to the patients have been increased, so as to keep the deficit in 1950 down to $80,000.

* * *

Thus, the citizens of Peterborough who are spending $2,100,000 of their money, who have made such a notable money-contribution from other of their civic resources, must first provide through the tax rates an extra $80,000 this year and, secondly, pay higher bed rates if they should become patients in the institution. This is a bewildering—a fantastic—financial situation.

* * *

The plain fact is that health and hospital services on a municipal level are fast becoming impossible for the citizens and community to support. If greater help does not come from the big taxing sources (the Province and the Dominion), the Province or the Dominion will have to take over all the health services completely if any are to be maintained. Hospitals will be unable to carry on; indeed, municipalities as financial units, may have their backs broken completely, from these, educational and other services they are now having to provide and pay for.

* * *

In the matter of indigent patients alone the situation is grievous. It is estimated that in Toronto this year, the care of indigent patients will cost that city a million dollars more than it did last year. The Board of Governors of the Peterborough hospital report that last year the cost of indigent patients—after government grants—was $20,635. This had to be found out of hospital and city funds. The Province allows only $2.50 a day for indigent patients, yet the cost of caring for them is $7.50.

* * *

Despite the increased grants voted by Ottawa and Queen's Park in the last several years, more has to be provided, unless the whole public health fabric is dumped in their laps, or goes up the flue.

Microphones In The Commons

Each desk in the House of Commons is being provided with a microphone; the whole House, it seems, from the Speaker's seat to the newest Opposition member's desk, is to be littered with the contraptions. We admit that a microphone is useful, that it is better (usually, though not alway in the Commons) that members be audible than inaudible, and that much has been said in the past by voices which have reached only a yard or two. Nevertheless we deplore the new arrangement, if it is what reports make it. A microphone is not an aid to easy, fluent speech. Before men inexperienced with it, it is a handicap. It becomes the recipient of the words; people speak to the microphone instead of to their auditors. The voices that come of the loud speakers are mechanical, inhuman, with their characters twisted.

Microphones in the House of Commons are particularly dangerous. The House is not an oratorical society. It is a chamber for intimate debating, in which the play of personalities and the give-and-take of seasoned or unreasoned discussion should have freedom. That sort of freedom is not given by a microphone in front of the face, or by voices coming out of an amplifier in a corner.

If the majority of members cannot use their voices properly to carry throughout the limited House, if they must be better heard and need mechanical aid, let that aid be as unobtrusive as the system now designed for the new House of Commons in Westminster. There hundreds of microphones and amplifiers will be installed, all unobtrustively. There can be no effect of speaking directly into a microphone. The voices will be diffused and aided discreetly.

Our own Commons should not rush into microphones without fully assessing the damage they may do the parliamentary process, and without satisfying itself that the best—not the loudest—is being provided.

Crime Comics For Adults

The Magazine Industry Association of this country has petitioned the Government to ease the ban on "crime comics" imposed at the last session of parliament. Whatever the merits of that hasty piece of legislation as a whole, the industry's plea is more laughable than the comics it produces. It says: If you must keep the crime comics away from children, why deprive adults of them? For two good reasons, if there is any deprivation at all. Adults gluttonous for crime comic books are likely to be as infantile as the children whom the law would protect, and in need of the same Mrs. Grundy treatment. Secondly, how does the industry which would put the crime comics in adult hands propose to keep them then out of children's?

Civil Marriage For Ontario

The movement in the Legislature to authorize civil marriages in Ontario will be widely popular. We have discussed this matter many times in these columns but we make no apology for repeating what we believe to be the principal points in support of civil marriage.

The first is that many people who are conscientiously opposed to organized religion wish to be married by a civil authority, and they should have that right.

The next is that the clergy should not be expected to marry people whom they do not consider to be in a suitable state of mind, or body, for marriage.

The third reason is that the re-marriage of divorced persons is repugnant to some clergy, and the clergy of other denominations should not be asked to marry those whom these have rejected.

That most people regard marriage as a solemn union, undertaken in the utmost good faith, is beyond question. Great numbers of people will continue to be married in churches, and by clergymen. But if civil marriage is instituted in the Province those who do not seek the blessing of a church will not be compelled to have it, and those to whom the churches cannot conscientiously extend a blessing can be referred to the civil authorities. Nothing but good can come of such an arrangement.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A man in Alabama has been assaulted when searching for his goat. Men are usually assaulted when after somebody else's goat.

A contemporary notes that writing with the finger nail is an old Persian art. And as a means of spoiling ballots it has had some expert revivals among Canadian returning officers.

A speech expert says that the average woman has a vocabulary of only 1,800 words. And our office cynic adds that she uses it to express a repertory of 18 thoughts.

From The Critic's Notebook

A LONG DAY'S DYING by Frederick Buechner (McClelland & Stewart).

THERE is nothing one can say about this book that is not good. It is a first novel and, more incredible still, it was written by a young schoolmaster still in his early twenties. His command of the English language is enough to put many novelists, who have been writing for as many years as Frederick Buechner has lived, to shame. In his story the author has told of a diverse set of people and he has seen them with a mature understanding and, if not with kindness, at least with a calm acceptance of their frailties which is most unusual in anyone this side of fifty.

"A Long Day's Dying" is a modern story of problems besetting a certain section of American society but it is not specifically American since the artistic population of every country seems to belong only to itself. New York and North Carolina serve as a background to the characters but do not intrude upon the story's action, whilst the prose is so perfect that I think it will remain international and undated for many years to come. It is one of the few books written in the last ten years that can be read and read again. The author is so well acquainted with the language in which he writes that he has managed to make a full length novel out of a very slight emotional experience and its effect upon his few characters, without once being dull or repetitious. He describes his characters and their impact, each upon the other, with vivid detail. Yet the very young do not appear brash nor the old too condescending—only in the former an innocence without armour, and in the older characters one can glean a strange foreknowledge, as if they themselves were shadows following the way they must.

With great subtlety Frederick Buechner has drawn the deep inarticulate longings of the grossly fat Tristram Bone and his friend George Hotley, a successful novelist; and he portrays with sympathy the great void, that cannot be bridged by words, between the young and the old. He has made no use of slang nor any of the usual vulgarities associated with novels touching on the slightly unmoral characters of our present-day intelligentsia.

The story opens slowly but becomes increasingly gripping and tense. It is the story of the stagnant love of Tristram Bone and George Motley for Elizabeth Poor. I refer to it as stagnant because both men seem to accept the situation rather diffidently whilst Elizabeth herself tends to ignore it completely, taking their homage and attention as part of a well-mannered existence. They are all well-off financially, and simply move around together; each hoping that a first move in the right direction will eventually be made—by one of the other two. Whilst all three of them are on a visit to a monastery, where Motley is trying to find some atmosphere for his newest book, he contrives to get Elizabeth alone and persuades her to accompany him to her son's university where he, Motley, is scheduled to give a lecture the following evening. Once in the University town and in the company of her son (whose name is Leander, which seems unnecessarily unkind even for a fictitious mother) Elizabeth becomes attracted to his best friend and tutor, Paul Steitler. She attends Motley's lecture with him, and escaping the party that follows, goes with Paul to his room where, quite casually, she spends the night with him. Inquiring for her after he has breakfasted, George Motley is informed of her morning arrival and, guessing what has passed, magnanimously decides that if he cannot have her, she should most certainly go to his friend Tristam Bone, whose many years of friendship give him a prior claim to that of the young schoolmaster. On their return to New York he goes to see Tristram and for no reason that he can define himself informs him of his suspicions concerning Elizabeth's behaviour on the night in question. Although Bone denounces Motley for such an accusation, he sees fit to repeat their conversation to Elizabeth who sees the affair, which meant so little to her, becoming a threat to the peace and orderliness of her existence. Enraged at having to defend herself and flustered at being caught, Elizabeth turns the attack against her son and his tutor by accusing them of having perverted relations together. This presents her in the role of worried mother and Tristram, ashamed and anxious to repair any damage he may have done his own courtship, secretly writes to the tutor asking him to meet him and discuss the question of Elizabeth.

Unaware of the extent of Tristram's knowledge, Paul Steitler is, at first, unable to understand what Tristram is trying to ask him, but when he does he is quick to defend himself and it is then obvious to them both that Elizabeth has lied, quite brazenly, about her son and her lover. In the discovery of the lie Tristram recognizes her guilt but he is unable to find the words to ask the tutor to what extent their relationship has gone, whether it is still a fact or whether it was only an isolated incident. The question unasked, he returns to his apartment but cannot bring himself to face Elizabeth, and sends her a note instead, explaining that he has seen and spoken to Steitler and that she need have no fears for her son's morals. As it happens this time she actually has reason because Tristram has put the thought into the tutor's mind that perhaps, after all, he is in love with Leander although such a possibility had never occurred to him before.

With this new example of interference before her, Elizabeth becomes completely enraged, seeing herself questioned on all sides and put in a false position with her lover, and through him, her son. There is a brief reunion when Elizabeth's mother, Maroo, comes from her home in North Carolina to see her, having sufficient insight into her daughter's character to glean from her letters that something is seriously wrong in her life. Having sent for Leander before the journey Maroo is taken ill on arrival in New York and neglects to explain to Elizabeth that he is coming and bringing his best friend to meet his Grandmother, so that when Leander and Paul Steitler arrive the old lady is on her death bed. Tristram is also there and Elizabeth reads into this another act of interference on his part and as her mother dies she repudiates him forever.

This is only the brief outline of the book; there is much more to it that cannot possibly be described in this limited space. It is definitely a book to read and think about. If you cannot buy a copy then borrow or steal one; it's worth it. This is the most important new author to present himself for many years. There have been other good books, other talent, but have any of them so definitely belonged to the top rank of fine writers at twenty-three years? S.S.T.

Picture Windows Kill Birds

(Sarnia Canadian Observer)

THESE new-fangled picture windows with which modern houses are being equipped and which are often installed when a house is remodelled, give the residents a clear, unobstructed view of an exterior beauty spot, and make the home more inviting from the exterior. They are also "death traps" for birds, according to the Superior (Wisconsin) Audubon Society. It is not the year-around pesky sparrows that are familiar with every perch and corner that get fooled by the invitation to come in, but the migratory song birds. The birds see reflection of tree and shrubs and nothing to warn them to change their path of flight—and they fly directly into the windows.

The Superior Society members fear that the toll of bird life because of the great popularity of picture windows will reach serious proportions and reduce the bird population so enormously that human efforts to control insects will be unavailing. The organization has therefore come forward with a number of recommendations for homeowners with picture windows and those who contemplate installing them:

1. Adjust drapes so that they will hang low enough to reduce any outside reflection.
2. If the picture window is equipped with awning, leave them lowered until nightfall.
3. Place plants or other room decorations on the window sill.
4. Pull window curtains at least halfway down to eliminate a large blank window surface.

The birds that are injured by flying into the hard glass surface die of exposure and starvation under nearby bushes, unnoticed by the home owners. Picture windows at opposite ends of a house, large mirrors opposite picture windows reflect exterior surroundings, and the birds appear unable to avoid collision with the glass.

Letters To The Editor

POINT ST. CHARLES SITE

Sir: During recent years, and more particularly recent weeks, when there has been much discussion about a site for the Memorial Centre I have wondered why there was no mention of Point St. Charles.

Could the Centre not be built at the base, or western end, of the Point; backing on the Beaver Lumber Co. site? This would provide a fine view of the park on the Point and also Little Lake. There would be much space for car parking and the George-Townsend property could be utilized for paid parking, not only for customers of the Memorial Centre but also the new bowling alley nearby. I can think of no more central location also.

I have been told that the portion of the Point which I mention is very good building soil and what is just as important, it would not cost the citizens a cent as it is already community property.

If any of the points I have set forth here are wrong I would appreciate hearing further on the matter through your "Letters to the Editor" column. Thanking you for this space in this column, I remain,

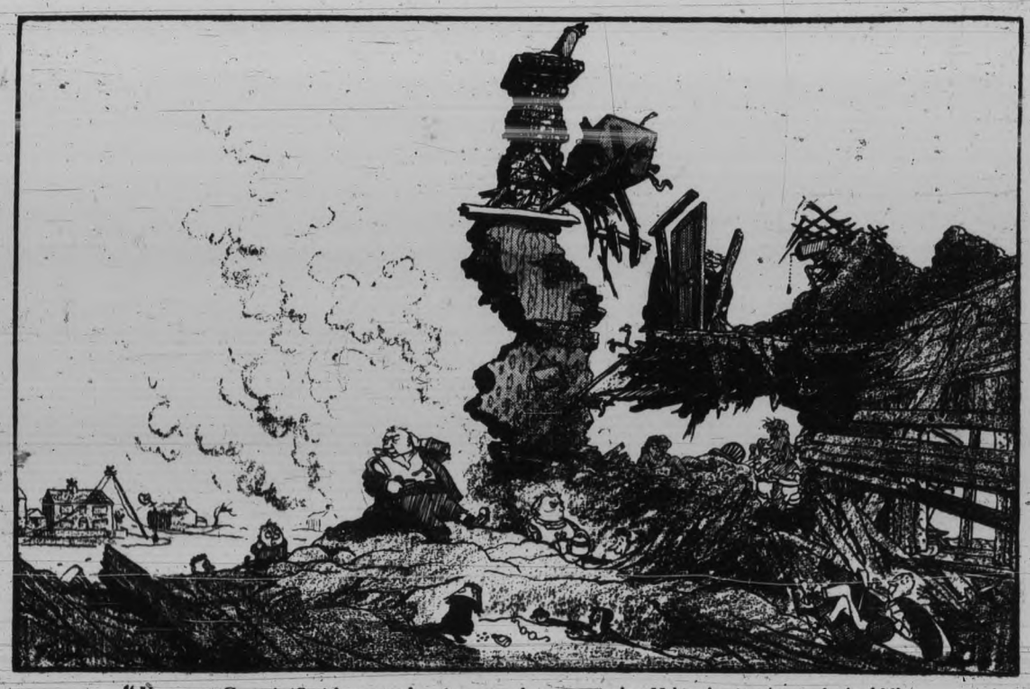
Yours sincerely,
MARLOW BANKS.

ENGLISH HOSPITABLE, TOO

Sir: I read with interest the account of a trip to Scotland by Mr. Garth Braund.

Unfortunately he seems to have had rather an unfavourable impression of English, both written and unwritten!

Having just recently returned from a visit to relatives in England, I may say that the English people in general are just as hospitable as the Scotch.



When I found it necessary to ask directions to places for instance in London, the London "Bobbies", and the bus conductors were most willing and anxious to co-operate.

So many people when travelling abroad seem to make the mistake of judging a country by an "isolated incident"?

To the English people, "patience is a virtue", especially when they have to queue up for bread, meat, ice cream etc., quite often for half an hour at a time.

Yours faithfully,
GERALD TULLY.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And it came to pass on the morrow, that their rulers, and elders, and scribes, and Annas the high priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the high priest were gathered together at Jerusalem....

Then Peter, filled with the Holy Ghost, said unto them, Ye rulers of the people, and elders of Israel, if we this day be examined of the good deed done to the impotent man, by what means he is made whole; be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you whole....

Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marveled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus....

But when they had commanded them to go aside out of the council, they conferred among themselves, saying, What shall we do to these men? for that indeed a notable miracle hath been done by them is manifest to all them that dwell in Jerusalem; and we cannot deny it. But that it spread no further among the people, let us straitly threaten them, that they speak henceforth to no man in this name. And they called them, and commanded them not to speak at all nor teach in the name of Jesus.

But Peter and John answered and said unto them, Whether it be right in the sight of God to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye. For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. (Acts 4: 5, 6, 8-10, 13, 15-20.)

Penny's Slump

These are times when it's customary to talk about the beating the nickel has taken from the high cost of living. But much as the nickel has been pushed around, it still has fared better than the British penny.

The Canadian or American cent often is refefred to loosely as a penny, but the large British coin has been recognized as the real penny, and its value of other days has been two cents. But not any more. Not only does it buy less than formerly, it's worth only 1.28 cents in terms of Canadian currency nowadays.

In the meantime, what has happened to the farthing shouldn't happen to a groat. It's worth approximately one third of a cent.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Guard Beaten By 2 Convicts

GUELPH, March 1 — Guard Edward Booth of Ontario Reformatory is in hospital here recovering from a severe beating administered by two convicts in an unsuccessful escape attempt.

Booth, who is 38, is suffering from a concussion, a cut head, back injuries, and a possible fractured jaw

Twenty other inmates stood watching the attack, aiding neither their fellows, Booth or two other guards who were menaced.

According to officials, 22 inmates were working in the laundry, about 4:15 Monday afternoon, when the two attacked the guard.

John Sutherland, 22, and John Krasta, 20, approached Booth at one end of the laundry and beat him over the head with a chunk of wood, knocking him unconscious.

They then tried to talk Guard R. Drysdale into going to the end of the laundry also, but failed, and turned on Guard J. Nevin, demanding his keys. He refused and managed to fight them off until help arrived.

Sutherland of Guelph is serving a term for assault and Krasta of Bronte, for auto theft and dangerous driving. Ontario Provincial Police are investigating.

Say Cardinals To Get Cooper In Trade

TAMPA, Fla., March 1 (AP)—The 1950 major league training season which gets under way today is likely to open with a bang.

A rumor that seems almost certain to become fact soon has it that Cincinnati Reds are about to trade Walker Cooper, husky hard hitting catcher, to St. Louis Cardinals for an unnamed pitcher and an outfielder.

The heads of both clubs confirmed the trade talk, but neither would go into details.

It was learned, however, that Luke Sewell, Cincy manager, finally has agreed to part with the 35-year-old receiver.

Cooper, obtained from New York Giants last June in exchange for Ray Mueller, tailed off toward the end of the season after a rousing start. In one of his first games with the Reds, Cooper slammed three home runs, got three other hits and drove in 10 runs—all in one game. But he wound up with a .258 batting average.

It would mark the second time that Cooper has worn Redbird livery. He teamed with his older brother, Mort, to form one of the best batteries in baseball. With Mort and Walker leading the way, the Cards won pennants in 1942, 1943 and 1944. They took the world series in '42 and '44.

Oust Lindsay In Competition

LINDSAY, March 1.—Lindsay's last two hopes for OMHA "B" crowns bowed out of competition here when the bantam Lions were walloped 8-3, by Midland Sheet Metals and the juvenile Bowlaways battled to a 2-2 tie with Whitby Red Wings.

The bantams won the opener in Midland, 5-4, but couldn't cope with the third period attack of the visitors Tuesday night who fired six goals in after the teams were tied on the round after two periods. Jack Hendrickson sparked the winners with three goals, while Ron Lowes and Ben Wilson notched two each and Irvin Ironside one. Jack Willis, Bill Hennessey and Bob Growden scored for Lindsay.

Down two goals as a result of an 8-6 loss in the opener in Whitby, Lindsay Juveniles made a determined bid against the Wings in a hard-fought game. Jack Lewis and Royce Caley scored for Lindsay, but Alvin Lintner and Lawrence Lyons shot the equalizers. The scoreless third period was marred by fights, penalties and arguments.

King Edward Wins

King Edward intermediates of the School Hockey League blanked Queen Elizabeth 5-0 at the arena on Monday. Only good goal tending kept down the score as the King Edward crew kept pouring into the other end of the rink. Danny Sutherland scored three goals for the victors, with Curtis and Simmons getting one each. The win puts King Edward in a tie for second place with Queen Mary.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Bill Cowley, it turned out today, is a willing fugitive from hockey—the sport at which he won his livelihood in 13 seasons as a star player and in two more as a coach.

The former centre ace of Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League has been in Toronto for three weeks, taking a course to prepare for an office job in Ottawa with the Fish and Wildlife Branch of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

Before taking off for his home town and his new job, the personable 37-year-old said he's just as glad he isn't having any more hockey—NHL brand—after seeing a few games in Toronto.

"Sitting in the stands and watching the game, the way they play it today, scares me," he said. "In my day they played the puck. Now they play the man. The art of defence has been mastered. Now they hit, I'm glad, I'm out."

He's had enough of coaching, too. He was a coach last season at Vancouver and he handled Renfrew in the Eastern Canada League until a few weeks ago.

The Brampton-Aurora hockey feud was dissolved Tuesday with a gesture of goodwill.

Aurora residents were pretty sore at Brampton after Saturday night. They came out of the local arena to find parking tickets on their cars. They couldn't help thinking it was because their Black Hawks had just eliminated Brampton 6-1 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior C group final.

Mayor Harold Lawrence of Brampton patched neighborly relations Tuesday. All tickets will be withdrawn and refunds will even be given the Aurora motorists who travelled the 35 miles back to Brampton to pay their fines, he said.

Freddie Daigle of Montreal eked out an unpopular split decision over southpaw Al Colthorpe of the Royal Montreal Regiment Tuesday night at Ottawa in the main bout of a 15-match armed services boxing show sponsored by the Rockcliffe RCAF boxing club.

When the eastern Canada track and field championships get under way at Toronto tonight, Rev. Bob Richards will be trying for the 15-foot mark in the pole vault event, a standard attained in actual competition only by the now-retired United States star, Cornelius Warmerdam.

The pole-vaulting parson from the University of Illinois says he has hit the 15-foot mark several times in practice but the best he could do in meets was 14 feet 11½ inches. The Canadian record, held by Bob Morcom of New Hampshire, is 14 feet, four inches.

Old Puck Opponents Wind Up 4-4 Tie

NORWOOD, March 1 (ENS) — Norwood and Havelock teams of the Circle C League battled to a 4-4 tie, with 10 minutes of overtime in the arena Monday night. After their 10 to 1 defeat in Havelock last week, Havelock came from behind with a splendid performance. Goalgetter Rusaw was hurt before the game started and failed to garner any points. A. Scott, though closely checked, managed to score two in the first for Norwood with Don Andrews assisting on both. McMillan also found the net with Waldon and Cuthbertson in on the play.

Grant Elliott scored the first goal of the game early in the first with Milne assisting. Backus tied up for Havelock, Revoy setting it up at the three-minute mark in the second. A series of penalties followed. Green was gated for cross-checking, as he was ready to return to the ice Howard Scott got the nod, Rusaw and Wrightly followed with a delayed penalty. With two men off, A. Scott counted one for Norwood.

With about 30 seconds to go in the last period Elliott and Green combined to tie it up. There was no score in overtime. B. Pollock spent two minutes of the 10 in the cooler.

Havelock: Goal, D. Hill; defence, Milne, B. Pollock; centre, Backus; wings, D. Revoy, F. Hamilton; alternates, Nobes, K. Vaughan, Cosgrove, Elliott, Green, Whitney, Forsythe, Brown, J. Stewart.

Circle 'C' Opener

MARMORA, March 1—(ENS)—The Circle "C" League like the Trent Valley loop has gone into its playoffs and in the opening game between Marmora and Campbellford on the former's rink Tuesday the homesters losing by the score of 3-1. Play was somewhat tame in the first period towards the end of which Forestell scored Marmora's only goal. Chernoff hit the twine well in the second and Goodfellow put his team further ahead in the closing minutes of play.

Chernoff, Belford, Stories and Goodfellow were the pick of the winning team with Forestell, Doyle and Moss playing good games for the losers. Unfortunately roughness developed in the last period which the referee found difficult to subdue. The crowd was one of the smallest of the season.

The second game will be played in Campbellford on Thursday evening.

Teams:

Campbellford — Goal, McColl; defence, Oliver, Petherick; centre, Chernoff; wings, Belford, Storie; alternates, Burgess, Nesbitt, Dewar, O'Rourke, Goodfellow, Rutherford.

Marmora—Goal, P. Moloney; defence, Herman, Doyle; centre, Forestell; wings, Nicholson, Leal; alternates, Moss, J. Moloney, Walker, P. Shannon, Hulsmans, Gray.

Referees—M. Hay, Campbellford; R. Sweet, Marmora.

KEENE, March 1 — (ENS) — Westwood and Downer's Corners tied 2-2 in their Otonabee Rural Hockey League fixture here, H. Steenburgh and B. McIlmoyle scoring for the Corners and B. Warr and W. Warr for Westwood. Teams:

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

"We'll certainly shoot the works tonight, and I know the boys will win." That's what Coach Bun Kingdon has to say about the big OHA junior "B" playoff at 8.30 this eve in Civic Arena. The deciding game of the semi-final series between Kingston Vics and the local Oddfellows. Each won close ones at home—the IOOF-ers having a rough deal in penalties down in Kingston—and one team late tonight hits into group finals as the other bows out for the season. We think the hustling Triple Links will wrap it up this time to continue, but they'll really have to shoot the works. A dandy scrap indicated, and it rates a large crowd.

* * * * * *

Legionnaires are off late this aft for Kingston to take on the Nylons in the first of their four-in-seven OHA senior "B" group finals. Second one is here Friday, and then it's Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week. Not much chance of this series winding up in four straight for either club! As a matter of fact, Kingston and Legion broke even in their schedule, each winning twice. But (and a hefty "but", at that), the Nylons have been undefeated in their last 20 games! Yep, 19 wins and a tie in their last 20, including the semi-final series with the Diesels. They're hotter than certain hinges, but may cool out.

* * * * *

They Get Hot, Also

It is a fact that last year's Legion got awfully hot just about playoff time, and racked up a fine record of 11 straight playoff wins to capture the provincial senior "B" title down in Sarnia. They're getting pretty hot again, by the looks of it in their last few games with the Petes, so it might be that two hot clubs will be clashing. If neither sloughs off, it'll be about the best senior "B" series Kingston and Petebrorough fans will see, regardless of which club wins. If Legion win out, it is probable that future playdown series will be short and sweet, but this group final sawoff will be a tough dogfight.

* * * * * *

Quinte columnist intimates that the Nylons, as they are going now, will take Legion and go through to an Ontario title. Such predictions won't bother the classy and scrappy Ellis outfit one whit. They know they're in for a fight—much tougher than the one the Petes gave 'em—but they've been in tough ones before. They miss Chum Fryia (out with a fractured collarbone) plenty, but they still have quite a hockey squad there. A smart coach, a real steady goalie, several strong defencemen—with Godfrey a standout—and three hard-working and battling front lines. Yeah, they'll give the Catlin-Partis-Gerow crew a joust before one team hangs up its skates for this season.

IOOF Juves Triumph

IOOF juveniles came through in fine fashion last gloaming on Belleville's large pond, toting home a 4-3 win o'er the young Meteors of that centre. It is a two-game series, goals counting, with the return one slated for Civic Arena at 2.30 Saturday aft. Some talk from Belleville that they may be unable to ice a team that day, due to boys working, and might have to default. However, more on that ere the week endeth. Meantime, the classy young Triple Links (with Art Heal as coach and Len Symonds the manager) have a one-goal lead and a good chance to wrap up this second OMHA playdown round. Oshawa bantams won 8-1 in Bella Villa last e'en and Oshawa midgets romped to a 15-1 victory.

* * * * * *

Port Hope made OHA group intermediate playoffs in fourth place by beating Lindsay 6-4. And they had a tough time keeping from scoring in the third period. How come, you say? The writer there says word from the OHA was that, if Port Hope won and they acquired more than seven goals in the process, their percentage on points would automatically hoist them to third place — and they'd have to meet a strong Bowmanville "B" team. Hence, the Hopers wanted to beat Lindsay for sure, but didn't want more than six goals, so they had to make sure and miss the Scugog net on a number of occasions after sashaying right through defence. A pretty kettle of catfish for the customers, what?

Vern Escoe Defeated

LONDON, March 1.—(CP). — Johnny Williams, 187¾, of Rugby, England, Tuesday night gained a narrow, 10-round decision from Vern Escoe of Toronto, Canadian heavyweight champion. Escoe weighed 183½.

The bout, billed as an elimination contest to decide a contender for Bruce Woodcock's Empire title, was Escoe's first defeat in five British appearances.

The fight was sufficiently close that about half of the 7,500 fans in Harringay Arena booed referee Teddy Waltham's decision.

Williams opened fast, scoring repeatedly with long left and short right jabs to win four of the first five rounds. Then Escoe rallied strongly, carrying the latter half of the fight to his opponent and shaking him severely in the ninth round. But he just couldn't regain the lost ground.

Escoe, ducking his head and boring in, constantly sought to break through Williams' guard, and when he succeeded he inflicted heavy body punishment.

But the winner frequently beat the Canadian Negro to the punch and his characteristically British use of a long, flicking left accounted for many points.

Both boys bore marks from the bout. Escoe's nose was bleeding from the second round on, and in the fourth Williams suffered a cut left eye.

Aaron Wilson, Birmingham, Ala., heavyweight who now lives in Paris, won an unpopular eight-round decision from Don Cockell, 178½, of London. Wilson weighed 187½.

The match was a return bout of a Jan. 24 affair in which Wilson scored a surprising six-round knockout.

Lakefield Wins

LAKEFIELD, March 1 (ENS)—Driving hard in the third period here last night, the Lakefield midgets came from behind to pull out a 4-3 decision over Bolton to open their goals to count OMHA playdown series. The next game will be in Bolton tomorrow. O. J. Hardwick, of Bolton, who is president of the OMHA, was on hand for the game.

It was a fine struggle, speedy, close and clean throughout, with Bill Twist starring for the winners, though the whole team went well. Atwell was probably the pick of the good visiting club. Teams:

Bolton—Goal, Wilson; defence, Johnston, Watson; centre, Atwell; wings, H. Wallace, B. Wallace; alternates, Reid, Cadator, Shield, Maw, Wood, Longhouse.

Lakefield—Goal, Wingett; defence, Twist, Pue; centre, Sloan; wings, Coyle, Darling; alternates, Pratt, Spencer, Henry, Todd, Heffernan, Burger, Brown, Leonard.

Referee—G. Hopkins.

Summary

First period: Bolton — Atwell (B. Wallace) 2.30. Penalties, Twist, Wood, Sloan.

Second period: Bolton—Atwell, 14.30. Penalties, Atwell, B. Wallace.

Third period: Lakefield—Coyle, (Spencer) .10; Bolton, Atwell (H. Wallace) 6.20; Lakefield, Spencer (Sloan) 7.47; Lakefield, Twist 13.11; Lakefield, Coyle (Sloan) 14.54. Penalty, H. Wallace.

IOOF Juveniles Win 4-3 Over Belleville

BELLEVILLE, March 1—In a close, hard-fought game Peterborough IOOF edged the Belleville Meteors 4-3 here last night to take a one-goal margin into second game of the points-to-count second round OMHA Juvenile 'A' playdowns. The second game has been ordered for Saturday in Peterborough, but Belleville officials stated last night, they would be unable to ice a team, and if such is the case will default the game.

It was clean if strenuous hockey throughout with the homesters having the edge in the first period when they scored two goals from Bull and Whalen to take lead.

Peterborough faced back into the picture in the second period and had the better of the play, racking up three goals from Buckton, Robinson and Shearer while holding the homesters scoreless.

Play was fairly even in the third session with both sides scoring once, Buckton getting his second goal of the night and Carey scoring for Belleville. The game was clean with Referee Dick Quimet handing out but three penalties.

Buckton, Ferguson, Jensen and Armstrong looked the best for Petes with Carey, Hull, Barrett and Schrieder going well for the losers.

The teams.

Peterborough: Goal, Batley; defence, Armstrong, Bigford; centre, Pammett; wings, Ferguson, Buckton; alternates, Jensen, Floyd, Golaska, Robinson, Bacon, Collins, Shearer, Kimball.

Hastings Beaten

HASTINGS, March 1 (ENS)—Tottenham put a definite damper on the Hastings midgets Tuesday night, taking them 9-5 for the first of a goals to count series in the semi-finals of the OMHA midget "D" series. Hastings started well, with two quick goals early in the first period but Tottenham tied it up at 10.10 and took the lead at the 20 second mark in he second period and were never headed after that. Roche, starry winger, was the main cog of the Tottenham team.

He and Cheeseman were responsible for four goals apiece, while Waddling, who played a standout game on defence, got the odd goal, and picked up a pair of assists. Morrow, on the sick list the past few days, was not his usual self and it was a let down to the Hastings scoring, but Bethune, Heath, Dodd and K. Forde along with Morrow were best up front, while Vaughan and Chambers went well on defence, both goalies made some fine saves.

Hastings: Goal, Montgomery; defence, B. Chambers, K. Vaughan; centre, J. Morrow; wings, D. Fisher, K. Forde; alternates, D. Bethune, W. Dodd, B. Orr, B. Wilson, J. Warrington, D. Condon, G. Heath.

BACK AGAIN—Vern Baxter, shown above, one of the roughest matmen in the game, returns after a long absence to test Juan Hernandez in the opening bout of Thursday's wrestling card at the Brock. Hernandez is a fiery grappler and big Vern will have his hands full in subduing the Mexican champ.

Chief interest is in the main bout with the sensational colored star Seelie Samara up against the wrestling pharmacist from California, Dr. Len Hall. The doctor is a sound wrestler who combines a rugged, punishing style with fine scientific work. The granite solid Samara is also fast and rugged, can take it and dish it out. The match appears a natural.

In the semi-final Pat Flanagan and Kay Bell will supply the opposition. Fans are assured of a fast clean battle in this one.

NHL Coaches Checking Reinforcements

By EDGAR SIMON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

When the average hockey fan tries to figure out who's going to win the Stanley Cup, he generally picks the team with the best players on the ice.

When the average coach weighs his chances, he's almost as interested in the players he has on the bench.

That's why Lynn Patrick was particularly happy when his New York Rangers walloped Boston Bruins 4-2 last Sunday. Two of the goals were scored by a couple of unknowns named Odie Lowe and Don Smith, fresh from New York Rovers, a Ranger farm club.

He knows Lowe and Smith may never see action in Stanley Cup play. But if anything happens to a few of the New York regulars, Lynn knows of two solid characters he can toss in.

Well Fixed Too

Hap Day of the second place Toronto Maple Leafs is well fixed in the bench-warming department, too.

Earlier in the season, he lost two centres through injuries and brought Long John McCormack up from the amateur Toronto Marlboros.

Johny went well at the time then saw little action when Ted Kennedy and Cal Gardner returned to action. But he's there anytime Hap wants him.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings can call on goalie Terry Sawchuk, defenceman Al Dewsbury and a number of others who know their way around an NHL rink if disaster strikes. Montreal Canadiens have second-stringers like Gerry McNeil, Ab Demarco, Grant Warwick and Gerry Plamondon.

Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks have fewer capable replacements. That has a lot to do with their present slim chances of making the playoffs.

Nobody expects fellows like Smith and McCormack to fill completely the shoes of such top-notchers as Kennedy, Ted Lindsay or Maurice Richard. Their job is merely to help to prevent the club from falling apart if one of the big fellows has to take the night off.

Bengals Spring To Life Wallop Marlboros 5-1

By The Canadian Press.

What makes an old machine suddenly start running?

The question could apply to the Hamilton Tigers who Tuesday night hung up a convincing 5-1 defeat on the powerful Toronto Marlboros to give a big boost to their chances of gaining a place in the finals for the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A championships.

All through the season and now in the 12-game round robin semi-finals, the Tigers have won the "percentage" games. Buried in the fourth and last place through a good portion of the regular schedule, the Bengals sprang to life when it was announced that only the first three teams would enter playoff competition.

Marlboros were sure of the first spot, but the Bengals knocked Owen Sound out of third and at the close of seasonal play were breathing down the necks of the second place Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen. Now the owners of three playoff wins against three defeats—a game behind Marlboros 4-3 record—Hamilton plays Kitchener-Waterloo in two of the last three games, an unenviable chore for the Dutchmen, who must win both to stay in the running. Marlboros are assured a spot.

Take Early Lead

The Tigers jumped into the lead early Tuesday night. Tom Smellie scoring at 3:06. Max Taylor and Clare Shillington sandwiched Chuck Blair's Marlboro tally to give the homesters a 3-1 lead going into the second.

Bill Dinning's second period goal made it 4-1 and then Polly Miocinovich pumped home a fifth in the period.

The junior circuit continues tonight when Marlboros carry a 1-1 record into the Windsor Arena for the third game of the best-of-seven semi-final series. St. Michael's take on Barrie in the fourth game of a best of five semi-final and St. Catharines meet Guelph in the other best of five arrangement.

St. Catharines and St. Michael's trail the opposition by a single game and must win tonight to stay in the battle while Marlboros have several players on the limp, including their centre ace, George Armstrong, taking treatments for a back ailment.

Pt. Hope In Playoffs Bounce Lindsay 6-4

PORT HOPE, March 1.—Port Hope clinched the fourth and last playoff berth in the OHA intermediate "A" Lakeshore League by downing Lindsay 6-4, in a spotty, ofttimes listless game here Monday night. Lindsay had to win by 11 goals to gain a playoff ride, while Port Hope held down the score to keep from sliding into third place.

Ed McGibbon and Walt Dotzko combined for most of the winners' scoring punch. McGibbon netted three goals and one assist, while Dotzko fired two and assisted on one. Jimmy Hoy banged home the other Port Hope goal.

Abercrombie scored half of the Lindsay total and was their outstanding performer.

Scoring statistics released Tuesday reveal that Reibel, always among the leaders, finished with 129 points—53 goals and 76 assists—to win the Eddy Powers Memorial Trophy as the league's top scorer.

The old mark of 94 points was set last season by Bert Gieseprecht, also of Windsor.

Marlboro forward George Armstrong, the top goal scorer, finished second with 64 goals and 51 assists for 115 points. Con Switzer of St. Catharines Teepees was third with 112 points—35 goals and 77 assists. Following him was Ed Stankiewicz of Windsor with 103 points from 53 goals and 50 assists.

In the battle for the Dave Pinkney Trophy—awarded to the league's top goaltender—Don Lockhart of Marlboros was the victor with a 2.4 goals a game average, including nine shutouts. His nearest opposition was Glen Hall of Windsor with a 3.5 record.

Bonds For World Investment May Be Offered Canadians

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

One of these days Canadian investors may be asked to buy a new sort of bond. It will be new in the sense that it will be for world investment; otherwise it will be like any other bond, with maturity, date, interest and guarantees.

It may be some time before Canadians are asked to do this, but it will be a good sign when it comes. Because it will mean that there is an increased world demand for Candian currency and the likelihood that the money borrowed will be spent for Canadian goods.

The bonds will be those of the International Bank for Reconstruction and development, commonly known as the World Bank.

Canada, one of 48 member countries, has subscribed $325,000,000 to this bank, of which some $60,000,000 of Canadian currency may be used for making loans to other countries. So far only $8,000,000 has ben called upon and it is not likely that any attempt will be made to raise Canadian money by bonds until the $60,000,000 has been lent out. (Incidentally, a member country's assent must be given before money is drawn upon).

Ask U.S. Dollars

Most requests of borrowers to date have been for United States dollars, and so, in addition to using the lendable portion of the big United States subscription, the bank has raised further American dollars by selling bonds in that country.

The purpose of the bank is what its name indicates—reconstruction and development. It is designed to make loans where private financing for one reason or another is not available—but at the same time it is a bank, not a relief agency, and its loans are made by banking standards.

Some of its most immediately useful loans are those to well-established companies, such as the $75,000,000 loan to Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Company, Limited, for expansion of utility facilities in Brazil.

But some of its most interesting activities occur when a member-country calls it in to make an examination of its resources and to recomemnd plans to development.

Such a case was a recent mission to Colombia, headed by Canadian-born Lauchlan Currie.

The standard of living in Colombia of the great majority of the people is low.

Somebody should, with planning and assistance, be able to do something about such a situation, and so the bank went in.

Jackson, UEW president, J. F. Douglas, editor of UE Canadian News, and Eveready Printers, Ltd. Rescue Two Miners

POTSVILLE, Pa., March 1 (AP) —Two miners buried by a coal fall were rescued Tuesday night, the second after rescue workers had dug through 14 feet of debris. Frank Bosack, Jr., 24, crawled to safety at 11:15 p.m. EST through a tunnel dug by fellow miners who had rushed to the scene shortly after the cave-in. Several hours earlier, Robert Schoffstall, about 40, of Minersville, Pa., was taken from the shaft.

Tells Advantages Of Modern High School Area

BONARLAW, March 1 (ENS)— The Orange Hall, Springbrook was filled to capacity on Monday evening when S. E. Rendell, chief inspector of high schools for Ontario, spoke on the subject of the high school area.

He said the high school areas, with improved schools, adequate bus transportation, etc., brought to the rural school pupils the education which had hitherto been denied to all who did not live in the cities.

John Morrison, deputy reeve of Rawdon, was chairman and invited to the platform all members of Rawdon council including the clerk and treasurer and T. Maffatt of Tweed, supervisor of the area.

Mr. Rendell spoke of the importance of vocational training and optional subjects. He said 75 per cent of the areas in Ontario have found the system successful and to his knowledge, none has gone back to the old system but some have asked to be put into different areas.

With this system, he said, the children will be transported to and from school by comfortable busses and will be home every night.

The speech was followed by a lively question time.

Mr. Rendell said he hoped that at this session of parliament an appeal board would be set up to hear the grievances of any area. He also explained the grants of the Department were now divided three ways: for building new structures or enlargements, maintenance and transportation.

Liberal Whip Puts PM In Place

OTTAWA, March 1— (CP). — The Commons roared with laughter Tuesday when Chief Liberal Whip Gilbert Weir almost literally put Prime Minister St. Laurent in his place.

Shortly after the House opened, Mr. Weir took the floor and moved several separate motions providing for the establishment of standing committees. He resumed his seat as each motion was read by the speaker.

Mr. Weir was on his feet to move the last of his motions when the Prime Minister rose directly in front of him. The Whip pulled Mr. St. Laurent by the coat-tails and the Prime Minister resumed his seat amid laughter.

Mr. St. Laurent's motion was to provide standing committees with power to study matters that will be referred to them by the Commons. It would have been premature for him to move it before Mr. Weir was finished.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"ACE OF ACES" was the name earned in 1918 by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, formerly noted as a daredevil auto racer. One of few Americans to emerge a hero from both World Wars, Rickenbacker also carved a brilliant civilian career in aviation. During World War I, as America's top ace, he shot down 26 German planes. In October, 1942, while on a secret mission for the Air Force, his plane was forced down in the Pacific. He and seven fellow fliers lived through 23 torturous days on rubber rafts before all but one were rescued. Now head of a major airline, Rickenbacker still devotes much time to imparting his tremendous faith and courage to fellow veterans, particularly the disabled, and to a world sadly in need of inspiration.

MP Supports CNR Program

OTTAWA, March 1 (CP) — Henri Gosselin (L—Brome-Missisquoi) said Tuesday night in the Commons that as a railway man he regretted some members had found it necessary to criticize the Canadian National Railways because it had to curtail passenger services due to a coal shortage.

Speaking in the throne-speech after 37 years as a railway employee he knew something of the administrative problems.

The financial position of the railways were not what they should be. The passenger services did not receive the support they should get from members of parliament. Some members would not travel in passenger trains if they could go by car or by plane.

Mr. Gosselin said that when the coal shortage developed, it was understandable that the railways would curtail passenger rather than freight service.

Charges Liberal Party Has Tricked Electors

OTTAWA, March 1—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, Tuesday night charged the federal government with betraying the trust of the Canadian people only eight months after a general election. In a 15-minute address prepared for delivery on the "nation's business" program of the CBC Trans-Canada network, Mr. Coldwell said:

"We can arrive at no other conclusions than that the Liberal Party grossly deceived the Canadian people during the election, when they promised a public works program which they had in fact already abandoned. They hid the facts and sought election under what amounts to false pretences."

Although nearly 500,000 Canadians were out of work, the government has given up its plan for public works to meet unemployment.

Talks To Continue

OTTAWA, March 1 — (CP) — Government officials indicated Tuesday night that they expect negotiations will be continued for a broader exchange of atomic secrets among Britain, Canada and the United States. Officials declined to confirm or deny a Washington dispatch Monday reporting that the negotiations had reached a standstill following the arrest of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, British scientist, on the charge of having supplied atomic secrets to Russia.

Officer Shot

UTICA, Mich., March 1—(AP) —A Michigan conservation officer was shot to death Tuesday when he tried to separate a quarrelling couple. His assailant then wounded his woman companion and, turning his 16-gauge shotgun on himself, blew his own head off. Lee Cummings, 52, the conservation man, died on the way to hospital after being shot in the abdomen by a man identified by police as John Skurya, 39, of Hamtramck, Mich.

Body In Cellar

BROCKVILLE, March 1. (CP) A post-mortem will be held to determine the cause of death of Howard F. Bradley, found dead Tuesday in the cellar of an unoccupied house. Cpl. M. E. Armstrong of the Provincial Police, who found the body in a house on the Prescott highway, said there was no indication of foul play. It is believed Bradley died of a heart attack.

ENGLAND IN APRIL: "My husband and I are sailing for England in April, Tourist Class. What shall we tip? What about the head waiter? Should we tip in Canadian, American or sterling?"

Tourist class tips are approximately —deck steward, $2.50; waiter, $2.50; stewardess, $2.50; unless the head waiter gives you some special service it is not necessary to tip him.

All Cunard staff are based in England, so tips can be in any currency. Value to the waiter, of course, is in this order—American, Canadian, sterling.

NEWLY ENGAGED: "When one's son becomes engaged, which should entertain first — the prospective groom's parents or the bride-to-be's parents?"

Usually parents of the bride-to-be have an announcement party for the family and friends to which, of course, all the groom's relatives are invited.

OLD AGE PENSION: "Has the age when old age pension can be received been lowered to 65 years? I heard it had... I've been 43 years in Ontario."

Unfortunately you must still wait until you're 70 to draw your old age pension.

LADY'S COMPANION: "I'm looking for a position as lady's companion. It's work to which I have become accustomed. Is there an agency or bureau where one could apply for positions of this sort?"

We would suggest that you write to the National Employment Service, 200 Bay Street — attention Gertrude Dunham.

B.C. Legislature Has 100 Million Budget For First

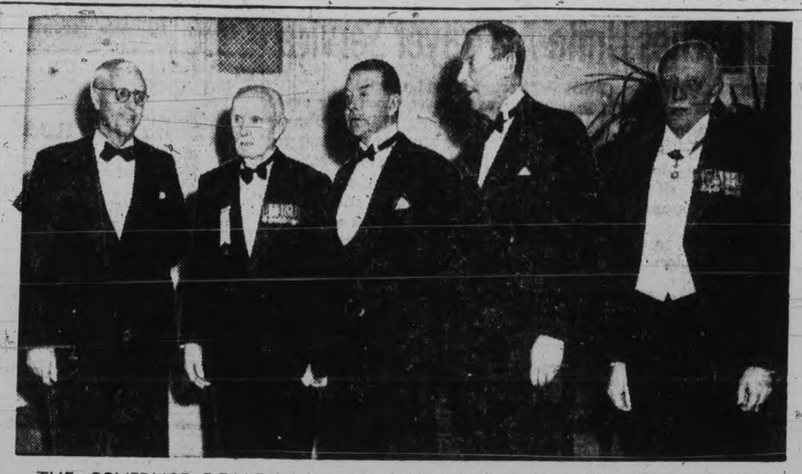
By The Canadian Press

Attacks on the tendency of professional speculators controlling the farming and fishing industries, and against the movement toward Socialism in Canada, were made by Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, leader of the Progressive Conservative opposition, as the Prince Edward Island Legislature continued Throne-speech debate Tuesday.

Premier Walter Jones took up the theme and said he wondered where Socialism really begins. Certain public services could only be obtained by what were called Socialistic means, and it would be difficult to terminate them without incurring the wrath of the people.

Public accounts tabled at Charlottetown showed a record surplus of $708,954 on ordinary revenue and expenditure, but total revenue and expenditures showed an over-all deficit of $1,380,153.

New Dog Act



At St. John's the Newfoundland Legislature heard Resources Minister Edward Russell describe a new dog act as designed to protect sheep on the Avalon Peninsula, where he said there are "hundreds, perhaps thousands, of dogs." The minister said no dog could be trusted, not even the Newfoundland, generally noted for its good nature. The bill provides that all dogs must be leashed day and night.

The Quebec Legislative Assembly by a vote of 66 to 8 adopted a government bill making money from the education fund available to private educational institutions. Premier Duplessis declared it was "absolutely inexact" for opposition leader George Marler to say that money from the fund was spent for purposes other than education. The government had spent $41,000,000 on education last year.

Big Budget

The British Columbia Legislature saw presentation of the first $100,000,000 budget in the province's history. Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb estimated revenue for the new fiscal year at $105,831,189 and expenditure at $105,563,517, a surplus of $273,000. He announced no new taxation but noted that the three-per-cent sales tax would amount to about $24,000,000 in the present fiscal year and the same in the new fiscal period.

In the Saskatchewan House, A. H. McDonald (L-PC, Moosomin) said Premier Douglas should be the last to accuse him of being a "political hybrid" because the Premier in the 1935 federal election had received support from Social Creditors and Communists in Weyburn, though running on the CCF ticket. Premier Douglas denied that he had had Communist support and demanded that Mr. McDonald withdraw the statement.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL, VISCOUNT ALEXANDER, centre, joined the South African War Veterans' Association of Montreal, in commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Paardeberg and the Relief of Ladysmith, at the association's annual dinner recently. Left to right are: Hon. A. A. Roberts, High Commissioner in Canada for the Union of South Africa; A. J. Hill, who at 85 was the oldest veteran present; His Excellency; Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, High Commissioner for the United Kingdom; and Lt.-Col. W. R. Clark-Kennedy, who though a veteran of the South First World War.

If the Ontario government continued to co-operate with the federal government in the work of defining their respective jurisdictions, "we will have gone a long way towards licking any depression before it starts."

Need More Concern

Another speaker in the throne-speech debate was A. A. MacLeod, leader of the two-man Labor-Progressive party. He said the throne speech showed no "serious concern" over the unemployment situation, and that it was full of emptiness. "It aimed at nothing and scored," he said. He estimates that unemployed in Ontario now total twice the figure of between 80,000 and 100,000 estimated by Federal Labor Minister Mitchell.

Mr. MacLeod said that the Timmins Press reported Feb. 6 that four elderly men had asked to be sent to jail because they had no place to live. In Toronto young men were sleeping in box cars. The army was offering these men "security that cannot be matched."

"How shameful," Mr. MacLeod said. It was reminiscent of days before the First World War when men were recruited from Northern Ontario "slave camps."

"Just like Siberia," said Premier Frost.

"Yes," Mr. MacLeod answered, "just like Siberia under the czars."

"We believe that the British people should know if there is anyone over there, as Agriculture Minister Gardiner has indicated, in official circles who has interfered with our trade and is boycotting us in any way," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

"We should know, as should the British people, who those officials are. We believe that if such a conference were convened, bringing together representatives on governmental level, with a full realization of the situation facing the Commonwealth and Empire and with the desire to rehabilitate all parts of the Commonwealth by the return of trade to at least its former level, it would go a long way to provide this country with jobs for those who are unemployed today and whose numbers may conceivably greatly increase within the next few months."

Mr. Coldwell said he would not approve of a conference which would put a trade barrier around the Commonwealth countries However, he did not think that was Mr. Diefenbaker's proposal

Such a conference, he said, should look over tariffs to see what Canada could reduce so that sterling countries could sell more to this country and thus get the dollars with which to buy more.

Mr. Low said he has been "surprised" by the "jaunty attitude" of the government toward the most important question facing the government today. He said if the government had had men with enough courage to take independent action in recent years the present situation could have been prevented.

Mr. Quelch attacked both the Geneva trade agreements and the Bretton Woods monetary agreements as ineffective attempts in the past to solve the problems. Mr. Abbott said the Geneva agreements, now given only provisional application in Canada, have "proved of the greatest benefit to this country." The agreements were largely responsible for increased exports to United States.

Mr. Abbott also rejected Mr. Quelch's suggestion that Canada accept sterling for imports. This, said the minister, would be just another way of extending new credits to Britain.

Mr. Rowe said a Commonwealth conference would not stand in the way of increased trade with United States. Helping Canada's traditionally great customer, the United Kingdom, would be nothing more than good business. To do so would neither provoke the U. S. nor interfere with exports to that country.

Awarded Damages

TORONTO, March 1 (CP.)—An assize court jury Tuesday night awarded damages of $4,000 to Fitzroy A. Welstead of Toronto in his suit against Charles Brown, builder at nearby Whitby, for alienation of affections. The jury found Brown had been guilty of adultery with Mrs. Welstead.

The Peterborough Examiner

VOL. C. No. 50 — WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1950

Calling Tenders For Building New City Hall

Tenders for the building of Peterborough's new city hall will be in the hands of the architects by the first week in April, Mr. F. Marani of Marani and Morris informed members of the council here Tuesday afternoon.

The plans and specifications received final approval and it is understood that they will be made available this week to thirteen contractors who are being invited to bid on the city hall job.

Those present Tuesday afternoon were Mayor Swanston, Aldermen Sands, Dewart, Waddell, Gillespie, City Engineer Chalmers, City Clerk Outram and Mr. Ronald Winter of Hamilton, the council's adviser on constructional details.

Part of the purpose of this meeting, as it developed, was to anticipate any omissions and oversights. Made - in - Peterborough products will be used as extensively as possible. The hardware will be manufactured by Peterborough Lock Company, carpets will be made by Brinton-Peterborough. Electrical goods will be from the Canadian General Electric Company, and so on.

The city hall clocks will be made by Western Clock Co. One of the details of discussion were the number of clocks that would be needed in the building; council chamber, Board of Education quarters, court room, police guard room, and others. Even the placing of bulletin boards was considered.

Another question was whether one coat of arms would suffice, or should there be replicas for other placement than over the mayor's chair in the council chamber. It was decided that there should be but one in the city hall, but copies of it may be pressed from an aluminum mould for many other proper use within the municipality.

Oil Heating

The substance of that detail was simply that the new coat of arms will be hung only in the council chamber.

The weather vanes above the colonial design cupola will be of wild geese pattern. The building will be heated by an oil-burning furnace. Storage of the oil will be in a 5,000-gallon tank placed outside the basement.

The frieze will show only the words "City Hall", omititng the word Peterborough and avoiding municipal building.

The plans and specifications appeared to represent a great deal of professional work.

Mr. Ronald Winter, who was an honorary pall-bearer here last week at the funeral of Postmaster Charles Lacheur, is likely to be retained by the council in some position of supervision when construction is begun. He is retired engineer who was employed for years with the Dominion Department of Public Works in government buildings over a wide area of Ontario.

BAD INTERSECTION AND BAD WEATHER caused a train-car accident to driver John Preston of Toronto and Peterborough passenger Mel. Beatty of 460 Stewart St., at the McDonnel-Bethune Sts. crossing on Friday afternoon during a blinding snow storm. Attempting to apply brakes 30 feet from the crossing the car slid into the front of the CNR Lakefield-bound train and was dragged 75 feet north along Bethune St. No one was hurt and car damage was estimated at $650.

School Grants Cut $10,810 In New System

Peterborough's Board of Education will receive $10,810 less in grants this year from the Department of Education despite an increased expenditure of nearly $50,000.

This stems from the new system of provincial government grants announced two weeks ago by the Hon. Dana Porter, Minister of Education.

G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the finance committee, made this statement at Tuesday night's meeting of the Board when the estimates were struck for the year.

He said the new basis for giving financial aid came as a jolt to the Board. It was expected that the grant over that of 1949 would not be proportionate to the increase in expenditure, but the finance committee was looking forward, at least, to some financial aid.

Instead a decrease of $10,810 had to be calculated.

Grants at the Collegiate for academic and vocational as well as the total for the years 1947-50 are as follows, respectively:

1947— $20,863, $51,230 and $72,093.

1950—(Estimated) $18,364, $33,713 and $70,438.

While costs have been increasing every year grants have varied in the academic school in four years between $18,364 and $33,725.

Situation Summed Up.

The chairman summed up the Peterborough situation regarding grants:

"In the public schools we received in 1949 a general grant of $110,329 and a special grant of $3,600, making a total of $113,930. This year we are estimating for $113,223. In Collegiate academic last year we received $18,364 and this year we have put the figure at $33,725, an increase of $15,360."

"It is on the vocational side of the school where the Board is taking a big loss in grants," said Mr. Craw. "Last year we received $63,176 and we are estimating for $36,716, a loss of $26,463. Our total loss in grants then is estimated at $10,810."

Grants for 1950 are up $4,500,000 throughout the province, bringing the total to $42,000,000. The Minister claimed that the new system would increase financial aid to municipalities coping with large capital expenditures caused by a growing number of pupils.

In the opinion of Mr. Craw the Minister was "spreading it a little thin," as the increased amount for the whole province was only $4,500,000. And this was particularly true in view of the increased expenditures for 1950 in the province's schools.

During the past two years the drop in grants to the Collegiate Vocational School has totalled $16,732.

The new grant system will be on a per-pupil basis, plus a percentage of the Board's costs on teachers' salaries, debenture charges, new or additional accommodation and transportation.

50 p.c. Of Automobiles Have Old Plates

With the deadline for car licence plates drawing near more than half of last year's drivers have yet to buy plates for their cars, trucks and trailers. Only 4,797 car, 750 truck and 400 trailer plates have been issued by the local Chamber of Commerce.

In 1949 in Peterborough County and City there were approximately 10,500 car, 1,600 trucks and 750 trailer plates issued, said James Dorris, secretary. Over 16,000 drivers' licences were either renewed or issued over the year.

Canadian Beef In Short Supply

"You can have the retail meat market business today for cash," said a disgruntled chain store buyer when the Examiner surveyed the city as to the cause of the increase in beef prices.

Beef is in short supply in Canada. Some butchers blame it on a large part of the supply going into American export. Others say, according to a bulletin issued this week by the Retail Merchants Association of Toronto, that bad roads have made beef-on-the-hoof supplies to packing houses smaller than usual. All agree that their price fixing problems are a headache.

In Peterborough, beef in the carcass to butchers has risen 6½ cents during the past week and by the time it is boned out, the price to pass along to the consumer should be abou 10 cents more in the better cuts. Four cents, however, is all so far that has been tacked on to the retail prices and butchers say they are holding the bag for the difference, and realize that prices will have to be increased shortly if they are to stay in business.

Export seems to be the real reason for shortage, according to a Toronto market report. Unprecedented sale of Canadian cattle has been made to US. From January 1 to February 22 there have been 20 million pounds of beef sold across the border, an increase of 44,000,000 beasts over the same period last year. Canada may be short on beef and prices high, but we are very long on badly-needed American dollars in the nation's economy, the analyst says.

Peterborough housewives will have to pay more for beef in better cuts, it looks like, or be contented with cheaper cuts or fish or veal. It is anticipated by some observers that beef prices will continue high in the upper brackets until spring grass feeder cattle are shipped to packing houses. It may even be well into the summer before this situation levels off.

Sport Centre Grants Considered On Merits

OTTAWA, March 1 (CP) — Each application to the federal government for financial assistance towards the construction of sports centres is considered on its merits, it was learned today.

There is no federal law providing for assistance to such projects, but some federal money may find itself in sports and community centres through agreements with the provinces under the National Physical Fitness Act.

The Physical Fitness Branch does not make any money grants to any organization building community or sports centres for carrying on sports programs. It does make grants to provincial departments which in turn administer the funds.

Quebec and Newfoundland are the only provinces which have not signed physical fitness agreements with the federal government.

Toronto Driver Escapes, Car Hit By Train

A Toronto car driver and his Peterborough companion escaped injury Tuesday afternoon when their car was struck by a train at the McDonnel and Bethune St. railway crossing and dragged about 75 feet.

Still wondering how they managed to come out of the accident unharmed are John Preston, Glendaden Ave., Toronto, and Mel Beatty, 460 Stewart St. The car was almost wrecked; damage is set at $650.

Preston, unaware of the crossing, had it brought to his attention by Beatty, the only passenger.

"Watch the railway tracks," said Beatty when the vehicle was only about 30 feet away.

The driver looked both ways and then slammed on the brakes as the CNR train came into view through the heavy flurry of snow falling Tuesday afternoon.

Failed To Hold

The brakes did not hold on the slippery surface of the road and the car slid into the path of the moving train. The locomotive smashed into the right side of the vehicle with its two petrified occupants and bunted it along the right of way for about 75 feet.

F. J. Cunningham of Lindsay was the conductor of the train and H. Watson, also of Lindsay, the engineer. They said the locomotive's bell was ringing as it approached the intersection.

Three houses at the corner obstruct the motorist's view at the scene of the accident. There is one sign warning of the crossing but no wigwag or any other automatic device.

Police Constables W. G. Scott and Eldon McDonald investigated.

INVITES FUEL DEALERS

IUE Application Rejected By Labor Board

By DAVE WHITE

A heavy blow was dealt the IUE (CIO-CCL) Tuesday with the announcement by the Ontario Labor Relations Board that it had rejected the IUE's application to become the certified bargaining agent among the more than 3,000 CGE production workers.

The Board gave no reason for dismissing the IUE's bid but it is presumed to be due either to lack of evidence of a majority in the Peterborough plant or to the irregularities unearthed at the Board's special hearing February 17-18.

At this two-day hearing, unprecedented in the history of the OLRB, about 50 witnesses were called by the Board inquiring into irregularities connected with the signing of IUE "yellow cards."

C. L. Dubin, counsel for the UE, openly charged fraud and malpractice in the right wing electrical workers' application.

Some IUE cards filed with the Board bore incorrect dates, and the dates on receipts for the membership fee in many cases differed on the original and duplicate. In these instances the date would make the signer appear to be a member in good standing by December 5 when the IUE claimed a majority of the workers and filed its claim with the Board.

Top IUE officials were involved. John G. Morton, Cyril (Cy) O'Donnell, Keith Chiles and Joseph Murphy were all called on to testify.

They denied the UE claim they were "faking the records" and said the discrepancies either could not be accounted for or were clerical errors. There was no attempt to deceive the Board, they said.

Bitter Battle

The OLRB's rejection came after a bitter four-month battle between the left-wing UE and the right-wing IUE for the allegiance of the Peterborough CGE workers. Shortly after the right-wing faction broke away from the parent UE they began to circulate the yellow cards for the new electrical workers' union.

As a counter move in this cold war the UE circulated blue cards stating either that the signer had never put his signature to a yellow card or that though he had signed he had never paid the required $1 membership fee.

In either case he could not be considered a member in good standing.

On January 4 the OLRB had its first hearing and E. B. Jolliffe, counsel for the IUE, filed 1,628 membership cards in support of the application. The UE, intervener at the hearing, produced 1,312 blue cards.

At that time Mr. Dubin suggested the Board check the two exhibits of cards for possible duplication and suggested fraud might be revealed.

Special examiners from the OLRB were sent to the Peterborough plant early in January and took depositions from a large number of witnesses, most of whom were later heard by the five-man Board February 17-18.

The UE then contended their rivals' application should be thrown out because of fraud and the IUE asked that the Board order a vote at the plant.

After hearing closing arguments of the two unions on Wednesday the Board reserved judgment and then announced its decision Tuesday.

Cheap U.S. Products Cause Unemployment

TORONTO, March 1 (CP). — Officers of the United Electrical Workers charged today that importation of cheaper American products is causing unemployment in industries manufacturing locks and builders' hardware.

The statement was drawn up at a week-end meeting of union delegates from Ontario plants at St. Catharines, Peterborough and Belleville.

Copies were sent to Federal government authorities urging curtailment of imports which compete with Canadian products.

Board of Education Asks City Council To Provide $480,935 From 1950 Taxes

To operate in 1950 the Peterborough Board of Education will require $751,700, an increased expenditure of $49,749.23. This was the recommendation of the finance committee of the Board which was unanimously approved Tuesday night at the meeting called for the striking of estimates. A breakdown of the increase shows that $32,344 of it is slated for public schools, $13,793 for collegiate academic, and $4,611,27 for the collegiate vocational.

The city council is being asked for a levy of $480,935 while monies from other sources total $270,765.

Estimates for the municipal levy are as follows: Public schools $337,870; Coll. academic $73,355; Coll. vocational $69,710.

Up Half A Mill

"We are asking $337,870 from the city for our public schools this year," said G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the finance committee. "This will mean a mill rate of 10.25, an increase of half a mill or $32,933, over 1949."

Last year the public school levy was $304,937.

"In the collegiate we will require $73,355 for the academic school and $69,710 for the vocational," stated Mr. Craw. "This total of $143,065 in the collegiate means a mill rate of 3.87 or the same as 1949."

Actually the Board is budgeting for an increase of $7,668 but the larger city assessment—due to what is perhaps a record building boom in Peterborough—has allowed the collegiate levy to remain at 3.87 mills.

The mill in 1950 raises more money from the taxpayers than it did in 1949.

The levy for the collegiate is shared by all taxpayers while the bill for the upkeep of the primary schools (much the larger of the two) is the concern of the public school ratepayers.

The increased assessment for the whole city was sufficient to absorb the larger estimate for the collegiate. And thus it was possible to maintain the mill rate for it at 3.87.

This could not be done for the public school taxpayer as the assessment was insufficient to absorb the increase of $32,933. The result was the half mill boost.

A committee of three—Frank Jobbitt, Board chairman, Mr. Craw, finance committee chairman, and K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools—was appointed to present to the city council the estimates.

With the exception of the finance committee, the committees have kept close to their 1949 and 1950 estimates for the finance committee are $508,905 and $555,040, respectively.

Major item in the finance commitee is teachers' salaries which amount to $514,700—$338,000 public schools, $96,000 academic and $80,700 vocational. This figure is $48,594 more than last year.

The most of this increase is due to the boosted salaries of teachers but an amount is also earmarked for salaries to four extra teachers in public schools and three in the collegiate.

The finance committee, apart from the item of salaries, must budget for accident insurance, liability insurance, fire insurance, pensions and other smaller expenditures.

Last year $6,830 was spent on supply teachers while the estimates for this year is $3,100. Mr. Craw explained that difference would be largely in the public school account and it is proposed to add two permanent supply teachers to the payroll.

"Retiring allowances are slightly increased with the teachers being retired in June," the chairman said. "Salaries of officers and stenographers total $16,335 compared to $15,611 last year. On the other hand the estimates have been reduced for advertising, telephone and telegraph, legal fees, liability insurance and other miscellaneous items."

Committee estimates for 1949 and 1950 compare as follows:

Vocational	$ 22,300	$ 24,605
Property	128,270	131,235
Supervision	22,026	21,945
Finance	508,905	555,040
Health	17,270	18,875
Total	$701,950.77	$751,700

Chairman Frank Jobbitt and Mr. Craw paid tribute to Mr Wightman for the conciseness and comprehensiveness of his report.

Ask City To Pay Cost Of Park St. Drain

Property owners of Park St. south have petitioned the council to be relieved of any direct charge for the financing of the proposed drain for the west side of that street.

Their request is that the cost of this project should be borne by the city as a whole.

The board of works Monday night merely received the petition, for the present at least, on the understanding that the property owners would have an opportunity of submitting their case at a sitting of the Ontario Municipal Board here.

The position the council has taken on this problem of filling the old Park St. drain, by laying a concrete water duct and levelling the former township ditch with the roadway, is that it will be a definite improvement and benefit to the abutting property. For that reason, the official decision so far is that the work should be done under the provisions of the Local Improvement Act. The council considers that it has transferred the bulk of the cost to the treasury with comparatively small proportions to be borne by the property owners on the west and east sides of Park St.

Estimated cost of the work is around $100,000. If it was to be levied on the city as a whole, the expenditure would have to receive the vote of the people. On the other hand, the sum is regarded as too large to include in the budget and tax rate for the year.

Date of sitting of the Ontario Municipal Board on this question has not yet been fixed.

Spirited London Women Pioneered In Nursing Field

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, March 1—(CP)—Buried in the history of London's hospitals are the stories of some indomitable women. Middlesex Hospital can boast of Elizabeth Garrett, first British woman to receive a medical degree. She studied at the Middlesex 82 years before women were admitted there as students.

How was this done? The governors permitted her to visit the wards while maintaining the fiction that she was a nurse.

"In this manner," said Hilary St. George Saunders, in his new history of the hospital, "though her intentions were an open secret, the conventions were observed."

Records show that Florence Nightingale—The Lady With The Lamp—also worked at Middlesex, So did Godiva Miriam Thorold, matron from 1870 to 1906 and the "terror of the inefficient."

"Miss Thorold was no more than five feet high," wrote Saunders, "and of ample proportion; so much so that lady probationers, when kissed, as they were every morning, tended to disappear into her embrace."

These lady probationers used to pay £1 ($3.10) a week for board, lodging and tuition.

They had to wear violet dresses with a three-inch train, devised by Miss Thorold so that medical students would "not be able to see the nurses' ankles as they leaned over the beds."

Some Characters

Some of the rank and file were characters, too, says Saunders Two examples were sisters Taylor and Newman, who were at the Middlesex from 1876 to 1899.

"They were inseparable friends, sharing all their joys and sorrows and also a parrot whose sex they were convinced was male until one day it laid an egg.

"Sister Newman, overcome, went off duty for 24 hours, but Sister Taylor, made of sterner stuff, reported the event to the (hospital board.")

Nurses today are more highly trained and therefore more standardized than their predecessors. But they still produce "characters."

Medical students live in terror of a Sister of St. Batholomew's Hospital who follows them around and watches how they deal with each patient.

Urges Amateurs Discover New Playwrights

OTTAWA, March 1. (CP) — Trophies rather than plays probably will be uppermost in the minds of the Eastern Ontario Regional Drama Festival audience tonight.

Brockville Theatre Guild's production of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" will be the final presentation in the six-day competition that has seen drama groups from Ottawa, Kingston, Peterborough, and Deep River vying for a spot in the honors list.

Top award is a possible invitation to the Dominion Drama Festival at Calgary in May. In addition there are several regional prizes.

After watching the Brockville performance tonight, Adjudicator Maxwell Wray will name the winners of the Davies Trophy and the Fulford Shield.

The latter, given by George Fulford of Brockville, goes to the group with the best one-act production. The former goes to the company with the best full-length performance. It is awarded annually by Senator Rupert Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard.

Prizes also go to the best actor and actress in the festival.

Need Playwrights

Tuesday night the adjudicator told a festival audience that the world is suffering from a "great dearth" of playwrights. It was up to amateur theatre of "ferret out" new authors.

Mr. Wray commended the faculty players of Queen's University, Kingston, for choosing a Canadian-written play "overlaid" as one of their two productions.

The one-act comedy, written by Robertson Davies, editor of The Peterborough Examiner, tells the story of a rumbustious old farmer's troubles with his serious-minded daughter.

Mr. Wray said the play began very well and had good possibilities of characterization. But it tapered away at the end.

The cast had done a good job and William Angus as the old farmer "Pop" was dressed just right for the part.

"There was a comedy performance which had precision and timing with the right word emphasized at the right moment," Mr. Wray said.

The Euripedes masterpiece was translated and adapted by Eric Smethurst who also produced the play and took the part of Jason.

Mr. Wray felt the company was "very courageous" in producing a tragedy—something not always popular with audiences.

Senator Has Jitters About Jap Moves

OTTAWA, March 1—(CP)—Thomas Reid, bagpipe-playing Senator from British Columbia, Tuesday startled the Senate with the assertion that two dangers now threatened his province.

One danger, said Senator Reid, was the possible exploitation of the fishing industry in coastal waters by the Japanese. The other was an attempt by aluminium interests to "grab off" hydro-electric power along the Fraser River.

Continuing the debate on the speech from the Throne, Senator Reid touched on topics ranging from Canada's trade troubles to CBC operations and the need to reduce taxes.

The Senate, during a three-hour sitting, gave third reading to the government's bill to increase benefits under the Unemployment Insurance Act. In a brief ceremony, Royal assent was given the bill by Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret, Deputy Governor-General.

Conservation Chief Suggested

GUELPH, March 1 (CP)—The Select Committee of the Ontario Legislature on conservation problems is expected to recommend that a chief conservation officer be appointed, directly under the Ontario Premier, responsible for all phases of conservation throughout Ontario.

The committee wound up its hearings here and it was reported that its findings, to be tabled in the Ontario Legislature in about 10 days, would stress the need of a chief conservation officer to allocate all funds voted for conservation and to be responsible for all extension work.

The committee has been studying the problem in various parts of the province since early last year.

The report of the commission will also embrace aspects of existing conservation measures now up for consideration in both the provincial and federal houses, delayed because of the Dominion-Provincial conference scheduled for September.

PORT ARTHUR, March 1 (CP)—Sylvia Kotila, 31, went on trial for murder Tuesday in the stabbing slaying of her common-law husband, Paul Kucher, 34. Kucher, a grain elevator employee, died Dec. 8 and medical evidence was that death resulted from wounds in the neck.

Labor Leaders Rap Code For Ontario

TORONTO, March 1 (CP). — Ontario's proposed new labor code Tuesday met a mixed reception from labor leaders. Criticism was levelled at provisions aimed at ending wildcat strikes.

The legislation, introduced on Tuesday by Labor Minister Daley in the Legislature, empowers the Labor Minister to force parent labor organizations to end wildcat strikes by member locals. It denies services of the Ontario Labor Relation Board to all the member locals engaged in an illegal strike.

Murray Cotterill, president of the Toronto Labor Council (CIO) termed this provision unworkable. He said an illegal strike in a small plant could be provoked by an employer with the effect of tying the hands of a major international union.

A. F. MacArthur, president of the AFL Provincial Federation of Labor, said the clause discriminates against responsible international unions.

At Ottawa, Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the 350,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor, said Tuesday night that the new Ontario Labor Code "appears to be very one-sided."

"I have had no opportunity to study the legislation in full," said Mr. Conroy. "But from what I have heard, it seems to be doing an excellent hatchet job on the trade union movement in the interests of big business."

Sudbury Doctor Dies

SUDBURY, March 1—(CP)—Dr. William Henry Mulligan, 85, Sudbury's first physician, died at his home here Tuesday after a short illness. Born at Pembroke, he graduated from the University of Toronto and the Kentucky School of Medicine, setting up his practice here in 1888. Dr. Mulligan was the town's first medical officer of health, serving from 1909 to 1911. Surviving are his widow, a brother, five daughters and a son.

Middle-Class Swung Balance UK Election

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, March 1 (CP) — Britain's trend to the right in Thursday's general election appears to have been generated largely by middle-class votes in communities bordering London.

Preliminary post-mortems suggest that the Conservatives detached substantial support from Labor in what are known as the "dormitories — large residential districts which feed white-collar workers into London's downtown offices.

The gain in these areas coupled with increasing strength in larger country towns, enabled the Tories to shave Labor's huge 1945 majority to a hair-breadth and thus create the most finely-balanced House of Commons since mid-Victorian times.

Analysts consider that Labor made a little headway in the traditionally Tory countryside, but that any such advances were annulled b the middle-class vote in urban areas.

Workers Strong Supporters

Labor lost little of its strength in working-class and strongly-industrial areas.

There was virtually no change at all in Scotland and Wales. With one extra seat to shoot at—there were 36 Welsh constitutencies this election compared with 35 last time—Labor added two seats for a total of 27. The Liberals won five against six in 1945, the Conservatives remained unchanged with three and there was again one National Liberal.

In Scotland, Labor took 37 and the Conservatives 26, compared with 39 and 26 respectively in the 1945 polling.

In Birmingham, Labor won nine seats and the Conservatives four against 10 and three in 1945 respectively. Before 1945, the Tories held 12 of Birmingham's 13 seats.

A turnover occurred in the port city of Liverpool, which returned eight Socialists and three Conservatives in 1945. With two fewer seats at stake this time, the Conservatives won five and Labor four.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION

Some of the more interesting phases of a law practice were related by Mr. Norman Crook of Peterborough at Immaculate Conception Home and School Association meeting, held Monday night.

In a humorous style Mr. Crook told his audience that what is probably the most dramatic part of law practice takes place in the courtroom. The real test of a good lawyer, however, comes in cross examination of witnesses.

He said the laws of Canada, United States, England, Australia, New Zealand and other English speaking countries are very similar but there is a vast difference to the laws in such countries as Hungary where Cardinal Mindzenty was tried for alleged acts unfavorable to the government.

Speaking of the laws which govern Canada and separate laws which govern the ten provinces, Mr. Crook said definite limitations were placed on federal and provincial administrations which the other should not infringe upon. Housing was primarily a matter for provincial administration, yet we find, because of the exigencies of war, the dominion government in this field, he said.

The speaker was introduced by President Mrs. J. Duignan and was thanked by Secretary Alex Tait.

Among matters discussed during the business portion of the meeting was the subject of joining the Parent Teachers' Association at some future date. Although no definite decision was reached, it was felt by those who voiced opinions on the matter that it would be a matter of time before they joined that Association.

How to get more men out to the meeting was an interesting subject for discussion and members admitted, a tough one. Mrs Norman McConkey suggested a debate might be the answer. The matter was held over for further consideration.

Hoop-skirts Vie in New Styles With Tube Look for Evening

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — (CP) — Evening dresses in London's spring shows range from the beautiful crinoline to straight tube-looks that seem to tight to sit down in.

A refreshing difference is shown in a dress by Michael Sherard. The stiffened lace skirt is cut in three tiers that tand out, pagoda style, from a tube foundation. It is appropriately named Conifer.

An introduction by Hartnell is the half-crinoline, created by a tube-look skirt suddenly fountaining, on one hip, into a cascading crinoline.

Secret of a dress by Ronald Paterson is tricky draping. Halter-necked with embroidered lapels, the satin skirt drawn upwards in cross-over style and caught at the waist in a tremendous chou. This cross-over line above a fully-draped hemline continues the leaf design of the embroidered neckline.

A dinner dress of black taffeta is given a puritan look by its edging of white English embroidery on the high neck, pointed front panel and tiered bustle.

Pearl Flowers, a crinoline by Hartnell, has a tiny, roll-collared bodice, the skirt embroidered with iridescent sequins and mother-of-pearl. A full-skirted lemon tulle is scattered with primroses like a wood in spring.

A voluminous-skirted white satin with bottle green bodice is criss-crossed with lattice-work pattern of ivy leaves and pink roses.

Circle of Plumes

Ostrich feathers encircle the skirt of a beautiful, floating dress of pleated grey chiffon, having an Empire waist.

Fish Out of Water ended up as an unfinished symphony when the designer ran out of spangles. This glittering, figure-hugging dress will be covered with 6,000 spangles.

Short evening dresses are shown by all designers but, however intricate the designs, they are inevitably outshone by the full-length crinolines and heavily-embroidered satins.

Most of the short dresses have boleros for cocktail, afternoon and theatre wear.

One, a short black net spotted with jet spangles, has an overskirt of eight tulle panels.

Evening dress hemlines are not stabilized. They rise in front and fall at the back, are calf-length, angle-length, hankerchief-pointed or full length.

A hobble-straight, tube-look is decorated with a figure-twist of green-sequin grape vines and is called Clinging Vine.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Can Save Husband From Passing Infatuation

DEAR MISS DIX: Please tell me what a wife is to do after she has given forty years of the best of her life to her husband, making a happy home for him and rearing a family of five children, when she awakes to the realization that a woman much younger and more attractive than she is has come into his life? Is there anything she can do? Or must she just give up in despair?

Dorothy Dix

OLD WIFE

ANSWER: There is one thing she can do, and that is to sit tight and refuse to give her husband a divorce, and that she should do not only for her own sake but for his.

When a man is young and he falls in love with another woman and wants to marry her, if his wife is convince dthat he is sincere in his feelings, and that he has a lasting effection for this other woman, then she owes to to her self-respect to set him free. There can be no good accomplished and she can derive no happiness in holding his body in hostage after his heart and soul have gone from her.

Different Case

But when the man is an old man, as your husband is, and when there are forty years of wedlock between you, it is an altogether different case. He is the victim of an infatuation that will pass. He is really suffering from a form of senile dementia and it is his wife's duty to save him from wrecking his life any more completely than he has.

If you will be patient, your husband's temporary madness will pass. His rheumatism will begin to trouble him. His feet will hurt and he will commence longing for his own fireside and slippers instead of running around with the fast young set, and his young friend will begin to bore him as much as he bores her.

DEAR MISS DIX: We hear a lot about the mistake of women marrying men ten or fifteen years younger than they are. Believe me, it is just as much a mistake for women to marry men that are much older than they are. I know, because I did it, and I am so bored with a husband who is so settled you can't pry him away from his fireside, and who falls asleep when I do drag him out to the movies, that I could scream. I have stood a husband who is fifteen years older than I am for ten years and I am fed up with it.

ANSWER: Age isn't any insurance against unhappiness in marriage. That is a matter of congeniality; of people liking the same things and wanting to do the same things, and that is more likely to be the case when people are approximately of the same age. Psychologists who have made a study of the effects of the passage of time on men and women, declare that so far as intelligence and the ability to do things are concerned men and women age about equally. But I think that in the love of life and the love of pleasure men grow old much earlier than women.

Men settle down much earlier than women. Most middle-aged men have got into a rut and have few interests outside of their business and their homes. Possibly this is because in a man's early years he is brought in contact with the world and sees and does all sorts of interesting things while the average woman is tied down to her house and babies and it is only after the children are grown that she has a chance to amuse herself.

DEAR MISS DIX: Can a man really love two women at the same time? Recently I heard a man state that he honestly loved his wife, but there is another woman whom he loves equally as much.

A STENOGRAPHER

ANSWER: Love is like everything else, its size determines the amount of space it occupies. If a man has a great love for a woman it fill his heart so completely that there is no room in it for any other love. But not every man is any more capable of the grand passion than he is of singing in grand opera. The average man can have an infinity of little loves, none much bigger than a mustard seed all flourishing simultaneously or in succession in his heart.

6—In Memoriams

READER—In loving memory of Kenneth Reader, who passed away March 1, 1944.
Time speeds on, six years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there's none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in Heaven, we will meet again.
—Ever remembered by mother and dad, sisters Ruth, Helen, Lorraine, and brother Earl.

IUE Application

A short communication from the OLRB arrived by mail at both union headquarters early today. It said in part:

"The Board is not prepared to accept the evidence of membership in good standing submitted by the applicant. The application is accordingly dismissed."

Members of Board

P. M. Draper was the Board chairman. Other members, two representatives of organized labor and two of management, were David Archer and Russell Harvey and William Corbett and E. N. Davis, respectively.

Turning down of the IUE's application is likely to harm the right wingers cause in similar disputes in the Canadian electrical industry. It was openly recognized that the Peterborough plant was the nucleus of the anti-UE forces in this country.

Employees of the Peterborough plant, largest in the General Electric chain in Canada, have not participated in negotiations for amending the present master contract now proceeding in Toronto.

Difficulty Settled

Company officials have stated they would not negotiate with the Peterborough and Toronto plants on a joint basis until the jurisdictional battle in Peterborough was settled. Ian McRae, works manager, intimated today that this difficulty was now resolved.

"Our position has been to recognize the union that represents the majority of our employees and holds the contract rights. This matter apparently has been dealt with and our course seems quite clear."

The matter of the three months of checkoff money being held in trust by the company was a matter for the solicitors of the rival unions and the company to untangle, he said.

T. P. Davies, president of Local 524 UE, told the Examiner today the left wingers had remained confident they would "win" in Peterborough.

"The majority of GE workers have remained within our ranks," he said. "Our contract with the company was negotiated and signed by the UE. We will now get down to the serious business of negotiating improvements in this contract."

He issued a call for all workers at the plant, regardless of their previous affiliation, to form a solid front in pressing for these contract improvements.

How long it will be before the IUE can re-apply to the Board is a matter of controversy. IUE officials said today the matter was being discussed with their legal adviser, Mr. Jolliffe. C. R. Sullivan, UE district representative, said that according to Board precedent there could not be another application for 12 months.

Cy O'Donnell, recording secretary of the IUE, would not commit himself on this point.

"We are not giving up the struggle, however," he told the Examiner. "Our organization remains intact."

Both unions are eagerly waiting clarification of the new labor laws announced Tuesday by Labor Minister Charles Daly to see if any of the provisions would affect the situation here.

Guilty Verdict Returned In Webb Case

Leo Webb charged with attempted rape was found guilty by a petit jury this afternoon after one hour and thirty minutes deliberation. Sentence was deferred by Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel until the end of the present sessions.

The man alleged to be the accused was attempting to commit rape rather than making mere preparations for the act, The Honorable Mr. Justice A. M. LaBel declared today in his charge to the jury in the Supreme Court trial of Leo Webb, Smith township, charged with attempted rape.

His Lordship added, however, that the jury was free to come to its own conclusions about the matter.

Mr. Justice LeBel branded the police identification parade as "worthless or practically so" because Webb was the only man in the lineup wearing a red shirt.

The jury retired at 12.10 p.m. today after listening to evidence all Tuesday and hearing the arguments of Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw and defence counsel Gordon H. T. Farquharson.

Webb was not put in the witness box. He was arrested April 4 and committed for trial at a preliminary hearing April 20. Since his arrest he has been in jail unable to raise the $3,000 bail. At the last sitting of the Supreme Court the trial was set over because Webb did not have a lawyer to represent him.

Answered The Door

Mrs. E. McKenzie told the court that at about 2 p.m. April 4, she went to the rear door of her bungalow home on McFarlane St. extension in Otonabee township in answer to a knock.

At the door was Webb who asked to use the phone. She let him in and showed him the phone in the living room. Mrs. McKenzie returned to a couch in the living room and resumed her knitting.

She testified Webb brought the phone book to her and asked her to look up the number of his uncle by the name of Mongraw. He said his own name was Dennis McCarthy. He added that his sight was not good; he was wearing glasses. She said she was unable to find the person he asked for and at this point Webb suddenly seized her by the throat with two hands. She said she bit one of his ring fingers to the bone, knocked his glasses flying across the room and struggled to free herself.

She said she and Webb wrestled on the couch for about 15 minutes. At one time she called to her son to phone someone, but the child wasn't able to manage. A short time later, she was herself able to dial her neighbor's number, but Webb grabbed the phone and threatened to cut the wires.

Mrs. McKenzie then told the court Webb pushed and pulled her to the bedroom where he shoved her across the bed. She said she was able to talk him out of doing anything after some considerable time, by telling him she was under a doctor's care.

He waited another hour until about four p.m., Mrs. McKenzie said. Every time she went to go out of the house, Webb was between her and the door. Finally he left by the front door and walked west along McFarlane St. She watched him until he had disappeared over a knoll and then phoned her neighbor, Mrs. Grace Sharp, who lived two fields away.

"Why didn't you scream?" queried defence counsel Gordon H. T. Farquharson.

"What good would it do?" was the answer. "No one would have heard me in God's green earth."

Turning the Mrs. McKenzie's identification of Webb in the police lineup, Mr. Farquharson asked "Do you recall seeing any other man with a red shirt in the identification parade?"

"No, sir," she answered.

Mrs. Sharp answered her phone about four p.m. Mrs. McKenzie was screaming over the phone to her to come.

"She was almost crazy," said Mrs. Sharp.

Mrs. Dorothy Willshaw, who lives on McFarlane St. west of the McKenzie and the Sharp homes, testified a man wearing a khaki tunic asked to use the phone at her house, but she had none. She saw him again about four p.m., walking west on the road.

Mrs. May Price, also of McFarlane St., said a man wearing "dark trousers and a light windbreaker" knocked at her door and asked to use her phone. She said she was tending two sick children and paid little attention to the man except that he used the phone, thanked her and left.

John E. McCarroll said he phoned the police and went with Constable Claire McGillen to search for the man.

They found a man dressed in the same manner in a field at Nassau and he identified the man he saw in the Nassau field as the accused, although he couldn't swear he was the same man he saw on McFarlane St.

Donald M. Fallis identified the accused as the man he had seen on McFarlane St. from behind the Sharp home where he boarded. He said he knew him to see him.

After discovering what had happened, he went with Mr. Sharp in the latter's truck to hunt for Webb. He saw him getting into a delivery truck at Water St. and Parkhill Rad.

N. J. Crone testified he had picked up a man wearing a bright red plaid shirt at Water and Parkhill and took him to Nassau. He said he noticed the man's face was scratched.

Constable Claire J. McGillen testified he had known the accused man before the incident.

He said he put Webb in the back seat at Nassau, but when he went to put handcuffs on Webb because he was getting out of the cruiser, there was a scuffle. He said at no time did he strike Webb.

Two optometrists, A. Ward Smith and William Roche, identified two pieces of glass Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke testified he found on the floor of the McKenzie's home, as the same prescription as the piece of lens left in the glasses given to them by Webb's mother.

This concluded Crown Attorney Bradshaw's evidence.

Evidence For Defence

Fergus Webb, brother of the accused, testified that the accused's face was marked where he had been hit by a piece of coal while working. He said when Leo Webb came back to the house at Nassau about four p.m., his face was no different, but at the police station his face was red and his mouth cut.

He testified he and his mother had examined the accused man's fingers when he was in the police cell and there was no mark of any kind.

Both he and his mother said Webb had left and returned wearing a cap, but none of the Crown's witnesses said Webb had been wearing a hat.

Property Owners Disappointed

TORONTO, March 1 (CP). — R. M. Willes Chitty, counsel for the Canadian Federation of Property Owners Associations, said today the Supreme Court ruling that Federal rent controls are valid is "more or less what I anticipated."

He said he had not expected the court's decision would be unanimous. But it "possibly is just as well that it was unanimous."

The court's ruling was "in a sense" disappointing to property owners. But because of indications that the Provincial Governments planned to take over rent controls if the decision had gone the other way, "I'm not so sure" that the disapopintment is great, he said.

"There sill are hopes that we'll be rid of controls probably within a year. If the province had taken over, we might never have got rid of them."

John D. Burnet Elected Cobourg Mayor

COBOURG, March 1—(ENS)—John D. Burnet, former mayor of Cobourg, was elected mayor by acclamation last night when at the close of the qualification period, his was the only qualification certificate that remained in the hands of the town clerk. At the nomination meeting on Monday night, Leslie Wilson, Mr. Burnet, Douglass Glenn and Alan Field were nominated, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation two weeks ago of Joseph Smith. All except Mr. Glenn filed nomination papers but to avoid the expense of an election, they withdrew in favor of Mr. Burnet.

Chiang Resumes ChinaPresidency

TAIPEI, Formosa, March 1—(AP).—Chiang Kai-shek Tuesday announced that he will resume today the presidency of what is left of Nationalist China, a job he quit 13 months ago.

Chiang's action probably ended the political crisis involving acting president Li Tsung-jen. Li, recuperating from a stomach operation in New York, is not expected to contest Chiang's official return to power.

The Nationalists loyal to Chiang have been trying to get Li to step down. The pressure will be withdrawn now. Li is free to remain in the United States as long as he likes, but he reverts to his old position of vice-president.

In a brief statement, Chiang said he had decided to return because the world situation had changed for the worse, especially since the Chinese Communists signed their treaty of alliance with Russia earlier this month. He noted that the Nationalists had been without a president since Li left about four months ago.

While the constitutionality of Chiang's move is questionable, all quarters predicted everything would pass off smoothly. Chiang actually has been running the show since Li left last November.

OTTAWA, March 1 — (CP) — Senator Thomas Reid (L, British Columbia) Tuesday in the Senate charged the CBC with failing to give " a chance" to a United Kingdom company to tender for television equipment with the CBC purchased from the United States.

Senator Reid, speaking in debate on the speech from the Throne, said it is a "terrible state of affairs" that the U.K. was not given an opportunity to sell to the CBC.

HEAVY DOTTED LINE INDICATES four high tension transmission lines which will carry power from Hydro's Des Joachims and LaCave developments on the Ottawa Diver to Minden Switching Station. From Minden, two lines, also indicated on the map, will run south, one to Kipling Terminal near Toronto and the other to Burlington near Hamilton. Two additional lines will continue from Minden to Essa Transformer Station, near Barrie, and will be extended to Westminter Frequency and Transformer Station near London.

Minden Station Key Point In Growing Hydro Network

Construction is progressing according to schedule at the Minden Switching Station, located between Minden and Haliburton, approximately 50 miles north of Lindsay.

Minden S.S. will be a key point in the transmission of power from Hydro's Des Joachims and La Cave developments on the Ottawa River, when they are brought into service in 1950 and 1952 respectively.

Four 230-kv transmission lines will carry power from these developments to Minden. From there, two lines will run south, one to Kipling Terminal and the other to Burlington. Two additional lines will continue from Minden to Essa Transformer Station, near Barrie, and will be extended to Westminster Frequency Changer and Transformer Station near London.

First stage of the 2½-million-dollar project, involving switching facilities for two lines from Des Joachims to Minden and two from Minden to Toronto and Burlington, is expected to be completed by July 1 of this year. The other stages will follow as required, with completion of the work expected by 1952.

The switching structures when completed will include twelve 230-kv oil circuit breakers (four to go into operation for the first stage). Among other facilities at the site will be the main control building, from which the circuits will be controlled. This building will also contain relay and communication equipment, as well as carrier current facilities. In addition, several modern homes are to be constructed for the operators. These houses will be built in close proximity to the new station and will overlook Lake Kashagawigamog.

Kinsmen Observe Founder's Night

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1—(ENS)—The regular meeting of the Kinsmen Club of Campbellford was held on Monday night at the Trent House. The first game of the play-off series with Frankford cut the attendance considerably.

On the occasion of the 30th anniversary of the founding of the Kinsmen Club, Francis Long read a letter from the founder, Hal Rogers. Mr. Rogers organized the Kinsmen as a purely Canadian enterprise. The initial meeting was held in a little Chinese restaurant in downtown Hamilton in February 1920. Since that time, the organization has grown to its present proportions and now reaches from coast to coast.

A letter from the national president of Kinsmen, J. W. Sutcliffe, was also read. In his letter, Mr. Sutcliffe paid tribute to the great work Mr. Rogers had accomplished in organizing the Kinsmen. President Harry Ayrhart proposed a toast to the founder.

Plans for a ladies' night are under way. This, is is hoped, will take place on March 20 at Edgewater Park, Campbellford.

Three Department Speakers Tell Fish and Game Club of Conservation

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1—(ENS)—A large number of members turned out on Tuesday night to attend the regular monthly meeting of the Campbellford Fish and Game Club. President Doug. Maybee was in the chair, and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Bert Taylor.

Highlight of the evening was the showing of three films on Wild Life and Conservation by Mr. C. W. Dill of the Department of Lands and Forests. Mr. J. M. Main also of the Department, spoke on conservation. He said that members of fish and game associations fall into two main groups—those who join the association for what they can get out of it, and those who join for what they can put into it. It is unfortunate to note that members of these clubs in the last few years have, for the most part, fallen into the first category. Mr. Main says we continue our zeal to keep fish and wild life plentiful. Many areas which boasted good fishing fifteen to twenty years ago are now fished out. If conservation had been practised then, fishing would still be good in these areas.

Hunters Quadrupled

Many people seem to be of the opinion that deer are not as plentiful now as they were a few years ago, and in some cases they blame the government for not keeping stocks up. The answer to this is simple arithmetic. In 1940, there were approximately 18,000 deer licenses issued in Ontario. In 1949 there were approximately 78,000 licenses issued. When hunters went into the bush several years ago, they nearly all got their deer, but now groups of eight and ten hunters come back with only two or three deer among them. This is quite understandable when we consider that we now have four or five times as many so-called hunters as we had a few years ago. Actually, according to the Department, there are more deer in the Province of Ontario now than there ever were.

Mr. Dill told of the vandalism on the part of some hunters, in breaking down fences, and destroying property. This antagonizes the farmers.

On the suggestion of Mr. Dill, the Campbellford club may take up a programme of feeding partridge and other wild game birds during that part of the year when their feeding grounds are covered with snow.

Trees Available

Mr. S. Hudson, also of the Department, spoke to the members on reforestation in the province, and the need for trees to keep our streams cool, clear, and clean. We have the responsibility of preserving wild life and forests for those who come after us and the Department will give large numbers of trees for planting in a community project. He claimed more clubs should avail themselves of this opportunity, and to look upon the task as one of the duties of the club.

Mr. Dill ended the programme with the showing of three fine films on wild life. One, "Realm of the Wild" is reputed to be among the finest picture stories of wild life ever filmed.

Mr. Geo. Lucy moved a vote of thanks to the speakers, and they were thanked on behalf of the club by president Doug. Maybee.

Forrest Dennis spoke to Mr. Dill regarding changing some of the fishing regulations, and also gave a report of what went on at the twenty-second annual convention of the Federation of Anglers and Hunters, which he, along with Walter Wiggins, attended on January 30 and 31.

Plans for a ladies' night are nearly complete and this will be held on March 14th.

Mr. Reg. McCullough, local conservation officer, also attended the meeting, and spoke a few words.

Style Expert Says Plain Nightgown Best

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 1 (AP) —For the greatest appeal in a nightgown, advises designer Milo Anderson, avoid frills and feathers, buttons and bows.

A few months ago, Gloria Grahame created a sensation by sleeping in the raw in a movie scene, claiming that is the best way to slumber. Since he is in the business of clothing women, Anderson naturally doesn't agree with Miss Grahame. But he denounces the fussy night-clothes that some women wear.

"A lot of frills and feathers not only interfere with comfortable sleeping," said the designer, "but they also destroy the sex appeal of the wearer by inviting attention to the decoration and ignoring the silhouette.

"I can't possibly see why any woman would want to eclipse her sex appeal by overdoing the styling of her nightwear. Lots of women fail to understand that the plain lines of a simple garment enhance their womanly charms, whereas fancy doo-dads detract from them."

Mid-Week Medley

Tyrone Power is working in Hollywood again, adding a much-needed touch of glamour to the town. He somehow seems to have an exciting quality which most of the newer leading men lack.

Although he is no oldster, Ty could classify as a film veteran. He has been in pictures since 1936.

Eddie Albert is another returnee to the Hollywoods. The wry comedian is back making pictures after a successful run in the Broadway show, "Miss Liberty."

Some actors wait all their lives to be in a hit show. Albert got one and left it in the middle of the run.

Ask Surveillance For Witness

QUEBEC, March 1 (CP)—The court today granted a request that Genereux Ruest, crippled Quebec watchmaker described by the Crown as an "important" witness in the murder trial of J. Albert Guay, be kept under "surveillance."

Crown Prosecutor Noel Dorion indicated that the little paralytic will be called later in the case.

Ruest testified at Guay's preliminary hearing last fall that he had rigged up an alarm-clock detonating device for the 32-year-old jeweler.

Crown Prosecutor Dorion said "surveillance," not arrest, was wanted.

Mr. Dorion said Ruest had promised to remain available to Crown authorities, but a third party had interfered with this agreement. The watchmaker was the object of a week-end search after he had left his residence at nearby Donnacona.

Army Equipment Stolen Worth $5,354

MONTREAL, March 1 (CP) — Thieves who raided the Farnham Military Camp last year, walking off with 31 huts and an assortment of stores and equipment, sent army accountants into a huddle to find out the value of the stuff lost. Tuesday they came up with the answers.

The 31 huts and plumbing and other materials and fixtures which disappeared from the lightly-guarded camp of 200 small buildings cost $27,534 when they were new and are worth $5,354 now, an Army Quebec Command statement said.

The Army has "located" goods worth $1,803, including 26 huts, leaving material originally worth $15,402 and now valued at $3,551 missing.

Value Different

A Quebec Command statement January 18 gave a Court of Inquiry's estimate of the value of goods missing as approximately $3,500. The Canadian Press erroneously gave the figure as the total estimate of all stolen goods.

The "located" goods are presumably being held by civil authorities in connection with theft charges against two caretakers.

The Army statement Tuesday said that a full guard at the camp built in 1940 and not used since 1946, would cost $24,000 a year compared with the present cost of $3,000 for caretakers.

In Farnham, a tent camp 45 miles east of Montreal, the 200 small buildings about 10 by 20 feet were used as kitchens and showers as well as three larger buildings.

KEY WITNESS — Josephine Connor, medical record librarian at the Hillsborough County Hospital, Manchester, N.H., is one of the key prosecution witnesses in the "mercy killing" trial of Dr. Hermann Sander. It was she to whom Dr. Sander allegedly dictated a memo, that he had injected air into a cancer victim's veins.

Claim Byrnes Confessed Firing Rifle

Statement Made To Police Given Voluntarily

"I did it, but I didn't mean it," Joseph Byrnes, 26, charged with manslaughter of Mrs. Helen Kendry, 26, said according to the testimoney of Constable Clair J. McGillen in a Supreme Court trial which opened before Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel Wednesday.

The fatal shooting took place at a drinking party about three a.m. Sunday, Feb. 5 after Byrnes had plunged his house in darkness at 520 Hamilton St. by removing fuses from a fuse box in the basement.

Said When Police Arrived

Constable McGillen testified Byrnes uttered those words just after he and Constable Andre Dalton had arrived in the still darkened house. He said he saw Byrnes coming out of the bedroom dressed in his underwear with Daniel McGregor, Sherbrooke Place, beside him. In his hands Byrnes held the gun.

"I'll take that," Constable Dalton said, referring to the 43 calibre Mauser type rifle, Constable McGillen testified.

Byrnes handed the rifle to Constable Dalton saying, "I have no more need for this."

"Who did this?" Constable Dalton queried.

"I did it, but I didn't mean it," Byrnes replied.

This evidence, which did not come out at the preliminary hearing almost two weeks ago, was admitted by Mr. Justice LeBel after argument from defence counsel T. J. Carley, KC, when the jury was not present.

Mrs. Byrnes left the court room when witnesses were asked to leave by Mr. Justice LeBel indicating either the crown or the defence may call her as a witness.

Toronto Hydro Rates Up 14%

TORONTO, March 2 — (CP)— A 14.8 per cent increase in hydro rates for consumers in Toronto and suburban Leaside was announced today by the Toronto Hydro-Electric system.

The system's commissioners told Board of Control the boost has been approved by the Ontario Hydro Commission. Costs that "are not of a temporary nature" make the increase necessary, they said.

New rates will go into effect April 1.

"The last time the Toronto system increased rates," the commissioners said in a statement, "was in 1920 following the First World War and the reason then was the same as now—an abnormal increase in the costs of labor and material resulting from the war."

Chief Of Police Beaten On Head With Revolver

TORONTO, March 2.—(CP).—Two British Columbia youths, allegedly surprised in a suburban Scarboro township home Wednesday night, were captured after a struggle with police in a nearby ravine. Police said two shots were fired and Police Chief Charles Moss beaten on the head with a revolver during the capture.

Alfred Price, 19, of Penticton, was charged with breaking and entering, assault, and shooting with intent to wound. His companion, George Ferris, 21, of Vancouver, was charged with breaking and entering.

Police said the two were surprised by occupants of the house and as they fled they fired a shot over the head of Mrs. Mary Wallis. Cornered by police in a ravine, Price is alleged to have fired a shot over the head of Chief Moss and then hit him with the revolver butt.

Oil Stove Explodes, Girl 8 Killed

Half-Blind Father Saves Crippled Wife and Baby Sister

KITCHENER, March 2 (CP) —An eight-year-old girl burned to death late Wednesday night in a fire which roared through a Waterloo township home and sent her crippled parents and baby sister to hospital.

Carol Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robertson, died in the family's three-room dwelling swept by fire after what was apparently an oil stove explosion. The house is two miles from Preston.

In hospital is her father, mother and baby sister, Dorothy, 1½ years. Mr. Robertson, partially deaf and blind and suffering a speech impediment, is in serious condition.

He received extensive burns in a courageous attempt to save daughter after aiding his crippled wife and infant to safety. He was seriously burned about arms, face and neck.

His wife, a deaf mute and crippled as the result of polio, received shoulder burns and was frost bitten. The infant daughter received head burns.

Luke Stadelbauer, 67, a next-door neighbor, saw a spurt of flame followed by a flash and a terrific explosion.

When he and his son reached the burning home, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson were outside with the infant daughter in her mother's arms.

Robertson told them he had tried to save his sleeping daughter, Carol, and that he had her in his grasp but that she slipped from his hands.

Eight In Family Perish As House Burns

MONSON, Me., March 2 (AP) —A fierce dwelling house fire wiped out eight members of a Monson family and injured a ninth seriously early today.

Elwood Smith, about 35, a teamster, his mother, and his six children were burned to death. The children ranged from a baby to a 10-year-old girl.

Smith's wife escaped but was reported in dying condition in hospital.

Firemen said Smith perished with other members of the family when he went back into the house in an attempt to rescue them after escorting his wife to safety.

Smith's wife, Norma, 32, was found naked and struggling through the snow toward a road. She suffered second and third-degree burns on most of her body.

At daybreak firemen had recovered three bodies, burned beyond recognition. The other five bodies were found several hours later.

Firemen fought the flames in near-zero cold. They plowed through deep snow to reach the scene.

Hears Screams

A neighbor, Eugene Bickford, said he heard Mrs. Smith's screams. He ran to the Smith home and carried Mrs. Smith to his house where she collapsed. Her night-clothing had been burned off. She had struggled about 25 feet through deep snow toward the road.

Bickford summoned firemen and sped back to the burning building.

"I broke a window," he related, "but it was impossible to get into the house for smoke. It was just pouring out. I could hear someone moving around inside but I couldn't do anything."

Five of the children and their grandmother were trapped in second-floor bedrooms of the wooden house. The baby was sleeping on the first floor with the parents.

The blaze apparently originated in the kitchen. It engulfed the structure in a few minutes.

The dead children were Carolyn, 11, Patricia, 9, Malcolm, 7, Robert, 5, Judy, 3, and Cheryl, 1.

TO PURCHASE SITE

KITCHENER, March 2—(CP) —The Department of National Defence, Ottawa, has agreed to purchase a 10-acre site at Knollwood Park from Kitchener for an armory and community centre. The armory will not be built at present. The new site part of the Canadian Women's Army Corps here in the war, is adjacent to the site for the new $1,000,000 Kitchener Memorial Gardens.

British Press Demanding Major Security Investigation

LONDON, March 2—(AP)—The strange spy career of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, sentenced to 14 years in prison for giving atomic secrets to Russia, led today to demands by the British Press for a major shakeup and investigation of Britain's security organization. There was little doubt in unofficial circles that the Fuchs trial Wednesday would rock this country's counter-espionage setup and probably would touch off an intensive recheck of every individual connected with Britain's atomic research.

The London Daily Herald said "British intelligence services are to be overhauled immediately."

No officials connected with security, however, would comment on the case at all.

The big question was: how did the brilliant German-born scientist—a professed Communist since 1932—manage to dupe Britain's security officials for seven years?

Too Slow Changing

An editorial in the Daily Telegraph explained it by saying security measures were too slow to change when the wartime co-operation between Russia and the West turned into the cold war of today.

The impression was general here that British agents and the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation had already set out one of history's greatest dragnets for the men to whom Fuchs handed important information on the atom bomb and possibly even on the projected hydrogen bomb.

This international manhunt would not necessarily be confined only to Russians. For in Fuchs' confession he did not name the nationality of the persons he first made contact with in 1942. He merely said he "established contact with another member of the Communist party."

Security police at the British atomic energy research establishment at Harwell, where Fuchs was one of the top physicists, had labelled him as "mostly security minded."

During the period in which he carried on his Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde existence of trustworthiness and betrayal, he survived at least eight special security checks without arousing suspicion.

Studying Bill On Headlines

WINNIPEG, March 2—(CP)— The Manitoba Legislature gave second reading Wednesday to a bill dealing with newspaper articles and their headlines.

Attorney-General James O. McLenaghen, in introducing the measure, said that a section of the bill makes it possible for a court, when considering if a headline is libellous, to consider the headline in conjunction with the article.

Under the Defamation Act, as it now stands, every headline or caption in a newspaper can be deemed a report. This has been held in court proceedings to mean that the headline must stand on its own and be judged separately as to whether it is libellous.

Mr. McLenaghen said that there obviously is some relationship between a news article and headline. Consequently it was decided a court should not be prevented from referring to the body of the article in determining if a headline is libellous.

At the same time, this would not prevent an inaccurate headline or caption from being adjudged defamatory. Manitoba's Libel Act was replaced in 1946 by the Defamation Act.

Donovan Swailes (CCF, Winnipeg) asked "if the headline is libellous and the body of the article is not, would there be libel?" The Attorney-General answered yes.

Ontario's Population Passes 4,000,000

TORONTO, March 2 — (CP)— Ontario's population has reached more than 4,000,000, it is shown in figures released today by the Department of Municipal Affairs.

The Department said "assessed" residents in 1949 numbered 4,074,615. This figure includes inmates of prisons and reformatories and patients in mental hospitals. These persons were not included in the 1948 population report of 3,947,527.

No estimate was available of the number of persons in prisons, reformatories and mental hospitals. The figures for both years represent only persons reported assessed by municipal and district clerks.

Approve Throne Speech

LONDON, March 2.—(Reuters). —The new cabinet at its first meeting today approved the terms of the Speech from the Throne on business for the session—to be delivered at Parliament's state opening on Monday. The government will not jeopardize party support by abandoning Socialist policy but will proceed warily on controversial issues and particularly steel nationalization. This will not be made an issue by the speech.

Canadians Will Soon Know If Living Costs Still Down

OTTAWA, March 2 —(CP).— Canadians will soon know if the downward trend in the cost-of-living recorded in the last half of 1949 is continuing this year.

They will get the answer in a few days when the Bureau of Statistics issues its monthly report on living costs.

In the last five months of 1949 declining food prices chipped away at the July peak of 162.8 to lower the prices barometer 1.8 points. By the end of December the cost-of-living index stood at 161.0.

The index is calculated on the basis that 1935-1939 average living costs equal 100.

Although the December index still was 61 per cent. higher than the 1935-1939 average, it represented a half-point drop from the previous month.

Increases in the allowable rent ceilings announced in the fall session of Parliament probably will not be reflected in the new index.

The rent sub-index remained stationary at 125.0 during December. Bureau surveys of rent surveys of rent changes are made on a quarterly basis. The last was completed in November and results of the new survey probably will not be announced until the following index.

In any event, the majority of landlords increasing rents were only able to begin boosting them February 1 and as a result the allowable increases would have little or no effect in January.

Food prices took the biggest drop, 2.5 points, among the six groups comprising living costs. The food sub-index fell to 199.4, the first time the group slipped below 200.0 since April, 1944.

Community Chest Workers Rally

The Red Cross and Community Chest campaign will be launched Friday evening at a dinner in the C.G.E. cafeteria which all campaign workers are expected to attend.

The dinner is scheduled for 6.30 p.m. and at 7 p.m. an opening address by James Scruton, vice president of H. J. Heinz Company Ltd. will be broadcast from the cafeteria over CHEX.

This speech will be followed by an address by Frank T. Sherk, general sales manager and director of the H. T. Heinz Company, who will advise workers on the best way to carry out the drive.

Worst Blaze In Montreal Since 1948

Many Fall To Ground As Knotted Sheets Break In Escape Try

MONTREAL, March 2— (CP)—Death toll in a fire which raged through Montreal's teeming Chinatown rose to four today when firemen searching the smoking ruins found three bodies. Earlier a Chinese had died when he leaped from a third-storey window.

At least 20 others were in hospital and two firemen suffered minor injuries in fighting the fire which swept a block of brick buildings and Chinese cafes in narrow Lagauchetiere Street in the centre of the city.

Lin Shew, 60-year-old Chinese died in the street after he leaped with his clothes aflame from a third-storey window. He was an occupant of an apartment house above the Lotus Garden Cafe where the fire is believed to have started.

Search Delayed

Police and firemen heard vague reports that several of the 50 residents, mostly Chinese, of the flats above cafes in the short block, were unaccounted for but a thorough search could not be made until the fire was brought under control. The blaze broke out about 6 a.m.

About noon three bodies were found in the smoking ruin of a Lagauchetiere street building.

None of the three bodies was immediately identified.

Most of the injured, who suffered cuts and burns, fled in their night attire from the three-storey stone building. They left trails of blood in the snow as firemen helped them into waiting ambulances.

Worst Fire Since 1948

Fire Chief Raymond Pare said it was the worst fire in Montreal since the $1,000,000 blaze in Canadian National Railways' Bonaventure freight sheds in August, 1948.

Firemen said not all the persons living above the cafe were accounted for but it was possible some had escaped the flames and sought shelter elsewhere without reporting to police.

Used Sheets As Ropes

Dangling from windows high above the ice-covered street were tattered and torn bed sheets knotted together. Many making their way down these to safety were plummeted to the pavement when the hastily-made escape ropes broke.

Several of the injured suffered fractured legs: one a fractured spine and another a fractured pelvis.

Raps Scientists For Attitude

NEW YORK, March 2.—(CP). —David E. Lilienthal, recently retired chairman of the United States Atomic committee, said Wednesday recent statements by some scientists that the hydrogen bomb would bring about the "end of the world," only served to create a "growing sense of hopelessness and helplessness among our own people."

These statements, he said, aroused "emotions that play right into the hands of destructive Communist forces."

Lilienthal singled out four leading nuclear physicists who saaid last Sunday in a radio broadcast that the hydrogen bomb if developed, could threaten the extinction of all life on earth.

The scientists also suggested that it would be necessary to decentralize the coastal cities of the United States as a vital defence measure.

Lilienthal said they "speculated on how to wipe out the earth. These fine minds came up with this fine contribution—to transplant 30,000,000 to 60,000,000 people. With all due respect to them, I want to state that this is a lot of high intellectual nonsense. It can't be done. It won't be done."

Storm Closes Schools

SYRACUSE, N.Y., March 2—(AP)—A blizzard hit central New York today, closing at least 50 rural schools. Winds of 40 miles an hour, carrying snow picked up from the ground and fine falling snow, whipped across the mid-State area. The Weather Bureau said the winds would increase in intensity but described the storm as "local." School buses in rural areas were unable to operate because of drifts and poor visibility.

Need Education More Practical MPP Declares

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — The Ontario education system turns out too many people who want to be white-collar workers, and does not put enough emphasis on practical instruction, Agnes Macphail told the Ontario Legislature Wednesday.

A former school teacher and the only woman member of the Legislature, the CCF member for York East and C. E. Rea (PC-St. Patrick) spoke in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Thirty-seven other members have indicated their desire to speak in the debate. With a lively debate expected on the government's new labor relations bill, down for second reading on the order paper, it is considered possible Premier Frost might start night sittings shortly to keep up with business.

Miss Macphail declared that "too many seek academic training. Too many people want white-collar jobs. I'm getting fed up with academic people who don't know how to meet a practical situation." Many men were unemployed today because they lacked practical instruction.

Great Possibilities

Miss Macphail, who recently made a tour of northern Ontario, said the demand for roads in the north is "like the chorus of a song."

"The north shore of Lake Superior is delightful," she said, " and some day there is going to be a road around it. When, I do not know; but why not now?"

"Can we not have a highway that allows people to come in at Duluth and go around the north shore and out at Sault Ste. Marie, if they want to go just that far, and continue a road which people would enjoy driving over—there is some sort of road, but people do not enjoy driving over it — from Sault Ste. Marie to Sudbury and on to North Bay and then connect with roads that come down here?"

Canadians were "very slow" about developing their own resources.

"One of the saddest things about the northern tour" was the number of Americans engaged in developing the north.

Britain, Egypt At Odds Over Ban On Suez Canal

CAIRO, March 2.—(AP). — Britain and Egypt are at odds over Egypt's refusal to allow passage through the Suez canal of tankers carrying crude oil to the British refineries in Israel.

The issue grew out of Britain's all-out efforts to conserve dollars by restricting oil imports from hard-currency areas.

Britain draws important qualities of crude oil from Middle Eastern aid Persian Gulf fields. Some of this was formerly refined at Haifa.

Iraq stopped pumping oil through a pipeline linking its wells to the Israeli plants.

Britain's demands for resumption of traffic recently have become more insistent both in Baghdad and Cairo.

Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain, when visiting Cairo last January, was reported to have taken up the tanker question with Egyptian prime minister Nahas Pasha. Nahas Pasha's answer was "no," these reports say.

Egyptian diplomatic envoys to Arab countries met in Cairo early in February.

One policy decision resulting from the conference, Arab League circles reported, said: "As long as a state of war exists between Egypt and Israel, Egypt will continue to ban the passage of tankers carrying crude oil through territorial waters on their way to Haifa, as a vital measure for security."

Mine Workers Innocent Of Contempt Of Court Washington Judge's Ruling

Verdict Stunning Surprise To Officials Counting On It As Weapon To Force Miners Back To Work In Pits

WASHINGTON, March 2—(AP)—The United Mine Workers today were found innocent of Contempt of Court in the soft coal strike which started 25 days ago. Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech, who heard the case without a jury, announced a verdict of "not guilty" on both the civil and criminal contempt charges. The Judge said that he had considered the government's petition and "found on the record" that the charges of contempt of his Feb. 11 back to work order were not supported.

The Union had contended that it was in no way responsible for the refusal of the miners to work. Its defence was that the 372,000 coal diggers had each quit work by individual decision, not by direction of the Union, and that officers of the union had done all they could to end the strike.

It took Keech just two minutes to announce his decision.

After offering counsel for both sides an opportunity to be heard and saying that he had "heard none" the judge signalled to the marshal to escort him from the courtroom.

Doesn't Read Document

Keech had prepared a long written opinion, but announced his ruling and did not bother to read the prepared document.

The decision was a stunning surprise to the crowded court room because the union in two previous strike cases has been held guilty and compelled to pay fines aggregating $2,130,000.

Government officials increasingly concerned over the spreading economic effects of the coal production stoppage had placed high hopes on the contempt case as a means of getting the miners back to work.

There are indications the government may now turn to seizure of the mines unless there is a quick contract agreement that gets coal production going again.

Seizure Plans Ready

President Truman, in response to questions, confirmed at a press conference today that seizure plans have been drawn up.

Judge Keech said in his decision that:

"It may be that the mass strike of union members has been ordered, encouraged, recommended, instructed, induced, or in some wise permitted by means not appearing in the record; but this court may not conviet on conjecture, being bound to act only on the evidence before it, which is insufficient to support a finding of either criminal or civil contempt."

Judge Keech's written opinion said there was no clear evidence that the union had failed to obey his strike-end order.

John L. Lewis, UMW president, twice sent back-to-work orders to the miners after Keech's February 11 stop stroke order was issued.

In effect, Keech said the weakness of the government's case was that it had made no showing that Lewis was not in earnest when he sent these instructions to his union members.

Plane Explosion Not Mechanical Disaster—Expert

QUEBEC, March 2.—(CP). —An air engineer expressed the opinion in the J. Albert Guay murder trial today that the Quebec air disaster on Sept. 9 was caused by an explosion due to an "agency" not normally part of the plane but aboard it at the time.

The Canadian Pacific Airlines plane crashed on a mountainside at nearby Sault au Cochon with a death toll of 23. One of the victims was Guay's 25-year-old wife, and the Crown seeks to prove that he arranged to have a time bomb placed aboard the plane to get rid of her.

The opinion on the cause of the crash was expressed by Frank Francis, 26-year-old C.P.A. employee who Wednesday suggested possible reasons behind the disaster. He told the court that he would eliminate structural or mechanical failure as the cause.

This morning he told the court that the way wreckage of the plane, designated as CF-CUA, was spread over the mountainside indicated an explosion had occurred aboard it.

Francis said the explosion occurred in the plane's forward left-hand baggage compartment.

The explosion was not a "vapor" explosion but a blast concentrated in the rear of the baggage compartment.

The Crown hopes to prove through witnesses such as the air engineer that Guay, 32-year-old Quebec jeweler, was the man behind a time-bomb plot that wrecked the airliner killing all 23 aboard including the jeweller's 28-year-old wife.

Keays Inquiry Cost $12,405

TORONTO, March 2 — (CP) — The public inquiry into charges of maladministration of justice that were made by J. E. Keays, of Belleville, former Ontario Provincial Police constable, cost $12,405, it was revealed in the Legislature Wednesday.

The case, heard by Mr. Justice Keiller MacKay, involved more than 60 accusations against brother officers — including charges of perjury, falsification of police records and fraud.

The hearing last year at Belleville lasted for 29 days. The 44-year-old constable, with 12 years' service, was dismissed from the force last summer.

Rescue 10 In US Crew As Navy Plane Ditched

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, March 2 (AP)—A United States Navy flying boat, seeking an "invasion fleet" in wide-scale manoeuvres, was ditched in the Atlantic early today.

All 10 men aboard were rescued from liferafts in the rough sea a short time later.

Both engines of the plane quit, and the pilot ditched the craft about 300 miles north of Haiti.

Two Navy surface craft made the rescue, accordnig to radio reports reaching here.

Fraser Stresses Accident Responsibility

OTTAWA, March 2—(CP)—An Eastern Ontario member of parliament is campaigning to get the federal government to take greater responsibility for injuries to civilians from military wounds.

G. K. Fraser, Progressive Conservative member for Peterborough West, said Wednesday he is prepared to pursue the question of Crown responsibility when defence estimates come before the Commons.

"When a man is killed or injured owing to negligence on the part of an employee of the Crown, then the government in my estimation is guilty of murder." Mr. Fraser said.

"The way the law now stands, the ordinary person has no redress even when negligence is clearly proved."

Gets Ammunition

Mr. Fraser got some ammunition for his campaign Wednesday in replies tabled in the Commons to five questions.

The replies said the defence department has investigated death and injuries of children near Camp Borden caused by a hand grenade explosion during the first week of January.

"The investigation carried out did not reveal any facts which would indicate that the grenade which exploded could have come from Camp Borden. The question of damages therefore does not arise."

Mr. Fraser asked if live hand grenade ranges within the confines of the camp.

He also wanted to know if a check is kept on these grenades, as to number issued and number exploded.

"All grenades are accounted for either as exploding or returned," the reply said.

IRONING OUT LENSES

"More rouge" the young man called, in the optical laboratory. Another one scooped pounds of it from a barrel. Why such goings on? Why did a man call for rouge? Isn't that the stuff girls use for make-up?

It is, and these young men didn't have the slightest cosmetic interest in it—except that they liked to see it on cheeks above a good feminine figure. In fact, in their minds rouge and figures were linked; their job was to give a huge but precious piece of glass its proper shape or, as the scientists call it, "figure." Professionally, men who do this work are called "figurers."

They were working on a thick piece of glass 200 inches in diameter, a piece of glass destined to become the most important part of the greatest telescope ever designed—the one to be erected on Mount Palomar, Cal.

Into every lens used for the protection of vision goes the same meticulous care and scientific know-how that perfects the great 200-inch telescope mirror that will explore the outer heavens. The glass-making ingredients are blended no less carefully; melted together with equal precision, cut, polished, ground to lens size and shape. And during this whole process frequent inspections are made with such conscientious exactness that of the original material only 2 per cent finally becomes lenses. Lastly, it is rouge that gives to spectacle lenses the precision for the most delicate operation of all—the correction of human vision.

Suggests Hog Producers Stage March On Ottawa

TORONTO, March 2—(CP)—A march to Ottawa by hog producers from every Federal constituency in Ontario was suggested Wednesday by Charles McInnis of Iroquois, President of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association. He told the opening session of the Association's two-day convention: "To date the government has not seen fit to play fair with the hog industry. We won't stop until we get adequate protection. I'd like to see delegations sent to Ottawa to see every Ontario member."

Mr. McInnis said the association is planning central selling agencies for hogs. They would be set up under provisions of the Farm Products Marketing Act.

No Alternative

"The packing houses leave us no alternative, when the only things they seem interested in are speculation and price-cutting," he said. "We have tried to negotiate a minimum price with them, but they would not co-operate in any way or try to arrive at a price which would give the producer any stability."

He said floor prices would protect the hog producer in the same way that tariffs protect industry.

He criticized a recent speech by Leslie Mutch, Liberal member of Parliament for Winnipeg South, who was quoted as saying that farmers are the second-best-organized fear-ridden group in Canada.

"I suppose our high-salaried friend, Mr. Mutch, will move to have his salary lowered to be in one of the groups he speaks about," said Mr. McInnis. "One wonders at men in such positions saying such things."

Drunken Driver Jailed 7 Days

Michael John Lane, 52, of RR 11, Peterborough, was sentenced to seven days in jail today on a charge of drunk driving.

He pleaded not guilty on this charge but guilty to a second charge of having liquor in an illegal place. On the liquor count he was fined $15 and $2.50 costs.

Testifying on his own behalf Lane said he was trying to turn his car around outside the A & P store on Charlotte St. Tuesday afternoon. He became stuck in the snow and for a short while blocked afternoon motor traffic.

Police constable Eldon McDonald said the speech of the accused was thick and he smelled strongly of liquor.

"I would say he was too drunk to drive a car," said the constable. In a pocket of the accused police found a partly empty 26-ounce bottle of rye. And in the rear there was another bottle of whisky as well as a couple of cases of beer, one partly empty.

Lane said he could not have been drunk as he had not had a drink of liquor for more than 10 hours. He attributed the odor on his breath to a cough medicine he uses regularly.

His unsteady walk was easily accounted for, he said. Due to a disability gained in the First World War he walks with a limp. He carried a cane with him when he entered the witness box.

After deliberating for a minute or so Magistrate Philp convicted him on the drunk charge and later ordered him to pay a total of $17.50 for illegal possession.

Claim Byrnes

She was not called at the preliminary hearing.

Constable McGillen testified Byrnes had been drinking but did not know how much he had been affected by the drink. McGregor, said the constable, was drunk and unsteady on his feet. Mrs. Robert R. (Cecelia) Weir, 42, of 634 Park St., "was very drunk" said Constable McGillen. He said she was constantly arguing with him and kept trying to get three full pint bottles of beer left in a carton in the bedroom.

Harold "Huck" Frost, 35, 550 Sherbrooke St., was drunk according to Constable McGillen. The police officer said in the bedroom cartons were three full bottles of beer and 15 empties; in the hall another 21 empties were lined up; in the kitchen were four more; and two more were found in the living room.

Called An Ambulance

Constable McGillen testified he radioed for an ambulance as soon as he had arrived at the front door of the house and looked in long enough to see someone lying on the living room floor. He said the ambulance did not arrive for 35 to 40 minutes. Mrs. Kendry was pronounced dead on arrival of St. Joseph's ambulance.

Mrs. Kendry's clothes were disarranged while she lay on her back on the living room floor and there was a hole in her abdomen about two inches above the navel. She was breathing heavily and Frost was kneeling beside her forehead and holding one of her hands.

Constable McGillen said the house was in darkness some time until Jack Weinberg, who lived across the street brought over some fuses.

Sergeant William W. Sutherland, of the RCMP at Ottawa, testified the rifle, at least 64 years old, was the gun in which a shell found in the baby's crib in the bedroom had been fired. He also testified that a battered slug found on the living room floor was of the same calibre as the rifle and could have been fired from it but was too misshapen to give any positive proof.

On the slug were still bits of matter which appeared to be wine colored fibres which could have been wool and bits of plaster and paint.

Corroborates Evidence

Constable Andre Dalton, first witness called today by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, corroborated evidence given by Constable Claire McGillen.

He said Mrs. Kendry was breathing and there were some movements of her right arm.

Constable Dalton said he asked the man kneeling beside Mrs. Kendry, later identified as Harold "Huck" Frost, who he was. Frost answered "I'm her boy friend."

Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke said he found a box of about 10 shells in a drawer of the bureau. He said he found a pair of dark blue trousers containing four fuses in one pocket.

The court room was not half full as the trial got under way.

Identify Photos

Sergeant William Aggas, identification Officer of the city police, identified several photographs showing views of the holes in the door and the wall separating living room and bedroom, and views of various rooms in the house.

Daniel McGregor, 25, 284 Sherbrooke Place, a friend of Byrnes who served in the navy with him said he met Byrnes in the King's hotel about 4:30 p.m. Saturday. After collecting some cartons of empty beer bottles, they bought two large cases of beer "for no particular purpose."

They returned to Byrnes' home for supper. About 8:30 p.m. they left and went to the Empress Hotel beverage room and later to two other hotels.

At the last they met Vincent Garvey, 24, of 182 Hazlitt St., Joseph Spencer, 24, of 610 Armour Road, and Emmett O'Donoghue, 22, of 449 Rogers St.

In the ladies beverage room they met Mrs. Robert R. (Cecelia) Weir, 41, of 634 Park St., and Mrs. Edward O'Toole, 665 Gilchrist St.

The whole group went to Byrnes' home. Later they were joined by Mrs. Helen Kendry, 26, and Frost.

For some time the party went along with drinking, singing and dancing. McGregor said he was "pretty drunk" and testified that Byrnes threw a tricycle at him at the start of a fight.

He said he ducked, but Mrs. Byrnes sitting behind him in a chesterfield chair in the northwest corner of the living room was hit, cutting her hand.

A fight developed in the kitchen until it was stopped by someone, Mrs. Byrnes was taken to a doctor.

Left House

McGregor said he later went outside when the lights were still on in the house. When he returned to the house Mrs. Kendry was lying on the floor of the living room.

McGregor said, in cross-examination by defence counsel T. J. Carley, that Sunday, a week before the event, Byrnes had shown him the rifle in the basement. He said Byrnes put some shells in it and ejected some, but he didn't know if all the shells were ejected from the rifle. He added that Byrnes didn't look to see if all the shells were out.

McGregor told the court Mrs. Byrnes, wife of the accused, had no more than half a pint of beer during the whole evening, if she had that.

"How many cartridges did Byrnes put in the gun that Sunday?" Crown Attorney Bradshaw asked.

"Perhaps three or four," McGregor replied.

McGregor was followed by O'Donoghue into the witness box. He had ridden in the ambulance which took Mrs. Kendry to St. Joseph's Hospital.

He, Spencer and Garvey were in the American Hotel when Byrnes and McGregor came in about 10.30 Saturday night.

With Mrs. O'Toole and Mrs. Weir, they all went to Byrnes' home. He, Spencer and Garvey left shortly to go to another party and returned to Byrnes' home about 1.30 a.m.

They found Byrnes and McGregor fighting in the kitchen and stopped it. They took Mrs. Byrnes to Dr. Robert Young. When they returned to the Byrnes' home about 2:30 a.m., Byrnes shook hands with his wife and apologized.

A short time later he saw Byrnes leave the living room and then the lights went out.

"I had my coat on and I got up and went out the back door," O'Donoghue said.

He said he came back in in about 10 minutes. As he came along the hall he saw a flash of fire and heard a long loud bang.

He saw a figure fall in the living room.

Vincent Garvey, next called, corroborated O'Donoghue's testimony. He added after stopping the fight they took McGregor outside "to cool off."

The third member of the trio of friends Joseph Spencer, added little to O'Donoghue's story up to the time the lights went out. As far as he knew everyone except Byrnes was in the living room when the lights went out.

He next saw Byrnes standing in the living room door with a rifle holding it across his body will you get out!'" Spencer said.

He saw Byrnes go into the bedroom as he walked toward the pointing towards the kitchen with his two hands.

"He said something about 'Now, back door.

When he had almost reached the back door he heard Byrnes say in a loud voice "Get her out of here!" several times.

He went back and saw Mrs. Weir falling to the bedroom floor just inside the bedroom door.

There was another woman standing between the bedroom and the living room doors. He stepped into the bedroom and saw Byrnes was standing by a bed with a rifle by his side in one or two hands still yelling "Get her out of her!"

He stepped over Mrs. Weir and stooped down beside her and chaffed her hands. A couple of minutes later he saw a flash and heard a report from where Byrnes had been standing.

He heard someone say someone had been shot. He went into the living room and saw a woman lying on the floor.

From the time he first heard Byrnes shouting to the report of the gun about three or four minutes had elapsed.

He heard neither Byrnes nor his wife ask anyone to leave during the evening.

"During the whole evening did you see Joe Byrnes point the gun at any person?" Mr. Carley asked.

"No, I didn't," Spencer replied.

"What do you mean, Is it safe?"

Police testimony reported Grabb, a rookie member of the Essex detachment as saying "I shot him."

Grabb was one of three officers sent to Raes' farm, three miles from Comber, to question Raes concerning the bludgeon death earlier that day of Mrs. Ellen Wallace, 48, manager of the share crop farm Raes operated alone.

Raes was reported to have run to his lonely farm house in the dark, threatening to shoot police and waving an object above his head. All three police opened warning fire on him and the farmer fell about 30 feet from the farmhouse door. He died later in a Windsor hospital.

U.C. Opposes Vatican Envoy

TORONTO, March 2—(CP)—The United Church of Canada said today it is "unalterably opposed" to appointment of a Canadian Envoy to the Vatican.

The Church's Board of Evangelism and Social Service took this stand in a resolution passed unanimously at its annual meeting.

The resolution, copies of which will be sent to Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson, referred to "constantly recurrent press reports" of the possibility of such an appointment.

"It would involve recognition of the Roman Catholic Church as a State, and we cannot support this . . . . we do not believe that the present serious situation of international dis-unity would be in any way overcome by such an appointment. Neither do we accept the view that the Roman Catholic Church can be recognized as a formidable ally in the defence of Democratic and religious liberty."

Eight radio police cars and nine ambulances stood by. Doctors said at least 10 more persons were injured and were looked after in nearby drugstores and restaurants.

D. Joselesky, owner of one of the buildings, estimated the total property loss would run more than $500,000.

50 Flee Flats

The fire broke out about 6 a.m. in the short block in the centre of the city where most of the Chinese live. At least 50 people streamed from flats above the garishly-decorated Chinese cafes as the first alarm was sounded.

Among buildings destroyed were the Lotus Garden Cafe and the American Cafe and two rooming houses.

The flames quickly spread from the Lotus Garden to the apartments upstairs and then eastward toward St. Lawrence Boulevard, one of the city's main north-south arteries.

Most of the fire apparatus in the central part of the city were called as the third alarm was rung in and engines were ordered in from outlying districts.

Chance For Discussion

OTTAWA, March 2 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons Wednesday it will be given an opportunity to discuss the newly-announced increase in freight rates if this can be done within the rules of the chamber. He suggested this might be done when the House discussed the transport department estimates.

Unemployment Debated By Commons

OTTAWA, March 2— (CP) — Unemployment, a dark shadow on Canada's economic picture in recent months, was injected into a dull Throne Speech debate in the Commons Wednesday.

As the Labor Department reported spotty improvement in the employment situation, two British Columbia members of Parliament drew attention to the jobless totals and proposed methods of righting the country's economic balance.

William Mott, Liberal member for New Westminster, urged in his maiden speech that the Federal Government revive its pre-war policy of making low-interest loans to municipalities for essential work.

H. W. Herridge, soft-spoken CCF member for Kootenay West, who came to Parliament in 1945, felt the government should embrace unemployment - planning methods proposed through the United Nations.

Otherwise, the debate moved slowly.

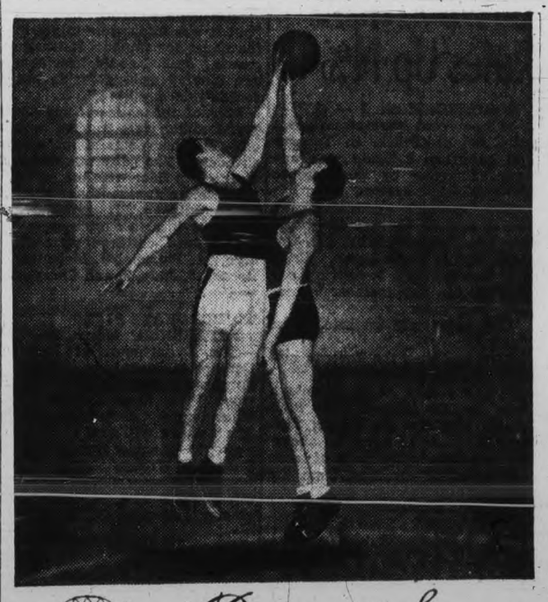
Believe Woman Died From Air Injection

MANCHESTER, N.H., March 2 —(AP)—The State's star medical witness said today that he believed Mrs. Abbie Borroto was killed by an air injection in her veins administered by Dr. Hermann N. Sander.

Dr. Milton Helpern, Deputy Medical Examiner of New York city, gave this testimony as the State neared the close of its first-degree murder case against the 41-year-old country doctor.

The State charges Dr. Sander injected 40 cubic centimetres of air into Mrs. Borroto's arm last Dec. 4 in a gesture of mercy to end the agony of her cancer.



Dr. Helpern figured in the trial six years ago by Attorney John F. Noxon, convicted of murdering his mentally deficient son.

He told a press conference he has been fighting for the entire St. Lawrence seaway and power project for years and that something will be done if Congress will perform.

Truman said there will be no delay in sending the recently completed Niagara water treaty between the United States and Canada to the Senate for its ratification.

CITY CARPETBALL

The results of the simi-final draw for the Gracie Memorial Doubles are:

The luck of the draw brought the teammates or Big Bens battling for survival in this competition and taking the three games to settle the issue. The first game went to R. Ralston and A. Bromley by an 8-2 score against A. Robinson and G. Brown; the second went to the latter pair by virtue of a 7 in one end and a score of 10-7; and they lost the third and deciding game 9-2. The other pairs in this round also had to go the limit to declare a winner. T. Leether and T. Parson won the first by a 10-7 score from A. Bartley and W. Sorrie and to show how evenly matched they were, the latter team emerged the winner by the same score in the second match. The last game was another close one, tied going into the last end with the latter pair taking the big end of a 6-4 score.

The final round will be played at the Legion, Tuesday, March 14 at 8 p.m. D. Bartley and W. Sorrie vs. R. Ralston and A. Bromley. This will mean a jump of one week because the former pair are working nights. No doubles next week.

The President's Cup competition which was curtailed by sickness is being played this week but only one match has been reported Big Bens No. 1 eliminated Legion No. 6 in two straight games by scores of 12-2 and 9-5 to send the Bakers home with their bread badly burnt.

The draw for the second round of this cup for the week of March 6 is: winners of Glens No. 10 vs. Treasurer's No. 9 against winners of L.O.L. No. 8 vs. S.O.E. No 3; winners Legion No 7 vs. Legion No 5 against Big Bens No. 1; winners of Quakers No. 4 vs. St. George's No. 2 a bye.

The league schedule after excellent performance by all teams stumbled at the finishing wire with ony one game reported.

The Quakermen had as their guests King Billie but the Orange team forgot the White Charger and their opponents had a good supply of that famous brand on hand so they romped home with two victories by scores of 16-7 and 17-2 to finish their scheduled games.

The defaulted game between Legion No. 6 and Legion No. 7 will be held providing it is played next week on a date set by the executive. Both skips will be notified of said date.

Scheduled games that have not been played and are holding up the final results are: Legion No. 7 vs. Legion No. 5, Glens No. 10 vs. L.O.L. No. 8.

On hand awaiting an explanation is a card showing a game played between William Sidney Smoke against Samuel Organ Gracie and designating themselves as No. 6 and No. 3 teams with the first game 11-all tie and second going to No. 6 by a score of 18-7.

Thinks She Has Cancer Mother 30, Vanishes

RENSSELAER, N.Y., March 2 (AP)—In the mistaken belief she was suffering from a cancer, a 30-year-old mother handed each of her three young children a toy, kissed them goodbye and departed, saying she would never see them again.

Police said Mrs. Helen B. Overlander vanished Friday from her home here. Her husband, Sherrell, 33, a truck driver, said her physician told him today that there was nothing seriously wrong with her.

Mrs. Overlander had been under treatment for an internal disorder for about a year.

Mrs. Overlander called the hospital Thursday evening and asked for results of some X-rays. She was told they were not available and was asked to call again Friday. She did not call back, her husband said.

Try Immunization

CHICAGO, March 2 — (AP) — Scientists have disclosed development of a vaccine that has immunized 90 per cent of experimental animals against one form of infantile paralysis, researchers at Michael Reese Hospital here said they are aiming at a form of the vaccine that will be safe and effective against each of the presently known three types of polio. The report said, however, that much more work must be done to refine the procedure before human trials of the vaccine can be attempted.

Premier Walter Jones Of PEI Has Blueprint For Expanding Trade Resources

By The Canadian Press

Premier Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island Wednesday gave the legislature at Charlottetown his blueprint for expansion of the province's trade with Newfoundland and Labrador.

Observers believed it was the Liberal leader's last major speech before he will be appointed to the Senate.

He stressed importance of the long-proposed Chignecto canal as an Atlantic coast route for ships carrying Labrador iron ore. He said that if he were appointed to the Senate one of his first tasks would be to press for immediate construction of the canal. Such a route would be faster and cheaper than the proposal to carry the ore by rail to Seven Islands, Que., for shipment up the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes, he said.

In the Newfoundland legislature Resources Minister Edward Russell said that while fishing remains the greatest single problem Newfoundlanders must not lose sight of their other resources.

Welfare Court

The legislative assembly at Quebec adopted a bill to establish a Quebec social welfare court after defeating by 76 to 8 an opposition amendment concerning funds to establish the court. The new court will have a wide jurisdiction, including matters relating to old age pensions, child adoption and hospitalization of the indigent.

The Manitoba legislature heard the first major statement of the session on the principle of coalition. During debate on a motion of non-confidence moved by the anti-coalition group Health Minister Ivan Schultz said voters have consistently supported the principle of non-partisan government through seven successive elections since 1922. "It is ridiculous to suggest that this government has not got the confidence of the people of Manitoba," he added.

The Sackatchewan legislature heard a Liberal member, F. M. Dundas of Qu'Appelle-Wolseley suggest that the federal government should pay more than 50 per cent of the cost of the trans-Canada highway.

In the Alberta legislature a rebel Social Credit member, A. V. Bourcier, charged that Premier Manning's government was no different from "orthodox Liberal or Conservative administration." Gordon Taylor, party whip, retoreted "Every act and every piece of legislation is designed in the interests of the people of this province, even if the actual words 'Social Credit' do not appear in the throne speech."

CHURCHILL

Objective—$75,000; Object—Heart Ease

Tomorrow the Community Fund and Red Cross campaign opens. During the next seven days every citizen, whatever his creed, work or financial position, and every shop, office and factory, will be asked to support the associated welfare agencies whose estimable and necessary work is made possible largely through the monies collected. This annual appeal to purse and heart warrants our full co-operation, and as generous contributions as can be made. The objective, $75,000, is modest in comparison with the work done.

* * *

We say, as we have in other years at this time, how convenient is this one annual appeal. A dozen welfare associations which would otherwise be making separate canvasses, make but one combined call on our purses. The desirable amount of our donation can be gauged when we remember that it is not one gift we are making, but the sum of several. The demands on the various welfare organizations are likely to be greater this year than in any other year in the last decade; their need for funds is therefore greater. It is fitting that we give really generously; to stint on such work is to deny our hearts.

The Failure Of The Taft-Hartley Act

It is clear now that the Taft-Hartley Act, which was drafted and adopted in the U.S.A. in 1948 to deal with strikes which threatened the well-being of the nation, is a failure. Obedient to the Act, John L. Lewis ordered his mine workers back to the pits, and they refused to go. There is little that the Act can do now, except provide for a heavy fine for the mine workers' union, and that is not a particularly effective measure. Many U.S. industrialists were anxious to give the Act a trial; they can now see for themselves that it is of slight value. They had hoped that it would clip the wings of the John L. Lewis type of union leader, but Mr. Lewis continues to be powerful. The significant thing, as we pointed out last week, is that the coal industry—owners as well as workers—is suffering, and is on its way toward extinction in its present form.

The struggle in the coal mines is one of the last struggles along the old lines of labour advancement. There are on this continent at present scores of unions which have greatly improved the lot of their members without resorting to melodramatic and extreme measures. They have worked by negotiation and compromise and they have achieved much. It must be said that these peaceful unions, the names of which rarely appear in the news, have dealt with industries and employers of very different mentality from those who control the coal industry. For reasons which we cannot fathom the controllers of coal mines seem often to be men of uncommon stubbornness; they make accommodations with their workers only when they are forced to do so by some extraordinary circumstance. The coal miners and their union are hard men to deal with, but much of their hardness has been created by the hardness of their employers. Theirs is a tough union, and John L. Lewis is a tough leader. Unions like theirs, and leaders like Lewis, are becoming back numbers in labour relations. Reasonable unions, dealing with reasonable employers, are becoming the rule nowadays.

This change is not acceptable to all unions. If the leadership of a union is more interested in creating unrest than in getting the best reasonable deal for the members, the growing smoothness in labour relations is distasteful to it. But the majority of unions are reasonable.

The Taft-Hartley law was a punitive law, and also a weak law. Its weakness has now been shown, and its failure to discipline determined labour leaders has been shown also. Slowly but surely it is becoming apparent that labour can gain its legitimate ends by peaceful means, and rough stuff by either industry or labour is losing its power.

A Canadian Accent?

Our debonair contemporary the Ottawa Citizen ambles into a criticism of Canadian mumbling. It seems that a Mr. Hankinson of Montreal has charged that Canadians are mumblers; that we, a self-conscious people between the United States and Great Britain—both having their own speech mannerisms—"have found the easiest way to avoid criticism from both for mispronunciations is to mumble". That is, we Canadians have been caught between the gravel of the American r and the gulf of the missing English r, between the American a and the Amen a of Oxford, and we stumble into a face-saving mumble. This Mr. Hankinson (we trust he is not a straw-man of the Citizen) suggests that Canadians should have a distinctive accent of their own, and should spend more time cultivating it. We could not fail to disagree with him less, as the Citizen likewise does not fail to do.

"Anything Mr. Hankinson can do to cure Canadians of the deplorable tendency to mumble will be beneficial", remarks the neat-speeched Citizen. (Mr. Hankinson proposes to publish a glossary of words that have distinctive Canadian pronunciations.) But it appears to the Citizen that Canadians have no distinctive accents to cultivate: "They all talk alike, and each has the accents of Minnesota or Michigan." Tut! Tut! Do we detect in this remark a prejudiced ear attuned to—or even from—the Canadian West? Has the Citizen never cast its ear over the Ottawa valley, where, if anywhere in this rustic Canada a distinctive accent lies like a slab over a saw-horse, like shell-ice in a furrow? If the Canadian tongue is to have the "hallmark" of an accent, we hope Mr. Hankinson's ear does not go to the ground of the Ottawa valley. Let the Citizen warn him in no uncertain accents.

Fragrant Herbs

We learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Rosetta Shear Clarkson, at the comparatively early age of 57. We do not think that Mrs. Clarkson's name will be familiar to many of our readers, but her work may have touched them in a most sensitive spot—in their digestive organs. She was an authority on herbs, and the cultivation and use of herbs was her lifelong study. In her garden at Milford, Connecticut she herself grew more than 300 varieties of herbs, and although she was interested in their medicinal use her chief concern was with their use as aids to cookery.

Canadian cooks seem, upon the whole, to care very little for herbs and often declare that they never use them. This is not strictly true, for they all use pepper, and pepper is an herb, and its purpose is that of all herbs—to support or bring out the flavour of food. The variety of herbs is bewildering; few cooks without Mrs. Clarkson's knowledge could handle all of her 300 herbs with success. But there are fifteen or twenty herbs which all cooks can employ, to the great improvement of their dishes.

Most of us like what is called "good, plain cooking". But too often what is offered to us under this guise is neither good nor plain. It is partly spoiled in the preparation, and it is vilely sophisticated with various cheap essences, extracts, and sauces which are the refuge of the lazy or indifferent cook. But a plain dish, such as an omelette, which has been delicately seasoned with one or two herbs, is a dish for a king. The herbs do not flavour the omelette; they serve only to support and bring out the full flavour of the excellent eggs and butter which are in it. Herbs are cooked with meats for the same reason—to give the flavour of the meat its best chance. And a soup without herbs, or fish without herbs, is not being given a fair chance. A kitchen which contains no herbs but pepper and some paprika in a bottle is not properly equipped for the preparation of a good, plain meal.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The prolonged strike of coal miners reminds us that the taxpayer is the one fellow who is never permitted to stop digging.

A health authority is said to recommend strenuous exercise for sufferers from arthritis. Most sufferers from arthritis will look upon this as comparable to prescribing a mustard plaster for sunburn.

The French Academy announces that there are 2,796 languages in the world. And as if this were not confusing enough, there are people who do not know their own minds in all of them.

Statistics show that coins are being used less and less and that paper money is being used more and more. These statistics appear to us to lose sight of the speed with which a piece of paper money can dwindle into a few unimpressive coins.

After The Election

By R. B. McCALLUM
(Fellow of Pembroke College, Oxford)

THE election has produced a parliamentary situation for which we can scarcely find a parallel in the last 100 years. But in its pattern there is nothing startling, nothing surprising. The changes are of magnitude and not of form. Where the electorate is predominantly industrial, the Labour Party maintains its hold.

The new Parliament is narrowly balanced, more narrowly than any since mid-Victorian times. This presents no new problem in constitutional propriety. Mr. Attlee, the First Minister of the Crown, has not been defeated, and he has quite properly decided to carry on. He will now present a King's Speech and ask for a vote of confidence on the Address. That he should receive by twelve or fifteen votes, or more if the eight Liberals abstain and the two Irish absent themselves. But the situation does set a difficult problem in Parliamentary behaviour.

It is easy for an historian glibly to produce parallels and say that Lord Derby or Lord John Russell got on well enough with a small majority or with none. Conditions have changed since then. We have universal suffrage; we have organized parties hot from fierce struggles in the constituencies. In the age of Derby and Russell it was not uncommon at a General Election for nearly one-half of the House of Commons to be returned unopposed.

* * *

ONE particular difficulty of modern times is the prevalance of delegated legislation. Governments make rules and orders which may be annulled if the House of Commons make "a prayer to the Crown" asking for the annulment of the order. While from one point of view it would do the bureaucracy all the good in the world to have a few orders annulled, it might happen that some particular order, dealing with petrol or food, was essential to efficient administration. In matters like this, the new House will have to exercise prudent restraint.

For, as the Duke of Wellington used to say, "The King's Government must be carried on." The nation must present a front of dignity and calm before the world. This is made all the more obvious by the impending visit to London of the President of the French Republic. Always welcome, he will be doubly welcome then, for his visit will impose a decent restraint on our politicians (like the arrival of some family friend in a quarrelsome nursery). And what would Frenchmen think of a nation that allowed itself to fall into a state of nerves merely because there was an unstable Parliamentary situation?

THE present Parliament is obliged to govern the country as best it can. It must carry us through the spring and summer. It might well take us on into next year. Members must feel disinclined to face the wearisome-like business of another campaign. And the electors are entitled to demand that the present House should support a government for a decent period. And the parties themselves must beware of appearing factious and difficult, for a party which gives the public the impression that it has been unreasonable and is needlessly and factiously forcing another election will have to face the public's anger.

Here we have the election of 1924 before us as a warning. In that year Asquith used his power to place MacDonald and the Socialists in office. Yet within nine months the Government had courted defeat and craved a dissolution. The Conservative victory of 1924, often to an absurd degree attributed to the Zinovieff letter, was much more clearly caused by the impatience of the electors with the Government and with Asquith for the failure to keep the machine running.

* * *

WHAT, therefore, should the present Parliament do? What can it do? It can vote supply, raise taxes, supervise the Armed Forces and the general administration of the country. For this there will have to be some kind of understanding with the Opposition. Controversial policies, above all, long and complicated nationalization Acts and such-like, will have to be laid aside. The Opposition must not seek factiously to divide on every issue: the Government must not court defeat and seek martyrdom.

Above all, on the supreme question of foreign policy and world peace there can, and should, be an agreement to avoid partisanship. Both the Prime Minister and Mr. Churchill have spoken with due solemnity about atomic weapons. Both parties are agreed in principle on the United Nations: they are not really so far apart on Western Union; it is a matter of tempo and method.

IN conclusion it should be said that while the present Parliament may be a short Parliament, we must not assume that a second dissolution would necessarily produce a very different result. In 1922-3-4 we had a dissolution each year and each time a different result. But in 1922 a Coalition Government had broken up and a new alignment of candidates had to be made. In 1923 an entirely fresh issue, protection, was thrown before the electorate. In 1924 the country had a chance of returning a majority as opposed to a minority government. But in 1910 there were two elections and, on balance, only one seat changed hands.

This, or something like it, might occur again. For there are no new issues; no major party is going to split; some realignment of the Liberal vote is the only possible development. If the country will not change its mind, and it may not, then Members of Parliament must keep their heads.

It will not be easy. By-elections will be fought more strenuously than ever, and it will be difficult to maintain a holy calm in the House and an angry snarl in the constituencies. But the present situation imposes on leaders and on all Members of the House an obligation to behave more prudently and equably than has been their wont in the epoch of huge and stupefying majorities.

GETTING A BIT FRAYED

Letters To The Editor

A DREAM OF PETERBOROUGH'S FUTURE

Sir: Having studied your "Leaves of T" Column — I still cannot account for the Dream; Maybe I should consult a psychologist —or the elected governing body of our "Electric City." I had a dream! — It was very exciting and real. I dreamed that the people of this City had at long last, come out of their Rip-Van-Winkillian Sleep— apparently realizing that at last they were of age—One Hundred Years as a community. In my dream I looked in on solemn but excited meetings of Kiwanis, Rotarians, Kinsmen, Lions, K of Cs, KPs, IODEs, Veteran, and Labour Clubs, YW, and YM, Boy Scout and Girl Guide, and a host of other social and Hobby gatherings. There were delegates from other groups, interlocking the theme of all these meetings — correlating their discussions toward a mutual goal —The determination to make Peterborough, the most community-conscious city in Canada, in this, its Centennial Year. There was a spirit of co-operation in every group meeting—a singleness of purpose permeated the atmosphere of every debate, although of course, there were conflicting opinions upon how best to accomplish the desired goal. All groups were unanimous about the first step toward community solidarity—the immediate problem of getting a Community Centre built, of taking collective action to help our harassed and disunited City Fathers with the financial and locational morass they have dug themselves into. Every group approved the idea "That building a Community Centre, would be the pledged memorial to our War Dead.. our boys that didn't come back, but also, that it would be a Corner Stone to the awakening of community spirit." It was amazing to hear solid, conservative minded, Business, and professional men and women talking costs in millions, quite calmly, quite frankly admitting that it was going to mean sacrifice from everyone up to the limit of each one's ability, that each would give of their leisure and treasure generously and without stint. Everyone accepted the challenge calmly, determined to succeed. The thought came to me as I watched this metamorphosis of these eager people — that this Community Centre when completed, would not be just a building of stone or iron or cement, housing the communal activities of its citizens, it would not be just a building to commemorate the sacrifices of our war dead. It would be a living thing—A thing of such blood, sweat, and tears, a superlative of the spirit, of living and giving wrought out of personal sacrifices to an ideal of better and more companional living. The Dream persisted, and I saw that which had been built— A large structure of simple design, not ornate, rugged, an almost solemn severity of line. I saw people flowing in and out of its main entrance, and I wandered through its spacious interior. There was a large arena for sports. A quick freezing arrangement for ice. There was a roomy theatre where the Little Theatre group, The local Symphonic Orchestra, the Literary Guild, and other groups exhibited their artistry, Where motion pictures on Horticulture, Hobbycraft, Cameracraft and a host of other communal interests were demonstrated, and where once a month, City Forum was held, broadcast over CHEX for those who could not attend personally. In these Forum meetings lived the heart of community living, any citizen with a selected idea for general civic improvement or closer community co-operation was invited to talk at this meeting, or to delegate a speaker to talk on the subject matter for him or her. I saw also lesser rooms where hobbycrafts were taught, in one was a civic museum. I thought of Peter Robinson as I watched the animated people—he would be proud of Peterborough, not for its tremendous industrial growth, or its prosperous appearance, but mainly for the solid worth of its community-minded citizens, who had sacrificed a little individuality to build together a large amount of harmonious living.

HOMETOWNER.

POSTSCRIPT TO BROTHERHOOD

Sir: May I say that Peterborough in general and CHEX with the members of the committees in particular who worked so hard to promote Brotherhood week should be complimented for the interest and attention they aroused in behalf of this vital subject.

Rev. Father Michael J. Ahern stressed the fact that "if the religious forces of the world had been consulted there would never have been an Atom bomb" and told those present or listening that the advent of the hydrogen bomb would create "searing flame beyond all imagination".

Rabbi Monson said, "Justice, amity, understanding and co-operation among Protestants, Catholics and Jews is the theme founded in Brotherhood Week", and he said, "Let us get together and speak of brotherhood then-make it a part of our daily life".

Rev. Bruce Miller reminded us that, "None of us have any use for the individual who is not loyal to his country or his cause. But when he becomes blind in his loyalty, then he becomes a dangerous individual. In this crisis-ridden world today it is dangerous for all regardless of creed and to avoid breaking up we should take to heart the words from the book of Proverbs: "Without the law of God, people break up".

Alderman Adam Sands said: "It is my hope that you will be ambassadors of this intangible thing we call Brotherhood and go out and make the other fellow your brother".

Mrs. Parsons; M.B.E., left this message: "Those who truly love God and man will go to any length to practice brotherhood" and this Brotherhood Week should be an inspiration not only now but all through the year to spur on greater efforts to promote brotherhood.

Mrs. Feinberg's message was more poignant in that she told of actual incidents of racial prejudices practiced here in Canada and in our own province. "The recipient of such treatment wants no sympathy nor do they feel self pity but they do feel outraged at this violence to the human spirit. Another point of interest in her talk was her repeating of a prayer in Hebrew and the translation into English found it to be a simple prayer of benediction and a plea for good will toward all.

Mrs. Tucker stressed the need for us to "grow up mentally" and she put her message in simple words, "let kindness be the fashion and the practice of brotherhood be the style for society in democracy. Let it be the mode to be tolerant and unprejudiced. Then live and support that slogan."

Mrs. Harry Cherney's speech came from the heart of one mother to another, "All children are born innocent and they absorb the creeds, the ways and the isms of their parents most particularly their mother who is their first and closest contact. This then is where brotherhood must start and the practice be an every day thing".

I would not try to give a message to add to these wonderful ones so well presented but I humbly would like to suggest that now, while these are fresh and active in our minds shouldn't we form a group of interested persons, women in particular, who could be the nucleus of the first chapter of the Canadian Council of Christian and Jews, Peterborough branch?

I would like to call on the Protestants, their church groups, clubs and circles to take this urgent matter to their hearts and as the numerical majority to do something tangible about it. I know from my own talks with the other groups that they are ready and willing to co-operate but we are all waiting for a leader and to be led.

As we fought for peace in war let us fight for peace which means brotherhood and unity. Let us go all out for brotherhood.

Thank you.

INTERESTED.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Is there not an appointed time to man upon earth? are not his days also like the days of an hireling? (Job 7: 1.)

Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and cut it down: he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not. (Job 14: 1, 2.)

There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews: the same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him....

Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. (John 3: 1, 2-5, 6.)

No Borrower Defaults At World Bank

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Irrigation experts in Peru and Iraq, a textile expert in Ecuador, an agricultural financing expert in El Salvador, a consultant on the financing of private enterprise in Turkey, or a railway engineer in India:

These are a few of the manifestations of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (World Bank), an extraordinary world institution which has grown out of the second world war.

This column recently has related some phases of its activities, and here are a few statistics:

Established July, 1944, by International Monetary and Financial Conference at Bretton Woods, N.H. Began operations June 26, 1946.

Present membership—48 countries. Principal absentees—Soviet Union, Spain, Switzerland, Sweden, Argentina, Ireland.

Authorized Capital

Authorized capital — $10,000,000,000 of which $8,300,000,000 has been subscribed by member countries, 38 per cent of it by the United States. Canada's contribution is $325,000,000.

Twenty per cent of a country's contribution may be lent providing the country agrees. This 20 per cent consists of two per cent in gold or United States dollars and 18 per cent in a country's own currency. Canadian currency available for borrowing is about $60,000,000, of which $8,000,000 has been lent. The remainder of a country's subscription is largely to provide security for the bank's bonds.

Additional Funds

The bank may get additional funds for lending by selling its own bonds, which it has done in the United States to the extent of $250,000,000; or by selling securities issued to it by borrowers.

Available for lending purposes to date—about $1,000,000,000. Of this $743,906,983 has been lent since the first loan was made May 9, 1947.

Spent out of the loans to date—$567,000,000 ($27,000,000 in Canada.)

Twenty-four loans have been made to 13 countries—France (which got the largest loan, $250,000,000), the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Denmark, Finland, Yugoslavia, India, Mexico, El Salvador, Colombia, Chile, Brazil.

No borrower has defaulted on its payments, and the moral pressure of fellow-members would be a strong deterrent to any possible default. In fact, each member country, even if it might sometimes like special concessions itself, is a sort of watchdog to see that only sound loans are made elsewhere, because its own money is at stake.

Racing Commission Sought From Gov't

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — H. L. Walters (CCF-Toronto Bracondale) Wednesday urged the Ontario government to establish a provincial racing commission.

"The government should set up a commission to govern this particular field," he told the legislature. "There is a lot of money and a lot of interest involved. The entire sport should be placed on as high a plane as possible.

"It is apparent that the people now operating racing cannot run it without disputes between themselves The government should take over with the appointment of a commission."

Mrs. Charles Wood Buried In Flinton

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Charles Wood of Flinton, Ont., was largely attended on Monday and there were many floral offerings. Mrs. Stephen May, assisted by Mr. McAllister, officiated at the service in St. John's Anglican Church and burial was in Flinton Cemetery.

Mr. Wood died on Friday following a short illness. She was born in Flinton and had lived in that district a lifetime.

Dance Pavilion Fire

VANCOUVER, March 2 (CP)—Damage estimated at $15,000 was caused Wednesday by fire in Exhibition Park's Happyland dance pavilion. Starting in an overheated gas fireplace, the blaze threatened the entire 180-foot structure for a time. It is valued at $40,000.

Trumpeter Norton Lickers signs the enlistment papers to become Bandman Lickers (reserve army) while Bandmaster Dave Mitson of Dundas and Band-Sergeant Walter Lickers right, look on. Capt. R. B. Commission On Art Costs Ottawa $96,000

OTTAWA, March 2 (CP)—The Massey Commission on Arts and Science, established to probe the extent of Canada's cultural development and needs, has cost the government $96,000 so far.

This information, tabled Wednesday in the Commons for Jean Francois Pouliot (L, Temiscouata), showed that by far the largest amount went to clerical and consulting staff.

The five commissioners, headed by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, collected about $36,000 in travelling expenses and fees.

McGill University Gets $26,023 Cheque

MONTREAL, March 2 (CP) — Subscriptions made to McGill University during the Second World War were paid Wednesday night when the McGill University contingent, Canadian Oficers' Training Corps, presented the university with a $26,023.19 cheque

Delay in payment of the donations was due to the fact that special legislation was required to make them legal.

The cheque was presented Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale, McGill chancellor, by Lt.-Col. J. M. Morris, honorary colonel of the contingent.

Urges Laymen Give Leadership

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — A United Church minister said today that Christian laymen should give leadership in union activity in order to keep labor-management relations in a true community perspective.

The Rev. R. W. Henderson of Britannia Beach, B.C., said that tension "between factions within the union and between departments in the company involve the same moral problems and stem from the same human feelings."

The address was prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada, now in its second day

But, he said, it wasn't all up to the laymen. Ministers must point out moral stands "in relation to labor."

He urged that ministers discuss moral failings on both sides of the bargaining table, such as exaggerated concern for money, irresponsible use of power and class prejudice.

Much is said of race prejudice, he said. "But class prejudice can be quite as iniquitous and much nearer home."

Negligence Charge

CALGARY, March 2 — (CP) — Preliminary hearing of a negligence charge against engineer John Fletcher Townshend, of Calgary, in connection with the Southesk train wreck, opened in Calgary Wednesday before Magistrate G. H. Rose. The charge arose out of the collision between two Canadian Pacific Railway main-line trains at Southesk, Alta., last Dec. 29, which claimed three lives and injured 68 persons.

Queen Mary Out

LONDON, March 2 — (AP) — Queen Mary had an outing today for the first time since she came down with a bad case of sciatica a month ago. The 82-year-old Queen Mother left Marlborough House, her London home, in a car shortly before noon and was driven around the neighboring parks.

High Pilot Error

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP) Nine out of a total of 10 fatal crashes in private airplanes are due to pilot error. Nearly half of those mistakes result from recklessness. The Civil Aeronautics Board's safety investigation division reported this today in an analysis of 890 United States air accidents in 1948.

Lots of important basketball again this week-end for local squads. Marines "A" intermediates hit into playdowns with a game 'gainst Broadview "Y" in Toronto, first of a two-game series, on Saturday. No City League men's activity this week. PCVS senior boys go to Bowmanville on Saturday in COSSA playdowns, while the junior "A" PCI-ers play either Whitby or Bowmanville away this week-end as their playdowns commence. Two girls' playoff games at Collegiate tomorrow aft, starting at four: Bowmanville vs. the PCVS juniors, and Uxbridge vs. PCVS senior lasses. CGE meet Normals at eight, as Nurses Srs. play Black's at nine Friday in the YWCA.

Have you hockey fans noticed the return to bodychecking lately? The trend is definitely there, after an experimental stage of five or six years when few bodychecks were tried. On account of defencemen were afraid to toss the torso when the forward pass opened things up so much, risking missing a guy and letting him waltz in on goal. But now, many of them—from the NHL down to junior ranks—seem to have partially solved the present shinny setup and they're playing the man more than the puck. Or else one defenceman acts as a blocker and the other guy is the policeman. He does the bumping whenever opportunity presents. Watch it the next game, and you'll spot a lot of deliberate body contact, much of it quite legal, too.

Nylons And Legion

Grab those reserve ducats early for the big battle at Civic Arena tomorrow eve at 8.30. The second of the best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group finals. Yeah, between Kingston Nylons and the local Legionnaires, provincial champs since last spring. It should be a battle royal between two strong squads, with plenty of exciting puck play served up in every inning. Nylons are out to duplicate the feat of Kingston Locos several years back, whilst Legion are out to repeat on last year's march to a title. This is hockey playoff time and the arena should be jammed henceforth.

* * * * * *

It was 4-2 for the Nylons in Kingston last evening over the Ellis outfit, after a late start. So, it's up to Legion to get in there with that "fighting 52nds' spirit" and even the serial here tomorrow. Else they'll be in a really serious spot for Monday. Two referees were rushed into service from Kingston and the fact that they called back two Legion goals didn't make the visiting puckists happy. At that, the Nylons lasted better as Legionnaires appeared tired from their semi-final series, and the Kingston ice surface is much larger than the one here. Which might make quite a difference to Nylons, who have gone no less than 21 games without a reverse. Just one tie in that string. A fan fell some 8 feet to a cement floor in the Harty Arena during the game and suffered fatal injuries.

A Thriller-Diller, Eh?

That was a thriller at Civic Arena last e'en as the IOOF squad edged Kingston Vics 3-2 in overtime to take their OHA junior "B" semi-final series. Bun Kingdon's crew played fine, hustling hockey and might have won by a comfortable margin in straight time, on their play, but for grand goaltending by Anderson of the Vics. With Andress (No. 2) a big help defensively, too. The Vics put up a swell scrap, but the IOOF-ers earned the victory and the series. Only a fair crowd of fans on deck, but those who went saw a swelegant struggle, chock full of thrills. Especially that tying goal by Ben Mason at 19.06 of the third (with the goalie pulled) and that overtime winner by Dean Wasson. The Oddfellows now meet Oshawa in group finals.

* * * * * *

Wally Bent has received a wire from the Belleville Meteors saying the team would be here Saturday to play the IOOF juves at 2.30 Saturday aft in the arena, return tilt of their goals-to-count OMHA series. Locals are one goal up from the first game. This should be a nifty number and rates a crowd. Meantime, Jack Christie of the OMHA is awaiting the Oshawa bantams' defence on the Optimists' protest of their goalie wearing a baseball glove in winning here. Oshawa manager has admitted to the Peterborough pilot that it is illegal, and the OMHA ordered the Oshawa goalie not to wear the glove in the series with Belleville, so it looks like Optimists may get another chance in the playdowns.

Nylons Defeat Legion In First Of Finals

KINGSTON, March 2—Kingston Nylons methodically fashioned a 4 to 2 victory over the tired Peterborough Legionnaires with about 2,000 fans looking on last night in the Harty Arena, and are one up the best of seven group finals. They have gone through 21 consecutive games without being defeated. Nylons had the scoring punch that the Legions so badly needed when facing goalkeeper Glynn Udall when these chips were on the line.

Unknown to most of the cheering spectators the grim reaper struck down one of Kingstons most illustrious sportsmen when during the first period, Doug Carruthers of golfing fame, fell about eight feet to the cement floor and received injuries to which he succumbed in the Kingston General Hospital.

No Referees

Owing to the non-arrival of outside referees the game did not begin until 9.18, when it was learned that a misunderstanding had occurred. Art Casterton and Don Murray, the latter a Queen's University player, were summoned to the rescue and Casterton had to rush via taxi to his home to secure his equipment.

It was a cleanly waged contest and each team received only three penalties, all for minor offences. Owing to unusual circumstances three goals two of them by the Legions, were declared null and void without peace being disturbed by the lodging of heated protests. In the last period one of the visitors—probably Johnny Godfrey—lifted his stick more than shoulder-high and batted the disc past eagle-eyed Glynn Udall but referee Casterton was right on top of the play and declared an infringement.

Boy Joyce paced the goal getters with two and Johnny Armstrong had two assists but, in the opinion of the Legion's coach, it was the Catlin-Partis-Gerow line that decided the issue. In an after-the-game statement he said "that line is tops in the group and we haven't evolved a plan to counter-act its offensive power".

Team Tired

The Legionnaires didn't exhibit their usual pep and speed. The tough series they waged against the Petes sapped their strength and they were weary long before the finish. Nylons, however, were as frisky, tricky and fast as ever and their systematic attacking and the Legion defenders foundering in a stormy sea.

The swift Nylon forwards skated rings around their checks and bottled them up so tightly that they were forced to resort to haphazard passing, two of which backfired with such disastrous effect that the wily locals racked up two vital goals. The Legions were checked to a stand-still after reaching the scoring zone and their erratic or untimely passes were manoeuvres of sheer desperation.

Erratic marksmanship, however, cost Nylons at least three more counters after Nicholls had been lured or trapped out of position.

Joey Catlin opened the tallying at the 4.08 mark of the opening period with Kenny Partis and Walter Gerow each getting an assist. Partis launched the attack when he intercepted a Legion forward pass in the visitors defence zone. Forty seconds later one of the visitors hit the webbing but referee Casterton had detected an infringement. Doug Patterson drew the first penalty for boarding but the Legions failed to capitalize on the break.

Gerow Scores

Partis started the successful assault and Gerow drove home the rubber at 13.25. Nylons second string line then went into action and on a swift breakaway Armstrong passed to Joyce and the latter beat the lone defender and then Nicholls with a swift shot from close range.

Despite Ken Murphy's brilliant defensive play the Legions finally managed to score five minutes after the middle period began. Hill did the sniping with Coombs and Stewart each drawing an assist. It was the lone counter of a period which produced four minor penalties, three of them to the Legions. A goal claimed by Partis was ruled out.

Bob Joyce, in conjunction with Roy Hawkins and Armstrong put Nylons three goals ahead at the 4.55 mark of the last period. Patterson drew a penalty for holding the puck. During a scramble near the net the rubber was batted past Udall via the high stick route but Casterton said "Nay, Nay".

The Legions wavered in the storm and their attacks were weakly executed but they had one shot left and Parnell fired it after taking a pass from Greenlaw at 13.20.

The teams:
Legionnaires — Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, D. Mortimer, Montgomery, Parnell, Stewart, Greenlaw, Hill, Coombs, F. Mortimer and Heath.
Nylons — Goal, Udall; defence, Murphy and Patterson; centre, Partis; wings, Catlin and Gerow; alternates, Graves, Plumb, Harrison, Hawkins, McKeown, Joyce, Armstrong, and Ohlke.

IOOF Erases Kingston Vics By 3-2 Score In Overtime

In a thrill-packed OHA junior "B" playoff here last night, the local Oddfellows eliminated Kingston Vics 3-2 in overtime in the deciding game of their group semi-finals. The IOOF squad now goes against Oshawa Bees for the group title. Peterborough and Kingston had each won close games at home in this sawoff series, and the decider went 6.45 of the 10-minute overtime heat before Dean Wasson sank the winning marker.

It was 1-1 in the first frame, the Vics led 2-1 to end the second, and Oddfellows pulled their goalie out and swarmed in with six men in the last minute of play in the third to finally sew up the score as a fair-sized crowd roared with delight. Play was speedy, even and generally clean throughout, with IOOF having more of the play most of the route.

Lots of Thrills

While Ben Mason's tying goal and Dean Wasson's winning counter were the big thrills for the home fans, there was plenty of excitement from start to finish. Goalie Anderson was brilliant in the Vics' net to repeatedly rob incoming Oddfellows, as the homesters pressed hard in every period. Play wasn't one-sided but the Triple Links had a margin on territorial play in each frame. Anderson was helped a lot by first-rate defence work on the part of Andress, and the rest of the crew also toiled and fought every minute. Anson was in on two goals, and Bailey and Tinkess one each.

The Turner-Floyd-Wyatt line went best for the winners, but they missed a raft of chances right inside. All the others battled desperately, too, and toward the end kept the Vics practically hemmed in their own zone. Wyatt, B. Mason and D. Wasson scored the goals, with an assist each going to Turner, Birch and Doris. Red Wasson wasn't too busy in the home cage, especially in the last half of the fray.

Got The First

Vics scored first in the initial inning, Anson rapping it into the twine after Tinkess had intercepted a passout inside the IOOF blue line and passed it over. Wyatt got that back later on a slap shot in close on Turner's passout. Richlark drew an early high sticking penalty, Andress went off for charging, and near the end Aiken and Desjardins got it together for roughing. Bailey got the lone marker of the second from Anson in a scramble by the goal-mouth. Anson was gated for high-sticking and D. Wasson for interference in this chukker.

Play was a bit rougher in the third, Latimer going first for interference, with D. Wasson following for kneeing, and then Aiken for tripping. The teams were at full strength and time was running out on the Kingston crew when their goalie was pulled and six forwards swarmed in. Ben Mason's screened shot at defence caught a corner at 19:06 to tie it up. Ben Mason went off early in overtime for kneeing with Shepherd right on his heels to the sin bin for tripping. Both were back and play was hot when Birch took the puck in close from Doris, dropped it back and Dean Wasson—tearing in fast—slammed the disc through a maze of players and into the hemp, the shot being partially screened from the goalie. D. Wasson went off later for holding as the Vics tried desperately to tie it up again, but it ended that way.

Kingston: Goal, Anderson; defence, Latimer and Andress; centre, McGaughey; wings, White and Aiken; alternates, Bailey, Tinkess, Anson, Gommer, Shepherd, Montgomery, Cherry and Wisken.
IOOF: Goal, R. Wasson; defence, Richlark and D. Wasson; centre, Desjardins; wings, B. Mason and R. Mason; alternates, Turner, Floyd, Wyatt, Birch, Doris, Baker, Fennell and Millar.
Referees: J. Crombie and W. Wilson.
Summary.

First Period
Kingston—Anson (Tinkess) 6.04
IOOF—Wyatt (Turner) 13.50
Penalties—Richlark, Andress, Aiken, Desjardins.

Second Period
Kingston—Bailey (Anson) 10.39
Penalties—Anson, D. Wasson.

Third Period

Cage Playdowns Commence On Three Fronts

Spring mustn't be far around the corner for the basketball playdowns are either beginning or well under way for most Peterborough cage squads.

Doug MacPherson's Peterborough Outboard Marines s.. their way along the trail in intermediate A play this Saturday night in Toronto. This game will be with Broadview YMCA who recently beat out the Mercury AC's by only a one-point margin on the round.

The Mercurys will be remembered better under the old headline of Moss Park. The Park squad were banned for their rough play before and after the games, but they reorganized under the new name of Mercury AC.

After the game in which Broadview became Toronto champions the Mercury players, among them Steve Levantis, converged on Ron McCombe, popular basketball referee. The roughing ended with McCombe receiving one solid hit.

Al Clark, physical director, said the local quintet feel better meeting the Broadview Y squad first in the playdowns rather than the St. Catharines squad who have put them out in the first round for the past two years. He added that the Toronto team have not the class of the St. Kitts squad. The return game of the two-game points-to-count series will be played in the Collegiate gym on Saturday, March 11.

PCVS Group

Meanwhile, at the Collegiate, Friday night, the first games of the girls' lakeshore junior and senior championships will be played, starting at 4 p.m. Miss Doreen Pemberton's seniors will be meeting the Uxbridge girls, while Miss Eva Scott's juniors play the Bowmanville High quintette. Both squads from the Collegiate have run up a string of victories without a defeat this year.

Saturday will see the boys from the Collegiate heading towards Bowmanville and perhaps Whitby. The seniors will be entering the final games with Bowmanville for the right to enter the COSSA finals in Toronto on March 18. The series will be two games points to count.

Bev Goulding's junior A's will be entering a similar playdown this Friday or Saturday. The exact date depends upon who wins the series being played between Whitby and Bowmanville.

Remember When—

Montreal Canadiens flashed a victory over the up and coming Boston Bruins with a 3-0 win in a National Hockey League fixture at Montreal 21 years ago tonight. Bruins won the league championship and the Stanley Cup that year but the Canadiens were back in their old form in 1930 and 1931, winning the championship and cup both seasons.

Bruins Cool Off Leafs 5-2 As Wings Bounce Rangers

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Fighting hard for a place in the Stanley Cup playoffs, Boston Bruins Wednesday night walloped Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2. It was the first victory for the Bruins in 10 games.

But it still leaves Boston in fifth place five full games behind Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers who are tied for third. And Bostin has only 11 games left to play, New York 12 and Montreal 13.

The leading Detroit Red Wings cooled off the New York Rangers with another 5-2 victory at eNw York. The Wings have led the National Hockey League race practically all season and last night's victory assures them of a spot in the playoffs.

The standing today has Detroit with 73 points, Toronto 64, New York and Montreal still tied for third with 59. Boston has 49, Chicago 44.

Strictly Business

These statistical calculations come naturally in the wake of the two games in which the players stuck strictly to business. There were no wrestles with referees, no injuries, only one fist fight between players—Bill Ezinicki of Toronto and Eddie Harrison of Boston—as the whole circuit pondered that $1,000 fine that was slapped on rearguard Ken Reardon of the Montreal Canadiens.

At Boston Wednesday night the crowd was only 8,892 as the Leafs suffered their fourth setback in 23 games. Boston scorers were Woody Dumart, Paul Ronty, Milt Schmidt, Ed Harrison and Ken Smith. Harry Watson and Bill Barilko scored for Toronto. Ezinicki and Harrison were given major penalties for their fight in the second period. Boston was awarded a penalty shot after Barilko tripped Phil Maloney, but the Leafs' veteran goalie Turk Broda easily blocked the drive from Bud Poile.

At New York the Wings took command after the first period, which was deadlocked 1-1. Detroit goal-getters were captain Sid Abel, Jimmy Peters, Jim McFadden, Jerry Couture and Joe Carveth. Bud O'Connor and Rookie Nick Mickoski scored for New York.

Tonight the Montreal Canadiens battle the last-place Black Hawks at Chicago.

Barons Down Caps As Bisons Edge Reds

By The Canadian Press

Cleveland Barons Wednesday night wrapped up first place in the Western Division of the American Hockey League by downing Indianapolis Capitals 4-2. The Barons now lead the runner-up Pittsburgh Hornets by 19 points.

Harry Taylor led the Cleveland attack with two goals while Hy Buller and Tod Sloan sniped one apiece. Nelson Podolsky and Gordon Haidy did the scoring for the Caps.

Meanwhile, Buffalo Bisons increased their first-place lead in the league's Eastern section to 11 points with a 4-2 triumph over the second-place Providence Reds.

Launch Drive To Kill Player Bonus

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla., Mach 2 (AP)—Major league baseball players are quietly but efficiently launching a campaign to kill off all payments of bonuses to unproved players.

Marty Marion, National League representative to the players' committee, revealed he planned to present to the executive council at its next meting a proposal to eliminate the payment of any kind of bonus to such players.

"I have been discussing this problem with representatives of other clubs," the star shortstop of St. Louis Cardinals said, "and we all agree that something must be done. We feel that not only do payments of large bonuses to untried players deprive the proven players of money to which they are entitled but tends to cause dissension and disharmony on a ball club."

C's Bantams Play

CAMPBELLFORD, March 2—(ENS)—The Campbellford bantam hockey team will play the first game here of their semi-final series on Saturday. The bantams, who deserve far more interest than has been given them by local fans, have defeated Tweed, and Ajax, and are now ready to meet anything that comes their way. It is the first time in more than 10 years that a Campbellford team has been in position to be a serious contender for the Ontario championship, and any of the few fans who have attended the games have come away quite satisfied that they received more than their money's worth.

The game Saturday will be a hotly contested on. The lads do not yet know who they will be playing, as Gravenhurst and South River are still deadlocked in their series.

Frankford Defeated By Campbellford 6-1

CAMPBELLFORD, March 2—(ENS) — The Campbellford TVLers went to Frankford on Wednesday night intent on winning the game to stay in the playoffs. They did just that by a 6-1 score. Campbellford carried play throughout the game, and except for a couple of efforts by big Lou Schmidt of Frankford, the Franks were not too effective. The Campbellford defence had tightened up from the previous game, and Red LaVern played a brilliant game in the nets. Davis, in the Frankford net, was peppered time and time again and just couldn't stand up under the pressure. This win ties the series at one game apiece, and the Franks will play in Campbellford on Friday night.

Campbellford—Goal, LaVern; defence, Doug. Free and Tanner; centre, Blake; wings, Hay and Pace. Alternates, Robinson, Doherty, Harrington, Peake, Hendricks, Smith, Taylor, Don Free.

Frankford—Goal, Davis; defence, Hood and Schmidt; centre, Courtney; wings, Rankin and McKee; alternates, Cole, Cooke, Mitts, Bastedo, Farmer.

Referees—Bill Shannon and Ouimet.

Summary

First period—1, Campbellford, Blake (Hay) 11:33; 2, Campbellford, Robinson (Blake) 17:16; no penalties.

Second period—3, Frankford, Schmidt, 5:32; 4, Campbellford, Blake, 9:07; 5, Campbellford, Harrington (Robinson) 14:28; penalties, Hood, Rankin, Blake, Doherty.

Third period—6, Campbellford, Blake (Doug. Free) 1:13; 7, Campbellford, Hay (Blake) 16:14. Penalties, Farmer, Doherty, Doherty, Bastedo, McKee.

Dutchmen Hand Hamilton 6-0 Shellacking

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario Hockey Association is going to need a squad of traffic cops to untangle the jam in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A round-robin series if Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen can beat Toronto Marlboros and lose to Hamilton Tigers in the two remaining games of the semi-final playdowns.

The possibility made its ugly appearance last night when the unpredictable Dutchmen handed Hamilton a 6-0 shellacking. If they can manage the proper split in the next two contests, the clubs will be all tied with a 4-4 record. Now, Toronto have won four and dropped three, Hamilton have a 3-4 record while Kitchener-Waterloo have a game at hand and a 3-3 split.

On the Junior A front last night Bob Rawlyk broke in to the hero's enclosure with two goals in the last four minutes of play to give Windsor Spitfires a 5-4 win over Toronto Marlboros and a 2-1 edge in their best-of-seven semi-final series.

Upset Wins

St. Michael's College Majors and St. Catharines Teepees both came up with upset wins, the Teepees belting Guelph Biltmores 5-1 to deadlock their best-of-five quarter final at 2-2, while St. Michael's outlasted Barrie Flyers 4-3 to tie their quarter-final at 2-2.

Hamilton lost Bobby Laurent in the first period when the starry defenceman broke a collarbone in a first-period collision with the Dutchmen's Harvey Jacklin.

The first frame only produced one marker but a four-goal second made it a runaway for the Flyers. Mickey Roth notched two of the counters, Bobby Bauer, Don Bauer, Harvey Jacklin and Billy Flick getting the others.

With Marlboros leading 4-3, Rawlyk slammed the spits up to even terms at 16.29 and gave his club the victory at the 19 minute mark. Goaler Don Lockhart was yanked in the last minute but Glen Hall in the Windsor nets held the fort.

Erwin Grosse, Lloyd Hinchberger and Jim Hay all counted singles for the Spits with Lorne Pirie, George Armstrong, Jack McKenzie and Red Mitchell doing the honors for Toronto.

Run Away With Game

St. Michael's overcame a 2-0 first period lead built up by Barrie and ran away with four markers in the middle session. Barrie came back with a single in the third.

Bob Sabourin, Will Marshall, Paul Alain and Fred Sandford were the Irish snipers, after Chuck Wood and Rich Hogg had clicked for the Flyers in the opening period. Real Chevrefils was the third period marksman.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Paul Ronty of Boston Wednesday night notched one goal and one assist to wipe out the two-point margin separating him from Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens on the National Hockey League scoring list. Both now share the fourth place with 51 points.

The speedy Canadiens right winger, idle last night, still remains on top of the individual goal-getting race with 32 markers.

Still top man of all with two assists earned last night is Detroit's Ted Lindsay who has 62 points. Following him is teammate Sid Abel who has 58 points after tallying one goal last night. Gordie Howe, who assisted on one goal as Detroit beat Rangers, totals 55 points and remains in third place.

Metro Prystai and Doug Bentley of Chicago, idle last night, remains on sixth and seventh place respectively, with 47 and 46 points.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts
Lindsay, Detroit	19	43	62
Abel, Detroit	30	28	58
Howe, Detroit	28	27	55
Richard, Montreal	32	19	51

Quick-Thinking Mother

TORONTO, March 2—(CP)—Quick thinking by Mrs. Harry Lockhart saved her two sons, Robert, 1, and Craig, 3, when a flaming gasoline lamp set fire to a baby's playchair and chesterfield in their basement home Wednesday night. Mrs. Lockhart hustled the children out of the room, called for help and fought the flames until firemen arrived. Her husband was slightly burned.

The New York State Athletic Commission Wednesday put into effect new rules calling for strict medical examination of boxers before and after fights.

At the same time the Commission opened up a medical room—with the most modern equipment—in its downtown offices, where boxers will undergo rigid tests under the supervision of doctors connected with the commission's medical advisory board.

Arrangements have been made with hospitals in Buffalo, Syracuse and Binghamton for the examination of upstate boxers.

The nine-man advisory board, headed by Dr. Frank Forlaino, actually was set up in 1948 to study the situation and make recommendations. The stricter regulations were the result of this study. The board will continue the study and make further recommendations when necessary.

Excellent racing over a snow-covered track featured the harness card at Toronto's Dufferin Park Wednesday. Lord Lee and Patsy Stars were dash winners of the first event, fashioned for slow-class trotters. Tony Todd, owned and driven by Oscar Fraser of Hornings Mills, Ont., was a straight heat winner in the second—his third straight dash win in a week.

Silk Grattan, reliable pacing mare owned by C. W. Hodgson of Haliburton, stood best in the third. She won the first dash by a nose and lost by a like margin to Pine Ridge Louie in the repeat.

Vic Lutman scored with Parsons, property of H. J. Davis of Peterborough, in the feature trot, winning the first dash and coming second to Earl Schraffenberger's Sister Woodhull in the second half.

At Brockton, Mass., a lawyer seeking an injunction against heavyweight boxer Rocky Marciano, booked for a March 24 bout in New York, said Wednesday he was to "lay off or you and your family will wind up in cement."

The assertion was made to police by Leon P. Reservitz, after he filed a petition for a restraining order before Judge Frank E. Smith on behalf of Generose Gaggiano. Gaggiano wants the court to keep Marciano out of the ring until it determines who is the boxer's manager.

Kitchener may have an entry in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League in 1951 when the Kitchener Memorial Arena is completed.

The Kitchener Sports Association is laying the groundwork for the club and plans to approach National Hockey League teams to find a sponsor for the venture. The bordering cities of Kitchener and Waterloo already have a jointly sponsored team in the Senior A loop.

A former all-Canadian centre and a standout with Ottawa Rough Riders, Don Loney has been offered a contract for next season by Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

At Boden, Sweden, the touring Edmonton Mercurys plastered a 16-2 defeat on a Swedish hockey team from Norrbotten Province in an exhibition game Wednesday night. The Canadians raced through for 11 goals in a wild third-period scoring spree.

Robert Small Dies In Dauphin, Manitoba

NORWOOD, March 2 (ENS) — News has been received of the death in Dauphin, Manitoba, of Robert Horsburg Small, 83, a former resident of this district.

Mr. Small was born at Norwood, Ont., on July 7, 1867. In 1892 he married Minnie E. Patterson at Norwood, and they farmed in Dummer and Asphodel until 1907, when they moved to Glenewen, Sask., with their family. A short time later they moved to the Beaver district where they farmed until the death of Mrs. Small in 1937.

In 1939 Mr. Small moved into MacGregor where he lived alone.

Bob Small, as he was better known, was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters and for several terms served as trustee on the Beaver School Board.

He is survived by four sons. Arthur at Quill Lake, Sask.; Russell at Portage La Prairie; Milford at Dauphin, Man.; and Bruce at Lethbridge, Alberta; one brother Alexander Small of Norwood, Ont., one sister, Mrs. Wm Moggey of Melfort, Sask., and 16 grandchildren.

The Rev. C. D. Rupp of Beaver United Church conducted the funeral service. Interment was in Beaver Creek cemetery.

RECEIVES DON JUAN

ROME, March 2 (Reuters) — Pope Pius will receive Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne, "purely as a pilgrim," in Rome next week, a high Vatican official said yesterday. He said the pretender's audience would have no political bearing on the future of the Spanish monarchy.

Fiery Reardon Gets $1,000 Fine Biggest Crack In NHL History

MONTREAL, March 2—(CP)—Fiery, voluble Kenny Reardon of Montreal Canadiens was en route to Chicago today, considerably quietened by an order to post personal bond of $1,000 to ensure his future "good conduct" in the National Hockey League.

The colorful, 28-year-old defenceman, often called the "Galloping Dynamo" of the Habitants, Wednesday was ordered to post the bond—called a "fine" by NHL President Clarence Campbell—with the league. It followed gory statements attributed to him in an American magazine (Sport) article.

Reardon was quoted as threatening to see that Cal Gardner of Toronto Maple Leafs got 14 stitches in the mouth—the same injury Kenny received as a result of a donnybrook two seasons ago when Gardner was playing for New York Rangers.

Campbells' announcement of the bond or fine—largest imposed in NHL history—followed an interview with the 170-pound Winnipegger, who admitted making the remarks about Gardner. After Reardon promised to be a good boy, Campbell released him to catch a train for Chicago, where Canadiens play Black Hawks tonight. Reardon said nothing to the press before he left.

Can Ask Refund

Campbell said Reardon could petition the league for a refund of his bond at the end of his league playing career.

Reardon was quoted as saying in the article: "I am going to see that Gardner gets 14 stitches in the mouth. I may have to wait a long time, but I'm patient. Even if I have to wait until the last game I ever play, Gardner is going to get it good and plenty."

Campbell said the "fine" is not so much a penalty for the statements made as it is a personal bond for Reardon's future good conduct.

Gardner received a broken jaw earlier this season when he collided with Reardon during a game at Montreal. The mishap was accidental and Kenny was not penalized.

During the last four seasons Reardon has been assessed $400 in fines.

Rough Time In Bush But Dog Will Live

SUDBURY, March 2—(CP)—Pal, a Siberian husky born in this district, is going to pull through after a tangle with a porcupine, an encounter with a wolf snare and a week's exposure in the bush—but he'll have to take it easy until spring.

He ran into all his trouble last October. His master, trapper R. H. Eveline, took him by canoe and on his back to a bush cabin, nursed Tim for 10 days and then brought him to a dog hospital at nearby Copper Cliff.

F. H. Flowers, veterinary surgeon, first had little hope of saving the dog's life.

Oshawa Police Seeking 40-Hour Week

OSHAWA, March 2—A request by the men of the Oshawa Police Force for a 40-hour working week and a substantial increase in pay was brought up at the monthly meeting of the Oshawa Police Commission, and put over for further consideration.

Fred E. Hare, the City Clerk, was instructed by the Commission to send out letters to nearby cities of comparable size to Oshawa with a copy of the salaries being paid to the local Police Force for comparison with what they are paying to their law enforcement officers.

Chairman of the Commission, Judge D. R. Coleman, said, to a three-man delegation, made up of John Powell, Charles Stainton and Norman Smyth, "I don't know of any other city that has its police force on a 40-hour week, and I don't want to do any pioneering along that line. As for an increase in salary," said Judge Coleman, "ther have been no increases in salary in any of the Civic Departments this year."

Continuing Judge Coleman told the officers, who were representing the rest of the Oshawa Police Force, "in the 40-hour week matter. Do you gentlemen know of any city on this system"

"Yes," replied the three police officers in unison, "Windsor is on a 40-hour week. They went on it about a month ago."

Water Sets Unceasing Cycle Seas Are Never Satisfied

Old Oceanus may be regarded as a thirsty monster. The seas are never satisfied, seemingly begrudging any water that falls on the land, calling it back with all possible haste, writes Wildwood in The Vancouver Province.

The clouds are mainly born over the ocean, and many return at once to the waves whence they rose.

Urge To Return

When, caught by the hills or welcomed by the meadows, each droplet is charged with an urge to get back to the arms of its mother.

Hardened as ice in the high ranges, it is hindered, but not stopped. The glacier will creep on a thousand-year run never forgetting its long lost home. Only by folding into valleys and locking the lakes, can the land retain any water in permanence.

Every stream is a treacherous leak, every river a highway of robbery. For, not ontent with its own retreating substance, the outflowing water carries much of the land; the wearing of rock, the dissolving of mineral, the washing away of stuffs gained by growing things.

Unending War

It is a cold, wet war that never ceases, nor will it end before the waters have covered the whole earth. All that has saved the land in the past, and will hold in the future, is the unresting turbulence of the earth's crust, which heaves and cracks in quake and fault, to our human distress occasionally.

There is not a hill known but shows signs of submergence, or of being raised from depths subterranean, as if the land, like a huge whale, must keep moving upwards to breathe!

The greatest opposition to the greedy seas is found in the greenery covering the earth. All the leafage existing lives and works in water, and the rootage makes the soil more absorbent. This green carpet is shrinking and the human aggressor in these later centuries is wearing it threadbare.

Effects of Waste

The most reckless wastrel in the world, his latest and greatest waste is in water. Wherever he settles he uses more than comes naturally. Through history he has left deserts behind him, from China to the West, wherever he now is, the waters are being reduced. His wells must be dug deeper; his supplying streams, "ample" in the beginning, must be augmented frequently.

Modern industries use water in amounts that would appear colossal to our fathers who build water-mills. Modern cities in their vast washings, modern residences in their many faucets take water in volumes that only city engineers can estimate.

While these works and factories increase cities are growing bigger and the green carpet contracts. Already the engineers are looking seaward wistfully. If the swift "run-off" cannot be steadied, can the salt water be sweetened and brought back? This, to some of them, is the only solution in sight.

Waters Reclaimed

Already the polluted and saline waters are being brought back into sewers. Already the ocean is required to surrender some of the minerals it has taken; already is it threatened with the task of feeding the land it has robbed, not only with the fish it produces but with the very sun-beamed plankton that is the foundation of its life.

The little hill streams that run singing to the sea must move on a gentler theme. The waterfalls that ripple in silver rapture must hush their gay rompings, if this abandoned waste of water is to continue in its wanton slashings!

Wednesday Observed As Special Welsh Day

TORONTO, March 2 (CP). — The Rev. M. C. Davies, Speaker of the Ontario Legislature and a "descendant of St. David, reminded members Wednesday that it was the day of the Patron Saint of Wales.

T. D. Thomas (CCF-Ontario), also Welsh, paid tribute to "the great little country and the grand race of people who did more than their share in two world wars to preserve the democratic way of life."

Premier Frost made a similar statement on behalf of "all of us who are not connected with Wales or St. David except through the good things they have given us."

Field Wide Open

TIMMINS, March 2—(CP). — The Confession Magazine field is wide open in Canada. This situation resulted from an Exchequer Court judgment handed down on Wednesday which rejected an attempt by "True Confessions," an American magazine, to eliminate all other confession publications from Canadian news stands.

BORN ON CABOOSE—Mr. and Mrs. Roland Ranger of Redwater, Ont., pose happily with their infant daughter born aboard the swaying caboose of an Ontario Northland Railway freight train. In an emergency, the mother was put aboard the train to be taken to Temagami, Ont., but Mr. Stork refused to wait. The child was delivered in the flickering light of a coal-oil lamp. Both mother and child are doing fine.

War Activity Saps Strength Mrs. Gordon Dies

MONTREAL, March 2 (CP) — Mrs. Donald Gordon, 47, wife of the president of the Canadian National Railways, died here Wednesday of a heart attack.

Mrs. Gordon, who was awarded the MBE for her war-time work with the Canadian Red Cross and servicemen's canteen activities in Ottawa, had been under a doctor's care for a week.

Associates said her war-time activity in Ottawa, where her husband headed the prices board and was deputy governor of the Bank of Canada, had sapped her strength.

At the time of Mr. Gordon's appointment to the CNR presidency, Jan. 1 of this year, she was in hospital and had been under doctor's care at various times since then.

Mrs. Gordon was born in St. John's Nfld.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Gordon is survived by two sons, Donald Ramsay, 20, and Michael Huntley, 13; a brother, Jonas Barter of Toronto; and two sisters, Mrs. S. B. Horwood of Brampton, and Mrs. Lem Taylor, Mimico.

Efficient Worker

Mrs. Gordon was regarded as both efficient and charming by her associates. She was one of the first volunteers at Red Cross headquarters in Ottawa in 1939 and first helped organize a secretarial department.

With Mrs. Graham Towers, wife of the governor of the Bank of Canada, Mrs. Gordon opened a "superfluity shop" in 1940 which started bringing in $1,000 a month to the Red Cross.

Mrs. Gordon's greatest achievement was the organizing of a cafeteria service for temporary war workers in Ottawa. Serving 10,000 meals a day, the cafeteria was so efficient that thousands of dollars were raised for blood donor clinics, supplies for the navy, auxiliary services and other war services.

Mrs. Gordon often worked from 6 a.m. until 2 a.m. at a stretch, planning menus, organizing help and keeping the cafeteria going.

Brockville Wins Davies Trophy At Play Festival In Ottawa

OTTAWA, March 2 (CP) — A moving performance of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" Wednesday night won Brockville Theatre Guild the Davies Trophy and a possible bid to the dominion drama festival at Calgary in May.

This picture of life in a small town was the final entry in the Eastern Ontario Regional Drama Festival.

It drew nostalgic tears from several members of the packed house. Adjudicator Maxwell Wray, who termed himself a "pretty hardened theatre person" confessed he had "responded terrifically" to the Brockville production.

The British director found himself in difficulty over deciding which group should get the trophy, awarded annually by Senator Rupert Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard, for the best full-length presentation.

Good Team-Work

He said it had been a "terrific tussle to decide" between the Brockville production and another entry. He chose the former because the Wilder play was a big proposition, demanding a great deal of team-work under strong direction. The cast had "realized to the full extent the complete and absolute spirit of the play."

While Mr. Wray did not name the runner-up, it was generally conceded that he meant Ottawa Drama League Workshop's production Saturday of an adaptation from the C. S Forrester novel "Payment Deferred."

He gave both acting awards to members of the workshop cast. W. A. Atkinson won the best actor prize for his part as William Marble. This is the second consecutive year that Mr. Atkinson has claimed the honor.

Christina Drever as Marble's wife "Annie" was named winner of the best actress award.

Mr Wray poured further honors on the Ottawa group, taking time out to pay special tribute to 13-year-old Ruth Addleman who played the part of "Rumpilstiltskin" in the well known children's story.

Former Havelock Man Dies In Manitoba Town

HAVELOCK, March 2 (ENS)—William Maxwell Saul, 57, of Flinflon, Manitoba, died in hospital in Flin Flon on Tuesday following an illness of two weeks.

He was a member of the United Church and a veteran of the first world war, going overseas with the 61st Battalion of the Winnipeg Regiment. While in France he was transferred to the 44th Battalion.

Havelock Taxes Reach New High Set At 75 Mills

HAVELOCK, March 2 (ENS)—When Havelock council set the tax rate at 75 mills for 1950, it set the highest rate in the history of the village.

It is an increase of 19 mills over the 1949 rate and has been almost doubled since 1946 when it was 38 mills.

The following list tabulates details of the tax rate:

	Mills	Amount
County rate	16.	6,612.32
Public School	22.533	9,312.21
High School	3.111	1,285.68
Direct Relief	2.	826.54
Board of Health	1.	413.27
Park Board	2.	826.54
Street Lights	5.	2,066.35

Roads	4.	1,653.08
Streets	2.	826.54
Village	13.956	5,767.60
	75.	30,995.25

The county rate has been increased four mills, the public school rate almost 12 mills, the street lights one mill, and rirect relief one mill more than last year. The 75 mill rate does not show anything for the debenture for the new skating arena opened recently.

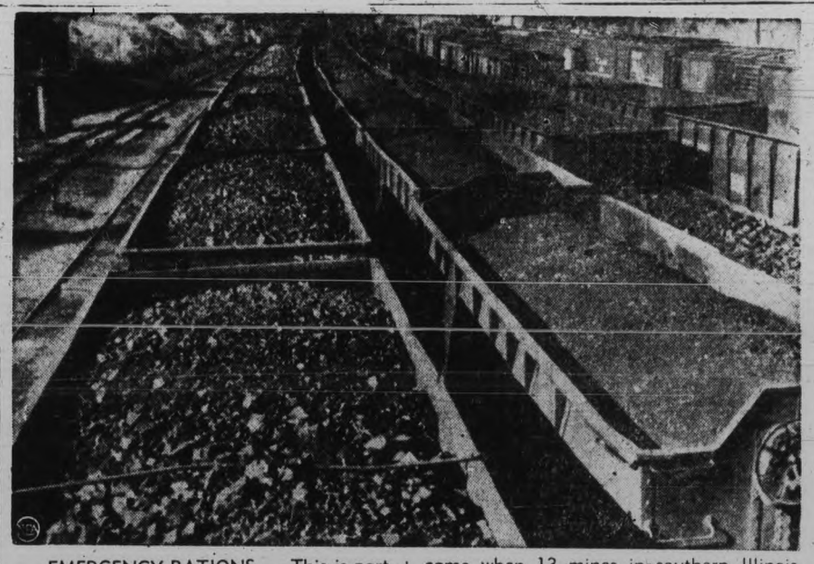
United Church Fights Bingos

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — The United Church of Canada today reaffirmed its opposition to Premier Duplessis' "proposal to establish a state lottery in Quebec."

The annual meeting of the church's Board of Evangelism and Social Service adopted a resolution opposing lotteries and sweepstakes in general and the Quebec plan in particular.

The Board urged Justice Minister Garson to declare in Parliament that "any effort to establish a state lottery would be opposed by the Federal authority as contrary to the Criminal Code."

Particular objection was taken to radio bingos sponsored by service clubs in "the Oshawa, Kirkland Lake, Ottawa, Sudbury, Brantford, Guelph and Kitchener and other Ontario areas."



Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, Board secretary, called bingo "the kindergarten of the gambling business."

"Many service club leaders and members are using an evil means which is not made less dangerous because of some good purpose that service club promotes," he said.

Mrs. George Gardner's group reported it had decided to have a table of home-made baking. Mrs. L. Freeburn, Mrs. A. Davis, Mrs. Harold Eason, and Mrs. Lyle McMillan took part in the devotional period, after which a lunch was served by Mrs. Carbrey and her committee.

A motion picture depicting better farming practices was also shown.

The meeting was sponsored by Marmora Agricultural Society and the Hastings Country Crop Improvement Association.

Hand Provinces Rent Controls

OTTAWA, March 2 — (CP) — Two justices of the Supreme Court of Canada expressed the opinion Wednesday that the Federal Government has power to hand rent control over to any province while retaining authority in the rest of Canada.

They were Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau and Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, two of the seven Supreme Court judges who Wednesday expressed the unanimous opinion that Federal Rent Control Regulations are valid.

Their opinions are of particular interest to Saskatchewan which has taken advantage of a Federal offer to hand over rent controls to any province asking for them. Saskatchewan is taking the action to prevent recent 18 and 22-per-cent increases in rent ceilings from going into effect.

Ontario Had Planned Own Rent Controls

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — Ontario planned to enact its own rent control regulations if the Supreme Court of Canada decided federal controls were invalid, Attorney-General Dana Porter revealed Wednesday.

Commenting on the court's opinion, given today, that the controls are valid, he said:

"We were getting ready to prepare a bill if the decision had gone the other way. Now we can take the rest of the day off."

He recalled that an Ontario brief, submitted at the court hearing, supported the federal government's stand that the controls were valid and should be continued until orderly decontrol can Pupils of Grades 1X and X of PCVS, members of the Junior Dramatic Club, will present their annual production Friday night at the Collegiate. For weeks the young actors have been practising the play under the director of teacher directors Miss Fern Rahmel and Mr. Arnold Noftall. Jean Jolly plays the lead part of Anne Shirley while Florence Benson is played by Dee Glennie and Minnie Stearn by Pauline Rusaw.

Jobless Fund Costs High, Demand Inquiry

OTTAWA, March 2 (CP)—A prairie senator contended Wednesday that two decision by Canada's Income Tax Appeal Board could have a "terrific effect on the economy" of the western provinces and called for an amendment to the Income Tax Act to make things right.

Senator W. M. Aseltine (PC, Saskatchewan) led up to the main point of his Senate throne speech address by urging investigation by the chamber of the costs of administering the unemployment insurance fund. He said they shocked him.

Total contributions to the fund in 1949 were $120,000,000, he said, from employees, employers and government, but he had been shocked to find that the cost of administering the fund by the federal government was $17,000,000 or about 15 per cent.

Matter Of Inquiry

"Surely," Senator Aseltine said, this is a matter for inquiry by the Senate committee that will study the government estimates."

Total contributions this year would rise to around $150,000,000 "so it's one of the big businesses in the country."

Turning to the income tax matter, Senator Aseltine said the appeal board in two cases known as the Reinhart and McCool cases had come to conclusions which could have a tremendous impact on the western economy.

Farmers, in buying combines or vehicles or other major items, had been in the habit of paying so much cash and taking out an agreement for sale with interest to cover the rest on time payments. They deducted the interest from their income for tax purposes.

The board, however, had ruled that this could no longer be done and his interpretation of the Tax Act bore them out. The board said only interest on borrowed capital could be deducted as the fact now is worded.

Rescues Two Youths

NOBLETON, Ont., March 2 (CP)—Wilfred Hunsperger, 30, rescued two unconscious youths from their burning truck Wednesday after the school bus he was driving collided with the truck and both vehicles burst into flames.

Minutes before the bus had been emptied of the last of a load of school children.

Hydrogen Bomb Not Too Useful Says Dr. Compton

ST. LOUIS, March 2—(AP)—Dr. Arthur H. Compton said Wednesday night he doubted whether a hydrogen bomb was usable from a military point of view "for the simple reason that it doesn't do what you want done in a war."

Dr. Compton, chancellor of Washington University and one of the scientists who worked on the atom bomb project, spoke at an academy of science dinner.

He said that "it is never the objective of war to destroy a whole population."

"Instead you try to reduce the enemy's will to resist" he continued. "You want to produce as little destruction as possible because you are going to have to go in and take care of those people after the war is over."

The atom bomb, Dr. Compton added, is about the biggest that can be used to destroy certain military targets.

"It could have been made more destructive but it wasn't, the request of the military for tactical reasons."

Spend Million To Operate RMC

OTTAWA, March 2 (CP) — Royal Military College at Kingston, a tri-service officer training centre, has cost the government $1,406,998 to operate since it reopened in September, 1948.

The figure was tabled in the Commons Wednesday by the defence department in reply to question by H. O. White (PC-Middlesex East).

Of this amount, $543,903 was spent from opening to March, 1949, and $863,095 from April to the beginning of this year.

Pay and allowances $58,728 in 1948-49 and $85,235 in 1949-50; civil salaries and wages $138,229 $179,708); equipment and food supplies $168,885 ($171,195); operating expenses of properties $40,887 ($17,622); maintenance and repair $67,484 ($123,252); other expenses $69,689 ($286,080).

The number of civilian employees in 1948-49 was 116 and last year 93 while the number of military personnel on staff was 28 and 26 respectively.

MORE ABOUT—

Unemployment

lambasted the government because, he said, it has not relieved "appalling" conditions among the Indians living in a reserve in his riding.

Mr. Mott recalled that in 1937 the governemnt rescinded legislation under which money had been loaned to municipalities at 2 per cent interest.

The loans had enabled the municipalities to undertake job-producing projects and, if revived, would help meet today's unemployment problems. BC municipalities planned to press their provincial government to call for revival of the loans.

He suggested the inauguration of a planned program for the construction of public buildings, with the scheme concentrated in centres where work was most needed. There could be, as well, better planning of housing projects.

Policy Reversal

Mr. Herridge accused the government of reversing its policies on full employment and markets. In 1945, it had promised to maintain full employment. It had spoken, too, of a shelf of post-war construction projects, but none had materialized.

While he conceded that some of Canada's unemployment was seasonal, he felt there were certain projects which could be started as a relief measure.

Mr. White urged the government to declare Remembrance Day, November 11, as a national holiday, and suggested most legal holidays be celebrated on the Monday closest to the day on which they fall.

Interested In Cheese

Mr. White said farmers in his constituency are particularly interested in obtaining a fair price for their cheese. Under the 1948-49 cheese contract with the United Kingdom the cheese producers received 30 cents a pound. But under the new contract they were to receive less than 30 cents.

He felt that instead of being paid less the producers should be paid more because of increases in the price of things the farmer had to buy.

During the war, when farmers responded to a government demand to increase production, prices for farm products were kept under control. There was no relation between the controlled prices and the cost of production.

For instance, evidence before the Ontario Royal Commission on milk showed that it cost $2.69 to produce 100 pounds of milk. But the farmers received only between $1.95 and $2.10.

Get More Favors

During the war urban pressure groups, because they outnumbered groups from rural centres, were able to have more of their demands met by the government. Wartime controls and politically-fixed prices had caused losses of millions to Canadian farmers.

Mr. White said if the government wanted to provide full employment in Canada it should see that farmers were given fair returns for their products.

Need Markets

He said he was not going to reiterate what had been said in previous debates about the need for regaining United Kingdom markets. He was sure that Agriculture Minister Gardiner realized that the United States market could never take the place of the United Kingdom market.

Mr. Shaw said it had been estimated that 50 per cent of the 350 Indians living on the Rocky Mountain House Reserve in his constituency were suffering from tuberculosis. A similar percentage suffered from venereal disease.

The Indians wanted to become self-supporting, but received no direction from the government on what to do.

MILES OF ROADS

Ontario's total road mileage, exclusive of city, town and village streets, is approximately 79,000 miles.

ORGANIZE UNEMPLOYED — Some 200 unemployed workers attended a meeting recently to hear labor leaders outline plans for the organization of a union of unemployed workers that will ban communist sympathizers. 2 Prairie Girls Win Vocal Final

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — Two Saskatchewan girls placed first and second Wednesday night in the finals of the concert soprano competition of the annual Kiwanis Music Festival.

Deltra Eamon of Biggar and Erna Freisen of Hanley, students at the Royal Conservatory of Music here, were heralded by adjudicator Alec Redshaw as two of the finest singers he has heard.

Third place in the event was a tie between Louise Hart-Smith of Hamilton and Katherine McBain of Kirkland Lake. Mr. Redshaw said all the girls in this group surpassed anything he has come across as adjudicator for numerous competitions here and in Europe.

Results:

Lieder singing, amateur or professional, women's voices: 1, Marie Evans, Toronto; 2, Margaret MacKinnon, Windsor; 3, Olive Rankin, Haydon, Ont.

Oratorial solo, amateur or professional, bass: 1, Sydney Melville, Toronto; 2, David Mills, Toronto; 3, John Heiderbrecht, St. Catharines.

Community Drive For $75,000 Starts This Week

The most intensive drive for funds to be used for community purposes starts tomorrow, the opening day of the Red Cross and Community Chest campaign. During the following seven days every section of the community will be canvassed in an attempt to raise a total of $75,000 to be distributed by the fund's organisers, among ten local agencies engaged in work for the benefit of the residents of Peterborough.

For campaign purposes the community has been divided into four major sections. Largest group is the industrial division, under the leadership of Ian McRae, with a target of $32,000. Next comes a committee known as the Special Names Committee under the chairmanship of G. S Matthews, which will canvass among a special group for $22,500. The retail division under the leadership of B. H. Myers, is seeking to raise $16,500 and the women's division under Mrs. W. E. Fanning $4,000.

A dinner to be attended by all campaigners at the C. G. E. cafeteria Friday evening will start the campaign. An opening speech to delivered by James Scruton, vice-president and general manager of H J. Heinz Company Ltd. will be broadcast over CHEX between 7 and 7.30 p.m.

$200,000 Placed In Estimates For New Building

The Federal Government has placed $200,000 in the estimates before the House for the Peterborough postal-customs building.

Telephoning to a friend here last night, G. K. Fraser, MP, said the Hon. Mr. Fournier, Minister of Public Works, had told him that the Peterborough building was being definitely planned for this year's Federal works program.

The rest of the financing of the building would be provided for in the supplementary estimates. Some of the details the government has been contemplating for the Peterborough customs-post office were mentioned by Mr. Fraser as being of special interest, but circumstances prevented him from giving them publicity at present.

$45,000 Centre

OWEN SOUND, March 2 — (CP). — A $45,000 community centre building is being planned at Thornbury, 30 miles east of here on Georgian Bay. A committee met on Wednesday night to discuss plans which inelude a skating rink, auditorium, municipal offices, and a public library, all under one roof. Financing would be arranged by provincial grants, sale of municipal debentures, and $22,000 public subscriptions.

Youth Let Off On Suspension

On a plea of guilty to a charge of breaking, entering and theft arising out of minor thefts from Joe Crowley's Snack Bar, 751 Park St. S., 16-year-old Ronald Bryan of Herman St., was today given a two-year suspended sentence.

According to police accounts Bryan was the lookout for Robert Young, 19, Jackson Ave., who on February 23 was given five months definite and four months indefinite for the thefts.

Bryan was charged with taking about $11.50 in cash, a cheque for $33.44 and several packages of cigarettes from the snack bar.

The accused had previously pleaded not guilty and was remanded on $2,000 bail. Today he changed his plea and after V. J. McElderry, acting for Crown Attorney Bradshaw, informed Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, that the youth had never been in trouble before, the suspended sentence was given.

Magistrate's Warning

Magistrate Philp warned Bryan he had received a "break" on a serious charge and told him not to become involved in trouble again.

Constable W. G. Scott and Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum arrested Bryan at his home after discovering a broken window on the north side of the store February 21. As they neared the premises they saw Bryan cross Park St. and cut through Confederation School grounds.

After an initial investigation they went to the home of the accused and took him into custody.

$24,000 Over Amount For General Hospital

ST. THOMAS, March 2 (CP)— It was announced today that the $287,000 objective of St. Thomas and Elgin county citizens to furnish and equip the new $2,200,000 St. Thomas Elgin General Hospital has been exceeded by at least $24,000.

Chairman G. P. Spackman announced that the objective has now been raised to $400,000—the original amount set by the department of health as necessary for the new hospital to qualify for the maximum government grants.

The new hospital will be erected and maintained jointly by the city of St. Thomas and the county of Elgin on a 60-40 basis.

University Dean On Sky Marvels So-Ed Finalist

Visiting lecturer at So-Ed's final meeting of the year, held at the Normal school Wednesday night, was Dr. H. R. Kingston, Dean of Arts of the University of Western Ontario. Dean Kingston's topic was "The Wonderful Heavens."

Illustrating his lecture with slides, the speaker took his audience journeying through the skies, viewing its wonders from an astronomer's and meteorologist's point of view; the moon, shooting stars, sun spots, other planets, comets.

Of shooting stars: These are meteors. Five to eight can usually be seen in an hour, but sometimes as many as 50 are visible in one hour. Western University has on exhibit a fragment of a meteor weighing 50 pounds which ploughed into the ground near Dresden.

Of weather affecting the moon: Dr. Kingston said that as far as scientists know the moon has no effect on weather. If it had, Halifax, Peterborough and Winnipeg would all have the same type of weather at the same time.

Big Craters

Of the moon's craters: The best time to observe them is not at the full of the moon, but in the last quarter. There are more than 3,000 craters on the moon, the largest being 64 miles across. The largest crater on the earth is only half a mile wide. Scientists can gauge the depth of the moon's craters and the height of its mountains by their shadows.

Of sun spots: These appear on a picture screen as black spots. Yet sun spots are really brilliantly white. They are storm areas in the sun which have magnetic activity.

Are there people on Mars? The closest Mars comes to the earth is 34 million miles. Dr. Kingston believes that there are no people on that planet because there is no food similar to ours (because of the extremes of temperature), because there is little moisture, and because there is little oxygen.

Normal Students Present

Dr. Kingston was introduced by Kenneth McKee and thanked by Wayne Tompkins. Tompkins thanked So-Ed for inviting the Normal School students to hear Dr. Kingston.

Quirt McKinney led the So-Ed group in a brief sing-song before Dr. Kingston's address. Following his speech the members entered interest groups for an hour after which Miss Nellie Lewis of Toronto led a social recreation period.

Mayor Appeals For Shipments Of Coke To City

Peterborough fuel dealers have been voluntarily rationing their remnant supply of coal in the interest of the public, Mayor Swanston was told this morning by the nine representatives of the local trade who discussed with him the present emergency of depleted stocks.

"We saw this situation coming two weeks ago," said H. L. Bamforth of J. E. A. Fitzgerald Fuels Ltd., "and we have been trying to spread the supply around as well as we can."

That was the common comment of the dealers, who plainly told Mayor Swanston the shortage was serious.

The meeting produced one practical effort. Mayor Swanston undertook to telephone immediately to the coke divisions of Hamilton steel companies appealing to them to forward as soon as possible the cars of coke which Peterborough dealers have had on order.

Stay With Own Dealer

His worship also agreed to advise the public "to stay with their own dealers; take whatever fuel was available; don't shop around trying to get an extra half-ton; check the thermostats and drafts; and if you have half a ton in your bin please stay away from the coal offices for two weeks."

Mayor Swanston said he wished to be of some help to people in actual need, and not to aggravate the situation of shortage by making it appear any worse than it actually was.

Intangibles of relief were mentioned as "a few days of fine weather," and also prayers for the fuel that was needed.

The dealers who responded to his worship's request for a meeting were: Harold Rehill, J. A. Boland of McCarthy and Johnston, George H. Thompson of Thompson Coal and Wood, B. W. Jones of Jones Brothers, Mr. Bamforth, Frank A. Montgomery of Montgomery Bros., Blain Till of Conger-Lehigh, W. A. Davidson of H. B. Taylor and Son, and Haig Kelly of Peterborough Fuel and Transfer.

Out of Coal On Weekend

Mayor Swanston was informed that some people would probably be out of coal by the weekend. A few cars of pea coal and coke have arrived here, with odd deliveries of nut and stove sizes. Dealers generally said these receipts were obviously less than the volume of orders that have been piling up during the last week.

One of them said: "I've told our drivers to look in the bin, and if there's half a ton there, don't unload."

Another dealer reported: "One of our men was starting to drive into a lane with half a ton, just as another dealer's truck was coming out."

Here's a glimpse at the other side of the human reaction: 'A woman is lending coal to a neighbor, until the latter gets an order she is expecting."

Then there was the man who telephoned: "Send me up two tons of nut coal. When he heard me laugh he said, 'What's the matter?' I said, 'Don't you know there's a shortage?' All I could say was, 'Don't you read the papers?'"

A real estate dealer asked for half a ton to put in the cellar of a house he had sold. The buyer expected the former occupant to leave the last of the coal that was there. It transpired in the conversation that the realtor had 800 pounds in his own cellar.

Said the fuel man: "Why don't you take him 200 pounds; you can spare it as well as we can?"

"I'm not in the fuel business," was the answer.

Delivery men were working up to seven o'clock Wednesday. In too many instances driveways had not been shovelled out. Grim stories of domestic experiences somehow presented facets of humor, but there was none relating to the people living in the wartime houses, equipped with only small bunkers, and thereby without space for storage against the present shortage.

It is of scant and chill interest to Peterborough that the Baltimore and Ohio railway was reported taking run of the mine steam coal; that people were wearing overcoats in a Buffalo theatre; that Windsor was reported helping Detroit; that in St. Louis apartments got a "shot of steam in their radiators in the morning and another around six in the evening, and they have had to do with that."

Haig Kelly said he had a supply of steam coal at Cobourg dock that was needed for Peterborough Civic Hospital. "You've got to give consideration to that kind of public institution."

"It all backs up to December and January when we had ample stockpiles and people held off buying," said Mr. Bamforth. "Weather was mild for winter, and our men were standing around without enough orders to keep them busy."

Consensus of the comments was that the immediate outlook was "not good" and that the car arrivals next week would, probably be insufficient. Half-ton deliveries have doubled the work of the dealers' employees.

In regard to taking what the dealer offers, it was reported that one day this week several householders turned down coke and briquettes. They were back next day willing to accept them, but the stock was run out at that yard.

Peterborough Union Gets Part In New Discussion Of Contract With Company

Local 524 UE on Monday will join with the other CGE locals to discuss a new contract with the Company. Word has been received from the Company that it is now willing to include the Peterborough plant in its negotiations. This followed a direct request from C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president, that the Peterborough local join with those from Toronto in amending the master contract. Previously the Company had refused to discuss with Local 524 the contract claiming there was doubt whether the UE or IUE represented the majority of CGE employees. And until this jurisdictional matter was settled Local 524 was barred.

On Tuesday, the Ontario Labor Board rejected the application of the IUE to become the certified bargaining agent for the more than 3000 production workers at the Peterborough plant.

Negotiate in Toronto.

The Company has decided the matter is now settled, temporarily at least, and the nine-man negotiating committee from Local 524 headed by President T. P Davies will rejoin the UE-GE joint negotiating committee on Monday at 2 p.m.

The Toronto plants—Davenport, Royce, Ward and Carboloy— had previously endorsed strike action to bring contract talks with the company to a successful conclusion. But the implementation of this strike vote was deferred earlier this week until such time as the Peterborough local was able to regain its seat at the negotiating table.

Mr. McRae intimated Wednesday that the UE is the legal bargaining agent at the plant and is so regarded by the Company. Check off money held by the Company during the jurisdictional dispute has not yet been released and probably will not be until the solicitors of the parties concerned can come to an agreement.

Withdraw Charge Against Peterkin

Harold Peterkin, 36, of Toronto had a charge of breaking, entry and theft of $1,000 in valuables withdrawn today in Peterborough police court when he appeared in front of Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

On February 22 he pleaded not guilty and was remanded till today on $3,000 bail. The accused was arrested in Toronto February 20 and brought to Peterborough next day.

Provincial police offered no evidence and the charge was withdrawn.

It had been charged that Peterkin broke into the farm home of Samuel Seigel, Ennismore township, while Mr. Seigel and his wife were absent for about three weeks. A refrigerator, radio, and some bedding having a total value of $1,000 was missing when the couple returned.

Apart from a man who visited the farm daily to care for the stock the premises was deserted during the three weeks.

Ask Road Link Atikokan And Lakehead

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — J. M Newman, Liberal-Labor member of the Ontario Legislature for Rainy River, today called for a highway linking the iron ore deposits at Atikokan and Steep Rock in northwestern Ontario with the head of the lakes.

It was "rather unusual," Mr. Newman said, that "such a thriving community with the industrial growth that has taken place would be left without road facilities of any kind. He spoke in the throne-speech debate.

The ore-deposits in 1949 had yielded 1,250,000 tons of high grade ore and opening of more ore bodies would possibly boost production in the near future to 7,000,000 tons.

Growth of the area in the next few years could mean an expenditure of $50,000,000 to $70,000,000 within Canada on material and labor.

"Some of the things that would be required would be iron ore cars that could possibly be produced at Hamilton; transmission line material from Noranda and Toronto, possibly 20 lake boats at a cost of approximately $1,000,000 each which could be produced at Port Arthur and Fort William; double tracking that will be needed from Atikokan to the lake head would require rails that could be produced at Sault Ste. Marie."

Expansion of the area would "make a worthwhile contribution to solving some of our unemployment which seems to be increasing these days."

PM Supports McNaughton

OTTAWA, March 2—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Wednesday in the Commons the government is fully in accord with statements made by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former Commander of the 1st Canadian Army in a speech here last Friday.

Replying to a question asked Monday by George Drew Progressive Conservative leader, Mr. St. Laurent said the views expressed by Gen. McNaughton were similar to those held and expressed by the Canadian government for many years.

The government had given no authorization for the speech. Gen. McNaughton had been a member of the Canadian Geographic Society for a long time and, as stated in the speech, he was expressing his own views.

Mr. Drew had drawn particular attention to Gen. McNaughton's statement that Canada has "assumed full responsibility for the solution of the significant problems of the defence of our Atlantic seaboard" since Newfoundland joined Confederation.

New State Industry Jobs Luring Trade Union Heads

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, March 1—(CP)—The magnet of new jobs in State industry is luring some of the best minds in Britain's trade union movement. Latest to leave organized labor for a high-salaried post on the government's payroll is James Bowman, 51-year-old vice-president of the National Union of Mineworkers.

After thinking it over for a month, the Yorkshire ex-miner accepted an offer to become Chairman of one of the Boards which run the country's coal mines.

He followed in the footsteps of such men as Lord Citrine, whose salary of £8,500 ($26,350) a year as chairman of the government's electricity authority is roughly eight times what he earned as General Secertary of the Trades Union Congress; Sir Joseph Hallsworth, now also with the Electricity Board; and Ebby Edwards, with the Coal Board.

Lost Leaders

The moral, some observers commented, was clear. Well-paid jobs created by the newly-nationalized industries were drawing off men the Trade Union could ill afford to lose—at a time when organized labor was facing urgent problems created by the economic crisis.

"There can be no question that our national troubles have been increased by the weakening of the Trade-Union leadership," said the pro-Labor Daily Mirror.

"This is the kind of industrial in-breeding that is bound to weaken the stock," said the Liberal Manchester Guardian.

Bowman, in addition to his new duties, is a member of a commission inquiring into the activities of the BBC. He is being replaced as Miners' Vice-President by Ernest Jones, another Yorkshire man.

Critics have suggested that union leadership must raise its salaries, or lose its best men.

Last month Edwin Fletcher resigned as Economics Adviser to the T.U.C. in advertising for a new man, the T.U.C. said it wanted one "with thorough knowledge of economic and political theory." It offered a salary of £700 a year compared with the "market rate" of about £1,500 a year to start.

Senators Watch Immigration

OTTAWA, March 2—(CP)—The Senate paved the way Wednesday for two big studies before adjourning until March 14.

Senator W. A. Buchanan (L—Alberta) gave notice of a motion for revival of the chamber's important series of investigations into the immigration situation.

It would direct a committee to examine into the Immigration Act, its operation and administration and such matters as the desirability of admitting immigrants to Canada.

The Committee, under Senator Cairine Wilson (L—Ontario), would study the type of immigrant preferred, their availability Canada's ability to absorb them, and the appropriate terms of admission.

Senator Wishart Robertson, House leader, proposed that the Senate make an early and careful study of the estimates of government expenditures for the next fiscal year, already made public.

Must Help Themselves

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 2 (CP)—The United States Wednesday told the United Nations that the bulk of financing for economic development in backward areas of the world must come from the under-developed countries themselves. Willard L. Thorp, United States Under-Secretary for Economic Affairs, said, however, that the international community as a whole has pledged itself to aid in the task.

Kaye Star At CNE

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — Leon Leionidoff of Radio City, New York, will produce the 1950 grandstand show at the Canadian National Exhibition with Danny Kaye as the star under present plans of the CNE board, general manager Elwood A. Hughes said Wednesday.

BOY STRANGLES FOX—Members of the family marvel at the feat of Teddy Lovenberg, 12, of Morristown, N.J., who holds the fox he strangled when it tried to bite his dog, Boots. Teddy was out sledding when he came upon the fox. The boy lost no time claiming a $3 bounty for the catch.

Justice Halts Murder Trial

PORT ARTHUR, March 2 — (CP). — Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court Wednesday called a halt to the murder trial of 31-year-old Sylvia Kotila, then dismissed the jury and transferred the case to the Spring Assizes.

She is charged with the knife-slaying last December 8 of her common-law husband, Paul Kucher 39. Police said Kucher died at the home of his sister Cassie Kucher, after he stumbled in, bleeding profusely from knife wounds in the neck.

Chief Justice McRuer said discrepancy in the evidence of Nick Jura, who was in Cassi Kucher's home at the time, led to the dismissal.

He said Jura, with the jury out Tuesday, had said Kucher had entered his sister's home and mumbling "taking off my boots—she stabbed me," which was ruled admissible as a dying man's statement.

Wednesday, with the jury present, Jura said Cassie Kucher had first asked her brother what had happened before he attempted to speak, which was ruled not admissible.

Jet Plane Forced Land At North Bay

NORTH BAY, March 2 (CP). —Flying Officer Mike F. Doyle, 26, of Montreal, landed his RCAF jet Vampire plane here Wednesday afternoon on what was to have been a flight from Vancouver to Montreal. He started from Vancouver at the same time as Flt.-Lt. Don Lausman of Provost, Alta., who completed the flight to Montreal in 4 hours 55 minutes, believed a record time for the distance.

Doyle said he landed "due to technical trouble" but did not reveal details. He arrived over the airport here at 2:25 p.m. and took about 10 minutes to make the landing from his flying height of about 2,000 feet.

The jets had gone to Vancouver after participating in "Exercise Sweetbriar" with Canadian and US Army units in the Yukon recently.

Forums Hold Joint Meeting

NORWOOD, March 2 (ENS)—Three farm forums—Trent River West, Donegal, and Killarney Corners met in Donegal School Monday with Harold Van Volkenburg as chairman.

The broadcast with Gardner Gawley in charge was followed by a short discussion on filling out income tax forms.

Robert Bell, BSA, assistant agricultural representative at Peterborough, was present and with him four other members of the Peterborough Junior Farmers' Club, namely Don Milburn, Don Chambers, Allan Drummond and Jack Matchett.

These young men showed three films, one on reclaiming land, a comic "Chimp the Sheriff," and the third, on junior club work with particular emphasis on calf clubs.

The girls and boys between the ages of 12 and 20 were invited to form a Calf Club, and Mr. Bell explained the requirements for membership. It was also suggested that the young farm people of the district form a Junior Farmers' Club or join the one in West Peterborough.

After community singing, Mrs. Max Brown and her assistants served sandwiches, pie and tea.

Ross Legge moved a vote of thanks to Donegal Forum for acting as hosts.

A collection was taken for the March of Dimes Fund.

Will Spray Bushland To Reduce Foliage

TORONTO, March 2 (CP): — Several thousand acres of Ontario bushland will be sprayed this summer with growth-retardant chemicals, it was announced on Wednesday by J. W. Suggits, engineer in the Research Division of Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. The object, he told a meeting of the Association of Municipal Electric Utilities, is to protect the right-of-way along the hydro transmission lines from the snarl of foliage and tall timber.

Thames Sights By Moonlight Described By Veteran Navy Man

LONDON, Eng., March 2 (CP) — A naval watchdog who has served the port of London for 30 years has set out to contrast the sights and sounds of old Father Thames by sunlight and moonlight.

In his book "The Londoner's River," Lt- Cmdr. L. M. Bates says it is beyond the power of the marine artist to do justice to the Thames by night. So, through the sailor's binoculars, he describes odd scenes and happenings he has encountered over years of exploration.

He tells of the "look out" — a strange marine museum on the Gravesend waterfront where a city man has gathered around him 82 ships' figureheads and other curiosities, such as a life-line from one of the ill-fated Titanic's lifeboats.

There, too, he keeps lamps from the German Kaiser's private yacht and a ship's bridge where eight bells summon his guests in to tea.

Oldest Barge

Bates describes the oldest sailing barge on the Thames, built at Rochester nearly 150 years age and now dying of old age on the Thames mud at Chiswick.

He knows all the ships that pass in the night down the shadowy Thames, and many of the men who man them. Short of "smelling their way" along the river on foggy nights, he says pilots and tugboats skippers have been known to pick up their position by sniffing the odors of the soap, cement and gasworks located along the river's banks.

Most silent men on the river when on duty are the ferry-boat skippers. In a letter to one of the commander's friends, Poet Rudyard Kipling described a trip in a Gravesend ferryboat.

The skipper, he said, remained perfectly silent as he steered through a cross traffic of liners, tugs and barges.

"In the end," wrote Kipling, "I asked him 'when you do whatever it is you do, do you just do it, or do you think?' He replied 'Well, now you put it that way I've never rightly thought out which it is I do do first.' Lucid! But the man was a master of his craft."

The commander writes vividly of the Thames by night, curling out to the sea between jagged silhouettes of factory and warehouse, the ghost ships "weaving endless pennons of colored lights," and likens the silver oil tanks at Thameshaven shining in the moon light to a "field of mushrooms."

Assessment Up As Values Set New Record

LONDON, Ont., March 2 — (CP) — Real estate assessments may be boosted generally across Ontario within the next few years if sales values continue at their present high levels, city assessment officials said monday.

"After My Time"

Associate Assessment Commissioner Ray E. Ashton predicted that such a move would follow a decision of the Ontario Assessor's Association, which represents 400 communities.

Assessment Commissioner Harry J. Bennett also thought that assessments would be increased if present property values hold firm. "It will be after my time though," he said. Mr Bennett expects to retire in two or three years.

What would such a change mean to the individual taxpayer?

Mr. Ashton explained that a low assessment with a high tax rate is the alternative to a high assessment with a low tax rate. Theoretically, the individual would pay the same taxes under either system.

However, building and land are assessed separately. And building values in London have increased in sales prices much more than have land values, Mr. Ashton said.

PRISON EDUCATION

The adult education scheme for prisons was instituted in Britain in 1923 and provides libraries, periodical lectures, debates, and concerts of good music.

Settlers Are Wanted For Northern Ontario

TIMMINS, March 2 — (CP) — Mayor Philip Fay said Wednesday that settlers, not farm help, are needed in Northern Ontario's clay belt. He said there is an erroneous impression that established farms in the vast Cochrane district are short of manpower.

"What we do want," he said, "is to bring experienced farmers to Northern Ontario's clay belt area as settlers. We want the Ontario Government to sponsor an organized migration scheme."

Timmins Council this week arranged a meeting for Friday at which Timmins district municipalities will prepare a brief urging the province to foster northern farm settlement.

Il Duce's Girl Requested Clothes, Aspirin

ROME, March 2 —(Reuters)— The last letter of Musolini's mistress, Clara Pettacci, lamenting that all was "crumbling mercilessly," then listing an elaborate wardrobe necessary for her proposed flight to Switzerland, was published for the first time today by the Rome newspaper Momento Sera.

She asked for: A machine-gun and pistol, Mussolini's photograph, and three packages of aspirin.

The letter was given to the newspapers for publication after the finding of six cases of papers belonging to Mussolini and Signorita Petacci in a Gardona villa garden last week.

The letter was dated April 18 1945, one week before Signorita Petacci was shot with Mussolini. They were strung up by the heels in Milan after their capture a few miles from the Swiss frontier.

Chose Fate

"What will become of me?" said the letter addressed to a friend. "I do not know. I do not ask fate, because I chose this fate."

Then she listed belongings—including seven dressing-gowns which she wanted for her flight.

After that came the request for weapons and aspirin.

Dies In Kingston

KINGSTON, March 2 (CP). — Mrs. Wilfred Smith, mother of Dr. Austin Smith, editor of the American Medical Association Journal, died in hospital Wednesday. She had been ill several weeks. Born in Carrying Place, Ont., Mrs. Smith came to Kingston in 1933.

Still Keep Controls

OTTAWA, March 2 (CP) — Although the government wants "to interfere as little as possible with normal export operations," it still exercises control over the export of 91 Canadian commodities. This was disclosed Wednesday in the trade department's export and import branch annual report tabled in the Commons.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

ASSEMBLY LINE techniques, of which Henry Ford was the outstanding pioneer, gave American mass production tremendous impetus in the first half of the Twentieth Century. High-speed, assembly-line production was applied not only to autos, but to almost every line of industry. America's general prosperity and high standards of living, most people will tell you, are based on American mechanical "know-how" applied to mass production by means of labor-saving machinery. Much of our food, our kitchenware, our Bibles, our furniture, our vitamins and sometimes even our houses are turned out on the assembly line. Foreigners from all over the world journey to this mecca of industrial civilization to marvel at how it's done and to pick up a little of the "know-how."

Holds Up Store

MONTREAL, March 2 (CP) — A lone gunman Wednesday held up the jewelry store of Real Laverdure on Rachel Street and escaped with an estimated $1,000 in jewelry and cash. Mr. Laverdure was alone in the store at the time.

Six Killed By Gas

WEST ORANGE, N. J., March 2 (AP)—Gas, pouring from open kitchen stove jets, killed a 36-year-old mother and her five children Wednesday. Police found the mother, Mrs. Arlene Kraeutler, in bed with a young daughter, holding an infant in her arms. All of the victims were clad in sleeping clothes.

Stabbed In Row

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — Police said Wednesday night that 16-year-old Douglas Green was severely wounded in the stomach Wednesday when stabbed by a younger brother during an argument. The 13-year-old brother was charged with wounding. Police said the argument started shortly after the younger boy returned from school.

Bette Davis Now Adjusted To Free-Lancing

HOLLYWOOD, March 2 (AP) —Feeling like "a fish out of water" after 18 years at the Warner Studio, Bette Davis says she is getting re-adjusted to the free-lance life.

Eight months ago, the actress left Warners after a record contract, during which she won two Academy Awards.

"It wasn't easy," she related. "It was hard to leave behind the people you had worked with so many years. They seemed like a family—in fact, I saw more of them than I did my family.

"But it was a challenge. It's good for one to break the ties and seek new experiences. I left with no particularly hard feelings on my part.

Lost Feeling

"The next six months were a difficult period. I had a 'lost' feeling and wondered if anyone would ever want to hire me."

Several studios did. She took the job of the mother of two grown children in "The Story of a Divorce."

Reconsidering

She now is considering other film offers and would even welcome a return to her old alma mater, Warners.

"They have one thing I want and that is 'Ethan Frome'," she declared. "I was scheduled to do it, but it was called off when I got pregnant." I detected a note of bitterness when she lamented that the picture was not made.

"I can't understand why it was passed by, and pictures like 'Beyond the Forest' were made over the protests of all of us. That was a grim, dull picture with no uplift whatsoever. At least 'Ethan Frome' has a beautiful love story."

Student Editor

MONTREAL, March 2 (CP).— John McPherson Scott, 20-year-old Montreal student in second year Arts at McGill University, Wednesday was chosen editor-in-chief of the McGill Daily, student newspaper, at the annual staff banquet. Jim Robb, third year Arts student from Huntingdon, Que., has been appointed managing editor, while Edward Kingstone, Montreal, second year science student, was named news editor.

EMERGENCY CENTRE

TORONTO, March 2 (CP)—An emergency distribution centre will be established today at City Hall to deal with "distress" calls for domestic fuel. The arrangement is made necessary by what E. R. Lockyer, secretary of the Toronto Coal Exchange, terms a coal situation made "desperate because of supply and delivery problems."

In Tune With The Trend to more brassware in the home are the beautiful brassware displays in the stores these days. DOROTHY DIX

Married Daughter Sponges On Her Widowed Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widow with a very limited income. My daughter with her children and an idle husband are living with me and while she helps a little financially the greater part of the expense of her family falls on me and I can ill afford it. If there were the slightest sign of appreciation I could meet the situation more cheerfully, but there is none. I hardly see her except at meals, or when she wants me to take care of the children while she and her husband got off for some pleasure. The husband does not even look for a job. I am troubled not only for myself, but for my daughter. Should I force them to get out and support themselves, or keep on using my limited funds to help them until my money is all gone? Would the responsibility of being on her own help her to realize the uncertain future? I do not know what to do.

A WORRIED MOTHER

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: Your daughter's salvation and that of her family depends upon your forcing her out of the home nest. As long as you feed and shelter her and her brood they will be grafters upon you, for it is a lot easier and pleasanter to let mother do it than it is to do it yourself.

They Are Capable

But when they have to shift for themselves or starve, you will be surprised to find how capable they are, and how many talents they possess that you never suspected them of having. If anything will galvanize your lazy son-in-law into action and make him hustle out and try to find work, it will be having the responsibility for his family thrown on his shoulders, instead of being borne by mother-in-law. There are not many men such poor creatures that they would rather see their wives and children starve than work for them.

What mothers need more than anything else in the world is enough enlightened selfishness to enable them to protect themselves against their children. They need it for their own sakes because the children to whom mother has always sacrificed herself never appreciate what she does for them. They don't even respect her, because she has made herself nothing but a servant for them. They take all that she can give and when that is gone they have no further use for her.

And the mother does her children an incalculable wrong who does not teach them to be self-respecting and independent; and that it is a shameful thing for the young and strong to be willing to be leeches who suck their own mothers' life blood.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Your article about domesticating boys at a young and tender age so that they will make good husbands hands me a laugh. You see I married a man whose mother literally wore herself out and put herself in an early grave trying to teach her boys so they not be the kind of husband father was. She was the soul of meekness and goodness and honor, so I thought her boy would make

Immigrants Take Opposite Views Most Are Happy

By J. C. GRAHAM.

AUCKLAND, N. Z. (CP) — Opinions of post-war British migrants to New Zealand vary all the way from unreserved praise to bitter criticism of the Dominion as a place to live.

Some have returned home in disgust. Some say they will go as soon as they save enough for the fare. The majority are satisfied with their new life and are settling down well although they have individual points of criticism. Others again have nothing but praise for the country.

The housing shortage is the most acute problem facing most immigrants, but in many instances it is minor points like the absence of the English-type pub or the shortage of entertainments at week-ends which most irritates new settlers. This attitude was summed up by one who declared:

"New Zealand is the land of can't. You can't smoke where you like in a tram. You can't smoke at all on a bus. You can't smoke at the cinema. You can't go anywhere unless you have a car—transport's so poor. You can't go out and have a drink when you feel like it in the evening.

"And this is the worst can't of all—you can't do anything here at week-ends. The week-ends are absolutely dead.

Not Enough Freedom

"There's not enough freedom here for me. I've booked my passage back to Britain. I'll have freedom to do all the things I like doing and have my friends around me. I'll be able to smoke where and when I want to and drop into the local for a quiet drink in the evenings."

The opposing view was eloquently put by a woman migrant:

"We are a family of six and would not leave this lovely country for anything," she said. "Your people are far more courteous, your housing on the whole much better advanced, your shops just one joy. The cost of living is not so high, but one can spend a whole lot more because there is so much to get that none of us has seen for years. Wages average 25 per cent more, so one can indulge in a little spending. We all feel a much greater sense of freedom and good fellowship.

Children Happy

"I have four children, all of school age, and not one of them would leave this country. They are all perfectly happy. My husband, a tradesman, has met no resentment whatever among his workmates, but was one of them right away. We came here because we wanted to find a way to live. The other life had become an existence. It cost us all we possessed to get settled here, but we are quite content with what we have got for our money.

"As for the long 'dead' weekends, the criticism is just stupid. There's plenty of sport and amusements and a grand get-together for families. We are here to stay."

THERE IS NOW A COMPLETE ASSORTMENT OF HEINZ FAMOUS SOUPS

● What a wealth of wonderful eating—what a range of wonderful flavours! All Heinz Soups—every single famous one—are now in full supply to add exciting new enjoyment to the meals you serve your family and friends. 18 distinctive varieties—each an individual masterpiece—are now ready-to-hand in Peterborough grocery stores. Hearty soups, light soups, cream soups and clear soups—choose the ones you fancy from the luscious line-up below.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP
The mellow, glowing soup that's such a general favourite, so mildly spiced that the tomato is the thing; beloved by the cook because it's the quickest sauce, the most versatile ingredient, the handsomest dresser-up she has on her pantry shelf.

CREAM OF MUSHROOM SOUP
Flushed with lovely natural mushroom colour, lavish with tender mushroom pieces—a soup that is tempting and special, full-bodied and deeply satisfying. For a marvellous quick sauce just heat it and add a dash of cream.

CREAM OF CELERY SOUP
The sieved and finely cut celery gives such full-bodied flavour that more than the usual soup-tin of milk may be added and the result will still be rich enough for most tastes.

CREAM OF GREEN PEA SOUP
Creamy smooth, lightly seasoned, with the fragrance of fresh-shelled garden peas and good country butter—perfect for a guest luncheon or a family meal. It's everybody's soup!

CREAM OF GREEN VEGETABLE SOUP
Young tender vegetables from the sunny garden lands around Leamington, cooked and finely sieved and made into a unique soup. With cheese sandwiches, a perfect luncheon!

CREAM OF CHICKEN SOUP
Famous for its buttery richness, its deep chicken flavour with the fillip of celery, its generous chicken pieces. Superb eating! Combine it occasionally with Cream of Mushroom—a wonderful blend!

CHICKEN NOODLE SOUP
A light broth, the chicken flavour clear and true, the pieces of chicken and the egg noodles tender and tempting. A delicacy that appeals to every taste.

CHICKEN GUMBO SOUP
A hearty soup that is a light meal in itself—a dinner soup in the grand manner—or just the hospitable Southern note to start an otherwise cold supper.

BEEF NOODLE SOUP
Old-fashioned, simmered beef stock with diced beef left in the clear broth, bright carrot and parsley flecking it brilliantly, plenty of ribbon-like noodles; delicate, nourishing.

VEGETABLE SOUP
A savoury, substantial soup combining 14 different vegetables, fresh-gathered at their best moments, cooked with meat stock, zestfully seasoned, and with the alphabet macaroni that children love.

18 NOURISHING VARIETIES

VEGETABLE SOUP WITHOUT MEAT
Fresh, fine flavours of 14 vivid vegetables, appetizing colour of sun-bright tomatoes in the stock, mild seasoning, alphabet macaroni—a grand soup for the school lunch kit, for quick meals any time.

SCOTCH BROTH
A grand old-fashioned soup that smacks o' the heather and the hearth . . . sturdy mutton broth with plenty of meat, vegetables, and, of course, barley; a "growing" soup for children, fine fare for all the family.

CLAM CHOWDER
A meal in itself, with the sea-food flavour predominating, tomato given great importance, diced potato as expected, and sweet peppers contributing smoothly to a grand blend of flavours.

MOCK TURTLE SOUP
Different, distinguished, a special-occasion soup which the hostess will choose for a smart dinner because of its hot, spicy, distinctive character. Its zest marks this soup for use in making casserole dishes, too.

OXTAIL SOUP
Promising aroma, deep red-brown colour and rich savoury appearance—then real ox-tail flavour, the touch of excitement so many meals need; a super ingredient for made-up dishes, too.

PEPPER POT SOUP
A hearty, he-man soup—sturdy enough for the main dish at luncheon or supper; a rich broth full of savoury solids—tender white meat, succulent vegetables, all seasoned by a knowing hand.

BEAN SOUP
Hearty, stick-to-the-ribs fare—those famous Heinz beans, whole, tender, well-cooked and supported by savoury bits of smoked pork, in a rich golden-brown stock.

PUREE MONGOLE
A soup of distinction, quite special in character. Split peas, smoked pork and tomato give it heartiness and the charm of novelty. Fine family fare.

For flavour and freshness and nourishing goodness, there's nothing to equal Heinz Soups served alone. But from the descriptions above, you can readily see why Heinz Soups also lend themselves to so many cooking uses. They play a superior part as basic ingredients in a host of delicious, inexpensive and easy-to-prepare dishes—everything from souffles to meat pies. The Heinz booklet "57 Ways to Use Heinz Soups" gives you the recipes. Ask for it at your dealer's. When shopping, look for the happy Heinz Chef—the sign of the Heinz Soup Department.

St. David's Day Marked By Local Welshmen

The birth of St. David, patron saint of Wales, was celebrated Wednesday, March 1, by the Peterborough branch of St. David's Welsh Society when 31 members met for dinner at Hooper's palm room. Messages of greeting from the Toronto and Winnipeg societies were read by the chairman, Mrs. Jos. Henderson, who welcomed those present and expressed regret at the absence, through illness, of faithful members, Mrs. M. A. Edwards and Mrs. M. Pakenham.

Daffodils, the flower emblem of Wales, were worn as corsages by the ladies and decorated the tables, and bouquets of the flowers were sent to the two members who are ill.

National anthems of Wales and Canada were sung in response to toasts to the countries, proposed by Mrs. Henderson. Mrs. B. Jones, incoming president, and Mrs. J. Siddall, grand old lady of the society at 80-odd years, spoke of their homeland and the activities of the local group.

Several hours of music and sociability at Mrs. Henderson's home on Boswell Ave. followed the dinner and resulted in the most enjoyable celebration.

Pleasing numbers and one song in Welsh were sung by the ladies' choir of Mrs. Wm. Davies, Mrs. D. T. Henderson, Mrs. Walter Flowers, Mrs. Elmer Pearse, Mrs. E. E. Young and Mrs. Cecil Armstrong. By request Mrs. Armstrong sang "Abie," and also another solo, and Mrs. Wm. Davies sang two solos. Songs in the Welsh tongue were sung by Mr. Maurice Parry, who also led in community singing of Welsh songs and hymns, and Mr. John Parry sang a solo in Welsh. Mrs. Henderson contributed a reading. Miss Margaret Flowers was pianist throughout the evening.

To honor Retiring Pres[ident] Mrs. Jos. Henderson, who ha[s] en such splendid leadership, [the] members gave a brilliant [neck]lace which was presented on their behalf by Mrs. Wm. Davies.

A special treat at the midnight hour was Welsh cakes, made by Mrs. C. Armstrong, served with the lunch by Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. W. Bull, Mrs. H. Gray, Mrs. D. T. Henderson and Mrs. Wm. Williams.

Three Talented Students To Be Presented in Recital

The annual concert sponsored by Peterborough branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association, at which last year's artiste was Patsy Parr, the child pianist, will be presented March 2 in the Collegiate auditorium.

Three young students of the Toronto Royal Conservatory of Music will present a program of piano, violin and vocal music.

The pianist, 18-year-old Ray Dudley is no stranger to Peterborough. His brilliant performance at the first Kiwanis Festival held in Peterborough three years ago won him high esteem and a medal for gaining the highest marks.

Since that time the young pianist has enjoyed a successful period of study. Last spring he represented the Toronto Conservatory at the annual symposium of the International Federation of Music Students in Boston, playing the solo part in Beethoven's "Emperor" concerto.

Ray Dudley began his music studies with his mother, Reta Cole Dudley of Bowmanville and obtained his ATCM with first class honors at the age of 14. Going to Toronto, he continued his studies with Alberto Guerrero. In 1948 he won the Norman Wilkes piano scholarship and in June the following year, he was awarded the LRCT graduation diploma.

Vocal Student

The vocalist will be Barbara King, a soprano who is at present studying voice at the Toronto Conservatory. She has shown outstanding talent both in singing and in artistic design.

As a member of the Royal Conservatory Opera School, she was able to show her work in both fields by designing the sets and singing in last year's production of Puccini's "Gianni Schicchi."

Marguerite Learning, violinist, who is continuing her studies at the Toronto Conservatory, has studied in Buffalo with the late Isabelle Workman Evans and briefly with Mischakoff in New York and at Chautauqua, N.Y.

In 1948 she won a scholarship provided by the ORMTA of Niagara Falls district and the Marion Ferguson scholarship provided by the Conservatory, which enabled her to study at the Toronto Conservatory. She is studying with Frank Blachford.

Marguerite Learning has won competitions in music festivals in London, Niagara Falls and St. Catharines and has appeared as guest soloist with the Buffalo and Niagara Falls Philharmonic orchestras and in recitals at Welland, Niagara Falls and Trinity College, Toronto.

All three artists have won Ontario Registered Music Teachers Association scholarships.

him—he wasn't. Her efforts had gone in vain, and began to take more stock in heredity than in environment and training. Now a model husband, and I married I am straining my own patience and health trying to teach my children now to be good husbands and wives. Some of them may. Some most surely will not. So why blame mother?

ANWSER: Well, at any rate, if you have made the conscientious effort, you have the reward of a clean conscience. Your children may not make ideal husbands and wives, but they will certainly make better ones than they would if they had been permitted to grow up with their natural impulses toward selfishness and lack of consideration and grouchiness and grumpiness and temper uncurbed.

Of course, there is always heredity to deal with, and there is no way we can arrange to have our children "take after" their agreeable ancestors and not the surly ones. But early influences do count. Mother's hands do mold character. And many a discouraged mother who has thought that all of her work with her children has gone for nothing has come back in later life to sit under the tree that sprang from the seed she planted.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are a young married couple and have been living in a furnished apartment for two years. My husband wants to buy an automobile and I want to buy furniture. Which do you think is the better investment?

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I think furniture is, because I believe in buying necessities before you buy luxuries But if your husband's heart is set on a car and you are quarreling over the furniture, your best buy will be the automobile, because it will bring you together and make you happier.

6—In Memoriams

LEHMAN—In loving memory of a dear niece, Marie James Lehman, who passed away two years ago today, March 2, 1948.
Silently the angels took her
Into the mansion above.
There shall she rest from earth's toiling,
Safe in the arms of God's love.
A tribute of love and remembrance,
To a dear one gone to rest.
And the joys that she missed on life's highways
May she find in God's garden of rest.
—Ever remembered by her aunt, Mrs. Wilson, Adeline Street.

LEHMAN — In loving memory of Marie James Lehman, who passed away two years ago today, March 2, 1948 in Gravenhurst Sanitarium.
Some day when the shadows flee,
We cannot Lord, Thy purpose see,
We shall understand
But all is well that's done by Thee.
—Ever remembered by father, mother, brothers, sisters.

Never Go To Moscow Truman Declares

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP) —President Truman said today he will never go to Moscow as long as he is President, but will co-operate in any move to preserve the peace.

Truman told his press conference he is for any plan to utilize the United Nations in preserving the peace.

Truman made clear that his co-operation will never involve anytrip by him to Moscow as long as he is President. But, he said, he would like to visit Moscow after he is through being President. Under questioning, he refused to say when that might be.

Falls On Arena Ramp D. Carruthers Killed

KINGSTON, March 2 (CP) — Douglas G. Carruthers, 57, prominent Kingston realtor and golfer died Wednesday night of a fractured skull after falling eight feet from his seat onto a ramp in the Jock Harty arena.

He died shortly after being admitted to the Kingston General Hospital.

Mr. Carruthers was six times men's champion of the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club and won numerous other trophies.

Surviving are his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Allen Percival of Toronto and Joan at home.

S. Indian State Revives ElephantHunting

BOMBAY —(Reuters)—Mysore state in southern Indian has revived elephant-hunting, favorite sport of ancient oriental monarchs.

In one "operation elephant" just concluded in the jungles near Bangalore, the Mysore forest department bagged 40 wild elephants.

The hunt, covering a forest area of about 200 square miles, was organized by a band of about 1,500 herdsmen, with the assistance of forest officials and trained mahouts.

The Maharaja of Mysore, a number of Indian statesmen and many overseas visitors, watched the hunt.

After a period of taming by skilled mahouts and trained elephants, the newly captured animals will either work in the jungle dragging teak-wood, or parade the city streets, carrying bejewelled idols at temple festivities. The luckiest among the captured elephants may go abroad as India's gift to foreign zoos.

Elephant-hunting as a royal sport has gone out of fashion in India in the last 200 years, as modern princes fancied horse-racing and tiger-shooting in preference to the elaborate ceremonial of the elephant hunt.

In Mysore, Travancore and the Assam states, elephants are considered to be government property and it is forbidden to shoot them. Mysore held its first elephant hunt in recent times in 1891, to entertain the Grand Duke of Russia who visited the state as the guest of the Maharaja.

Hunt Needs Planning

Last year, Mysore held another elephant hunt in honor of Prime Minister Nehru, Recently, Nehru presented a Mysore elephant, "Indira," to Japanese children.

The Mysore elephant hunt involves several months of preparation and a great deal of tactical planning. The herdsmen, assisted by the hill tribes, "cordon off" a large area and "hustle" the elephant herds into the area by lighting forest fires and beating drums.

In the centre of the "operation theatre," a stockade is built to trap the elephants. This stockade, usually about five acres in area, is built of huge teak-logs, which project spear-like inside the kraal. The stockade is equipped with trap doors which the hunters close ingeniously once the animals are inside.

Hunt For Days

The herdsmen surround the entire area for several days, collecting the elephants and cleverly driving them towards the gates of the stockade. Expert herdsmen spend days together on tree-tops, eating fruit and nuts, and praying to Ganapathy (the elephant god) for the success of their venture.

Supervising these age-old methods of elephant hunting are modern forest officials, equipped with wireless transmission sets and firearms—in case of emergency.

The final day of the hunt is a spectacular affair. The maharaja and his guests assemble in special pavilions erected round the stockade and watch the huntsmen drive the elephant herds in the kraal.

Inside the "prison," the wild animals — cow-elephants, tuskers and kids—run about like mad, kicking and jostling and trying to get out, but hitting the spear-like teak-logs in the process.

OBITUARIES

KENNETH KINGSTON

Kenneth Kingston, 77, of Meaford, Ont., died on Tuesday at his residence following a short illness. He was born in Grey County.

He leaves his wife, the former Mary Jane House and one daughter Mrs. Donald Cowling (Caroline) and a son Jack, both of Rocklyn, Ont. His other sons are Kenneth of Peterborough, Stuart of Meaford, Bruce of Chatsworth. There are two sisters, Mrs. Flora McNally of Clarksburg and Mrs. Sarah Vaughn of Meaford and a brother John Kingston of Chatsworth.

BETHANY, March 2. — Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Ellis, widow of Mellin Ellis, died Wednesday at the home of her nephew, Benjamin Clapper in Manvers township in her 95th year.

Mrs. Ellis was born in Hastings daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Graves. She was twice married. Her first husband was Joseph Clapper of Hastings who died in the west, where the family had moved in 1913. Her marriage to Mellin Ellis took place in Havelock after her return there in 1930.

Mrs. Ellis leaves one daughter, Mrs. Maude Enmory of Manvers; three sisters, Mrs. Matilda Davis and Mrs. Hannah Ellis of Peterborough and Mrs. Sarah Cochrane in the west; and three sons, Henry Clapper of Warsaw and Wesley and William Clapper of Manvers.

The body is resting at the home of Benjamin Clapper, Concession 3, Manvers, where the funeral service will be conducted Saturday at 11 a.m.; burial will be at Norwood cemetery Saturday afternoon on the arrival of the body by motor hearse from Pontypool.

DOWNTOWN FIRE—Firefighters in Wheeling, W.Va., battle a stubborn blaze that roared through two hotels and an apartment building in the downtown section of the city. Three persons were injured, but not seriously. More than 50 persons escaped, although the fire raged out of control for nearly an hour.

Fire Wipes Out Family Of Five

KENOSHA, Wis., March 2 (AP) —A fire wiped out a family of five in a small frame cabin in a trailer camp on the edge of the city early today. The blaze occurred in five-below-zero weather.

The dead were Edward Maxwell, about 28; his wife, Betty, 26, and their three children, Jimmy 4, Steve 2, and Patricia, 2 months.

The sheriff's department said all the victims were trapped in their beds except Maxwell, who apparently tried to get out.

The fire department blamed an oil heater for the blaze.

Indians Go Trapping After Losing One Leg

TIMMINS, Ont., —(CP)—Indian trappers Xavier Spence, 43, and George Visitor, 35, have one thing in common which distinguishes them from their fellow-trappers in the frozen tundras of the James Bay basin.

Both are active at their rugged task despite the fact both had their right legs crudely amputated after wilderness accidents. Xavier Spence uses three snowshoes, one one each crutch and one on his left leg; Visitor has rigged up special skis for his crutches.

Visitor has no sled-dogs and pulls his toboggan himself with a shoulder harness on his trap-line 150 miles from Moosonee, the end of steel in Northern Ontario. The skis are about two feet long and three inches wide.

He lost his leg when an accidental shotgun blast ripped it to shreds. Rough bushland surgery followed.

$200,000 Fire Destroys School

OWEN SOUND, March 2, (CP)— Fire destroyed the main brick building of the Hanover public school today with a loss estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000. Hanover is 40 miles southwest of here.

Volunteer Hanover firemen were handicapped in fighting the fire by sub-zero temperatures, heavy snow and high winds. Flames had burst through the roof of the school by the time firemen arrived.

The building, erected in 1912, was the newer of Hanover's two public school buildings. The older building, a white frame structure next to the newer brick one, was undamaged.

Tell Exporters In Britain Cater To Canada

LEEDS, Eng. — (CP) — A Canadian members of the Anglo-Canadian Joint Trade Committee warned British exporters recently that they were losing buying power in Canada because their designs often do not cater to Canadian tastes.

British textiles, for example, could sweep the market if adapted specially for North American requirements, said Howard T. Mitchell in a speech to the Leeds Chamber of Commerce. A Vancouver publisher and former president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, Mitchell recently attended meetings of the Anglo-Canadian Joint Trade Committe in London.

He said there was a great amount of Canadian goodwill for Britain and a tendency to give preference to British goods "but that will not continue indefinitely." British goods had become more competitive since devaluation, but "we can see your prices tending to rise again."

Of packaging, he said Canadians "live in cellophane," and like to see what they are buying. It was vital exporters should keep this in mind along with the necessity of advertising and strict adherence to delivery promises.

Of the London meetings Mitchell said "we were greatly encouraged to find the British wing of the committee agreed with us about the desirability of getting back to multilateral trade and on the need for getting rid of bulk buying."

The Anglo-Canadian Joint Trade Committee was established last year. It represents the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Association of British Chambers of Commerce and other British organizations.

Fire Damages Garage

ESTEVAN, Sask., March 2 (CP) —Fire caused an estimated $30,000 damage to a combined garage, implement and hardware store Wednesday in the village of Macoun, 17 miles west of here. An explosion of unknown origin started the fire in the garage at the rear of the store. The building and contents, a total loss, were

Condition Improves

TORONTO, March 2 (CP) — Condition of eight-year-old Mary Lou Sparks of Sarnia, victim of a hammer attack Feb. 3 was described today by hospital authorities as "fairly good." A brain operation previously thought necessary may not be needed the said.

Adopted daughter of Mrs Mamie Sparks, Mary Lou was brought to Toronto last Saturday suffering severe scalp and neck wounds.

Police described the attack as a murder-suicide attempt by Mrs Sparks who had been despondent since the death of her husband a year ago.

Pope Observes 2 Anniversaries

VATICAN CITY, March 2 (AP) —Pope Pius today celebrated two anniversaries—his 74th birthday and the 11th anniversary of his election to the Papal throne.

Fully recovered from a recent attack of influenza, the Pontiff planned a routine day with no special celebration. White and golden flags were raised over Vatican buildings in honor of the leader of 400,000,000 Roman Catholics.

Special ceremonies honoring the anniversary of the Pope's ascension to the throne are planned for Monday, March 13. The actual date is March 12, but the celebration was put off a day so as not to interfere with Sunday Lenten services.

In a speech to some 300 Lenten preachers of Rome, the Pope said that the soil of Rome—in this year of jubilee—once again has become "a spiritual arena" for the defence of human dignity.

The Pontiff urged them to preach in the spirit of St. Peter, the first Pope.

Speaking of the 1950 Holy Year —the 25th in the 2,000 years of the Catholic church—the Pope said, "it is a year of religious deepening."

Theatre Ticket Sale Curbed

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP) — New York City has clamped strict new rules on the sale of theatre tickets.

The tighter supervision was imposed Wednesday following a lengthy ticket-scalping investigation during which 24 ticket agencies were closed for overcharging or other offences.

The new regulations require ticket brokers to keep detailed records of all sales, and forbid charging any premium or bonus above the standard 75 cent a ticket broker's fee.

Exchanges of tickets between brokers are limited under the new rules, to prevent one broker from cornering a large bloc of tickets for any particular show.

The investigation into theatre-ticket sales was ordered by Mayor William O'Dwyer after reports that tickets to hit shows were selling for as much as $30 apiece.

WARMING UP FOR THE COLD WAR

—Communist influence in rich and strategic Southeast Asia is definitely on the upsurge, according to a United Press survey. With the area's huge rubber and tin production — sought by Japan in World War II — as its apparent goal, the Soviet is attempting to pull these young, floundering nations into its orbit. Reports indicate that in Washington a major cold war offensive is expected by the Reds in these countries. Secretary of State Dean Acheson has called upon them to link forces in an economic, political and social union to resist the spread of communism, offering the possibility of an Oriental Marshall Plan or Point Four program. Plan To Form New LOL Lodge

HAVELOCK, March 2—J. Denzil Graham, of Ottawa, Director of Organization for Ontario East of the Loyal Orange Young Briton Association, met with officers of Havelock LOL No. 326 at the home of Jack Adams on Sunday afternoon to discuss plans for the formation of a Loyal Orange Young Briton Lodge for Havelock and district.

It was decided to hold an open meeting at 8 p.m. on March 4, in the Orange Hall. All boys and youths, 14 to 18 years of age, are invited to attend. Any parents interested are also asked to attend.

The aims and purposes of this new lodge, together with its program will be outlined that time by Grand Lodge officials from Ottawa and Toronto.

The committee in charge of this project are Richard Sanderson, guardian; Jack Adams, Harold Agnew, Harry E. Jamieson, asssistant guardians; Gerald Buchanan, committee member.

The official opening meeting was set for March 18, at 8 p.m., at the Orange Hall, when the installation of the officers and the initiation of the members for the new "Sanderson Orange Young Briton Lodge" will take place.

Vocational School Penalized Under New Grant System

HAMILTON, March 2(CP) — Commenting on the new provincial education grants, Lloyd Spalding, business administrator of the Hamilton Board of Education, said today "urban municipalities which have vocational schools will not gain through the new grants set-up.

"They will either lose or get the same amount," he said. He added that the urban school trustees were considering a protest meeting, but nothing definite had been decided.

"We are polling all the member board of the urban school trustees in the province and have so far found that where larger vocational schools are concerned, the municipalities are protesting since they will be heavy losers. Toronto will lose $250,000, Hamilton $70,000, London $15,000, and so on down the line. The smaller centres may or may not lose, but they certainly will not benefit."

"It would appear that those places that co-operated with the Provincial Government in establishing vocational schools are being penalized. Our quarrel is not with the equalization of the grants but rather that we will not get the same amount as begen sure—SUSPECT SHOT—fore," said Mr. Spalding.

Here, for example, is the recent experience of Mrs. Mary Oliver, 249 King Street, Ingersoll, Ontario, who said:

"For a long time I suffered with stomach disorders and my entire system became rundown. Although I had a very poor appetite, what little food I did eat gave me awful gas cramps and sour acid risings afterwards. I was subject to sick headaches and dizzy spells with dark spots floating before my eyes. Very bad rheumatic pains finally settled in my limbs, joints and muscles and my nerves were so on edge I couldn't get my proper sleep. I constantly felt

Fear All U.S. Shut Down Within 2 Weeks In Shattering Coal Strike

Demand For Government Seizure Spreads As Cocky Lewis, Miners Triumphant Over Judge's Contempt Ruling

WASHINGTON, March 3—(AP)—A swelling clamor for Federal seizure of the strike-bound coal mines arose today as an unprecedented coal crisis gripped the United States. With the fuel shortage becoming more critical by the hour, government attorneys moved desperately to recover the ground they lost by a Judge's decision Thursday that the United Mine Workers Union was not in contempt of court. The first move scheduled was a request for a full 80-day injunction under the Taft-Hartley Labor Act to replace the temporary no-strike order which 372,000 miners have stubbornly defied. Justice Department lawyers also pushed plans for a swift appeal on the contempt issue.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman will ask Congress today for power to seize and operate the coal mines. The White House announced that Truman will send a message to Congress this afternoon.

There were reports that President Truman was preparing a message for delivery to Congress, asking for short-term power to seize the pits and work them without advantage to their side.

Shattering Results

The effects of the strike, if it continues, were expected to reach shattering proportions by next week. Leaders of industry said that by then major plants will be halting operations on a wholesale scale for lack of coal.

Henry Ford II, head of the Ford Motor Company said "the entire country will be shut down in two weeks" if coal production isn't resumed.

A different picture was drawn by UMW president John L. Lewis. In an interview with Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent of the New York Times, he said that "no strike in the coal fields has ever imperilled public health or safety, this one included."

Enough coal is on hand, Lewis was quoted as saying, to last out the dispute, "if fairly distributed."

Delay Interview

The Times said publication of the Lewis interview was delayed pending a decision in the contempt case against the union for the refusal of its members to heed

Windsor Plant Short Of Coal, Close In 2 Weeks

WINDSOR, March 3—(CP)—Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited said today operations at its big plant here will be suspended in "two or three weeks" unless coal supplies are improved.

Ford of United States said earlier in Detroit its dwindling coal supply would force closing of production there in two weeks.

Today's statement here said:

"Our own (Ford of Canada) coal supply is adequate for five or six weeks but a certain amount will have to be saved for the maintenance of heat and electrical power if we are forced to close down, by other shortages growing out of the coal strikes in the U.S."

10-Day Supply

The company said some of its Canadian suppliers "are now down to as low as 10-days coal supply."

"We are going to maintain production in our plants as long as we possibly can with materials and parts on hand."

Ford of Canada is Windsor's largest auto maker and employs more than 11,000 United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.)

The city's second largest plant, the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited, laid off 3,500 men this week and reduced production because of shortages of parts from the company's parents plant, now strike-bound in Detroit. There is no indication when work will be resumed at Chrysler.

No Theatres Open Sunday

TORONTO, March 3 (CP)—A Toronto paper says today in a newspage story the "new Sunday sport local-option bill planned by The Ontario government will specificially ban horse-racing, dog-racing, open theatres, motor-racing and similar activities on Sunday.

The paper says it learned that the bill will be introduced at the present session of the legislature and will authorize Sunday sports between 1.30 p.m. and 6 p.m., with a "possibility that 1.30 p.m. may be changed to 2 p.m.

The bill, says the paper, will not leave the setting of hours to the municipalities.

It would permit any Ontario municipality to have Sunday sport following a straight majority vote of all citizens over 21.

Fire Truck In Drift Farm Home Burns

KITCHENER, March 3 (CP) — With the Elora fire truck stuck in a snowdrift half a mile away, the frame home of Richard Wilson, burned to the ground during a blizzard Thursday night. The farm home was located three miles northwest of Elora.

Firemen crossed snow-swept fields on foot and succeeded in saving contents of the house. They believe they could have saved the building if they had been able to get the truck through as there was a well on the farm.

The fire was blamed on an overheated stove-pipe.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and five children were forced to spend part of the night in the barn.

Coal Trains Delayed

THOMSON, N.S., March 3 —(CP)—The Canadian National Railways main line between Moncton, N.B., and Halifax, crammed with extra trains rushing coal to Central Canada to relieve a fuel shortage, was blocked today by a rear-end collision between two special coal trains. No one was injured. The engine of one train was derailed. It was estimated it would take wrecking crews at least five or six hours to clear the track.

Fear 12 More Trapped In Montreal Fire

MONTREAL, March 3 (CP) — Firemen cautiously picked their way through ice-coated debris today in search for 12 more possible victims who may have been trapped in the $1,000,000 blaze that swept a block of Montreal's Chinatown early Thursday, claiming at least four lives.

Major George Balcer, field director of a Red Cross field station set up near the scene, announced late Thursday night that 12 persons are missing following a room by room search of the Lotus Garden Hotel where the fire originated. Unofficial sources said the conflagration broke out following on oil furnace explosion.

The search in the gutted buildings was a precarious affair as ice-coated debris and unsupported walls threatened to tumble down on the searchers. An emergency Red Cross crew was checking lists of a score of injured persons in an effort to account for all persons believed to have been in the building when the three-alarm fire broke out.

The flames destroyed practically the whole shot block on the south side of Lagauchetiere Street.

Injured in Leaps

Many of the trapped victims leaped from apartments above the gutted cafe clad in only pyjamas or under clothing. Many were injured in their jumps to the frozen street below and were whisked away to hospital by ambulances.

Sixty-year-old Ling Sue who flung himself from a third-storey window with his clothes ablaze, was the only one of the dead identified.

The bodies of the three other victims were not recovered until six hours later. They were taken to the morgue for identification but late Thursday night the only thing determined was that the bodies were those of a girl, about 16 years of age, a middle-aged woman and a man. The bodies were found in the ruins of the burned out buildings.

Two other cafes, a rooming house and a score of apartments also were wiped out by the fire which raced through the old buildings. Flames shot high into the bitter-cold dawn as hundreds of persons flocked into the congested area of narrow streets in the oldest section of Montreal.

Little five-year-old Donna Chang was rescued when her father pushed her out of a window, shouting: "Somebody save this little girl." Her mother and aunt are believed to have perished in the blaze.

Clergyman Vanishes

PORT PERRY, March 3 — (CP)—The Rev. Thomas Gray, 78-year-old clergyman known familiarly as "Professor Gray," has been missing from his Scugog Island home since Tuesday. Port Perry police reported Thursday. He was intending to visit friends in Toronto, police said but did not reach that city. His wife is a bedridden invalid.

Thought Gun Unloaded Prisoner Says

Byrnes Tells Court Of How Shot Fired Killing Woman

Joseph Byrnes, 26, charged with the manslaughter of Mrs. Helen Kendry, 26, said in Supreme Court the gun which fired the fatal shot went off by accident when he stumbled and fell as he was backing up to return to his bed.

Taking the witness box, Byrnes appeared calm as he spoke quietly in matter of fact tones.

He said he had been shouting for someone to take out Mrs. Weir who had fallen just inside the door of his bedroom. When he saw Joseph Spencer and his wife apparently trying to get Mrs. Weir out, he stepped backwards, with the rifle in one hand. He stumbled over something on the floor, lost his balance and let the gun go. As it was falling he caught the rifle with two hands and it went off. He was the only one to testify today.

Defence counsel, T. J. Carley, KC., said the crown charge of manslaughter rested on a theory supported only by the evidence of Mrs. Weir, who he claimed could not be relied upon to any extent whatever.

He pointed out that Constable Claire McGillen had testified earlier in the trial that Mrs. Weir was "very drunk." Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke testified Mrs. Weir was still drunk two hours after the shooting.

Claims Imagination

Mr. Carley said only Mrs. Weir testified she heard a drawer opening in the bedroom. Mr. Carley argued that Mrs. Weir was a drunk woman who, learning later that Byrnes kept the shells of his gun in a bedroom bureau drawer, filled in the sound of a drawer opening with her imagination.

"You wouldn't hang a dog on the evidence of Mrs. Weir," Mr. Carley exclaimed.

Mr. Carley said although Byrnes was justly angry when Mrs. Weir invaded his bedroom, the anger had subsided before the shot was fired because he saw that his wife and Spencer were attending to Mrs. Weir.

Byrnes honestly believed the gun was unloaded, Mr. Carley said. And an unloaded gun was no more a dangerous thing than a walking stick.

His address to the jury lasted more than an hour. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw spoke to the jury only eight minutes.

What Byrnes believed about the gun being unloaded was immaterial, the Crown Attorney said. What mattered, he said, was that Byrnes took no precautions to find out whether there were any shells in the gun nor put the safety catch on.

Crown Attorney Bradshaw said Mrs. Weir fell in the bedroom

3 Men Dumped In Icy Channel

LITTLE CURRENT, March 3—(CP)—Three Toronto men had a narrow escape from drowning here Thursday when they were dumped into icy water of the channel. They were pulled out by fellow workers and rushed to the nearby lodge where they were staying and treated for shock and exposure.

The men are F. A. Hamilton, Gorrell Sutton and Jack Simmons, all experts with the Ingersoll Rand Company. They were demonstrating a new type of drill when the accident occurred.

A demonstration was planned on a rocky reef where the Canadian Dredge and Dock Company will remove 100,000 cubic yards of rock to deepen and widen the channels so larger ships may pass through. It is part of the $530,000 harbor project being started at this Manitoulin town.

It was eight degrees below zero when the trio were dumped from a boat into 18 feet of water. They were in the icy water for about five minutes before onlookers managed to get ropes to them and haul them out.

Montreal's Vice Squad Boss Ready To Call It Quits

MONTREAL, March 3 (CP)—The man who took over from fiery Pax Plante as Montreal's vice-squad boss said Thursday night he was ready to call it quits if his chief wants it that way.

Assistant Director Ernest Pleau said that if Police Director Albert Langlois goes ahead with his proposed drastic shake-up of the 40-man morality division, he'll be most happy to resign from his duties for some other post. The morality squad always has been a headache for its boss, Pleau said.

Word of the shake-up came when Langlois appeared before the city executive committee to answer questions from councillors on the present internal administration of the city force as a whole. Langlois himself has been under criticism from the committee recently.

The director said that although he believed Pleau was doing his best to keep the city closed to organized vice, he did not think Pleau was capable of handling the job because of a lack of training.

Pleau took over the vice-squad in 1948 after Pacifique (Pax) Plante had been fired for insubordination by city council from his post as assistant director.

Meanwhile, it was rumored that Lieut. Romeo Jarry, direct head of the morality squad under Pleau for nearly a year, is expected to resign today and assume duties elsewhere in the police department.

Director Langlois Thursday night announced that city permits of 15 more cafes would be revoked shortly.

Navy Preparing Train Officers In Dominion

OTTAWA, March 3 (CP)—The navy, fulfilling another recommendation of the Mainguy Commission, said today it will train its future executive branch or general list of officers in Canada rather than partly in Canada and partly in Britain. They make up the bulk of the force's officers.

It has been the practice to give them two years training as cadets in Canadian services colleges and then send them to the Royal Navy for two or three years to round off their training.

It will be future policy to give them four years training as cadets at Royal Military Colege or Royal Roads, the two tri-services cadet colleges, this would bring their cadet training in line with that of future army and air force officers and navy officers of the electrical and supply branches.

The rounding-off training in Britain is generally believed to be the source of what sailors sometimes call "phoney English accents" among some of their officers. The three-man Royal Commission headed by Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy recommended that their training in Canada be lengthened.

Burmese Torture, Kill U.S. Missionary Nurse

RANGOON, March 3 (AP) — United States embassy officials said today that Miss Selma M. Maxville, American missionary nurse whose slaying was announced in Washington Thursday, was tortured by Burmese bandits before she was killed.

The officials said the 67-year-old nurse from Senatobia, Miss., had been beaten with rifle butts when she failed to understand her captors' commands.

Ten natives who tried to rescue Miss Maxville Tuesday died with her—shot down in ambush, two miles from safety.

Report Attlee Stands Pat On Steel Nationalization

LONDON, March 3—(AP)—The government today was reliably reported to have decided against any backdown from its position on nationalization of steel. The newly-appointed Cabinet of Prime Minister Attlee met for a short time today and the well-informed lobby correspondent of the Press Association, who often writes with official guidance, said:

"There is no foundation for the impression that the . . . . Speech (from the throne) to the new parliament on Monday will contain a statement which in effect is a government 'climb down' over iron and steel nationalization."

There had been rumors that the government would stay its hand on iron and steel as well as further nationalization plans in order to avoid a test in the House of Commons, where Labor has only a seven-seat majority.

The law of the last parliament putting steel under state ownership does not go into effect until Oct. 1. The actual take-over is scheduled for next Jan. 1. Before then a new election may be held where the whole issue can be fought all over again.

Rebellion Seethes

The mere report that the government might be planning to backtrack touched off some rebellion in party ranks. It started in Railway Review, a journal of the National Union of Railwaymen and its 460,000 members. J. B. Figgins, NUR general secretary, demanded in a leading article that there be no compromise on iron and steel.

Other storm signals flying in the face of the Labor government included:

1. A country-wide strike vote was ordered among 3,000,000 mem bers of the Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions. They will decide whether to strike or arbitrate demands rejected by the government for a £1 ($3.10) weekly pay increase.

2. The economic committee of the Trades Union Congress called a meeting for next Wednesday to review its attitude toward the Labor's wage-freeze policy. The TUC unions have 8,000,000 members.

Get 300 Calls Hour For Coal

TORONTO, March 3—(CP)—The flood of telephone calls to the emergency coal distribution centre here started 45 minutes before the centre was to open officially and have continued at a rate of more than 300 an hour, officials said today. Additional telephone lines will be installed to handle the calls.

The distribution centre was set up today by the Toronto Coal Dealers' Exchange to assist persons who cannot obtain coal through their own dealer.

Hardest hit was suburban Weston, said E. R. Lockyer, Secretary of the Exchange. Dealers there report "not a pound" of coal. He said 600 tons of pea coal had been trucked from Hamilton today to ease the situation.

Anthracite shipments from the United States, he said, are less than one-third of normal requirements because of the strike there.

Russia Will Allow Five To Leave For United States

LONDON, March 3 — (AP) — Russia has agreed to an American request that five persons be allowed to leave her territory for the United States. She has turned down a request that 33 others be allowed to go.

Russia said that in some other cases she already had granted the permission sought and they had left for the U.S. She did not say how many these were. No names of Americans were given.

The Soviet Union's decisions on the matter were contained in a memorandum Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gave to U.S. Charge d'Affaires Walworth Barbour in Moscow Tuesday.

The Moscow radio and a Moscow dispatch of the Soviet News Agency Tass reported Russia's reply.

The Tass account said: The United States asked Soviet authorities to find 33 persons on Soviet territory whom it considered American citizens and to grant them permission to leave Russia.

The Soviet reply said that of these persons it was found "only one is an American citizen for whom Soviet authorities are ready to grant permission to leave the country."

Thirteen are Soviet citizens, the reply continued. Of these, appropriate Soviet authorities are ready to grant permission to leave the Soviet Union for the United States to four persons whose families permanently reside in the United States.

One person on the U.S. list had no citizenship at all and 23 are citizens of other states the Soviet reply said. Of the latter, 17 have left Russia for Romania, four for Germany, one for Poland and one for Hungary.

Cold Weather Ends Tonight Experts Claim

Warn In Same Breath New Cold Wave In Next Few Days

TORONTO, March 3—(CP)—There's good news—of a sort—for shivering Ontario: the cold snap ends tonight. But everything's comparative.

What the weatherman really means, he said, is that it will be "not quite so cold" tomorrow.

He intimated that coal-short householders will still have lots to worry about and that snuggles will still be rig-of-the-day for them as wears 'em.

And — in a small, not-too-clear voice—he said that, uh, there may be another (sorry!) cold snap in a few more days.

Officially, though, the world is that a lot of the sting will be gone from winter's latest haymaker by midnight tonight.

And about time, too.

Cold Enough

The temperature dipped during the night to 41 below at Sudbury. That's cold enough, the experts said soberly to "freeze the mercury in thermometers or glycerin in automobiles."

Kirkland Lake outdid that. At 6 a.m., at Lake Short Mines, a reading of 50 below was taken. That's unofficial.

You had to go 'way up north, to Eureka Sound, north of the Arctic Circle and 700 miles south of the North Pole, to beat Kirkland Lake. It was 54 below at Eureka.

Throughout most of Northern Ontario, reports of at least 25 below were common. Southern sections of the province were a few chilly steps closer to zero.

Kingston teeth chattered to the tune of a 20-below minimum, coldest this winter in the Eastern Ontario city.

Plows Get Chance

Winds were light today in most sections, giving snowplows a chance to clear roads that have been impassable for days.

Taxi Drivers Nab 2 Suspects

TORONTO, March 3 —(CP)—The suspicions of a taxi driver, his short-wave radio and a gathering of the clan of drivers, brought about the capture of two men Thursday night. When searched by police the men had hats identified as owned by Toronto Maple Leaf hockey players, Sid Smith and Cal Gardner.

David Baxter, 27, and Norman Brooks, 28, were charged with stealing the hats from a downtown hotel. Baxter was charged also with carrying a concealed weapon—an empty beer bottle.

After being told to drive the men to Jarvis Street after midnight, driver Gilbert Brooks became suspicious, called another driver who gave the alarm over the cab's short-wave radio. In a few minutes four cars and their drivers were around the cab and held the men until police arrived.

Doctor Offers To Have Air Injection In Veins

BALTIMORE, March 3 (AP) — A Baltimore doctor has offered to have 40 cubic centimetres of air injected into his veins in behalf of the defence of the New Hampshire "mercy killing" trial.

Forty cubic centimetres is the amount allegedly injected into the veins of a Manchester, N.H. cancer victim for whose death Dr. Herman N. Sander now is being tried. The defence will contend, however, that no more than 28 CCs were given in a series of "shots."

Dr. Harry M. Robinson, professor of dermatology at the University of Maryland and instructor of syphilogy at Johns Hopkins Medical School, said Thursday he has injected "40 or more" centimetres of air into the veins of many patients without any harmful effects.

Dr. Robinson's offer stipulated that his son, also a physician, give the injection and that it be done in Baltimore.

Demand Strachey Ousted As War Minister Because Of Past Red Views

Beaverbrook Papers Charge Minister Has Never Repudiated Strongly-Held Communist Ideas Of 1930's

LONDON, March 3—(AP)—Lord Beaverbrook's anti-labor newspapers today continued to demand the ouster of John Strachey from his new post as War Minister despite a stiff government denial that he ever was a Communist. Both Thursday's tabloid Evening Standard and this morning's Daily Express played up some of Strachey's old pro-Communist statements. The Standard said Strachey, named War Minister this week, "remains an avowed Communist," and "has never publicly repudiated his belief in Communism."

A quick reply from Prime Minister Attlee's official residence at 10 Downing Street called the charges "disgraceful." The statement declared that Strachey "has in the fullest sense been publicly identified with the Labor party's known attitude of opposition to the Communist party and its doctrines."

The Beaverbrook newspapers pressed their demands at a time when the Labor government was already badly weakened after last week's general elections. Lord Beaverbrook is a close friend of Conservative Leader Winston Churchill.

Quote Statements

Quoting pro-Communist statements from two books published by Strachey in 1932 and 1936, the Express editorial said:

"In view of his (Strachey's) past sympathies, it is highly undesirable that he should be responsible for Britain's counter-espionage section."

"He will not command sufficient public confidence in that position," the editorial continued. "The prime minister should therefore give recognition to this by removing Mr. Strachey from the War Ministry forthwith."

This was a stronger declaration than the earlier Standard editorial, which said merely that "strong pressure" would be brought for Strachey's dismissal from the job Attlee appointed him to two days ago. Strachey was food minister in the previous Labor government.

Book Passages

But the Express did not reiterate the Standard's charges that Strachey was an avowed Communist. Its story merely quoted the War Minister's book, "The Coming Struggle for Power," published in 1932, and "Theory and Practice of Socialism" published in 1936.

In the first book Strachey wrote: "The coming of Communism can alone render our problems soluble. A working-class dictatorship can alone open the way to Communism . . ."

The Express then said: "Although the War Secretary has never publicly disavowed these statements he may have outlived them."

Strachey was arrested by immigration agents in the United States in 1935, accused of declaring on a lecture tour that he was a Communist. He told the press he was not a Communist. Immigration authorities dropped the charges of entering the U.S. by uttering false statements when Strachey sailed for Britain on schedule.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

SKATERS AT ARENA

Figure skaters drew the frostiest night of the winter at the Park St. arena Thursday. They were followed by industrial league games from 9 till 11 o'clock. It was one night the ice-making plant was not needed. In fact there has been quite a stretch of reinforcing weather lately.

SKIING TOPS

Excellent to good skiing is predicted by local skiers for the weekend. There is a good base with several inches of light snow on all hills. Some slopes are slightly wind-blown. J. D. Cumming of the Belmont Ski Club at Havelock reports 12 inches of snow with four inches fresh. It will be operating over the weekend.

ACCEPTS CALL

The Rev. Dr. James D. Smart former minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough and since 1945 with the Board of Religous Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States has completed his five years assignment and accepted a call to the Rosedale Presbyterian Church, Toronto.

JAMES DUTTON HONORED

James Dutton, Sr., active in civic affairs for the past 20 years, was made honorary member of the Chamber of Commerce for 1950 at the Chamber's quarterly dinner Thursday night. The script presented to him said in part: "In grateful recognition of the unstinted and invaluable services rendered to this community . . . this certificate is an evidence of appreciation of his loyal, faithful and unselfish efforts in the interests of Peterborough."

the back-to-work order issued by Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech Feb. 11.

The judge ruled that federal attorneys had not proven its case that the union was responsible for defiance of the order.

Lewis and the operators went back to their court-ordered contract negotiations following Judge Keech's ruling, and the mine owners said later that Lewis was "more confident and cocky" than ever.

Across the United States unofficial estimates put the total of men made idle by the strike at close to 600,000—the 372,000 miners plus some 225,0000 who have been laid off in related fields of employment such as railroads.

The miners themselves were reported suffering—bitterly in some cases—from their long layoff.

However, their union's victory in the contempt of court proceedings cheered them. Ed Milewski of Library, Pa., offered a typical miner comment:

"It's great news and should mean the strike will be over soon. But I bet the miners still won't work without a contract."

Cut Service

Despite the increasingly critical situation, users of electricity manufactured in plants which rely on coal—are not going along fully with conservation pleas.

The situation is so serious in New York State that coal administrator Bertram Tallamy has ordered electrical service cut off for persistent violators of "brown-outs" on electrical advertising displays. The present brownout limits show windows and advertising displays to electric bulbs of not more than 200 watts.

Governor James H. Duff proclaimed a state of emergency in the big coal producing state of Pennsylvania.

The Governor ordered State Police Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm to provide as many troopers as necessary to prevent further dumping of coal from trucks on highways and other violence.

Small Mining Stocks Have Heavy Trading

TORONTO, March 3 (CP)—A few small mining stocks featured heavy trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrial and gold stocks climbed slightly higher in the brisk dealings while Base Metals and Western Oils weakened.

Volume for the first three hours was 1,064,000 shares.

Three lower-priced gold stocks accounted for more than half of the turnover. Mosher Long Lac turned heavily for a four-cent gain at 50 cents. Hard Rock Gold Mines rose 41 cents, up six cents. Both mines have property in the Little Long Lac district, Northwestern Ontario. Louvicourt Goldfield Corp. chalked up a small advance. The property is in the Val d'Or district, Northern Quebec.

Brazilian Traction continued a brisk trader in Industrials for a gain of ½ to 21¾. Hiram Walker's bounded upwards for a gain of 1¼ at 41¼ following news that the company was redeeming its funded debt.

Thought Gun

because she fainted from fright. He said she heard or saw something which frightened her enough to cause her to faint.

Mr. Bradshaw said in bringing out the gun, Byrnes was using more force to eject his visitors than was reasonable. That constituted an assault in the eyes of the law. And an assault followed by death was manslaughter.

Byrnes On Stand

Joseph Byrnes taking the witness box today to defend himself said he had not worked Saturday, the day before the shooting. After playing hockey early in the morning he stayed at home at 520 Hamilton St. until about three p.m. when he went downtown and there met Danny McGregor at a downtown hotel where they had one or two beers.

He, McGregor and William Crow bought two large cases of beer.

At home before and after supper they had about three pints of beer each.

They went to a beverage room downtown, had a pint of beer, and moved on to another hotel beverage room after dropping into McGregor's home. At this point Crow left them.

At Third Beverage Room

At the second hotel Byrnes said he had a glass of beer. Going to a third hotel, he and McGregor met Vincent Garvey, Emmett O'Donoghue and Joseph Spencer.

He drank part of a pint of beer and went into the ladies' beverage room meeting Mrs. Cecelia Weir and Mrs. Mildred O'Toole.

Outside the hotel, he met Spencer, O'Donoghue and Garvey and the whole party went to Byrnes' home.

Party Goes On

They all sat down and had a pint of beer before Spencer, O'Donoghue and Garvey left.

He didn't see Harold "Huck" Frost come into the house. A short time late Mrs. Kendry joined the party and there was dancing to radio music and singing.

He sat at the east end of the chesterfield and went to sleep until McGregor woke him. This made him angry and he threw a tricycle at McGregor who ducked and it hit his wife.

Then he started fighting with McGregor until Spencer, Garvey and O'Donoghue came in and broke it up.

He said Frost gave him one drink of rye whiskey when Frost first came in. After his wife left for the doctor, he had his last half pint of beer.

He testified he was on friendly terms with everyone at the party. After his wife returned from the doctor she sat in a chair and he sat beside her.

His wife asked them all to leave twice; Byrnes repeated the request once.

"I got up, went downstairs and took four fuses out of the fuse-box," Byrnes said.

"I went into the bedroom and got the rifle in the closet," Byrnes said.

For All To See

"I brought it out so everyone could see it." He showed how he held the rifle with two hands at arms' length in front of him pointing toward the kitchen.

"I said, 'Go now'!" Byrnes testified.

He said he took off his shirt when he went into the bedroom and got the gun.

He received no reply to his demand.

He then went again into his bedroom took off his pants, shoes and socks, put the gun under the bed and got into bed.

After about 10 minutes, Mrs. Weir came in.

He said he got up, picked up the gun and said "Get her out of here!" three or four times.

He said Mrs. Weir stumbled and fell and his wife and Spencer came in. Byrnes was standing beside his bed.

He showed the court how he was holding the gun with his right hand at arm's length pointing toward the south wall of the bedroom.

He stood in the witness box with the gun in his right hand pointing toward the floor, but he raised the barrel when he showed how he was holding the gun in the bedroom.

"I Stumbled"

"When I saw my wife and Spencer there, I was going back to bed, backing up. I stumbled. I lost my balance, let go of the gun, then grabbed it with both hands as it was falling and the gun went off," Byrnes said.

He said he had stumbled over his shoes.

He re-enacted the scene to the court.

"I sat down on the bed. I was surprised it went off."

Byrnes said he had cleaned the gun a week before and shellacked the stock Saturday night.

The following Sunday he had tested the working of the gun by putting shells in it while McGregor was with him.

He said he ejected the shells with the bolt later.

"I did not know the gun was loaded," he said.

"I would have sworn the gun was not loaded, sir," Brynes said.

He said he had not put a shell in the gun at any time that night, and had not opened the bureau drawer at any time."

When he was sitting on the bed in the bedroom he heard someone say something about "She's hit."

Said He Was Sorry

He told Frost he was sorry and the police came.

He gave the gun to Constable Dalton.

Crown Attorney Bradshaw asked Byrnes to take the gun in his right hand and raise the barrel with his right hand. Byrnes carried out the demonstration.

Byrnes said he kept the shells for the gun in the bedroom bureau.

"I wasn't tight at all, sir," Byrnes said in answer to a question by Mr. Bradshaw.

"Why didn't you put the gun back in the closet?" Mr. Bradshaw asked Byrnes.

"I just never thought of it," Byrnes answered.

He said he had never put the gun under his bed before, but denied he had put it there in case he had to use it again.

What Safety Precautions

Referring to his navy training Crown Attorney Bradshaw asked Byrnes if he had been trained always to clear a rifle. Brynes said he had training only in handling bigger guns.

"I thought if they saw the gun, they would go," Byrnes said.

Byrnes said he had not tried the bolt to make sure there were no shells in the gun, nor made sure the safety catch was on.

"I made the precaution of not pointing it at anybody," Byrnes stated.

Under cross questioning by Crown Attorney Bradshaw, Mrs. Byrnes admitted she had told police the morning of the shooting Mrs. Weir had said to her after Byrnes had appeared with the gun, "We'll stay here until he cools off." In the statement Mrs. Byrnes said Mrs. Weir said to her she wouldn't leave her alone with Byrnes.

Mrs. Byrnes said both in the statement to police and in court Thursday that she wasn't afraid to stay with her husband.

"And he was angry," Crown Attorney Bradshaw commented.

"Well, I wouldn't say he was very angry," Mrs. Byrnes answered.

She admitted she told police she felt the breeze from the bullet going past her face, but said Thursday she had just been excited at the time.

Gun In Bedroom

Mrs. Byrnes told the court the gun had been in the bedroom closet, not in the basement. She said the gun had been hanging in the basement a week before the shooting when McGregor went with her husband to examine the gun, because Byrnes had varnished it a day or two before.

She declared she saw her husband in the living room doorway with the gun in his hands at arm's length in front of him pointing toward the kitchen. She admitted telling the police Byrnes had been working the bolt of the gun, but said in court the noise she had heard was not as loud as that made when Crown Attorney Bradshaw worked the bolt in court.

When Byrnes had said something to the effect, "I asked you to go. Now will you go," she said he turned back and went into the bedroom. She said Mrs. Weir went immediately him "trying to get him the gun down."

About four minutes later, she went herself to the bedroom doorway. She tried to lift up Mrs. Weir by the shoulders. It was another four minutes before she heard the gun go off, she stated.

At the report of the gun, she ran to her two-and-a-half-year-old child in his crib in the bedroom and ran out the back door with him in her arms. She said she did not see her husband in the bedroom, but she was thinking only of her child.

Jack Jones, brother of the victim, Mrs. Kenrdy, and his wife lived in a two room upstairs apartment in the Byrnes home. Mrs. Kendry had gone into the Byrnes home to visit her brother and stayed after her visit and joined the party.

Both said they heard quite a bit of noise from the party down stairs. While they were lying in bed, they both said, they heard Byrnes say, referring to his wife who had just gone to the doctor's "I don't care if I killed her or not. As far as I'm concerned, you can take her over to the canal and drown her. All I care for is my kid."

Mrs. Jones said she had heard someone say "Take Mary to a doctor." Then another voice said "Joe, I'm ashamed of you. I'm ashamed of you."

Told To Get Out

A short time later she heard Byrnes tell the guests to get out and then shortly say, "I'm sorry, come on back in."

Later again, she heard someone say "She's dying. She's dying. Get an ambulance."

Dr. C. B. Waite, provincial pathologist for this district, who performed the post mortem, testified he thought Mrs. Kendry would have lived only a matter of minutes after she was hit. He said the main blood vessel from the heart which travelled along the spine had been torn. He said no medical aid could have kept her alive.

Mrs. Edward (Mildred) O'Toole, 665 Gilchrist St., testified she and Mrs. Robert R. (Cecelia) Weir of 634 Park St. N., had about four or five glasses of beer in a downtown hotel before going to the Byrnes home about 11:30 p.m.

Later in the evening when Byrnes appeared at the door with the gun in his hands, Mrs. O'Toole said she heard him say, "Now will you get out?"

She heard a voice—identified by Mrs. Byrnes as that of Mrs. Weir—say "You know you're only fooling Joe," and something about the gun not being loaded.

Mrs. O'Toole said she was just walking away from Frost and Mrs. Kendry when the shot was fired and she ran the rest of the way out the front door of the house.

Frost told the court he remembered little of what happened at the party mostly because he was drunk. He said just before the fatal shot was fired, Mrs. Kendry got up out of the chesterfield chair in which she had been sitting and took a step or two away from it and then turned to the north facing the wall separating the living room and the bedroom. Frost stepped immediately behind her.

When the shot roared out, he heard Mrs. Kendry say "Oh Huck!" and start to fall to the floor.

He laid her down on the floor. He had felt a stinging on his stomach, but paid no attention to it until later when he found he had a bruise two inches in diameter. Apparently the slug from the gun had gone completely through Mrs. Kendry and hit him in the stomach, but failed to pierce his clothes.

Mrs. Weir said she went into the bedroom where Byrnes had gone because she heard a drawer open or close. She said Byrnes was standing dressed in his underwear. She said to him Don't point the gun at anybody, Joe. We're all leaving.

Fell To Floor

She then heard a click which frightened her and she fell to the floor of the bedroom on her back. She did not hear the shot, but remembered getting up when everything was quiet.

Was there any ill will between you and Joe Byrnes? Mr. Carley asked Mrs. Weir.

Not to my knowledge, she replied.

Am I right in saying at no time during the course of the whole evening did you see Joe Byrnes point the gun at any person?" Mr. Carley queried.

Not any person. I did not, Mrs. Weir answered.

None of the witnesses who had been at the party said they heard Byrnes speak ill of his wife or threaten her in any way. They all said they heard Byrnes tell his wife he was sorry when she returned from the doctor after having her cut hand stitched up. The cut was inflicted when she put up her hand to protect herself from the flying tricycle thrown by Byrnes at Danny McGregor.

Ont. Hog Producers Decide To Start Own Marketing

TORONTO, March 3—(CP)—The Ontario Hog Producers Association decided Thursday to go into the marketing business. A committee was instructed at the Association's annual meeting to start work on organization of machinery to place control of pork prices in their own hands. The decision, passed in resolution form, is designed also to keep surpluses off the market, thereby ensuring themselves highest prices for their products.

George Johnson of Owen Sound said farmers now are at the mercy of packers. Less than 10 per cent of Ontario hogs are sold on the open market today and the remainder are "dumped" direct to the packers, he said.

Big Loss

Dr. J. E. Lattimer, former Economics Department head at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne De Bellevue, Que., told the convention that price ceilings and post-war contracts have meant $640,000,000 loss for farmers in the last 10 years.

In other resolutions it requested a 36-cent minimum for Wiltshire sides at seaboard and raised the levy from two to five cents on each hog sold to finance the Association.

The swine producers approved a resolution which calls for each county group to send three delegates to Ottawa, along with some representatives of the Provincial organization. They would interview members of parliament to urge support for the demand that the floor price for Wiltshire sides be restored to 36 cents a pound from the present minimum of 32½ cents.

Macdonnell Asks Ottawa Lift Currency Curbs

OTTAWA, March 3 (CP)—Two Progressive Conservative members of parliament asked the government in the Commons Thursday to take the lead in two fields—defence and economics.

Howard Green, lawyer-member for Vancouver-Quadra and a veteran of the First World War, urged the government to take the lead in bringing the nations of the Pacific together in a Pacific defence pact similar to the North Atlantic Treaty.

J. M. Macdonnell, chief financial critic for the official opposition and member for Toronto Greenwood, called on the government to head the Western nations in ditching currency restrictions.

The suggestions of the two speakers were among many heard during continued debate on the Speech from the Throne.

P. E. Gagnon (Ind.—Chicoutimi) urged the government to stop immigration, which he blamed for Canada's current unemployment situation.

Stifling Investment

On the economic front, Mr. Macdonnell, former president of the National Trust Company, said that foreign-exchange restrictions are stifling investment and free trade.

He urged Finance Minister Abbott to exercise a "bold" stroke and free the Canadian dollar from all control.

Suggests Group To Handle Rural Phones

TORONTO, March 3 — (CP)— A public telephone commission similar to the Ontario Hydro Power Commission to meet the growing demand for rural telephone services was advocated on Thursday by R. A. McEwing, the Liberal member of the Legislature for Wellington North.

Mr. McEwing was one of four speakers in the continued debate on the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. Others were Eamon Park (CCF-Toronto Dovercourt), O. F. Villeneuve (PC-Glengarry) and J. M. Newman (Lib.-Lab.-Rainy River).

Thomas L. Pryde (PC-Durham) wil be first speaker when the debate is resumed today.

Mr. McEwing said that many rural telephone companies originally intended to serve a small group of farmers no longer could meet the increased demand for service. Much of the companies' equipment was obsolete, although other material was new.

No Investors

One company in Wellington County last year installed 15 miles of new lines. But investors could not be persuaded to invest in companies that had paid no interest for a number of years.

Mr. McEwing, who represents a farming constituency, referred to other problems of rural areas. All school buses should be clearly marked and no vehicle should be allowed to pass them while pupils are alighting, he said.

Butter producers should put on an advertising campaign similar to that staged by margarine producers to promote the sale of their product. There was a "tremendous" sale of margarine which "can't help but hurt the farmer."

Mr. Park charged the Canadian Communist Party was exploiting the unemployed by telling them that unemployment was caused by the influx of displaced persons from Europe.

"That is an absolute lie," said J. B. Salzberg (Lab.-Prog.-Toronto St. Andrew). He withdrew the remark at the insistence of Mr. Park.

Consumers Bureau

Mr. Park suggested establishment of a consumers bureau to "throw the white light of publicity on alleged profiteering by meat packers. It could also advise consumers about purchases, promote sale of domestic products and advise farmers about the trend of consumer buying habits.

Mr. Villeneuve said the Federal Government should revise

Fighter Pilot's Skill Saves 4 Passengers

ROUYN, Que., March 3—Skill of a former night-fighter saved four passengers in a Norseman aircraft Thursday when the fuel line froze at 23 degrees below zero five minutes after the plane had taken off.

Pilot Bill L'Abbe managed to avoid telephone wires by an abrupt stall, and landed the plane on Noranda Lake.

Douglas Baird, Toronto, consulting geologist; Jack Golden, Bracebridge; Mike Lunge, Kirkland Lake, and Cecil Golorrich, Kirkland Lake prospectors, were the passengers.

After avoiding the wires, the aircraft landed nose first in heavy snow. The passengers, though severely shaken, avoided injuries. Mr. Baird was en route to Webster Lake to carry out an inspection of the Tanmount Larder Co., property in Tanner Township, 39 miles west of Rouyn.

$3,000,000 Subsidy To Aid Merchant Fleet

OTTAWA, March 3 (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier said Thursday in the Commons that an item has been placed in the 1950-51 estimates of expenditures to cover payment of a one-year $3,000,000 subsidy to the Canadian deepsea merchant fleet.

The government announced last fall that it plans to pay a subsidy for one year to help keep some 40 Canadian ships in operation pending establishment of an allied shipping pool. The Canadian shipping industry was hit hard by devaluation of the pound and by a decrease in overseas exports.

It was announced recently that many Canadian ships will transfer to United Kingdom registry and operate from the UK.

Russians Being Given Lesson In FBI Spy Hunting System

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK— With no more effort than it takes to sit in court and listen, the Russians are learning these days about how the Federal Bureau of Investigation hunts spies — Russian or otherwise.

What use do G-men make of wire-tapping?

What sort of secret records does the FBI keep on spy suspects?

How much does the FBI know about the activities of known or suspected Soviet agents in the United States?

Full or partial answers to these and many other questions of interest to the Russian secret police are given almost daily in the spy conspiracy trial of Judith Coplon and Valentin A. Gubitchev.

How valuable is this information to Russians?

"We have no comment on that matter at this time," said the FBI supervising agent, William Whelan.

Justice Department officials said the Russians are learning some things, but not many that they couldn't have guessed. These officials said the Russians themselves know all about wire-tapping, street-trailing and other devices described by FBI men.

On Conspiracy Charge

Miss Coplon, a former Justice Department employee and Gubitchev, a Soviet engineer formerly employed by the United Nations are accused of conspiring here to transit American secrets to Russia.

The disclosures of how the FBI operates have been going on since Miss Coplon's Washington trial, in which she was convicted of stealing secrets to aid Russia. Her appeal on that conviction is pending during her current conspiracy trial.

At one point in that trial, last summer, the government threatened to withdraw its charges against the former government girl rather than reveal some of its secret information.

But the information went into the record. And much more information has gone into the record—i.e., become available to the Russians or anyone else — in seven weeks of pre-trial hearings and five weeks of actual trial in the present case.

Anyone can see it happen daily in the big, dimly-lit courtroom on Foley Square.

Blonde little Gubitchev, formerly a Soviet diplomat, sits at the defence table—sometimes yawning, sometimes making quiet jokes. Beside him sits a man straight from the Soviet Embassy — Attache Yuri Novikov. Novikov listens attentively.

MRS. EMMA TYRON MOIR, "Grand Old Lady" of the Eastern Townships, rose at 6:30, had breakfast, cleaned her two rooms, read a portion of the Bible and then settled down to knit mittens. Later in the day, Mrs. Moir will read her newspaper and, perhaps, reply to the many letters and telegrams she received on her 106th birthday. As in previous years, the celebration was a quiet one. The local press was received in the morning, friends in the afternoon.

Tourists Spoil Quaint Student Cafe

BRUSSELS, March 3 (Reuters) Brussels University students are staging a minor revolt against tourists invading their favorite 10-cent beer house and "spoiling the atmosphere."

Because of the invasion the beer house—"Le Nez Qui Pend" (The Hanging Nose)—is threatening to become "terribly high falootin," according to their spokesman, Leon Lombard, 19-year-old law student.

Situated just off the bright neon-lit centre of Brussels' uptown night life, there is nothing plush about the "Nose"—yet. to reach the "Nose" the visitor has to climb a flight of stone steps leading off the boulevard into a dimly-lit narrow street.

The only outward sign of its existence is a huge, grinning, grotesque face with an outsize nose, mounted high on the wall. The entrance is a plain wooden door opening on six rickety wooden steps which lead down to the cellar night club.

Normally, the atmosphere inside is thicker than a London fog, due to the smoke of dozens of cigarettes made of the home-grown "black" tobacco preferred by most Belgian students.

The "Nose" consists of one large room packed with large, solid wooden tables and long wooden benches.

The walls are bare red bricks. The floor is stone. The only ventilation comes from a huge hole chipped in one of the walls, which leads off to the pavement somewhere above.

A series of notices pasted around the bare brick walls contain hints that anything is liable to happen in this students' den. One announces that bottles of stain remover can be bought at the bar — "It even takes off beer stains" the notice adds. A second forbids more than two couples to dance on a table at the same time.

With its franzied, yet carefree, atmosphere, the "Nose" is becoming most popular with tourists.

"Naturally, we are not impolite when they come, but the 'Nose' is our haven," says the student spokesman. "The tourists can afford to go elsewhere. We cannot. This is the only place where we can relax and sip our beer at five francs (about 10 cents) a glass."

Homemaker Club Quilts For Needy

ROSENEATH, March 3—ENS) —Quilting a warm flannelette quilt to be donated to a needy family on the reserve, was the main item of business at the March meeting of Alderville Homemakers' Club.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. John Smoke on Wednesday, and the president, Mrs. Alfred Simpson, presided.

The quilt top had been previously pieced by members of the club and brought to the meeting. Members put it in quilting frames and completed it in the afternoon.

Several pairs of hospital pyjamas were turned in, having been made by the members since the last meeting held in February.

Plans were made for the April meeting.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

Says Red China Greatest Threat

OTTAWA, March 3 (CP) — Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) said Thursday in the Commons that with China now in Russian hands Canada is in greater danger than any other country in the world.

Mr. Green said he felt that if "trouble" comes it will be in the north and not in the South Pacific.

"Members of parliament must be realistic about the situation today," said Mr. Green. "The shortest and easiest road to the heart of democracy is across the Bering Strait through Alaska, Northern Canada and on to the United States."

It behoved Canada to bring the nations of the Pacific together.

"I suggest this is a time of great uncertainty for every Canadian," he said. "I think a strong lead from parliament would be helpful."

He said he was disappointed that External Affairs Minister Pearon, in his recent report on the Commonwealth conference at Ceylon had taken the attitude that Canada was a dollar country attending a sterling conference.

No Statement.

Mr. Pearson did not say whether Canada would serve on the consultative committee established at the conference. In fact, the minister had stated that the committee would be of little value unless the United States joined as well.

He had "damned" the suggestion of the committee "with faint praise". That attitude was not in line with the grave menace to Canada in the Pacific.

Mr. Green said he hoped that Mr. Pearson would announce that Canada is advocating a Pacific pact similar to the Atlantic pact.

"I suggest that Canada's position is so dangerous under existing conditions that we should advocate a Pacific Pact," Said Mr. Green.

He urged that parliament enact legislation to protect Canadian resources and ensure that they are not sold out to the United States.

He mentioned specifically oil, natural gas, iron ore and uranium. They could become the pillar on which Canadians could build a great nation.

Canada needed a national policy to protect those resources. Without such a policy, the resources would go to the Americans, who were the people putting up most of the money for their development.

Lights For Riverside Ball If Club Puts Up $15,000

A rough agreement was made between the senior baseball club and the special committee of the Recreation Commission to look into the baseball lighting for Peterborough. The committee of chairman said that they would which Gordon Armstrong is recommend that lights for night baseball be placed in Riverside Park providing that (1) the senior baseball club agreed to supervise minor baseball in the city and (2) the club raises $15,000 in cash or pledges to help pay for the lights.

The first item was readily agreed to by the club. On the second they will receive some help from the committee. As soon as the money is obtained, committee will make the recommendation. The report was to be made at the next Recreation Commission meeting but those present wished a special meeting called if the money was raised before that date.

Riverside Agreed Site

All present at the meeting agreed that Riverside Park should be the site for the baseball park. Eddie Murphy, manager of the Peterborough Outboard Marines, said that baseball has been played there for the past 25 or 30 years. He added that all clubs agree that it is one of the most picturesque parks in the district.

His Honor Mayor M. J. Swanston agreed with Mr. Murphy but said for economic reasons another situation might be better, the Exhibition Grounds.

The problem of interference with the softball was dealt with lightly. Most agreed that there are two different crowds for each sport and that lights for hardball would benefit softball as well.

$35,000 Cost

Two estimates were received for the cost of the lights, both about $35,000. The operating costs were estimated by Mr. Armstrong at $250 a month. The equipment would consist of 10 poles each 90 feet high, costing about $200 each, and 30 lights per pole.

Mr. Murphy explained that the club understood the cost to be $30,000 at the first meeting. He said that they agreed to raise $15,000 through the club executive and the Recreation Commission. He added that they were still willing to do that.

He explained that the club has already entered the Toronto Major League which consists of three Toronto teams, one New Toronto, Oshawa and Peterborough team. This league would give each club 20 home games. Besides these games he said 10 exhibition games could be arranged with the well-heeled Inter-County League teams.

The group worked out a rough budget of the club. Added to the club's expenses for last year $6,500 were two items: on additional $2,000 for travelling and $5,000 for players. With the cost of operating the lights the total expenditure of the club was set at $15,000.

The committee, taking 1,000 as the smallest crowd which the lights would attract,estimated that by splitting the gate receipts (50c a person) the $20,000 could be paid back in six to eight years.

Those who attended the meeting were: Alex Kay, Armar Butcher, Lloyd Grose, Eddie Murphy, Hurrell Dodds, Cy Whatley, Wilfred Langan, Alex Sinclair, Clare Collins, Mayor Swanston, Mr. Armstrong.

Three Small Children Escape Fiery Death

METCALFE, March 3 (CP)— Three small children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frechette escaped being burned to death Thursday when fire destroyed their farmhouse near here.

Six other children were at school at the time of the fire and the father was working at a nearby farm.

Metcalfe is about 20 miles south of Ottawa.

Economists Blaming US For Decline Trade Surplus

OTTAWA, March 3 (CP) — Government economists Thursday placed the blame for a decline in Canada's international trading surplus at the doorstep of the United States.

Analyzing foreign trade, the economists said that the drop in the 1949 favorable balance of trade "was almost entirely caused by a sharp increase in the unfavorable balance with the United States."

Their views were set out in the February issue of the Canadian Statistical Review, a 128-page document prepared by the Bureau of Statistics.

Ironically, while the United States tended to cut down Canada's trading surplus, the United Kingdom—unable to buy as much as she would like in Canada because of a dollar shortage—actually tended to bolster that surplus. The amount of surplus or deficit is looked on as a measure of a country's international trading health.

Canada's surplus last year slipped to $261,300,000, a sharp drop from the 1948 balance of exports over imports of $473,100,000.

Shipments to foreign countries totalled $3,022,500,000, down about $90,000,000 from 1948. Imports reached $2,761,200,000, up more than $100,000,000 from the previous year.

The surplus with Britain increased from $389,200,000 in 1948 to $401,800,000 in 1949, "despite British efforts to narrow the gap between sales to and purchases from Canada."

New School Grants Strike Peterborough

A fortnight ago the Minister of Education of Ontario, the Honourable Dana Porter, announced a new system of school grants. Under it, provincial grants will increase this year by $4,500,000, so the Department states. The new system was at first hailed, even in the city of Toronto, as a good step forward. Now that school boards and municipal officials have had the details and time to study the new system, there is a marked coolness toward it, and even protest.

* * *

The additional amount of money being made available does not come entirely as a result of a more generous system of grants. Under the old system there would have been a substantial increase anyway, because of increased school populations, buildings and operational costs and the like, on which they were based. The total increase may perhaps be considered no real increase over what might ordinarily have been expected. An example is to be found in Peterborough. The city Board of Education calculates that under the old system of grants, there would have been an automatic increase in the Provincial contributions of nearly $10,000. Now, not only will Peterborough not have that increase; it will actually lose another ten thousand. So the new system of grants is to cost the city's taxpayers this year $20,000. That is one reason why the Board of Education has had to ask the City Council for more money.

* * *

The new system may result in easing the burden on small municipalities, and encourage rural school boards to pay adequate salaries to attract and keep good teachers. The grants to places of small population and low assessment are very generous. However, cities like Peterborough are adversely affected in their financing of the schools. This comes in a year when their costs are mounting anyway. It is a jolt that the new Provincial grants will be smaller than were anticipated under the former system. The Peterborough Board of Education is having to ask the Council to provide $480,935 out of 1950 taxes; the biggest demand it has yet had to make, an increase over last year of $49,749.

* * *

	1949	1950
For Public Schools	$113,930	$113,223
Collegiate Academic	18,364	33,725
Collegiate Vocational	63,176	36,713

Total loss in provincial grants: $10,813. (Under the old system there would have been an increase of nearly $10,000).

* * *

It is the vocational side of the high school program which is hardest hit; thus the Department, through manipulation of its grant stystem, seems to be discouraging vocational schools. If that is its policy, we suggest that it should take another way of announcing and enforcing it; and not pounce while Boards of Education already have heavy commitments in vocational school fabrics and equipment.

* * *

One of the worst features of the new system is that it is suddenly new. How can municipalities plan the financing of their schools on any long-term basis when the system of grants on which they are so dependent is constantly being changed? This is not the first time in recent years that the Department of Education has shifted its bases. This is indicated by the provincial grants received on account of the Collegiate academic and the Collegiate vocational school in the last three years, with the estimate of this year's grants:

	Academic	Vocational	Total
1947	$20,863	$51,230	$72,093
1948	38,102	53,445	86,547
1949	18,364	63,176	81,540
1950	33,725	36,713	70,438

There is no recognizable pattern on which Boards may base their estimates. There is too much vacillation at the head offices of the Department of Education. It can be seen, as far as Peterborough and other cities are concerned, that two actions are desirable for the Department: to arrive at a system of grants and give it some permanency, and to provide more generously for the larger communities.

Our Out-Of-Date Universities

We read with interest but not, alas, with much surprise, that a student production of Jean Paul Sartre's play No Exit has been banned at the University of Toronto. The Dean of University College fears that the play is of an immoral tendency, although he does not appear to have read it.

We have read No Exit and we can assure anyone who is interested that it is an extremely moral play, for in it vice is most horribly punished. It is about two women and a man who find themselves together in a room, after death; in life their destinies have been linked, and they have all three been, in one way or another, detestable people; they accuse, revile and whine for a time, and then seek to escape from one another, but that is impossible; they are in hell, and their eternal punishment is to fight over again the useless battles, and re-live the unworthy emotions, which they created when alive. Could anything be more moral in its tendency?

Jean Paul Sartre is an important modern writer. To try to keep his work from university students is to deny them one of the things for which they go to a university—ideas. To suggest that they may be corrupted by a work of art is to show ignorance of the nature of art, and also of the intellectual sinew of young Canadians. Again we repeat that it is depressing, but not surprising, that this should have happened.

Our Canadian universities frequently give evidence, however, that they are fully determined that government by old women, of old women, for old women, shall not perish from the earth.

Asiatic Axis

The recently-signed Sino-Russian Treaty, on which we have already commented in these column, is an obvious attempt to form a Moscow-Peking axis and to establish Communist domination over the Asiatic world. It will not all be plain sailing, even if the rest of Asia should ride along on the Communist crest, for China and Russia have conflicting and overlapping interests. That the treaty took two months to negotiate shows that even if the new axis is moulded, it will not be firmly and easily set.

We reproduce on this page a Bip Pares map which gives a graphic outline of the areas of conflict. In three great regions—Sinkiang, Mongolia and Manchuria—there are sharp conflicts of interests between the two Communist nations. Sinkiang is not mentioned in the Treaty, so it may be assumed that Russian penetration (through airlines and the exploitation of mineral resources) continues. Mongolia has been recognized by China as an independent State. In Manchuria, Russia has promised to return the Changchun railway and Port Arthur by 1952 at the latest, but meanwhile her control continues. By 1952 the Kremlin may have had a change of heart, or have so established dominance that the treaty clauses relating to Manchuria will be useless. This is the great area under dispute; friction between the two nations over Manchuria is not likely to be lessened by the Treaty, and for that matter, in either Sinkiang and Mongolia. It is an unstable Axis.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The approach of Spring is announced by the appearance of green candy and green greeting cards.

India, we learn, is moving toward a teetotal state. Good. Now try prohibiting the chewing of betel nut, which the Indians really like, and see what happens.

A Montreal paper says that it is "terribly humiliating" that federal cheques issued outside Quebec continue to be in English only. We are naturally humble; just humiliate us with a few cheques in any language.

We read of a baby which was born last week in a railway caboose. There are many worse places to make acquaintance with the world. The big stove in the middle, and the nice little tower on top, make a caboose a first-class home on the road, if not precisely a maternity ward.

Peterborough coal merchants held a meeting Thursday with the Mayor and other city officials to thresh out what could be done locally to relieve the coal shortage and to provide for fair distribution. The meeting was held in the city hall; apparently the chief relief, for which the dealers were thankful, was that for one hour they were out of reach of their business and home telephones.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

ALPHA: It has been announced that Peterborough is to have its new Federal Building. The announcement, as it appeared in the press, came from the defeated Liberal candidate, (who relayed what the Minister of Public Works had written him, it seems) and the President of the Peterborough Liberal Association (who relayed what the Deputy Minister had written him, it seems). I note that the news was not given out—perhaps it was not even given by Ottawa to—our sitting M.P., the Conservative Mr. Fraser. Is not Mr. Fraser Peterborough's official representative at Ottawa? What do we elect him to Ottawa for, and give him $6,000 a year, if he is to be by-passed in such a matter intimately concerning Peterborough? The Examiner said editorially that "the building is in no way a political sop". How do you explain this statement that there is no politics in it, in view of the playing-up of local Liberals, and the overlooking of Mr. Fraser, who is our proper representative, duly elected by a majority of the people? No politics? In my quiet opinion, the thing is stinking political.

ANSWER: It seems to me that your questions and comments should appear as a Letter to the Editor and not be spear-pointed at this columnist. However, I've got the baby, so I'll bounce him.

In Australia the new Minister of Public Housing (or whatever his department is called) has a neat departmental trick. Whenever his department turns down a request, the letter to the petitioner begins: "The Department of Public Housing regrets that it cannot...." When the request is received favourably the letter reads: "The Honourable Osbert Mulchers directs me to inform you that he has looked into the matter, and is pleased to say that he is able to promise you that...."

If the Department of Public Works were NOT going to undertake the building, no doubt Mr. Fraser would have had the negative announcement to make; since it is going to build, the announcement comes, like the Australian minister's letter, with politically-minded care, and from the Government party.

The announcement was politically made; the decision to build—the building itself—is not political, and in that you must agree with the editor's statement that "the building is in no way a political sop". Here a government is handing out what is usually considered a political plum to a riding which from a purely political view, did not deserve even Government oatmeal. It is not surprising that the Liberal party should try to squeeze the plum as much as possible, even if some of the juice should run over into a Conservative lap. Incidentally, Mr. Fraser has long and energetically been plugging for a new Federal Building; his chances of getting credit for it are slim. One can't always win in the game of politics.

I believe this is one of the few instances in Canada's history where a riding is to get a new Post Office when its M.P. is an opponent of the Government. Is the St. Laurent Government beginning a new era, when patronage is replaced by awards according to deserts, when public works are never undertaken as political favours but only to fill recognized needs?

SIR: Why is laundry so expensive in Peterborough? My shirts cost 22 cents each, yet in Montreal they cost fifteen cents, or sometimes and some places, two for a quarter. The fifteen cent charge is for 48-hour service.

ANSWER: In a big city like Montreal there is a bigger bulk of business and more competition; though I must say that in Peterborough the laundries do not seem to suffer from a small amount of business. I think that the chief reason is that the day-labour of girls and women in Montreal is cheaper than in Peterborough.

ALF, OLD BEAN: Flip off an explanation of "pancake Tuesday" will you? I'm curious about the why of it. And while you are at it, you might spread some leaven over "Ash Wednesday". Are we supposed to eat pancakes only on Tuesday and wear sackcloth and ashes on Wednesday?

ANSWER: You may be curious, but if I may be permitted to say so, you are not courteous. A little respect, please, for the few grey hairs still remaining on my "bean".

"Ash Wednesday": the first day of Lent, so called from the practice in the Roman Catholic Church of marking the foreheads of penitents with ash on that day. Your use of the phrase "sackcloth and ashes" is (accidentally?) apt, for it was the mediaeval custom, still observed in some countries, of penitents coming to the church door in sackcloth for penance, when ashes were sprinkled on their heads.

"Pancake Tuesday": called in the English ecclesiastical calendar "Shrove Tuesday" from the practice of being shriven before the Lent fast. (To shrive means to receive the confessions of a penitent, when a priest imposes penance and grants absolution.) Shrovetide is the period from the Saturday to the Tuesday before Lent. In Latin countries particularly, Shrove Tuesday was and is celebrated as the last day until Easter for merry-making, eating and drinking. Hence the French name for Pancake Tuesday, Mardi Gras. (Mardi—Tuesday; gras—fat, plump, full of fat.)

This goes to explain our Pancake Tuesday. Although pancakes are a much less opulent and gay way to celebrate than the wines and foods of France (or even New Orleans) the fat is in the pancakes. (If you have ever eaten pancakes English-style served on that day you'll not doubt the fat, dripping and the like that goes into them; they are soggy, thin, doughy, heavy, like unleavened bread stewed for a week in tallow; not at all like our fairly airy, large flap-jacks.) The story is that on Pancake Tuesday all the housewives of Catholic faith use up all the grease and fat that is in the kitchen because, come next day and the next six weeks of Lent, they cannot eat flesh—and since fat is a form of flesh, therefore, no fat. My private opinion is that English pancakes are a penance imposed on the stomach. I would not, of course, dare say that in public.

FOR THE RECORD: Four weeks from tomorrow is April Fool's Day—the first of the real spring months. Incredible, isn't it, when one feels this week's cold and sees the mountains of snow?.... This being the beginning of March I remind my older readers and those with delicate constitutions and weak hearts, that March is statistically the most deadly month. The wise among the weak will take things easily, and keep hopes high for balmy, heart-warming spring, now just around the corner....March is not thoroughly unhealthy, statistically-speaking. Recent analyses of longevity records show that babies born in March have a better chance of living to ripe old age than infants born in any other months.

Canadian Potatoes In New Orleans

(NEW ORLEANS STATES)

A SWEDISH ship unloaded a million pounds of Canadian potatoes here recently.

They were purchased by a New Orleans produce firm for $3.20 per 100 pounds.

Idaho potatoes are selling at from $4.35 to $4.60 per 100 pounds.

The produce company says it wants the Canadian potatoes, not because they are cheaper, but because they are bigger and better than Idaho's and suit the restaurateurs and potato chip people here. That's fine we want the best.

How, you will ask now, can Canadian potatoes be better and sell cheaper than U.S. spuds?

Because the Government has a policy. The Government spends billions of dollars to support farm prices. Potatoes are part of the picture.

Idaho potatoes are selling high because the Government is spending $2 per 100 pounds for potatoes the farmers wouldn't stoop to pick up before the support program became effective. Farmers would just plow them back into the ground. Nobody ever bought culls except Uncle Sam's taxpayers.

WHILE Canadian potatoes are pricing Idaho's out of the market, the Government is trying to sell back to the farmers the potatoes it bought. All it asks is that the farmer pay one cent per 100 pounds of potatoes he sold to Uncle Sam for $2 on the average. These stockpiled potatoes can only be used for fertilizer or livestock feed, which the farmer could have used them for had the Government not bought them. They can't be resold again for human consumption, and the Government will not buy them again. This latter restriction shows a lack of foresight on the part of the bureaucrats. Think of the possibilities here for sale and resale and repurchase, with the Government losing $1.99 of the taxpayer's money on each transaction.

A few days ago, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said it was time to take a long look at our potato pile. He said the U.S. had spent over $500,000,000 in the past several years on its potato program.

It got so good for a while up in Maine that Canadians were selling their spuds to American farmers who were selling them to the Government. Uncle Sam had to stop that.

But he's still loaded down with spuds, because he paid $2 per 100 pounds for them when some of them weren't worth sacking except for the farm vote.

How long is the American taxpayer going to stand for this sort of nonsense?

Letters To The Editor

CHURCHILL "ADEQUATE" AS WAR LEADER

Sir: Mr. Gilbert's fulsome adulation of Mr. Churchill, perilously close to idolatory, shows that while your correspondent can mix a metaphor or conjure up a cliche with almost Churchillian facility he is completely out of touch with matters affecting British politics.

It really gets rather tiresome, this continual picturization of Mr. Churchill as a worn-out glove cast aside by a nation of ingrates after "guiding the Ship of State into the Harbour of Peace" etc. etc., but waiting, more in sorrow than in anger, for the fickle British public to come to its senses and place him once more at the helm.

There is no doubt that if Britain's dollar illness could be cured by copious applications of colourful phrases and her many domestic and foreign problems alleviated by doses of picturesque prose Winston would be the man for the job.

Mr. Churchill was an adequate war-time Prime Minister but thereafter chose to return to his role as leader of the Tories, which party, thirteen millions of voters are convinced would carry out Winston's famous "we shall fight them everywhere" policy—only this time against the working people of Britain.

Mr. Gilbert's heart-warming little picture of Mr. Churchill (officially Leader of His Majesty's Opposition) slaving over a hot easel at Miami Beach—while Mr. Attlee was taking things easy eighteen hours a day looking after affairs of state will be appreciated only by the more sentimental of your readers.

As for Mr. Churchill as a "peerless historian" I can assure Mr. Gilbert that his "War Memoirs" though interesting reading are much too autobiographical and coloured by Mr. C's own prejudices to ever seriously be considered as an objective history of World War II.

Mr. Churchill's fervent admirers in Canada seem to overlook the fact that if Winston were in this country today and leading a party which advocated the social reforms agreed to by the Conservatives in Britain (socialized medicine, transport, utilities; mines, banks etc.) he would very probably be subject to pretty close surveillance by the R.C.M.P. as a dangerous radical.

"ARGUS".

MEMORIAL CENTRE IN CONFEDERATION SQUARE

Sir: As we already have one memorial in Confederation Square why not build the Memorial Centre there and have them both together. It is central and on Armistice Day the services could be held indoors.

The surrounding buildings would be more appropriate than a packing house and lumber yard.

Yours truly,
HOCKEY FAN.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now there is at Jerusalem by the sheep market a pool, which is called in the Hebrew tongue Bethesda, having five porches....And a certain man was there, which had an infirmity thirty and eight years....

Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and on the same day was the sabbath ....And therefore did the Jews persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the sabbath day.

But Jesus answered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work. Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, because he not only had broken the sabbath, but said also that God was his Father, making himself equal with God.

Then answered Jesus and said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, The son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise. (John 5: 2, 5, 8, 9, 16-19.)

1,500 Mennonites From Manitoba Now Toiling Hard For Living In South America

WINNIPEG — (CP) — In June, 1948, some 1,500 Mennonites from southern and eastern Manitoba left the rich farmlands their forbears had settled to start a new life in the wild, wooded tropics of Paraguay.

Reasons for their leaving Canada were numerous, but the one most often cited was that they wished to follow the life their fathers had led without being encroached by "modernism."

Upon arriving in their "promised land" many were disappointed. The new arrivals had to wait several months before they could settle on the land, which was supposed to have been surveyed and ready for settlement when purchased.

Grim memories of the Incorporacia Paraguay bubble in 1926 were recalled, when Mennonite immigrants had to wait more than a year before they could settle.

The Winkler Progress, a weekly newspaper published in the heart of the Mennonite settlements in southern Manitoba, reports that by the end of the first year unrest became more and more apparent among the Mennonites and many lost heart and returned to Manitoba.

"All was not lost, however," the paper reports. "Over 1,000 remained, steadfast in their convictions that a livelihood to their liking could be wrested from the heavily wooded lands which they settled."

Schools and Churches

Unlike the immigrants of 1926, they had funds available to purchase cattle, draught animals, tractors and other land-tilling equipment.

"All these factors aided in the expedient establishment of the basic structure of a settlement," the Progress says. "After the approximately a year of work, several villages had taken definite shape, complete with a common well, pastures, church and school.

The mode of life among the Mennonite colonies established by the immigrants is primitive to say the least. Their first substancial crop is yet to be harvested, as not enough land had been cleared last season to produce enough to feed the colonists for one year. Otherwise, they have shown remarkable adaptability to the extreme conditions of the semi-tropical regions."

Most of the structures built to date are of a temporary nature, rough lumber being used with a sheet metal roof. Settlers say buildings will serve well enough until better homes and barns can be built.

Kaffir corn is the staple crop and is grown almost exclusively. There are many fertile plains between the forests which dots the land.

Cattle is also raised to a considerable extent, with pastures numerous and the climate suited to extensive ranching operations, the Progress says.

Prince Charles Learning To Chatter Quite Easily

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, March 3—(CP)—Friends of the Royal Family say that Prince Charles has made fast progress since he returned to London with his mother from the King's Norfolk Estate. He is tall for his age and well-built. Weight is around 24 pounds, height just over two feet, seven inches. The prince is one year, three months old.

He is fast learning new words and frequently exclaims "daddy away" now that the Duke of Edinburgh is on naval service in the Mediterranean.

One of his favorite words is "bus which he crows delightedly whenever one of London's big double-decker omnibuses looms in sight.

Often Mad-Tempered

Though normally a happy, contented baby, Charles is often bad-tempered on wet, foggy days when his morning and afternoon walks through the local parks are banned.

"The princess does not believe in coddling babies," a friend said, "but neither does she believe in taking risks."

While staying with his mother at Sandringham, Norfolk, the prince spent many hours out in the gardens even in the coldest weather. But his mother will not allow him to be exposed to fog or damp.

What Charles misses most when he has to stay indoors is the sight of other babies and people. A friendly boy, he fairly gurgles with delight when nurse Helen Lightbody permits other children to talk with him.

Detective On Job

Recently in St. James's Park a nine-year-old girl stopped and chatted with Charles, but when she came too close to the pram the baby's personal detective laid a restraining hand on her arm.

The detective, a London police veteran, walks a dozen or so paces behind Charles' pram wherever he goes and keeps a trained, eagle eye on him.

Scarcely a day passes without at least one request for permission to take pictures of him.

All such requests are turned down. The princess is adhering firmly to her policy of withholding Prince Charles from the limelight during his first years.

LONDON, Ont., March 3 (CP) The expansion and building of Huron College is "the greatest domestic missionary adventure of this century in the Anglican diocese of Huron," Right Rev. G. N. Luxton, Bishop of Huron, told a meeting of diocesan laity and clergy Thursday night.

Bishop Luxton said the $1,400,000 project on the campus of University of Western Ontario was a "test of the calibre of our men. Will your courage and love of truth stand the test and do this job?"

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Three PCVS boys' cage squads are in important games away from home tomorrow. Bantam PCI-ers should wind up their season with the district title in Oshawa, having a hefty lead in the first of their two-game final series. Both the junior "A" and the senior PCVS packs are opening COSSA semi-finals in Bowman Villa, return tilts being here next Friday night. Bev Gouiding's hoop teams are making a good showing again in the district and ought to go right through, but one never knows in playoff time. Marines "A" men start playdowns at Toronto Broadview "Y" Saturday, and the City Loop is idle this week-end.

* * * * * *

As for the girl basketeers, PCVS juniors and seniors go late this aft at the Collegiate, the juniors tackling Bowmanville as the seniors start their playdowns 'gainst Uxbridge, these local crews having an impressive record so far this semester. At the YWCA this evening at eight, CGE meets Normals, followed by Nurses Srs. vs. Black's, each being first of two-game semi-final playoffs. The lasses will be playing for keeps henceforth in this loop. Towne Togs won their lakeshore LOBA group and now meet either St. Kitts or Toronto in intermediate "B" semi-finals, first game likely here.

Kingston And Legion

Puck fans, of course, know the big attraction locally tonight is at 8.30 in Civic Arena. Second game of the best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group finals betwixt Kingston and Legion. The Nylons are one up after their 4-2 win at home on Friday, but Legionnaires aren't happy over that one. OHA wasn't notified of the game—Frank Buckland being out of town on business—and no referees showed up. So, two Kingston chaps were picked. Legion had two goals called back on 'em and that hurt. But they can even the series here tonight, and it should be a hum-dinger before a full house, as two smart senior clubs tear into each other.

* * * * * *

Only one of the Oddfellows' hockey teams sees action tomorrow. The junior "B" club does not open OHA group finals in Oshawa on Saturday, as first expected. On account of the OHA upheld the Belleville protest on Oshawa Bees using a junior "A" goalie. So the Rockets and Bees have to replay a game on Monday. If Belleville wins, a third tilt will be necessary in the Motor City. If Oshawa wins, they'll meet Oddfellows in the finals. The local juvenile IOOF-ers take on Belleville here at 2.30 tomorrow aft in the second of their goals-to-count OMHA playdown series, Triple Links having a goal lead. Some 500 fans saw this team rub out Oshawa and all should be back for the nifty number 'gainst Bella Villa on the morrow.

Re Those Floodlights

While the Recreation Commission intends proceeding with caution on the question of floodlights this year in Riverside, a sympathetic hearing was given the senior ball club yesterday at a meeting. Gord Armstrong had gone into the question thoroughly and made a clear-cut report on findings. The cost of installing lights will be about $35,000. Provided the ball club can raise $15,000 shortly, the commission will approach the city council on the matter of advancing the rest—to be repaid in five or six years by those using the park for games. The baseball club is to form a committee right away to check into the raising of the $15,000, as time will shortly run out on the project as spring approaches.

You can't accuse Seelie Samara of being light-headed. He is by no means a blond with that kinky black hair. Also, Referee Bunny Dunlop and Doc Len Hall attest that his head-butts are definitely not light. He must have rocks in the noggin. Last eve at the Brock, he got peeved and butted both Hall and the mat ref around in scandalous style. Just before heading for a box of aspirin, Dunlop disqualified Seelie and gave the main bout to the unpopular and rough Doc Hall. Latter needed pills, too, but he's a pharmacist and no doubt carries a supply. Kay Bell won the semi-final from Pat Flanagan in a mixup, whilst Baxter took the prelim o'er Juan Hernandez. Cold weather kept the crowd down.

STURDY LEGION TRIO — Kingston Nylons will find a rocky path to Nicholls' cage here tonight when they try to bush past the sturdy three Legionnaires shown above. Godfrey, Burns and Doug Mortimer —along with Keith Montgomery — have been hard to beat all season, forming the best rearguard in the district OHA senior "B" grouping.

Seelie Samara Disqualified In Top Pro Wrestling Bout

Referee Bunny Dunlop had a cold in his head last night during the pro mat matches and, when Seelie Samara tried to knock it out—and also his brains—Dunlop violently objected to being cured the hard way. He disqualified the colored grappler and gave Doc Len Hall the bout. That made it two straight falls for the fat pharmacist from California. Kay Ball won the semi-final, while Vern Baxter took the prelim.

Hall, who weighed 250—and had an edge of 10 pounds over Samara—won the first fall of the main bout in 25½ minutes. He forced Seelie to concede with a "policeman's grip" and punishing armlock. He previously worked hard on the strong Negro, using much illegal stuff, like eye rasps, choke holds and leglocks with aid of ropes. Seelie got in some hard licks, also, on his posturing opponent, but the referee (who was tough on both matmen) was especially tough on the popular Seelie. He took a dim view of head-butts, a specialty with Samara. The fall was not popular with the crowd.

Doc won the second fall in just five minutes when Dunlop disqualified Seelie. When Hall started to rough it up again, Samara threw caution to the winds and bore in. He pounded Hall around and started using his hammer for butting. When the referee intervened, Seelie twice butted his ribs and then butted Doc to the mat. The dazed referee got up and hoisted Doc's hand, with Hall promptly collapsing holding his aching head. Seelie, after the gong went, butted Dunlop down again and threw Hall around before finally retiring as the fans cheered. It took Doc a long time to stagger to his dressing room.

Big Mix-Up

Kay Bell, at 240 pounds, won the semi-final from 228-pound and popular Pat Flanagan in 22 minutes. It was a mix-up at the finish with the befuddled referee apparently counting both men out, as Bell lay flat inside the ring and Pat was outside, then counting out Bell when Pat came back in and pinned him, and finally awarding Bell the decision because he was in the ring (and Pat was out) on the original count. It was a new way to most of the displeased customers. The pair had fought hard in and out of the ring, with Bell nasty and Pat proving pretty capable against his bigger opponent up till the finish.

A So-So Bout

The 238-pound Vern Baxter won the prelim over Juan Hernandez, scaling 229, in 16 minutes with a top spread after throwing him into the ropes and using the elbows to the jaw as he came off. It was just a fair bout after a fast opening.

Baxter played it rough from the start but he acted indifferent at times and the fans failed to warm up to this scrap to any great extent. The Mexican battled hard but was roughed around plenty while it lasted, and the referee didn't act too quickly in breaking up some of the illegal stuff pulled by Baxter, to the disapproval of the crowd.

Bowling Honors Captured By Babe's Place

Babe's Place whitewashed Tem in the men's City Five Pin league last night and carried off high pinnage honors with 3,675 and high single game of 1424.

Shockey's stopped Cavanagh's bid for first place by taking all three games with Bud Goodson's high three of 863 being the feature.

Capitol Taxi and Fashion Craft rolled shutout ball against Campbell & Best and DeLaval. Dunn's Tailors took four points from the third place McGillis team while Sunocos, Esquires and Clapper's won by the same margin from Bond Clothes, Charlotte Credit Jewellers and Empress Old Timers.

Ches Grant topped all single scores with 358 as Bill Stanbury rolled 346, Norm Wilkes 333, Bud Goodson 324 and Tic Caccavella 317. Only two bowlers beside Goodson topped the 800 mark. Tic Caccavella rolling 827 and Cy Whatley 8.10. Hawks Rack Up Two Wins Peewee Section

The peewee Black Hawks increased their lead in this PMHA section recently with two wins, one over Red Wings 8-4 and again over the Rangers 5-0. In this game, Scharf, Beggs, Murphy, Stewart and Brown scored, with an assist each going to Goldie and Stewart. Hawks showed more finish and better positional play. In the other game, Stewart, Murphy and Goldie counted in the first frame, R. Brown, having an assist. Stewart, Naish and J. Brown counted in the second, the latter and Armstrong helping once each. Olmstead and R. Brown scored in the third, Scharf assisting once. Renwick got three and Moore one for Wings.

Smillie, R. Brown and Stewart stood out for the Hawks, while D. McCarthy, J. McCarthy and Moore looked best for the Keene crew. It was a fast, well-played contest before a fair-sized crowd. Brown's stickhandling was a standout, as these young teams dish up good hockey. Teams:

Wings: D. McCarthy, Ellison, Godfrey, J. McCarthy, Heron, Bethune, Renwick, Moore, Fletcher, Doris, Plunkett Webster Scriver, Nelson, Houle.

Rangers: Freeman, Clark, Malby, Dobbin, Lagana, O'Connell, Hill, Chowen, Jobbitt, Burgess, Parnell, Reid, Rose, Freelove, Dinsdale, Briggs.

Hawks: Smillie, Druery, Goldie, Scharf, Beggs, Naish, Murphy, Doleman Stewart, Kimball, R. Brown, Olmstead, Cairns, J. Brown, Armstrong.

Referees—R. Houle and J. Kimball.

Never-Say-Die Hawks Trounce Canadiens 5-2

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Coach Charlie Conacher couldn't make a championship contender out of the material he acquired when he took over the leadership of Chicago Black Hawks. But he certainly turned them into a fighting team.

Conacher, former fiery forward of Toronto Maple Leafs, and his "never-say-die" Hawks walloped Montreal Canadiens 5-2 Thursday night, spoiling Montreal's chances of taking sole possession of third place in the National Hockey League.

The game had virtually no effect on the standings. Detroit leads by nine points over Toronto, with Montreal and New York still tied for third another five points back. It didn't make much difference either to the two clubs that appear doomed to miss the Stanley Cup play-offs. Boston in fifth place still is five games behind New York and Chicago is another game and a half behind Boston.

Scores Twice

Doug Bentley scored twice Thursday, to raise his life-NHL total to 202 goals, Bep Guidolin, Jim Conacher and Metro Prystai also scored for Chicago. Maurice Richard, with his 33rd goal of the season, and Kenny Mosdell did the scoring honors for Canadiens.

Montreal's veteran goalie Bill Durnan received a scalp cut early in the final period. He was diving in an attempt to save off Jim Conacher when Conacher's skate caught him high on the forehead. The game was held up 20 minutes while several stitches were made.

Coach Dick Irvin of the Canadiens said at Chicago that neither he nor Ken Reardon had so far received official notice of a $1,000 fine plastered on Reardon by NHL president Clarence Campbell.

Ken Reardon told Chicago sports writers that all he knew was what he'd read in the newspapers. He joked that "I have no comment until I talk to my lawyer." Neither Reardon nor anyone else would discuss the fine, imposed for threats Reardon made against Cal Gardner of Toronto in an article in a United States sports magazine. The fine may be repaid to Reardon on application when he retires from the league.

Strong Bowling Dished Up In Local Loops

Commercials rolled high pinnage of 3,223 this week in the YMCA men's bowling loop, as Jay Bees got best single of 1,177. J. Dormer had top three with 796 and his 312 single was three pins short of G. Walton's 315 in his 755 triple. F. Willison hit a 734 cross, including 269, as E. Dixon rolled 708 and had a 261 single. Some other good singles were rolled, too. Jay Bees blanked Aberdeens, Commercials applied the brush to Artists, B'nai B'rith won 4-2 over Tip Tops, and Quakers took a 4-2 win from Quakers.

Frank Worseneroft had a 308 single and Charlie Thomas a 691 cross in the Mercantile League, while Verna Hopkins led ladies with a 749 three and 294 single. Joan Ronco rolled 243, Betty Crowe 238, Don Penrose 274 and Charlie Thomas had a neat 284.

City Hall and Braund's No. 1 took four points from A & P and from Braund's No. 2, as New Centre, Loblaw's and Utilities took three from Prudential, Bond's Clothes and Lift Lock. Braund's No. 1 rolled high for 2,995 as City Hall had top single of 1,041. Joan Ronco won the Collis nylons with 243. Standing and points: New Centre 61 and 18, Braund's No. 1 59 and 24, City Hall 58 and 17, Lift Lock 46 and 7, Utilities 43 and 18, Loblaw's 41 and 5, A & P 31 and 3, Prudential 30 and 2, Bond's 22 and 2. Braund's No. 2 having 12 and 2.

Lucky Strikes increased their lead in the YMCA lasses' league by whitewashing Glengarry's, the only three-point win of the night. Hurricanes, Corvettes and Tigers each took two points from Commandos, Bombers and Aces. A. Merrett, of Lucky Strikes, rolled high three of 713 and top single of 271. Ag Anderson hit 674, Wanda Lockie 659, E. Pearcy 650, Dot Martin 636, T. Hewitt 621, Elsie Penrose 620 and Thelma Grierson 610. L. Bell had a 267 single, A. Anderson 257, E. Penrose 256, A. Merrett 253, T. Grierson 248 and W. Lockie 248. Commandos, one of the low standing teams, rolled a hefty single of 1,110.

Remember When—

For the eighth time, Glen Cunningham bettered the 4:10 mark for the mile race when he set a mark of 4:04.4 at Hanover, N. H., 12 years ago today. Cunningham was 27 at the time of the record run. His record was surpassed by the 4:01.4 race of Sweden's Gunnar Hagg in 1945.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

"I'll just be in there skating," said Suzanne Morrow of Toronto when she arrived in London by air Thursday for the world skating championships.

"It'll be interesting to see if I place well."

That non-committal remark sums up the attitude of Canada's figure skating team for the world championships at Wembley rink at London March 6-8. They will be trying their hardest—but they promise no victories in advance.

The quietest of the lot is soft-spoken Roger Wickson of Vancouver, Canadian men's senior champion. He has been practising in London every day this week, but to date London sports writers haven't been able to pry more than a few words out of him.

Those few words add up to Roger, 21-year-old commerce sophomore at the University of British Columbia, being eager to get into competition.

Not much more vocal were Marlene Smith of Niagara Falls, Ont., and her fiance, Don Gilchrist of Toronto, Canadian champions and the Dominion's entry in the world pairs competition.

"We haven't watched the other competitors go through their routines from beginning to end yet," said Don. "We can't tell how we'll stack up from just watching them in bits and pieces."

He and Marlene have been practising every day this week too. They plan to taper off a bit before the tournament opens on Monday.

The Maritimes Amateur Hockey Association Thursday night suspended all players of the Moncton Hawks senior hockey club until definite action is taken against several of them who refused to play in an exhibition game.

Two Chicago brothers Thursday filed a $20,000 damage suit, charging they were clubbed with a hockey stick by Leo Gravelle of Montreal Canadiens while watching a National Hockey League game in the stadium Nov. 2.

The suit was brought by Anthony Scornavacco, 30, and his brother John. Named as defendants are Gravelle, the Canadiens and the Stadium.

Outfielder Dick Wakefield left New York Yankees' camp in a huff Thursday after being offered a contract reported to call for $17,500 a year. He refused to sign and then motored back to Lakeland, 60 miles away, where he indicated he will remain until the Yankees give him better terms.

The addition of Frank Ryan, Boston's publicity director for 26 years, to that National Hockey League club's board of directors was announced Thursday by president Weston W. Adams.

At Oberstdorf, Germany, Sepp Weiler, German ski-jumping champion, Thursday claimed a world record with a leap of 127 metres (416.6 feet.)

Bisons And Ramblers Play To 3-3 Draw

By The Canadian Press

Buffalo Bisons added a single point to their first place lead atop the American Hockey League's Eastern Division Thursday night by playing to a 3-3 draw with New Haven Ramblers. The Bisons now lead the second-place Providence Reds by 12 points and are practically assured of the league title.

New Haven took a 2-0 lead in the initial period on goals by Jean Paul Lamirande and Fern Perrault but the Bisons came back with three straight counters before Sherm White tied the score once more late in the third period. Murdy McKay, Les Hickey and Paul Meger were the Buffalo marksmen.

New Zealand 'Quake

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, March 3 (Reuters) — Buildings swayed drunkenly Thursday when an earthquake rocked the north island. A muffled explosion was heard before the tremors which caused damage in isolated districts around Totorua, New Zealand's leading hot springs tourist resort.

OUCH!—This is Ken Reardon of Montreal Canadiens, the latest National Hockey League figure to get headlines. He was fined $1,000, believed the highest in league history, because of a statement attributed to him in a magazine article. He was quoted as saying he intends to see that Cal Gardner of Toronto gets 14 stitches in the mouth—the same as Reardon received from Gardner a couple of seasons ago. The fine is more of a good-behaviour bond. President Clarance Campbell of the NHL said Reardon can petition at the end of his major-league playing days for a refund. Presumably he'll get the $1,000 back if he doesn't step out of line in the meantime.

What's New In Baseball

By The Associated Press

Manager Billy Southworth says he has all the confidence in the world that Johnny Sain will have a fine year on the mound for Boston Braves, and to make it unanimous Sain shares the confidence.

Tough breaks had a lot to do with Sain's indifferent 10-17 record last year after his fine 24-15 performance in 1948, Southworth insists at the Braves' Brandenton, Fla., training camp.

"He just had a lot of bad luck. Balls were falling for cheap hits, and sometimes the support wasn't too good."

Johnny Mize, the big first baseman who hurt his shoulder last season shortly after the Yankees obtained him from the Giants, still feels weakness in his throwing arm.

Mize waved his arm Thursday at the St. Peterburg camp to show he could move it but said, "The arm is weak. And Thursday night after throwing with it for the first time, it ached all night long."

At Vero Beach manager Burt Shotton, of Brooklyn Dodgers, figures on using Billy Cox practically everywhere in the infield. Shotton said he would even work Cox at first base.

General manager Billy Evans probably will get as stiff a workout as any member of the Detroit Tiger organization today.

Arriving at the Tiger training camp here, Evans must tackle the job of signing up holdout pitchers Hal Newhouser and Freddie Hutchinson.

Confronted with a full-fledged holdout in outfielder Eddie Stewart, president Clark Griffith, of Washington Senators, says Stewart can accept the $1,000 raise he has been offered or "stay out there in California all summer."

Stewart, expected to be a mainstay of the Washington outfield, earned $12,000 last year when he batted .284.

Confederation Wins

The heavier and more experienced Confederation team rolled to a 13-0 school hockey win over Queen Alex at Civic Arena even with Nicholls good in the losers' net. Dunstan scored five while Holland and Sloan had two apiece, and McIntosh, Parry, Miller and Bryan one each. R. McKinney turned in a good effort for the losers. Teams:

Queen Alex: Nicholls, Harrison, R. McKinney, McClennan, T. McKinney, Weir, Brown, Macklin, Turnbull.

Confederation: B. Bryan, Miller, Dunstan, Parry, Simmons, Sloan, M. Bryan, Holland, McIntosh, Coleman.

Referee, L. McNeil.

Last-Minute Goal Ties Lindsay-Pt. Hope

PORT HOPE, March 3.—A last ditch goal with only 14 seconds remaining gave Lindsay a 6-6 tie with Port Hope in an OHA Junior "C" game here Wednesday. Port Hope appeared to have the affair sewed up until Jenkins fired the equalizer.

Harris McKeen was the outstanding Port Hope forward, drawing one assist and playing strongly on the defence. Yoyo Ashton was outstanding in the Port cage.

Biltmores Blitz Teepees 5-2 To Take Series

By The Canadian Press

It's one down and plenty to go for Guelph Biltmores today.

Biltmores, a dark-horse gang which finished fourth in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A standings, last night wrapped up their quarter-final series in the fifth and deciding game.

They gained a clean cut 5-2 victory over St. Catharines Teepees and won the best-of-five series 3-2—first step in their fight for the Canadian title and Memorial Cup.

Today coach Alfie Pike's charges are standing by to take on either Toronto St. Michael's College Majors or Barrie Flyers in the semi-finals. The Majors and Flyers now are tied 2-2 in their best-of-five series.

Biltmores had plenty of trouble with the Teepees. They won the first two games 6-4 and 5-2, and then dropped the next two, 8-4 and 5-1.

Miss Boat

Teepees failed to come up with the same performance they produced during their two victories. Last night they managed only to get a goal in the first period and one in the second.

Andy Bathgate paced the winners with two goals, while brother Frank, Gerry Theberge and Herb Dickenson got singles. Jack McIntyre and Buddy Boone accounted for the St. Catharines goals.

Boone gave Teepees a 1-0 lead at 51 seconds of the first period when he slapped in Jack McIntyre's goal-mouth pass. Theberge tied it up at 5.13 and Andy Bathgate blasted in the odd goal at 6.08.

Biltmores made it 4-1 at 2.41 of the second. Teepees couldn't beat netminder Porky Douglas until the 15.24 mark when McIntyre counted on a backhander.

Frank Bathgate and Dickenson finished off the scoring in the third period and held the determined Teepees off until the final bell.

The Flyers resume their series with St. Michael's tonight in Barrie—in the only scheduled junior game.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens scored a goal against Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night to bring his season's total to 33 and give him sole possession of fourth place in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Doug Bentley of Chicago and teammate Metro Prystai are tied for the last spot on the big-seven ladder with 48 points. Bentley scored two goals against Montreal and Prystai one. The Montreal-Chicago game was the only scheduled fixture last night.

Detroit's Ted Lindsay continues to hold down the top spot with 62 points while his teammate Sid Abel is second with 55. Another Detroiter, Gordie Howe is third with 55. Richard follows three points behind and Paul Ronty of Boston dropped to fifth with 51.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts
Lindsay, Detroit	19	43	62
Abel, Detroit	30	28	58
Howe, Detroit,	28	27	55
Richard, Montreal	33	19	52

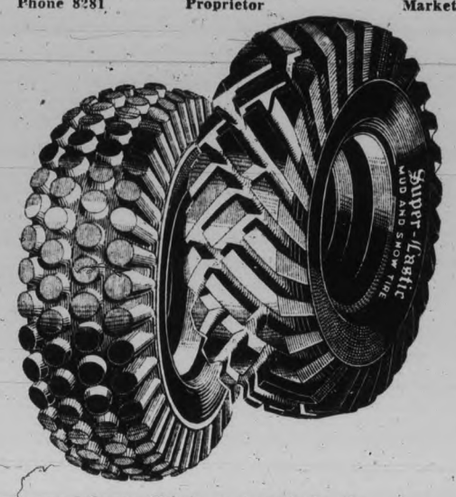
Stake Claims

CATANZARO, Italy, March 3 (Reuters)—Peasant couriers, riding mules and sometimes running barefooted, raced Thursday night through the remote hill villages of Calabria, in southern Italy, rallying country folk for the latest upsurge of the "peasant revolt." Men and women—old and young—and children grabbed mattocks and ploughshares and streamed down the hillsides. They swarmed on to derelict estates and hunting grounds and land barons and "staked their claims."

Lady Lions Report Hockey Team Set Up

MILLBROOK, March 3 (ENS)—The Lady Lions met at the home of Mrs. Ronald Palmer on Monday. In the absence of both president and vice-president, Mrs. E. Hobbs was chairman.

It was reported by the secretary, Mrs. G. H. Lancashire, that sweaters and socks had been bought for and presented to the juvenile hockey team. The color scheme was blue and white, and "Millbrook Lions" appears on the sweaters in white letters.



Supper hostesses were Mrs. D. Shepperd, Mrs. Hindle, Mrs. Wm. O'Brien and Mrs. W. W. Kennedy.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. E. Hobbs on March 27.

5 Die In Fire

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., March 3 (AP)—A 36-year-old mother and four of her 10 children were killed Thursday in a fire that levelled their three-room home on the east edge of Noblesville. The dead were Mrs. Helen McCarthy; 10-month-old twins, George and Susan; and two other sons, Cecil Leo 3, and Richard Allan, 4.

Terrible Tale of Magdan, Soviet Gold City Slave-Labor Thousands Died Building It

(Ed. Note: This shocking story, "one of the most terrible in the world", of a hideous Russian enterprise, was specially written by Edward Crankshaw, foremost authority on Russia.)

Far to the North of the temperate regions of the Soviet Far East lies one of the grimmest landscapes in the world where the Kolyma River, frozen for eight or nine months of the year, empties itself into the Arctic Ocean. Here lie the rich Kolyma goldfields from which a road runs south across the Kolyma Mountains to the Sea of Okhotsk. On the windswept rocky cliffs of the Sea of Okhotsk the Kremlin, at the beginning of the 'thirties decided to build a great city to serve as the capital of the then almost uninhabited North-East and to administer the vast goldfields.

The story of the building of Magadan, of the terrible road from Magadan across mountains and Arctic swamps to Srednikan in the midst of the gold-fields, is one of the most terrible stories in the history of the world. It is all the more terrible because what was really a huge-scale and totally ruthless slave enterprise was disguised by propaganda as an example of enlightened socialist construction.

Great Triumph?

The building of Magadan itself, with its great municipal buildings, its House of Rest and Culture, its gardens full of flowers specially conditioned to flourish in the Northern climate, was signalized as a great triumph of man over nature, made possible only by the liberating idea of Leninist-Marxism. The plant breeding stations set up to produce fruit, grain and vegetables which would stand that fearful climate, in order to administer to the comfort of the warders of a million prisoners, were held up as examples of the disinterested pursuit of science possible onl yin the Soviet Union.

Even the ocean itself was degraded. For the first successful voyage of the steamer Rabochi through the celebrated North-Eastern passage, which for centuries had attracted the most adventurous seafaring spirits, was used to bring a cargo of prisoners from Archangel to Magadan.

Hideous Enterprise

And the whole aim and purpose of this colossal and hideous enterprise was to exploint the gold of the Kolyma basin — that gold which, according to Lenin, was the root of all evil in the capitalist world and which they, the enlightened Bolsheviks, were going to use for the fittings in their public lavatories. Instead it has become the sole object and stay of a police-state within a police-state, the great land ruled over by the MVD, three times the size of France, with its new capital of Magadan and inhabited, apart from a handful of Eskimo-like natives, solely by prisoners and their warders, with a sprinkling of highly-paid volunteer specialists and technicians.

I have never been to Magadan or seen the Kolyma River, but I have seen other and less grim parts of the same sort of landscape in other parts of North Russia, the barren "taiga" where the earth is perpetually frozen, just below the surface, so that in the short, intense summer the melted snow and ice cannot drain away and turns the landscape into swamp above which mosquitoes dance in vast clouds.

In winter, the frosts can kill. And it is not hard to believe that during the first winter of the Kolyma enterprise whole camps were lost, prisoners in their thousands, guards, N.K.V.D. (former name of M.V.D.) commanders, and the grey prison dogs, perishing without a single survivor to tell the tale of disaster—disaster matched by the story of the transport ship Dzhurma which started from Vladivostok to Magadan with 12,000 prisoners packed so that they could scarcely move. The ship left too late in the season, got caught in the ice, and, after that terrible winter, arrived in Magadan without a single prisoner to unload.

He Saw Prisoners

I have seen these prisoners, not in Kolyma, but in those other desperate landscape or the north as well as in more temperate parts of Russia. In those days one tried to believe that what one saw was the terrible exhaustion, due to war-time conditions. Now it is clear that the odd camps one stumbled against were typical of thousands — the endless lines of flimsy hutments behind barbed wire, the watch towers on stilts, furnished with search-lights and machine guns; the brutalized guards, themselves criminals set in authority over the politicals; the prisoners thmselves facing the terrible winter in rags, with broken ravaged faces and eyes that never left the ground.

I have seen prisoners fall dead with exhaustion on the march and left lying in the snow. I have seen them in convoy trains, staring blankly out of the gratings of their cattle trucks, left without food sometimes for days in forgotten sidings. I have seen them at work up to their wasts in the icy swamps in summer, or straining in winter to shift with bare hands the great baulks of timber and concrete blocks slippery with ice.

Millions Of Prisoners

Nobody knows how many prisoners there are. But they run into millions. They are expendable. I myself have seen prisoners working on a war-time air strip forbidden to stop work as aircraft came in to land, killed on the spot, and simply thrown to one side.

This is only one side of the story. But it is the side of which we know all too little. Great things in Russia have been done by free labour and volunteers as well as by prisoners. But when we hear of Soviet achievements in taming the wilderness we should think of Magadan, the proud new city of the North-East, raised above tens of thousands of corpses.

This offers an extreme, but far from unique example, of the workings of the system of forced labour which now forms the foundation of the Soviet system itself. It is something new in the history of civilization as we know it.

Lauder Reaches End Of Road

HAMILTON, Scotland, March 3. —Sir Harry Lauder, the man with the kilt and the knobbly stick, reached the end of the road here Thursday.

In the words of his famous song, the world-famous Scottish comedian reached his "Happy Abode" at a quiet public funeral service near the grimy coal-mine where he started life as a pit-head boy more than 60 years ago.

The boy who lived to become famous for his humor and his songs and was beloved by millions throughout the world, died at his home at nearby Strathaven last Tuesday.

Best Ambassador

The Rev. T. F. Harkness Graham, who conducted the funeral service, described him as "the best ambassador Britain ever had."

He added: "Sir Harry Lauder was in the forefront of Scottish literature and song. He followed in the footsteps of Robert Burns and Sir Walter Scott in choosing the best in Scottish character, in the love of nature, in highland hills, and in the simplicity of courtship and marriage.

"Sir Harry, it is a little short of truth to say, was the best ambassador Britain ever had. He bound the empire together during the First World War and no personality in Britain was better known throughout the length and breadth of the world than Sir Harry through his songs."

At Lauder Ha' (Hall), Sir Harry's Strathaven home, there was a private service for relatives and close friends.

Funeral Service Held For Mrs. Maud Lang

Funeral service of the late Mrs. Julia Maud Lang were conducted by Rev. Walter Gilling of St. Luke's Anglican Church, in the absence of Rv. E. C. Moore, on Thursday from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons.

Mrs. Lang was born in Omemee, the daughter of the late Henry Mitchell and Mary Wright. Following her marriage in 1902, she moved to Millbrook, where she lived for many years, during which time she was an active member of St. Thomas' Anglican Church.

Pallbearers were John Armstrong, Thomas Armstrong, Ernest Johnston, George Cuff, Melville Mackey and Harold Bennett.

Interment was in St. Paul's Cemetery, Cavan.

BATTLE OF ATLANTIC

A total of 574 merchant ships were lost in the Atlantic Ocean during the Second World War.

Parents Make Male Dancers Quit Jobs

OSAKA, Japan, March 3 (AP) Low wages and protests from relatives are thinning the ranks of Japan's only dance-for-pay boys.

Japan's only male taxi dance hall, the Kabuki, opened here last fall with a rush of male applicants for the psuedo-gigolo jobs—and a rush of women who, apparently couldn't get partners of their own to manoeuvre through waltzes, fox trots and occasional tangos.

The Kabuki management had no trouble obtaining its original quota of 35 male dancers. They came in all sizes and descriptions.

All Sizes, All Kinds

There were the thin-faced, intense, soulful dancers with a touch of Valentino in their patent leather hair. There were be-spectacled young Japanese who relied on their "jines" as much as on their nimble feet. And there were Joe College boys, too, wearing sports jackets and slacks.

Shortly after the Kabuki opened for business, however, and the kimonoed misses began throwing their yen around for a spin around the floor, the boys' parents and relatives began to sound off.

"What kind of business is this?" one hard-jawed father asked his waltzing son. "Women paying to dance with you. Where is your pride?"

Half Resigned

Within a few weeks half of the original 35 dancers had handed in their slippers.

"Not enough pay" was a favorite remark. The boys draw about 5,000 yen ($10) monthly for three hours nightly on the floor. Tips were mightly scarce.

"Hardly enough to pay for the wear and tear on my shoes," groused one retiring dancer.

The Kabuki's astute young female managers, however, were not stumped. They had kept a complete file of applicants who weren't hired in the first group. These boys were summoned.

Quota Soon Filled

The band struck up a medley and Kabuki "examiners" put them through their steps, after which they were turned loose among the customers for an examination in manners and the social graces. The quota of 35 was again filled in a hurry.

But they didn't last long either. Relatives' objections and that low pay thing trimmed the ranks again. Another factor reared its head — Osaka's women began to lose interest in paying men to dance with them.

There are a lot of boys and a lot of dance-crazy girls in Osaka, however. The Kabuki's managers seem far from putting up the "closed" sign on its doors.

Baby Boy Born With Faulty Oesophagus

TORONTO, March 3—(CP)—A three-day-old baby boy was flown from Saskatchewan to Toronto Thursday night for a rare and delicate operation which will permit the tiny infant to eat.

The baby is believed suffering from a falty oesophagus. Food eaten by the infant does not reach the stomach.

The baby was flown by regular Trans-Canada Airlines flight from Saskatoon. He had been taken there from his home at Outlook, Sask. Dr. Ruth Albright accompanied the baby.

The operation, if undergone, will try to join the two ends of the oesophagus so the child can swallow normally. The operation was first performed in Toronto three years ago on a Peterborough child Since then the Hospital for Sick Children has done it several times.

After the operation the baby must be fed through a hole in his stomach until the oesophagus heals.

Public Library Circulation Up

Despite a drop of 140 in the circulation of books in the adult section of the Public Library in January and February this year compared with the same period in 1949, the overall figure for the main and branch libraries shows an increase in circulation of 8,426.

During February 9,076 books were taken from the Public Library to make its total circulation for two months 18,313. The branch library adult circulation increased in February by 64 over January's 1,299. The total circulation of both libraries for adult departments is 20,975.

The juvenile department made the greatest increase with 1,376 books over last year's 4,034 for February. At the branch library 1,914 books were taken out during February to add to January's 1,557. The total circulation of the juvenile departments to date is 13,552, a rise of 5,464 over last year.

Fifteen clubs and associations used the auditorium at the main building during February and used the committee room. The group of Toronto Artists' Exhibit and the Peterborough Camera Club exhibition are still on display.

Beggar's Legacy

LONDON — (CP) — A £100 ($310) legacy awaits a beggar who asked help from a clergyman. Rev. Cyril Brunditt and that while the man was asking him for money he also said he wanted a reconciliation with his father in Wales. The clergyman wrote the father, but learned he had died leaving his son $100. Now the vicar is looking for the beggar.

Report 100,000 Germans Dig Uranium For Russians

BERLIN, March 3 — (AP). — Western intelligence sources estimated that at least 100,000 west-zone Germans are digging uranium ore for Russian atomic weapon plants.

The huge project in the Saxony Mountains near the Czechoslovakian border has been termed "Little Siberia" and is said to be heavily guarded by Soviet troops and German special police. It is reportedly under control of a Soviet stock company with headquarters in Moscow.

The pace of the Soviet-directed uranium project has been furiously stepped up since 1947, according to the reports, and Russian engineers are said to be directing 2,500 Germans in other searches for the ore in the Harz Mountains of Thuringia.

Like Gold Rush

The reports say life in the forbidden area is much like that of the old gold rush days of Alaska and California. Experts get big pay, heavy sales of liquor are permitted, gambling flourishes and many prostitutes have trekked to the area. Once a famed vacation spot, the area is now surrounded by machine-gun nests and intruders risk death.

Frequent mine disasters are estimated by the Germans to have taken the lives of more than 1,000 workers.

But the uranium mines now are said to be better timbered and outfitted with safety devices.

South African Housing

CAPE TOWN — (CP) — Cape Town city council is preparing a minor revolution in native housing. In place of the expensive homes of recent years, plans have been drawn up for huts of corrugated asbestos costing only £100 ($310) each. Life of these huts is estimated at 20 years, while the rental will be only 10s a month.

Ontario Mines Set Record, Of $515,000,000

TORONTO, March 3.—(CP).—Mines Minister Gemmell of Ontario today estimated Ontario's mining production at $515,000,000, the highest ever recorded and topping 1948 by more than $20,000,000.

Mr. Gemmell made his estimate in a message of greeting to the Prospectors and Developers Association which will hold its annual meeting here Sunday to Wednesday.

Said Mr. Gemmell of mining:

"It is a story of great hardship, rare good fortune and misfortune, of failures and great successes, a story of the birth and the very existence of such robust northern communities as Timmins, Kirkland Lake, Cobalt, Sudbury, Red Lake, Geralton and a host of others.

"From the turn of the 20th century to the end of 1949 the total value of minerals wrested from the good earth and rock of Canada is something over $13,800,000,000, truly an astronomical figure.

Very Satisfying

"For us in Ontario it is very satisfying that the mines of our province have contributed more than 42 per cent of that total—in round figures about $5,700,000,000.

"It is gratifying to all prospectors and mine developers to see the comeback being made in gold. True, prospecting for gold has been in a slump in recent years but the over-all search for new mineral wealth is far from in the doldrums as illustrated by the fact that miners' licenses taken out or renewed in 1949 numbered 7,290 or an increase of nearly 1,300 over 1948, while the number of claims recorded was 14,420, or more than 5,000 more than in the previous year.

4,000 Claims

"The search for uranium now has entered the picture and since the discoveries of pitchblende north of Sault Ste. Marie in 1948 the claims staked in the Alona Bay area have numbered nearly 4,000.

"Extensive expansion programs are under way in the Sudbury area designed to maintain production and calculated to prolong the life of this great base metal camp for many years. Extensions to plant and equipment at the International Nickel Company alone will involve a capital outlay of about $50,000,000.

St. Bernard Dogs Get Little Liquor Kegs Back On Backs After Lapse Of 50 Years

PARIS, March 3.—After a lapse of nearly 50 years, the dogs of the Hospice of St. Bernard in the Alpine snows are to be equipped again with little kegs of liquor to wear in their rescue work. The St. Bernard dogs, famous in story and cartoon the world over, were relieved in 1900 of the liquor barrels which they formerly wore strapped to their backs.

In the last year, so many persons have been lost in the Alps that the monks of the hospice have decided to restore the liquor. It is not brandy and never was, but marc, a cheap distillation of grapeskins or a sweet beverage distilled by the monks from herbs grown in the valley below their monastery.

The dogs used now are not of the St. Bernard breed, but a crossbreed, part buldog, part terrier and part Pyrenees shepherd.

Offers of a North American whiskey distillery to supply without cost the contents of the kegs to be carried by the dogs in the future were recently refused by the St. Bernard monks. The company wished to exploit the rescue work for its advertisements.

Can't Buy Newspaper Outside Trading Zone

CLEVELAND, March 3 (AP)—People in Loraine, Ohio, can't buy the Elyria Chronicler Telegram at news stands because the paper regards their city as outside a "natural trading zone," a government witness said Thursday.

This testimony was given by Russell Stokley, business manager of the Chronicle Telegram. He spoke from the witness stand at the anti-trust hearing of the Loraine Journal. The Justice Department is seeking an injunction against the paper, under the Sherman anti-trust law.

Among other charges, the government has accused the Journal of persuading the Chronicle Telegram, the only other daily in Loraine county, to keep out of Loraine.

Stokley also testified that editions of the Chronicle Telegram gets into Loraine only by mail. No news boys or news-stand dealers handle them, he said.

Film Studios Slash Staffs, Fear Recession

HOLLYWOOD, March 3. —(AP).—The films industry nervously talked of a recession yesterday as at least two studios were cutting their staffs.

Daily Variety said Warner Brothers were laying off 50 per cent. of its studio personnel. The report said Jack L. Warner had told department heads to make lists of employees to be dropped. The only official comment from the studio was: "We have nothing to say."

Paramount was also reported planning severe cut-backs in its studio staff as five pictures were postponed. The production slowdown is possible because of the studio's large backlog of unreleased films.

Some layoffs have been made in production crews at 20th Century-Fox, which also is in a good backlog position. Top executives of RKO now are in Hollywood to plot the future of the studio, which is trying to line up additional financing.

Of the five big studios, only MGM appears to be in full production. The studio announces it will adhere to a schedule of 40 films in 1950.

Theatre grosses since the first of the year have not been good due to bad weather and lack of top-flight pictures. Revenue from overseas has not improved, and there is still some mystery about the effect of television.

Canadian Land Expected To Level Off

OTTAWA, March 3 (CP)—The climb in the value of Canadian land soon may be levelling off.

This was predicted Thursday by the Bureau of Statistics in a survey of 1949 land values on Canadian farms.

The average value per acre amounted to $40, an increase of $1 from 1948, smallest climb in five years.

However, the 1949 average value per acre was $10 greater than in 1945, when the big climb began.

The following year farm land values shot up $2 per acre, in 1947 they went up another $3 and paved the way for the biggest postwar climb—$4 in 1948.

The 1949 average of $40 compares with the 1935-39 average of $24.

Lowest since 1945, the current rate of increase, said the bureau, "may indicate the approach of a postwar levelling off of land values in most provinces."

In some ways, the general upward trend in land values reflects higher prices for farm products and of the things farmers buy.

The 1949 farm price index for agricultural products was 151 per cent above the 1935-39 level. The index of things farmers bought, including living costs, advanced 90 per cent from 1935-39.

The $1-per-acre increase in 1949 reflected rural real estate boosts in all provinces, except Quebec and Saskatchewan. Data for Newfoundland was not included.

Prospectors Gather To Celebrate 50 Colorful Years In Mining

By FORBES RHUDE

TORONTO, March 3 (CP) — Canada's fabulous mining industry starts this week-end to celebrate a half-century of progress at the colorful annual meeting of the Prospectors and Developers Association.

Statistically since 1900 it has:

Wrested from the earth and rock $13,800,000,000 and jumped annual production from $65,000,000 to $900,000,000; established cities and towns and kept a stream of wealth flowing through all Canadian industry and payrolls.

Humanly, it has been a story of riches and heartbreak and both will be presented at the four-day prospectors gathering from Sunday to Wednesday. For, in the words of Mrs. Viola MacMillan, president:

Still Hale

"It is not generally realized that many of the old-timers who staked our great mines and pushed back our frontiers are still hale and hearty today."

And, hale and hearty, some rich, some poor, many of them will be here to swap yarns of former days.

A lot of memories will be brought back by the picture gallery alone—some 600 pictures collected from across Canada of persons, many now historic, many now forgotten.

They wil show Fred La Rose and his lucky hammer, which he threw at a fox, but which knocked off a chunk of high-grade ore to discover the Cobalt silver camp. They wil show in the field Sandy McIntyre who staked the McIntyre Porcupine, and Benny Hollinger who staked Hollinger Consolidated, both rich Ontario mines.

Says Hon. J. J. McCann, federal minister of mines, in sending his greetings:

"Canadian mining was conceived in the 17th century in coal diggings on the Atlantic coast and cradled through the backwash of the California gold rush into the Fraser valley of British Columbia in 1858, the Cariboo (B.C.) placer discoveries in 1859, the world-renowned Klondike rush in 1898 and the discovery of the rich copper-nickel deposits in the Sudbury area coincident with the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Silver Discovery

"However, it was the discovery of the silver wealth of the Cobalt camp in Ontario in 1903 that brought the industry into the limelight of public interest. Prospectors trained in this camp fanned out into the wilderness of Canada's northland and discovered gold in the Porcupine, Ont., area in 1908; at Kirkland Lake, Ont., in 1911; copper and zinc at Flin Flon, Man., in 1915; copper and gold at Noranda, Que., in 1920; and radium and uranium at Great Bear Lake, N.W.T. in 1930.

"Across Canada the 'finds' grew into settlements until today thriving cities and towns stand testimony to the great underground weath that has made Canada the largest producer in the world of nickel, asbestos and the platinum metals; the second largest of gold, zinc, radium, uranium and selenium; and fourth of copper, lead and silver.

"Means will doubtless be found eventually to utilize many of our metal and mineral deposits now well below the grade required for profitable operation," he added. "Furthermore, large scattered areas of our country remain wholly unexplored for mineral wealth or have been only partly explored."

Police To Probe Distress Calls For More Coal

TORONTO, March 3—(CP) — Police will be asked to investigate "distress" calls to the emergency coal distribution centre being set up in Toronto Thursday.

If they find a caller has fuel he will be refused delivery from the distribution centre, H. G. Ratcliffe, a member of the Toronto Coal Exchange, said Thursday.

Bell Telephone crews were installing three lines in the downtown centre, the identity of which will be known only by telephone number.

Coal supplies in the city were not improved Thursday. "We are getting only two days' supply of coal a week from the United States," said Mr. Ratcliffe. He said no one will go short if householders accept western coal, small size anthracite, coke and briquets on hand.

It was reported the exchange plans to seek an order from Trade Minister Howe making it mandatory to conserve fuel and an offence to hoard fuel if the situation does not improve within the next few days.

Man Failed To File Income Tax Returns

A Peterborough man who didn't bother to file income tax returns for the years 1945, 1947 and 1948 was today fined $50—$25 on each of two charges—by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court.

Asked by the magistrate why he hadn't made returns for these three years, William Dawson Paul, McFarlane Ave., replied: "Well, I didn't have enough money for one thing."

This was not considered sufficiently good reason by the magistrate who fined him $50 with the option of 20 days in jail.

P. D. Scollard appeared on behalf of the Department of National Revenue.

Garbo and John Gilbert are seen in one of the clinches that made them top box-office magnets in their days. Chaplin and Garbo, both, veterans of the silent film era, both climbed to top fame and fortune on a legend of silence. 15 Homeless In Hull Fire; $5,000 Damage

HULL, Que., March 3 (CP) — Early morning fire Thursday destroyed a two-storey frame home leaving 15 persons homeless. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

No one was injured although the occupants were forced to jump from a second floor window. Stairways leading to the street were blocked by a wall of fire and dense smoke.

Left homeless were Mr. and Mrs. Antoine Simard and their five children; Mr. and Mrs. John Renaud and a two-year-old baby; and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Therien and three children.

The fire started in the basement of the home and firemen said they believed the thawing of a frozen pipe Wednesday night was responsible for the outbreak. A blow torch was used and apparently burning embers smouldered hours before bursting into flame.

Police Identify Second Victim

HAMILTON, March 3 (CP).—Police today tentatively identified the second of two victims of Wednesday's boxcar fire as Vi Cook 27, of Oakville. The other, police said Wednesday night, was C. H. Landrey, about 30, who moved to Toronto recently from a village near Halifax.

The two died when trapped in the blazing boxcar after climbing atop stacked bales of crude rubber. When firemen opened the car the dismembered bodies were burned almost beyond recognition.

Police quoted a taxicab driver as saying he took a couple answering the description of Landrey and Miss Cook to nearby Van Wagner's Beach early Wednesday morning. It is thought the couple may have entered the car on its siding at the Firestoen rubber plant to escape from the cold.

Russians Insert Secret Clause Setting Up 'Pacific Admiralty'

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Special Correspondent
(Copyright 1950 by NEA Service)

PARIS—(NEA)—A secret annex to the treaty recently concluded between Soviet Russia and Communist China gives full control of all naval operations in the Pacific to a joint Russo-Chinese "Pacific Admiralty." This is reported to me by a well-informed satellite diplomat, who described the secret clauses as "Annex III" to the Sino-Soviet treaty.

The "Admiralty," whose headquarters will probably be located in Vladivostok, also received jurisdiction over all Chinese ports. This includes the right to establish Soviet submarine bases.

As details of the Soviet-Chinese negotiations reach Western Europe, there is increasing evidence that the discussions between Mao Tse-tung and the members of the Soviet Politburo were not always amiable. At one point they even reached a dramatic crisis and required the personal intervention of Stalin.

Vyacheslav Molotov, former Foreign Commissar, acted as chief negotiator for the Russians. Other members of the Politburo who needs, Mao Tse-tung requested throughout the negotiations spe-participated in the talks with Mao Tse-tung and his Foreign Minister, Chu En-lai, included Marshall Bulganin and Anastase Mikoyan.

While the Russions, it is said, were interest in writing a treaty that would suit their present political and propaganda

cial consideration of China's "burning reconstruction problems."

The Chinese Communist leader asked the Russians for:

1. Immediate large-scale relief for famine-striken Central China.

2. Top priority for the reconstruction of China's transport system, which has completely broken down.

3. Heavy equipment for the industries of Manchuria to replace obsolete or worn-out machines. (In this connection Mao pointed out that Manchuria suffered greatly because of Soviet indiscriminate dismantling practices.)

4. Heavy arms to replace dwindling American and Japanese stocks.

5. Aid for the rapid development and exploitation of the hydroelectric and mineral resources (oil, coal, tungsten) of the Sing-Kiang and Ching-Hai provinces (adjoining Russian Turkeston, north of Tibet).

The Russians agreed to send immediate relief and heavy arms to China. But they pointed out that such aid would of necessity be limited because of inadequate transportation facilities. At the same time they sought to convince Mao that it would be useless to discuss details of China's reconstruction program prior to the conclusion of a treaty with Japan and while the entire Far Eastern question remains unsettled.

The discussion between Mao Tse-tung reached a deadlock last Jan. 9 which wa broken only by Stalin's personal intervention.

Stalin told Mao in view of the rapidly deteriorating international situation, some parts of the Soviet heavy industry at present located in European Russia would have to be moved to Central Asia. This would make it easier for Russia to meet some Chinese requests with regard to the province of Sing-Kiang.

As to the program for Ching-Hai, Stalin suggested consultation with the directors of the Soviet Putilov works, the Skoda and Kattawice works of Czechoslovakia and Poland and the Csepel arsenal of Hungary.

(Prior to his departure from Moscow, my informant told me, Mao had several conferences with the directors of these works who were urgently summoned to the Soviet capital.)

Stalin, in turn, requested that all Chinese economic plans be coordinated with and subordinated to the point defense of Soviet Russia and its allies. Mao Tse-tung, is said to have agreed to Stalin's request which was incorporated in the secret "Annex III" of the Soviet-Chinese treaty. This annex, at Stalin's personal suggestion, was also signed by the representatives of the local Sing-Kiang government.

Don Breadman South With Navy

Join the Navy and go south for the winter. That's the life Donald Breadman, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Breadman, 188 Lake St. is enjoying at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Breadman have just received a letter from S. Carolina, where their son's ship, the aircraft carrier Magnificent docked for four days before leaving shore again for Cuba.

Most impressive feature of S. Carolina for the Seaman was the strong racial feeling between the white and colored people. He was greatly impressed with the beauty of Charleston.

The day the ship docked the crew was entertained on a sight seeing tour of the city and in the evening, the sailors were guests at a talent show and dance presented by the Charleston Symphony Orchestra. The following evening they were guests at a special preview of "The Philadelphia Story," before it opened to the public a few days later.

Another entertainment was a dance held in their honor. The ship's commodore was welcomed by the mayor of the city and the entire stay of the ship's company was marked by hospitality.

Donald Breadman joined the Navy a year ago and is at present undergoing a submarine detection course on the Magnificent.

Trouble Brewing For Coast's Slippery Caddy

LONDON, March 3 — (CP). — Calling Cadborosaurus! Calling Cadborosaurus! British Columbia's coastwise sea-serpent! Take a deep plunge into the Gulf of Georgia and stay there. The hunt is on!

For from Copenhagen Charles Groot of Reuters writes that an expedition will go out from there next September or October to clear up once and for all whether or not there are sea monsters.

Whether or not there are sea monsters, the man says, as though you hadn't settled that long ago.

The expedition does not say whether or not it is going to put the heat specifically on you, but it says it is going to spend two years "fishing" — yes, "fishing" the man calls it—to depths of 30,000 feet in nearly every sea and ocean in the world.

On second thought, in view of that depth angle, perhaps you had better hole up in some shallow spot in Cadboro Bay.

But let Groot of Reuters tell the story and you will know what to watch out for. Says he:

The expedition's main equipment will be a 22-ton steel wire rope, especially constructed to stand enormous strains and fitted with nets, trawls, grabs and other instruments which, when lowered over the ship's side, will sweep the sea bottom to a depth greater than the height of Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain.

What do you think of that Caddy? And there's worse to come:

Six Miles Down

When the wire is out, the expetition ship, Galathea, formerly the World Friendship vessel Friendship, will steam slowly ahead in an effort to trap in the wire creatures, vegetation, and any other objects which may be lurking nearly six miles below the keel. The wire, paid out to its full length, will take up to three days to wind in again.

The scientific leader of the expedition is 47-year-old Dr. Anton Bruun, of the Copenhagen Zoological Museum, who expects to make some sensational "catches." He says there have been so many reports from different parts of the world, of sea monsters and sea serpents, that there may well be some truth in the old belief in their existence.

With the help of specially designed scientific instruments, the expedition hopes to collect a mass of information about the extreme depths of the world's oceans. Apart from temperature readings, currents and similar details, a specially constructed radioactive instrumnet will yield information on plant life of the ocean bed.

At the suggestion of Dr. Niels Arley, a young assistant of Prof. Niels Bohr, Denmark's No. 1 atom expert, an investigation will be made of the world's magnetism at the ocean floor. The results of these investigations may provide new evidence in connection with the Einstein theories on gravity and world forces.

Dr. Bruun believes the possibilities to be unlimited. Two-thirds of the world's surface, he said, are covered by sea water. Only a relatively minute part of this area has been explored.

Dr. Bruun is not disturbed by the possibility of bringing to the surface some gigantic and ferocious sea monster. "Anything of that sort will almost certainly be dead by the time it reaches the surface," he said. (Nice thought, Cadborosaurus!)

The expedition is expected to cost between two and three million kroner (between $280,000 and $420,000)—a sum which is being provided partly by the Danish Expedition Fund, partly by the Danish Government, partly by the Carlsberg Foundation, and partly by private contribution.

The Galathea will be manned by a Danish navy crew of about 75. The commander will be Captain Svend Greve. Ten Danish scientists will form the expert team and a number of foreign scientists are expected to join the expedition as it reaches the waters near their home country.

ALISON AND JANET LAY, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lay, of Ste. Adele, Que., and grandnieces of Canada's former Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, are shown doing a spot of training via toboggan for the Midgets' Ski Meet to be held March 11 at the Chantecler, Ste. Adele en haut. Janet will enter the Baby Race and Alison, being a midget's midget, will cheer her sister from the sidelines. The meet, which is for children under 13, was first held last year and is designed to encourage children to learn to ski "under control" and to become all-round good skiers.

New Premier Of New Zealand Warns Against Extravagance

By W. M. J. GREEN

WELLINGTON.— New Zealand is prosperous, nobody wants for anything essential and there appears to be plenty of money about, but the newly elected government does not take a happy view of the state of the nation. It has been living away beyond its income, according to the new prime minister, Mr. Sidney G. Holland, who holds also the portfolio of finance.

In a statement which he has just made public, he has painted a grim picture of the position in which he says there has to be economy in government spending. "With record prices being received for our exports, with production at a very high level, and with everyone employed we should have our finances in a state of buoyancy, and we should be building up substantial reserves for a rainy day," he says. "We are doing neither. Inflation is in top gear. Our overseas balance of payments is unsatisfactory."

Reckless Expenditures

New Zealanders as a whole were at first puzzled by this statement and many, in fact, were amazed. Cynically, Labor spokesmen suggested that the new prime minister was putting up a smoke screen and was attempting to smear the former administration.

Mr. Holland made no bones about placing the blame. Soaring government expenditure, he said, was the cause of the situation. "It is obvious that a continuation of this reckless national extravagance would land the country in serious difficulties, and it is evident that the government has been changed in time—but only just."

There were 16 foolscap sheets of Mr. Holland's review and on almost every page the previous government was indicted, not only for extravagance, but also on general financial policy grounds.

In reply, the former minister of finance, Mr. Nash, said simply: "Mr. Holland gets his information from the same source as I did," and the former prime minister Mr. Fraser, suggested that if the position was really as bad as was indicated then the obvious thing to do was to call Parliament together at once and put all the cards on the table and allow a full discussion in public to take place.

Operated At Loss

However, Mr. Holland's grim picture is not the only one that has been painted. The minister of railways, Mr. William S. Goosman, has presented a gloomy report on the transport services which the state operates. The railways and the railways' road services are being operated at a loss, he asserts, and the indications are that the prices charged for fares and freights will soon be raised.

Meantime, there is a process of review of the public service under way and men are being retired in numbers. In itself it is not a bad thing that men who are over-age, who have been kept on beyond the normal retiring age because of manpower shortage, should be retired; but if they are to be replaced, the shortage will become even worse. Obviously the shortening of staff would appear to be a policy matter — part of an economy campaign.

The prime minister, too, has indicated that the whole system of subsidies is under review. Mr. Holland suggests that subsidies which remove the necessity for efficiency and economy in operation should go, and the review that is now taking place will probably result in a sorting out of such subsidies and their removal.

Taxed for Subsidies

Spokesmen of the former administration allege that removal of subsidies will mean increasing costs and they forecast that the people will soon find that the cost of living has soared.

The prime minister states that subsidies for the year ending on March 31 of this year were estimated to reach £13,934,000 (in excess of $46,000,000) and are now expected to reach £15,000,000, whilst in the coming year — March 31, 1950, to March 31, 1951 —they'll reach £17,000,000 (nearly $56,000,000).

"The important thing to remember is that someone has to find the money to pay these subsidies," said Mr. Holland. "The government has to tax the people in one way or another so, in the end, the people pay, although their share may be hidden in sales tax and other forms of indirect taxation."

With this generalization the people in general would agree, but if subsidies are removed and the people have to pay 2s 6d a pound for butter against the present 1s 6d (roughly 26 cents), they may not like the idea. Bread and a number of other essentials would also be involved in any over-all scaling down of subsidies.

Social Security Scheme

Similarly, the Social Security Scheme, which has been the pride of the Labor Party and the envy of the world, has come in for critical analysis from the new minister, Mr. John T. Watts. He has criticized features of the scheme which have led the public to believe that some whittling down may be expected. But on the other hand, the prime minister declared in his election policy that social security benefits would not be touched.

The coming session of Parliament will therefore be the most interesting for many years, with the people waiting on the one hand for the promised relaxation of controls and, on the other, for dividends.

The National Party appears to take the view that the dividends handed out by the Labor Government have been too many and too big. If they give any in the coming session they will take the less spectacular form of relaxation of taxation charges, which will be equated, or nearly equated, by rising costs.

So it seems that at least 12 months will have to go by before any real appreciation of the position can be made politically and economically. In the meantime, there is a shortage of labor, higher savings figures than ever and a generally high standard of living in the country.

Inquest Ordered Into Sleighing Death

BROCKVILLE, March 3 (CP) —Coroner Dr. H. E. Preston on Thursday ordered an inquest into the death Tuesday of four-year-old Barbara Forbes. The child was killed while sleigh-riding on Richards Street when her sled slid under a bus.

Garry Bradley, six, who was riding on the same hand-sleigh, is in hospital suffering from serious injuries.

The inquest will be held Monday.

Confiscate Bond

MONTREAL, March 3 (CP) — A $12,000 property bond posted on behalf of Michel Sisco, charged as a ringleader in a narcotic racket smashed by the RCMP, on Thursday was ordered confiscated when Sisco failed to appear for the third time in the Court of King's Bench. Sisco, suave 35-year-old night club operator, was arrested last September with the Rev. Joseph Arthur Taillefer on illegal possession and sale of narcotics charges.

Tourists Want More

LONDON, Ont., March 3 (CP) The post-war tourist "honeymoon" is over for Canada, J. Leo Dolan, said Thursday in urging bigger and better facilities to attract visitors to this country. The Dominion Government's Travel Bureau director told the Canadian Club that tourists to Canada "are going to demand more and more for their dollar."

Candy was sold by members of circle two.

Communists Spiked

PARIS, March 3 (AP)—Communist efforts to bar Coca Cola in France were spiked Thursday. Two days ago the National Assembly passed a bill giving Health Minister Pierre Schneiter authority to ban any "harmful" drinks made out of vegetable extracts. The bill had the support of French wine growers and the Communists, but the latter failed to get an amendment passed which would have specifically put Coca Cola on the black list.

Suspended 13 Times

MINEOLA, N. Y., March 3 — (AP)—The motorman blamed for the Long Island Railroad collision which killed 31 persons was suspended from duty 13 times previously for violation of company rules, District Attorney Frank A. Gulotta said Thursday. The motorman Jacob Keifer of Baldwin, N. Y., is free on $10,000 bail on second - degree manslaughter charges.

"I am not suggesting that the freeing of the Canadian dollar is going to work any magic, any more than the freeing of the British pound at this moment would work any magic....

"All I am asking is what Churchill suggested, that the government get out of the way and let the millions of people who want to buy and sell to each other exercise their initiative, energy and ingenuity, without being forced to get permits for everything."

Too Many Immigrants

Mr. Gagnon said that if Canada has 375,000 unemployed today it is because the government had brought in more than 360,000 immigrants since the end of the war. It was "foolish" for the government to bring in immigrants when there were not enough jobs or homes for Canadians.

Mr. Gagnon said that the fear of misery hanging over the heads of workers was becoming a nightmare. They remembered the depression of the 1930s and feared such times were returning.

The government had promised full employment and high incomes. It had stated it would have public work projects ready for execution in periods of recession. The government apparently did not realize that the recession already was here. It had no solution to offer.

Only Temporary Help

The recent amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act were of only limited and temporary help. The time had come to inaugurate public works.

Leon Balcer (PC—Trois-Rivieres) suggested inauguration of public works to relieve unemployment that was having a "disastrous" effect on the economy of his own constituency.

Mr. Balcer said unemployment is increasing despite the optimistic predictions of Trade Minister Howe and Agriculture Minister Gardiner. The situation was getting serious even if the government did not realize it.

Auguste Maltais (L—Saguenay) disagreed with people claiming Canada is in the midst of an economic crisis. There was some unemployment here and there across the country, but he was confident the situation would correct itself. Possibly things would not return to the prosperous conditions known after the war, but they would return to "normal."

Mr. Maltais also disagreed with those who suggested that Canada accept sterling in payment for Canadian goods. This would be simply another way of giving millions to a socialist country that "appears to want to die."

its income tax schedule to compensate farmers for long hours of hard work. Poor working conditions and reduced profits were driving young men from the farms to the cities where they added to unemployment problems.

Opposes Suggestion

In his speech Mr. McEwing also said he opposed suggestions by Education Minister Porter to place less emphasis on examinations. There would be no uniformity in determiing standards for entrance to universities. Ontario government grants were depriving local school boards of their autonomy.

Labor and farmers should cooperate to sell their products on foreign markets. Mr. McEwing added. To compete, Canadian prices would have to come down "and if prices are going to come down both labor and the farmer have got to lower their standards a bit."

"It was time the Highways Department restricted weight limits of trucks travelling on highways," he said.

"They are wearing and tearing up our roads."

Lush Opening On Broadway

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)— In one of the most lush dramatic productions that a Broadway first-night audience has seen in many seasons, Frederic March and Florence Eldridge opened on Thursday night at the Broadway Theatre in a new play which is sometimes comedy-tragedy and sometimes simple, human emotions.

In this "Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep," which is Elaine Ryan's dramatization of Ludwig Bemelman's novel, hardly a facet of cosmopolitan human life of the 1940s is left untouched.

The play, staged by Hugh Cronyn for producers Nancy Stern and George Nicholls III, had its premiere in London, Ont., two months ago. Cronyn, a native of that Canadian city, is a veteran of many New York stage hits and Hollywood films.

Be No Sellout At The CGE Morton Says

A promise that the IUE will reapply for certification "as soon as legally possible" at the Peterborough CGE plant was issued today by John G. Morton, president of Local 524 IUE (CIO-CCL).

"There will be no sellout of IUE's membership at Peterborough CGE plant by the UE," he said. "We will continue to fight for a free vote as well as to protect the welfare of our membership which represents the majority of the workers. We shall continue to fight communist and employer collaboration."

The IUE locked in a four-month struggle with the left-wing UE for jurisdiction at the Peterborough Works had its application for certification thrown out Tuesday by the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

Tom Fitzpatrick, international IUE representative, said today IUE had been deprived of its bargaining rights by "the vicious campaign of communist-dominated unionism and an employer-dictated Labor Code which is designed to make it hard as possible for workers to have a free ballot."

Deprived of Ballot

Mr. Fitzpatrick stated the UE had deprived the CGE workers in Peterborough of a "free secret ballot" on two occasions.

"They first refused a challenge to an immediate consent vote which would have eliminated the technicalities of the Labor Board," he said. "Now they have successfully hidden behind the company-dictated Labor Code of Ontario to prevent a free vote under government auspices."

The IUE international representative continued his blast against the UE, the Labor Code and the Company: "The UE's refusal to leave the matter of a bargaining agency up to the Peterborough CGE workers themselves and their open collaboration with the employers of Ontario by use of the Labor Code is proof in practice of their hostility to democracy."

"We can now expect the sellout to management in negotiations which Jackson is eager to conclude," Mr. Morton prophesied. "This double denial of a free ballot is only the first round victory for the communists, the IUE will continue to fight."

The IUE president said his organization would join with "the rest of organized labor in demanding democratic reform of the employer-inspired communist-protecting Labor Code of Ontario."

Bancroft's Low 37 Below, Apsley Has 32

Cold-weather conversation in Peterborough today takes on a serious turn as fuel dealers survey dwindling piles, especially coal. Wood is also a scarce commodity but fuel oil is in adequate supply. It takes a lot of fuel to stoke fires against the winter's second-lowest temperatures which went down to 16 through the night.

By no means the lowest temperatures in the province, Bancroft made a very worthy showing with 37 below and Apsley next in line at minus 32.

Rising up the scale is Marmora, 29; Havelock and Buckhorn, 28; Burleigh Falls, 25; Garden Hill, 23; Hastings, 21, and Omemee, 20. The warmer sections were found in Lakefield at 18; Peterborough, 16; Gore's Landing, 15; Coldsprings, 14, and the "warmest" at Campbellford which stood at 12.

Kirkland Lake recorded the second-lowest in that district for the season, 50 below, and outstripped White River by 11 degrees.

The thermometer there rose 23 degrees in 2½ hours this morning. Perhaps this indication bears out the weather man's promise that the cold wave has started to lessen its grip on the province. He forecasts moderating conditions and much milder everywhere by Saturday.

Wants Human Relations In School Curriculum

A human relations course to be included in the educational curriculum was advocated Thursday by C. A. Pollock of Kitchener, vice-president and general manager of Dominion Electrohome Industries. Mr. Pollock was guest speaker at the quarterly Chamber of Commerce dinner held in the Empress Hotel and his subject was "Building Better Communities through Education."

Today the workman no longer got the sense of pride in his work that the craftsman did before the industrial revolution. Instead he generally was more concerned with the amount in his pay envelope.

Because of this, the speaker stated, management is confronted with a major problem in human relations which is not being solved.

"Personnel departments are doing a good job but they are starting in the middle of things," he said. "We must start much earlier in the life of the young man and woman."

And that's where the schools come into the picture.

If young people were given a course on human relations in the schools, then management would have a fertile source of potential executives who could make the labor-management wheels run with a minimum of grit.

Emphasis on education at this meeting of the Chamber was no accident. Next week is Education Week in Peterborough and that body is already focussing the attention of residents on the importance of the schools in communtiy life.

Moreover, for the first time, the Chamber is going to create an educational committee to enable the business and professional men of the city to exchange ideas with the teachers.

Mr. Pollock referred to social and economic progress as "siamese twins" in the present civilization's attempt to better itself.

Still Face Problems

"We have the materials and the technilogical methods to satisfy many of man's wants. And if we are not satisfying them it is because we are having difficulties in the school, economic and political fields.

"Although we have made great progress in creating the means for material improvement, i.e., the technological methods, we have not been so successful in production, distribution and use," the speaker asserted.

"Business has done a good job in engineering but less so in human relations."

A man's work should be part and parcel of his life, said Mr. Pollock.

"A great many people unfortunately get their happiness from life in escaping from their bread and butter work. In the interests of social and economic progress can we be satisfied with an educational system that turns out such a product."

Work The Bane of Life

The speaker described it as "a canker in our economy." A large number of people look upon work as the bane of their life, he said.

"We've got to do something about it because it is the big problem in our time," said Mr. Pollock. That is one reason why the Chamber of Commerce is happy to get businessmen and teachers together. The student must learn how to live as well as just earn a living.

Mr. Pollock, a graduate engineer and past president of the Kitchener Chamber of Commerce suggested that the Chamber could give leadership to students. Let them know a broad education is necessary; not just those things that bring in money.

Future relations of employer and employee could be benefited by a course in human relations such as he had proposed, he thought.

"We business men are very interested in preserving our democratic way of life . . . and we should, among other things, be interested in the work that is going on in our schools."

The speaker was introduced by Ralph Standish and thanked by Gordon Munro. P. D. Scollard, president of the Peterborough Chamber was in the chair.

Guests included members of the Board of Education and the Separate School Board, teachers and members of Home and School associations.

Head table guests were: L. A. Buckley of Kitchener, secretary of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce; James Dutton, Sr., who was made an honorary member of the Chamber; Gordon Munro, Chamber member; Mr. Pollock, guest speaker; Mr. Standish, his introducer; J. G. McCarney, chairman of the Separate School Board; K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools; and two members of the Board of Education, G. Wilson Craw and chairman F. H. Jobbitt.

Three In Court On Excessive Rental Charges

Three landlords were arraigned in police court Thursday under the Wartime Leasehold Regulations for overcharging on rents.

Mrs. Lillian Elacqua, 444 George St., charged Percy O'Brien $50 a month from March 1, 1949 to June 30, 1949, when the correct rental should have been $34. W. F. Huycke, KC, representing the WPTB, said that although Mrs. Elacqua had been warned about her overcharging in August, she had made no move to rectify the situation until February 24.

The accused, who pleaded guilty, said she had been in Montreal and had not realized the seriousness of the matter. But she agreed to pay O'Brien his $64.

Failure to do so would probably result in another WPTB charge, Mr. Huycke said.

Magistrate Philp fined her $15 and $2.50 costs.

Earl Turner, 76 Robertson St., pleaded not guilty to four charges under the rent regulations. On the request of Mr. Huycke the hearings were adjourned to March 8 so witnesses could be obtained.

Arthur Eggleston of the First Concession, Smith, pleaded guilty to overcharging two tenants $8 a month each for six months. Eggleston was fined $15 and costs by the magistrate, and, although the court was not competent to order him to repay this overcharge, he was warned if he did not, he might be fined under the rental regulations.

The tenants, Joseph Astles and Lloyd Merriam, were paying monthly rent of $28, instead of the $20 deemed proper by the rental appraiser.

The two other charges against Eggleston were failing to apply to have a correct rental fixed within 30 days of letting the rooms.

Eggleston said he was unaware that the WPTB regulations were vaild outside Peterborough and he also stated that one of the tenants owed him a sum of money. This latter disagreement would have to be ironed out between himself and the other party he was informed.

Hydro Refund For Last Year Cut To $5,318

Refund by the Hydro-Electric Commission on the Peterborough power bill last year was $5,318.57 as compared with $44,999.65 for 1948.

This information was received by the Utilities Commission at their meeting Thursday afternoon. There was no explanation of the difference of nearly $40,000 in the rebates for the last two years.

"I don't know why," said R. L. Dobbin, manager, "except probably higher costs."

This adjustment of accounts is an annual settlement of the spread between the charges for power on the interim rates during the year and the actual cost of the power used. Payments are made by the Utilities on the power peaks from time to time.

Total cost of the power supplied by the Hydro to Peterborough last year was $509,558.31, and the total of the accounts rendered during the year at the interim rates was $514,807.84, leaving a credit balance of $5,249.53 to the Utilities Commission.

Statement Rosier

Details of the statement from the Hydro were:

Actual cost of power purchased by the city $133,425.95.

Peterborough's part of operating, maintenance, and administrative expenses, $117,794.14.

Interest, $124,435.65.

Provision for renewals, $27,916.59.

Provision for contingencies, obsolescence and frequency standardization, $74,551.32.

Provision for sinking fund, $31,434.66.

The fiscal year of the Hydro ended Oct. 31st last. The interest on the balance of $5,249.53 from Nov. 1 to Feb. 28 at 4 per cent was $69.04, increasing the credit to the Utilities to $5,318.57.

Share of Total Bill

The item of interest in the statement is presumably the proportion of the Hydro's total interest bill which is chargeable to Peterborough.

The following is quoted from the accompanying letter received from the Hydro-Electric Commission:

"The Commission at this time would again like to direct your attention to the circumstances whereby in recent years it has been obtaining high revenues in relation to plant investment by the full use of existing generating facilities and a ready market for all available power. This condition has attributed very materially in maintaining a stable price for power, but the extensive program for the rehabilitation of facilities, together with the substantially increased costs that have occurred in all spheres of its operations, has left the Commission with no alternative but to seek additional revenues commencing with the 1949 fiscal period."

Cold Fingers Fasten On Balky Car Starters

Work-bound buses picked up a lot of extra fares this morning as a result of the lower pitch of winter during the night.

Engines were seized in a tighter than usual grip of frost and made no response to button pressure. Many of the cars of course did make the grade to the plants about town, but others are stricken in their garages or at roadsides.

Bus drivers said they took aboard all the people they could crowd in out of the 16-below zero weather, but even so they were of the opinion that they did not get all the strandees.

NURSES VISIT PLANT

A group of nurses from St. Joseph's Hospital were shown through Canada Packers plant on Thursday afternoon as part of their training. Civic Hospital nurses made the visit a few weeks earlier.

Point St. Charles Wins Joint Official Approval As Memorial Centre Site

Although wind and weather might have excused postponement, the city council kept its Memorial Centre site appointment on McDonald's Point Thursday at 2 p.m. And the joint committee of inspection thought well of what they saw at the Little Lake park area, despite the snow and cold. They are prepared to recommend at the next Council meeting that Point St. Charles site be offered as the Memorial Centre location. This is the most definite decision that has yet been reached on the long, involved site problem.

The draffy roll call was: Mayor Swanston, Aldermen Dodds, Waddell, Anglesey, Sands, Doug Miller, John Dewart, joined by J. A. Jebson, chairman of the Centre committee and Ed Riley.

Dr. Herbert Young was attending patients, Ald. A. B. Burrows was supervising the formal opening of his new retail business, and Ald. E. C. Braund was probably somewhere in the Caribbean.

The joint committee also motored out to see the property at Monaghan Road and McDonnel St., and returned to the city hall for a brief thawing out meeting at which it was decided to offer the Point Park to the Centre committee. A recommendation to that effect will likely be introduced at the meeting of the council Monday night.

Advantages Compared

Examination of the two proposed locations, even under their snow garb, emphasized the advantages of the George St. site. McDonald's Point is across the street from the property at George and Rink Streets which has been considered for more than a year by the council and the Centre committee.

Excess foundation costs estimated at $100,000 routed the thinking from that side of the street. The switch to the park behind Beaver Lumber Co. has brought prompt action from the council.

With the committee yesterday were City Engineer Chalmers and Street Commissioner Burgess.

As engineers do, Mr. Chalmers recently cut to scale cardboard outlines of the park and the Centre building, setting one against the other in quest of the most attractive and satisfactory position of the Centre.

Area Staked Out

Mr. Burgess had staked out on the ground with colored flags two of these positions indicating to the council the area of ground that would be occupied in relation to the rest of the park. The flags of two colors assumed that the Centre committee would retain the extent and shape of building as originally designed.

The Memorial Centre will be visible from George and Crescent Streets, it will be set against the beauty of the lake; some day a bridge may span the narrows between the Peterborough and Ashburnham shores; and the city owns the property. It can make the gift to the Centre group without spending any money for land.

The presence of Mayor Swanston and most of the aldermen out on the windswept point and in the snow may be regarded as indicative of the will of the council to put an acceptable site in the hands of the Centre Committee at once.

Even then, some of the members of the council are apprehensive lest the financing of construction should gravitate from the Centre committee to the city treasury. Funds available and approved amount to approximately $300,000.

SKI SCHOOL

Buses will be at the same stations as last week on Saturday at 9:00 a.m. to pick up children for the Ski School at Kempt's Hill. The children will be given further instruction in the art of managing the hickory slabs. The school is being operated by the Ski Club and the Recreation Commission.

Library Budget For 1950 Totals $45,250

The City Council is asked to provide for the Peterborough Public Library board in 1950 estimates $37,950, an increase of $150 over last year and $950 more than was received. The total budget is $45,250. The additional revenue will be received from a government grant, interest on bonds, fines and subscriptions.

William Graff, librarian, said in a letter to the City Clerk, E. A. Outram, that the total amount requested from the City Council represents a grant of $1.06 per capita which is considerably lower than that of a number of other cities in the province. This grant, he explained, will qualify the Library Board for the maximum grant from the Department of Education. This grant is based on the amount of the municipal financial support.

Items increased this year were: pension contribution, $725 to $765; periodicals, $600 to $700; bookbinding, $200 to $300; light and water, $350 to $450; taxes, $100 to $125; travel expenses, $200 to $300; telephone, $100 to $150; postage, $125 to $150; salaries, $24,600 to $25,570.

These increases are expected to be met by the allotment from the city, an estimated $1,000 in fines and subscriptions, $300 on interest on bonds, and an estimated grant of $6,000 from the government. A further step to meet the increase costs was the cutting of the budget of the branch library from $5,300 last year to $3,910 this year. Other cuts were made in the items for publicity and sundries.

Dobbin Takes Tumble From Car; Close Shave Flying Milk Bottles; But Car Damaged Too

It's tough enough on old Dobbin having to haul a milk wagon around the icy streets of Peterborough these sub-zero days. But today an indignity was added: Dobbin was knocked down by a car.

No, the city police didn't have to shoot him. The sturdy veteran, on whom a host of local families depend upon for their daily milk supply, merely shook himself and got up. It was a close shave though.

What happened was that Dobbin's driver, Robert Flint of Sherbrooke St., made a left turn at Duffus' lane after driving south on Water St. A southbound panel truck, driven by Robert J. Henry of Chesterfield Ave., plowed into the front left wheel, immediately behind Dobbin's tail.

The milk wagon was knocked about 12 feet by the impact, half a dozen bottles were smashed and sent flying, and Dobbin went down but not for the full count.

Car Got It Too

The shafts, front axle and Dobbin's harness were all broken and damage to the milk cart is expected to be at least $100. But if it's any salve to the pride of the shaken-up horse the car didn't emerge unscathed from the tangle either.

Mr. Henry is counting up a bill for a broken right headlight, damaged hood and a dented right front fender. In all the damage to the gasoline-propelled vehicle is likely to amount to $150.

And Dobbin? Well he'll be back on the job Saturday morning as usual, but with a new wagon. And that's for sure.

Hay Supplies Low

ROSENEATH, March 3 — (ENS)—While city dwellers are anxiously watching the dwindling stocks in their coal cellars, the farming members of the community are more concerned about their reserves of hay.

The snow has been getting deeper with each new fall and hay mows have been getting emptier. Some farmers have been obliged to drive many miles in search of hay for which they have paid as much as $30. a ton.

Disagreement between labor and management is not the cause of this dilema, but rather the dry summer which resulted in poor hay crops.

Local Coal Situation

The strike of coal miners in the United States has created a critical coal shortage which is now being felt severely in Peterborough.

There is little if any coal in supply at the yards of local dealers. Dealers are making every effort to get more shipments with little hope of success. I am endeavouring to assist the dealers by having coke from Hamilton shipped here at once. I would request that citizens with even a week's supply of coal in their bins not be insistent on immediate delivery of additional coal. Those with no coal, it appears, will have to accept whatever type of fuel their dealer can supply at this time.

Citizens are advised to make every effort to buy wood to ease the situation.

If you clear your driveway of snow this will help dealers make delivery of your coal.

MAX J. SWANSTON,
Mayor.

Peterborough Branch of Maple Cattle Breeders Association Meet At YMCA, Wednesday, March 8—37 Holsteins Average $510 at Brantford Sale—Forum To Discuss Relations With Labor Monday Night—Auction Exchange Organized Here.

Annual meeting of the Peterborough section of the Maple Cattle Breeders Association will take place at the Y.M.C.A., Wednesday March 8 beginning at 1.30 p.m. C. E. Moore of Smith is president of the local branch.

Wilfrid Keffer, manager of the Association, is coming to Peterborough to review to the members the progress of the expanding breeding unit at Maple. Peterborough now has a membership of approximately 170 breeders. Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, reports that almost every week brings new members.

The Maple unit is extending its enterprise into the beef cattle field. Two Shorthorn bulls have been bought, and two others are to be purchased for that breed of the unit. It is expected that the Shorthorn division will be completely organized within a month.

Notices are being mailed to all the Peterborough members, reminding them that this occasion is their annual opportunity of learning from the management what progress has been accomplished during the year, together with facts relating to breeding results, plans for the future, and generally giving everybody a chance to ask questions and get information.

SALE OF SHORTHORNS

Durham County Shorthorn Association annual sale takes place at Oshawa fair grounds Thursday March 9 beginning at 1.30 p.m. Twenty-five head are listed in the catalogue.

HOLSTEIN BARN MEETING

Peterborough Holstein Breeders' Club arranged a barn meeting for Saturday March 11 at Stanley Wood's farm on the Warsaw Road beginning 1.15 p.m.

Ed. A. Summers, agricultural representative in Durham, will conduct a type demonstration of a dairy cow. Roy Ormiston, fieldman, will be in charge of a judging competition, with separate classes for women and girls. Wilson Gemmell has been invited to address the meeting.

Vern Campbell is president of the Club and Mr. Wood is secretary.

35 FROM ONTARIO

Thirty-five juniod farmers from Ontario county visited Canada Packers, Quaker Oats and Co-Op Services Tuesday. They said they were welcomed everywhere. At C.P.C. they judged a group of live pigs and returned in the afternoon to compare their placings with the rail grading.

The Ontario county visitors were keenly interested in the processing methods at Canada Packers, and also appreciated a practical talk by Jim Turnbull, official grader. They were luncheon guests of the company at Hooper's.

The Ontario juniors ranged in age from 16 to 30. Some of them were junior adults, in farming for themselves. One of them has kept records of every litter since he went into hog raising for himself.

HOLSTEINS AVERAGE $510

The J. O. Trepanier dispersal sale of Holsteins at Oak Meadows Farm, Brantford Monday, produced an average of $510 for 37 head. The top price was $1,475 paid by Dr. H. Miller, New York, for the "excellent" cow Glentree Polly Inka. Second highest was $1,350 paid by E. S. Stoltz, Alliston, Ont., for a five-year-old daughter of Marksman.

The herd sire, Glenafton Rag Apple Leader and 21 of his progeny were distributed in the Trepanier sale. "Leader" was bought by the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association, Belleville for their artificial breeding unit. He is a son of "Marksman" and a "very good" dam with a yearly record of 980 lbs. fat. Highest price for a "Leader" daughter was $540 paid by Alfred I. Lehman, Kenilworth, Ont., for a bred heifer.

Mill Valley Farms, Romeo, Mich., took five head for $2,435. Four bulls averaged $475; 20 milking females $553; eight bred heifers $441; two open yearlings $302; three heifer calves $321.

48 Head Bring $19,595

In the previous week, 48 Holsteins sold at Norval in Peel county for $19,595. The general average there was $408, but the average for sixteen milking females was $512.

W. L. McClure dispersed his herd of 31 head; Albert Hunter consigned thirteen and Angus Green of Embro added four to the sale.

Top price was $800 paid by Freel Bros. of Thamesford, for Greenlynn Pet Inka Mercedes, a five year old cow from the Angus Green herd.

SEED FAIR AT LINDSAY

The Quinte District Seed Fair at Lindsay March 16-18 combines a seed show and sale, bacon carcass competition and farm machinery display. It will be in the armoury.

The Thursday afternoon program includes an address by Dr. G. P. McCrostie, O.A.C., Guelph; and an illustrated talk by Dr. J. R. Weir of O.A.C.

Friday afternoon presents addresses by Dr. J. D. MacLachlan and Mr. W. T. Ewen of O.A.C., followed by dinner at 6.30 at the Benson Hotel. The guest speaker is W. P. Watson, Ontario Live Stock Commissioner.

The concluding auction sale of seeds begins at 2 p.m. Saturday. Entries would be mailed to A. O. Dalrymple at Stirling by March 4.

$4,000,000 LOSS

Charles Milton of Princeton, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers Association, told its convention at Niagara Falls that the drop of 60 cents per 100 pounds in milk meant a loss of $4,000,000 among the 14,300 members.

DON'T LIKE D. S. T.

West Dartford Forum voted unanimously against Daylight Saving Monday night. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Polloc.

It was said that years of experience had failed to discover any benefit to farmers in D.S.T. They were virtually forced to accept the railway and urban summer time schedule, although it was a definite disadvantage to them in their harvesting of crops. Members felt that those who desired the extra hour for recreation could open their places of business an hour earlier, thereby helping themselves and their farm neighbors.

The lunch committee were Mrs. Pollock, Muriel Darling, Raymond Richardson and Wm. McCracken. The program included a reading by A. Brown and piano solo by Ann Polock.

The next meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. White will feature a debate.

USE OF SUPERPHOSPHATE

F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative, has been distributing a reminder of benefits of the daily use of superphosphate in stables. It reinforces manure with additional phosphorus "and nearly all land requires more phosphorus to grow good crops."

Superphosphate absorbs ammonia (nitrogen) thus adding to the value of manure in nitrogen content. It improves the sanitation, freshness and appearance of the stables, and applied on the land with manure it gives better results than when applied alone. Lime spread on the floor looks nice, but it lessens the value of manure by liberating ammonia, and combining with phosphorus as an insoluble compound."

55 AT FORUM REVIEW

Subjects ranging from conservation to income tax were discussed by the 55 men and women of three East Peterborough Forums at Donegal School in Asphodel Monday night. Somebody in that area has been doing effectual work of promoting the Forum idea. Review night admitted the generality of topics. Three films added interest to the program, refreshments were excellent, Don Milburn gave a fifteen-minute talk on the junior branch and club work for youngsters, the discussion was lively and Robert E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative reported that it was one of the best Forum meetings he has attended.

LABOR AND FARMER

Farm Radio Forum in March is examining subjects in the sphere of relationships. First of the schedule is "Labor and Farmer—Friends or Foe? Monday night. The Guide has been proposing that Forums might invite a Labor friend or two in for the occasion, including discussion. It says they have two desires in common, security and a better standards of living.

✦ ✦ ✦

WOULD OMIT HORSES

The junior committee of Peterborough Exhibition is suggesting the omission of the heavy horse class from their judging competition. They would also drop the identification of commercial live stock feeds, substituting a period dealing with farm machine maintenance. They would also give first place in the morning scheduled at the "Ex" to the agricultural quiz which they have developed.

The members of the committee presenting these ideas to the directorate are: Burritt Mann, Reg. Ferguson, Alan Drummond, Don Milburn, Frank Paterson and R. E. Bell sat in at their recent meeting.

NEW AUCTION EXCHANGE

Peterborough Livestock Auction Exchange Limited has been organized to carry on fortnightly livestock auctions similar to those at Campbellford, Lindsay and elsewhere in the province.

The company has secured Old Orchard Farm's sale barn, two miles east of the Lift Lock, where the first sale will be Saturday March 18. It was used by the owner, John Stuart, Jr., in the several sales of his OOF Herefords, and is specially adapted for such auctions.

It is said of them that they enable farmers to get the benefit of competitive bidding, and thereby provide a fair market price.

Farmers bring in their livestock in the morning, and it is put up for sale in the afternoon public session. The number of these auctions in Western Ontario has recommended them for the large agricultural area of which Peterborough is the centre.

I. L. Outwater of Peterborough will take charge of the auctioneering at the start, and H. J. Hawkey of Indian River will receive the incoming stock, meet the farmers and look after their purchases.

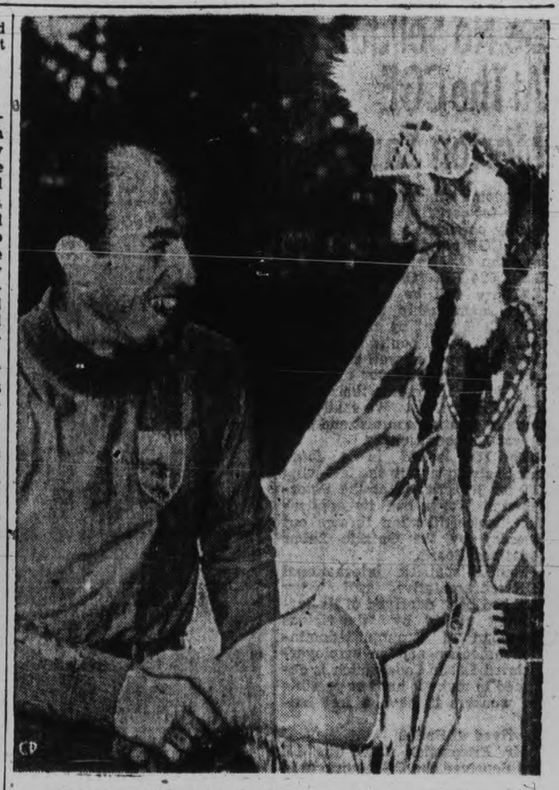
A RHYTHMIC SLOGAN

William Newman of Lorneville, Victoria county, recently received a letter from W. D. Lepping of Louisville, Kentucky, suggesting a euphonious change in the proposed slogan of the Canadian creamery industry when its advertising campaign gets under way probably by early summer.

Mr. Lepping was referring to a copy of the Examiner in which Mr. Newman was reported as announcing at a Lindsay poultry breeders' meeting that the creamery slogan was to be "It's Best With Butter".

The Louisville man wrote, in part, "Wouldn't it be better if you said: "It's Better With Butter" . . . better gives you rhythm, and rhythm is a big help in a slogan. "It's Better With Butter" comes trippingly from the tongue, as compared with "It's Best With Butter".

Mr. Newman replied that he intended to use the word 'better', heartily approved it, and expressed the opinion that he did actually use the comparative form and not 'best'. But, he dissented from any concession to the margarine industry.



"The cost of the oils used in it are so much lower than the cost of butter fat that the manufacturer can compete, pay the tax and still make more profit than any person who is producing cream. All of this lower price for butter comes out of the cream producer, and in turn means a lower standard of living for his family."

Mr. Newman is concerned about the dairy industry in general and the patrons of Eldon Creamery in particular.

He defends the competent, successful farmer of today as a "skilled gentleman, facing a new future for the agriculture of this country". He has to be expert to succeed "and he must also be loyal to his Federation and Co-Operatives".

PIGS MAY BE PIGS to grown-ups, but to these youthful enthusiasts at the fair, this cavorting young porker was really something "special". He is supposed to make, if fed just right, some superfine bacon which adults will undoubtedly appreciate. But, don't tell this to the youngsters.

...she may look as if she's loafing—but your dry cow is really working hard!

Because she isn't visibly "slugging", it's easy to get the idea that a dry cow (or springing heifer) is loafing — and feed her accordingly. Actually, she is working as hard as any hard-worked horse—building a calf (close to 1 lb. per day, the last two months) and building up her own body for heavy production. It isn't work that shows, but it's work, just the same . . . and she should be fed for it.

Purina CHICK STARTENA

Purina Research Farm records show that 100 lbs. gain in good firm condition during the last two months before calving usually means 2,000 lbs. or more of extra milk, next lactation. And they show that if a heifer is 100 lbs. underweight at first calving, she'll milk (on the average) 1,500 to 1,800 lbs. less than she would if she had been built up to normal weight.

There's no place you can make a sounder feed investment than in Purina Bulkylas (to feed with good oats) or Dry & Freshening Chow, for dry cows and springing heifers.

Report Canada Has Very Prosperous Year

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

A summary of Canadian activity in the very prosperous year 1949 is given in the current monthly letter to the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Here is some of it, using latest estimates:

Gross national product — $16,000,000,000, a record, exceeding 1948 by $500,000,000. (This is an aggregate figure reflecting total production of goods and services at current prices).

Agriculture—Cash income from the sales of farm products was $2,409,000,000, a decline of $41,000,000 from 1948, but an increase of $447,000,000 over 1947. (Subsequent payments on western coarse grain deliveries may be expected to raise the 1949 figure).

"Despite some increases in acreage, crop returns as a whole were disappointing."

Forestry Decline

Forestry—Decline of about four per cent from 1948 indicated, but still substantially higher than the 1936-46 average of 4,500,000,000 board feet. Lumber production reached its peak in 1947 at 5,900,000,000 feet, dropping to $5,500,000,000 in 1948.

"With construction at a high level, domestic demand absorbed 54 per cent of total production. Exports to the United States and the United Kingdom accounted for 31 per cent and nine per cent respectively."

Fisheries—Lands of sea fish (not including Newfoundland) totalled 1,177,000,000 pounds valued at almost $54,000,000 compared with upwards of 1,227,000,000 pounds valued at $60,000,000 in 1948.

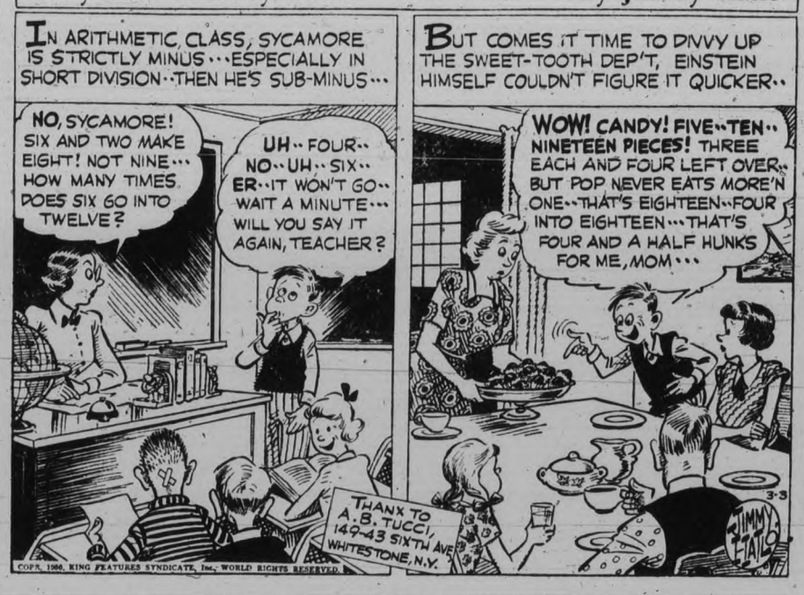
In regard to inland fisheries, both catches and values were higher in Ontario. Manitoba had increased landings but values were down 16 per cent.

Hit New High

Mining—Canadian mineral production reached a new high of $890,000,000 against $820,000,000 in 1948.

"Prospecting and developing programs carried on, largely for minerals other than precious metals, have probably been the most momentous in Canadian mining history."

Manufacturing—The 1949 average of hte bank's index of industrial activity was 159 (1937 equals 100), compared with 157 for 1948.



"Total capital investment from both domestic and external sources—much of it for new industrial facilities or the renovation and expansion of existing plants—reached a peak of $3,250,000,000 and it is anticipated that the 1950 figure will be higher."

Says Price Support Not Farm Solution

SARNIA, March 3 — (CP) — Government-supported prices are no solution to farm problems, R. H. Graham, assistant livestock commissioner for the Dominion Agricultural Department, said Thursday night.

He declared in a Service Club address that if the government holds prices "at a level which will allow the most inefficient producer to make a living, then the efficient producers are going to make a killing."

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Rural Philosopher Says Data Should Exclude Guesswork

The other day I decided to endow a university, and as soon as I get some money I'll attend to it. This university is going to teach magazine and newspaper editors that their readers don't know everything. There is a crying need for such instruction, John Gould writes from his farm to the Christian Science Monitor.

For instance, a subscriber writes to the Rural New Yorker and asks about hatching goose eggs. This is a reasonable query, and that publication is a good one to rpely. They have printed the answer, and it says goose eggs should be incubated a half degree lower than hen eggs.

Something Missing

This is fine. If you happen to know how hot a hen egg has to be to hatch, you're all set. All you need is something a half degree lower. If, however, you are the average American reader, paying good money to a publication to piece out your inadequate knowledge you may not find this helpful.

The trouble is that this publication has pursued an unwarranted assumption — that their readers know something. They have no right to assume this. I don't know, offhand, how hot a hen's egg wants to be. I can look it up, and I have reference material to look it up in. But I like to feel I am subscribing to a magazine so I won't have to look it up.

What I want is a magazine editor who says how hot a hen egg must be, and how hot a goose egg must be, and doesn't assume that I know one and can compute the other.

Admits Deficiency

As I set in my evening ease, feet up and muscles relaxed, I persue my periodicals with a purpose. If I want puzzles and problems, I would buy home jigsaws and an algebra book. So I propose a university where editors may assemble and have instruction about the great paucity of learning among the masses, which includes me.

I cite the Rural New Yorker only as an example, and it is not the only offender—far from it. In this particular example, I would like to have that inquiry answered with reference to a specific numeral, Fahrenheit. That's all. Then I would have my money's worth, and I would not be confronted with the disquieting realization that, after all, I'm fairly stupid. Even if I am, there's no reason for editors to keep reminding me.

I think the government has contributed to this situation. They send out all manner of information, and have developed the percentage rountine. They tell us E bond sales are up 7 percent last Whitsuntide. This is a valid piece of government information. School children quote it to show that thrift is on the increase. Everybody feels that we are making great strides.

Hollow Foundation

Yet, we have erected a kind of intellectual monument on an absolute blank. Not knowing what the sales were last Whitsuntide has a bearing on our sum total of knowledge. How much is 7 percent, anyway? And, of course, if you write to Washington and inquire, you will merely be told that last Whitsuntide the sales were down 3 percent from the previous St. Lucy's Day average. Handouts, or publicity releases from government agencies have used this formula for years, and editors feed it to us with the continuing assumption that we all know what it means. Well, I don't.

The other day I had news from some agricultural agency that the price of nursery stock this year would be cheaper than last, and I ought to order at once. I wrote and asked what the price was last year, and how much cheaper was "cheaper." I'm sure they regarded this as whimsey, because I have had no answer.

Not long age I read a newspaper story that said airline travel was much safer now. This struck me as important information, and I folded the paper over and settled down to read it. It said one factor was up 22 percent, that another was down a half a million, and that flying hours were computed on a six-month average, etc., and so on.

Partial Success

If the purpose was to persuade me to fly, there was a remote chance of success, but as a bit of intellectual accrual I won't say the story was a howling success.

I could go to reference work, and figure things out, I suppose but with that solution comes the natural question of why I needed a newspaper in the first place. There persists, somehow, the thought that I am subscribing to the paper so I won't have to do the research. I realize the editors and I don't see this thing eye to eye, but it's only because they don't realize how utterly uninformed I am.

Laying Plans To Get Settlers

TIMMINS, March 3 — (CP) — Farmers, Chamber of Commerce officials and representatives of nine Cochrane district municipalities will gather here today to begin working out a scheme to bring settlers to the edistrict from Southern Ontario. The meeting was called Monday by the Timmins town council in an effort to bring settlers to the 17,000,000-acre clay belt area of Northern Ontario.

Lying between the lumbering town of Hearst on the west and extending some 200 miles across Northern Ontario into Quebec, this clay belt area is known for its heavy, clay loam. It is at present supporting 22,000 farmers, S. P. S. Ballantyne, Norther Ontario Agriculture Development commissioner, estimates it could support almost five times that number with each farm runing to 160 acres.

Timmins council called the meeting with an eye on reported unemployment in Southern Ontario.

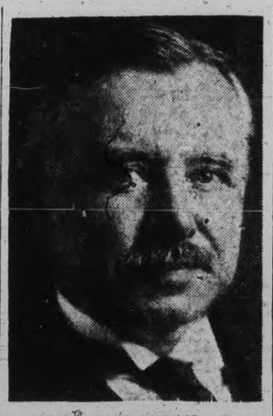
Open Meat Laboratory

GUELPH, March 3 (CP) — A modern meat laboratory and class room have been opened at the Ontario Agriculture College here, it was announced Thursday by President Dr. W. R. Reek. Official opening of the rooms was conducted at a meeting of the Animal Husbandry Club, at which Frank E. Wolff, Canadian Pacific Railway general agricultural agent, and former staff member of the OAC, officiated.

Former Editor Confesses Spying For West

PRAGUE, March 3 (AP)—The suicide of a top Communist suspect and the reported confession of a Communist former editor to charges of spying for the West Thursday dramatized the government's purge of agents of the Tito clique.

Disclosures in the Titoist purge came with publication in the controlled press of a report presented to last week's meeting of the Communist Party Central Committee. The report contained a government admission that the ruling Communist Party here was rife with Titoist agents, meaning persons with a leaning to Nationalist views.



The report said Milan Reiman, formerly Chancellor of Premier Antonin Zapotocky's office, had committed suicide in his cell while under investigation.

It also declared that Novy, former editor-in-chief of the party paper, Rude Pravo, had confessed to betraying state secrets. It said Novy worked as an agent of the Western imperialists. A trial for Novy, who was expelled from the party last week, and others is expected soon.

Before the report President Clement Gottwald admitted there was a threat of Titoism in Czechoslovakia. Now the Communist rulers have taken off the mask of solidarity with the announcement that their organization is a hotbed of traitors, Titoist agents and imperialist spies. They sounded a call for a party cleaning.

Kopriva's report, besides announcing the suicide of Reiman and Novy's confession, charged that a group of officials in the Ministry of Foreign Trade had been Western agents.

On another front of the spy hunt, Johannes Louwers, 35, a Dutch businessman, pleaded guilty before a Czech court on charges of economic espionage, the official Czech news agency announced. Seven Czech co-defendants also pleaded guilty and two pleaded innocent.

Sunday Sport May Be Optional

TORONTO, March 3 — (CP) — The Ontario government is reported unofficially to be considering legislation which would enable municipalities to decide the Sunday-sport issue on a "local option" basis. There is no confirmation from official sources.

Premier Frost could not be reached Thursday night for comment on newspaper reports that it is intended to introduce such legislation at the current session of the legislature.

Attorney-General Porter said he knows of no such proposal and "supposes" that people are "guessing."

The Daily Star said Thursday it learned that the legislation "will not just deal with the specific cases of Toronto and Windsor, where a majority of citizens have already voted in favor of Sunday sport."

It would be permissive legislation, the Star said, providing that any municipality may have Sunday sport following a "local option" vote. Full power would be given to individual municipalities to control such sports.

Ask Nurserymen Meet In Holland

TORONTO, March 3. — Nurserymen from all parts of the world will meet in Holland in April and May to discuss mutual problems and co-operative methods which could be used both in trade and pest control, W. N. Keenan, chief of the Plant Protection Division, Department of Agriculture, told members of the Canadian Association of Nurserymen Wednesday at their annual meeting in the Royal York Hotel.

Mr. Keenan said Canada would have four representatives at the conference.

The industry was making rapid post-war recovery in the Netherlands, he said, and nurseries there were "the most inspected" in the world. Belgium was not quite so far advanced.

L. C. Chadwick, Professor of Horticulture at the Ohio State University, discussed recent tests of leaf application of fertilizer, which had proved as effective as applying fertilizer to the soil and use of sod to replenish soil.

He said 2,4-D had not proved satisfactory in weed control, and that a product known as TCA was being used. Nothing, however, could be planted for two months after it had been used.

Pleads Self-Defence

SUDBURY, March 3 (CP) — Adelard (Eddie) Latour Thursday pleaded self-defence and "blackout" in testifying at his trial for the knife murder of Mrs. Cecile Rainville, 23-year-old mother of three children. The case is expected to go to the jury late today after addresses by Crown and defence counsel and Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly.

Quebec Raises Subsidies For Housing

By The Canadian Press.

Quebec's Legislative Assembly Thursday adopted government bills which increase provincial government housing subsidies by $5,000,000 and boost rural electrification grants by $3,000,000.

The housing bill increases the fund from $7,000,000 to $12,000,000. Under this law the government pays three per cent of the interest rate on the cost of single and multiple dwellings; companies authorized under the act may charge up to five per cent interest.

The Newfoundland Legislature was told by J. R. Courage (L-Fortune Bay-Hermitage) that he was concerned over the "battle of confederation" being waged all over again. He said opposition members are inclined to blame Newfoundland's unemployment and lack of markets on confederation and that this is "ridiculous." He was the only speaker in throne-speech debate before the Legislature adjourned to next Thursday.

Ask For Commission

The Prince Edward Island Legislature was asked by David L. Mathieson (PC-5th Queens) to establish a commission to investigate charges of bribery during the 1947 provincial election. Mathieson said the charges were given in evidence by Wilfred Watterworth of Montague, PEI, during the latter's trial last July on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government by illegally obtaining money from the Fishermen's Loan Board.

At Winnipeg, Manitoba's coalition government was upheld by 45 to 6 in defeating an opposition resolution condemning it for "violating" parliamentary principles. The vote supporting coalition was the second vote of confidence this session.

The Saskatchewan Legislature saw the Speaker, Tom Johnston, ask and receive permission to leave his seat and talk from the floor of the house.

The incident occurred in throne speech debate when P. V. Deshaye (L-Melville) referred to the transfer of 27 Metis Indian families last year from the Touchwood constituency to Green Lake in northern Saskatchewan. He said that after the families moved their houses were burned down, so that when some wished to return, they had no homes.

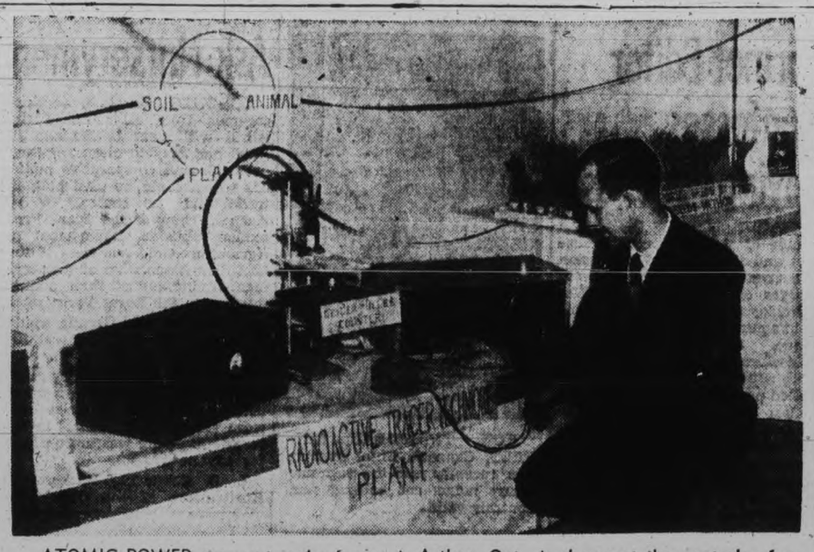
No Coercion

Mr. Johnson, CCF member for Touchwood, speaking from the flood said he had been responsible for the move and that no coercion had been used. The Metis' former homes had been unfit for habitation. He had since spoken to the Indians concerned, and "the ones you could depend on" appreciated their improved environment.

In the Alberta Legislature Economic Affairs Minister Hooke said accusations that the Alberta government has deserted Social Credit principles are "nothing but the ravings of an irresponsible mind." It was an obvious reference to Wednesday's speech by A. V. Bourcier (SC-Lac Ste. Anne), rebel Social Crediter who was barred from the party caucus last year.

To Consider Children

TORONTO, March 3 (CP) — Children of divorced couples are expected to receive more consideration when new regulations covering split families come into effect April 1 in Ontario. Assent to the Matrimonial Causes Amendment Act was given March 8, 1949. Under the new regulations an official guardian will investigate the child's background and make recommendations regarding custody.



Pole Must Pay

TORONTO, March 3 (CP) — Leibel Friedman, 31-year-old Polish displaced person, Thursday was ordered to support a Polish girl and her two children despite his denial that he married her in a German camp in 1945. Judge J. E. Lovering not only dismissed Friedman's appeal against a previous order to pay Sonia Silverberg $12 a week, but increased the amount to $20.

LONDON, March 3 (CP) — A 2,000-year-old Jewish scroll, an original page of the book of Isaiah, is being exhibited at the British Museum in London. It is part of the Bible manuscripts, 1,000 years older than any before known, which were found in 1947 in a cave near the Dead Sea by a shepherd searching for a goat.

Railway Promotes Man Lindsay To Montreal

John Douglas Hayes, assistant superintendent, Belleville division of the C.N.R. with headquarters in Lindsay, has been promoted assistant superintendent at Montreal terminals, and is moving to Montreal headquarters. The appointment was announced Thursday by the general manager of the central region.

A native of Omemee, Mr. Hayes began railway service in 1927 as a timekeeper in the Hornepayne division and has since served in various positions at Port Arthur, Hornepayne, Belleville and Sudbury.

In 1947 he was promoted trainmaster at Capreol and two years later, was appointed assistant superintendent at Lindsay.

Anglican Layman Dies

OTTAWA, March 3 (CP) — The body of A. Linton Davidson, 63, prominent Anglican layman and civil servant, was found at his Cartier Street home Thursday. Mr. Davidson, who lived alone, is believed to have suffered a stroke and died Tuesday while writing notes for a sermon he was to deliver Sunday. He was leading officer of the professional institute of the civil service of Canada and among the best known of the laity of the Church of England in this country.

Charges Prejudice

MONTREAL, March 3 (CP) — A trucking industry's spokesman accusing the federal government of pre-judging the rail-truck controversy before the Royal Commission on Transportation, Thursday night challenged Transport Minister Chevrier to appear as a witness before the commission. John Magee of Toronto, executive secretary of the Canadian Automotive Transportation Association, launched a counter-attack against the minister for what he termed Mr. Chevrier's "sniping" at the truck industry.

Employment Said Promising

TORONTO, March 3 (CP) — The economic and employment situation in Canada looks "promising," said George Haythorne of Ottawa, research secretary of the Federal Department of Labor, in an address Thursday.

He told the annual meeting of the United Church Board of Evangelism and Social Service that the employment situation should improve through discovery of vast ore beds in the east and new oil resources in the west. Three forces operating now are a high level of purchasing power, a vigorous investment policy of free enterprise companies and a high level of export trade he said. He believed overseas trade would continue at a high level in 1950.

The Rev. R. T. Richards of London, Ont., spoke on education against liquor. He noted the United Church had urged provincial government to reduce hours of sale and in particular had demanded curtailment of hours of sale of Ontario, where liquor may be served with meals in licensing dining rooms until 2 a.m.

Former Blackwater Girl Leading Canadian Physicist

SUNDERLAND —March 3— Blackwater Jct. and the surrounding community are justly proud of one of its daughters, Professor Elizabeth Josephine Allin, University of Toronto physics professor.

Miss Allin is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph Allin and the late Mr. Allin, of Blackwater Jct. Her mother and her sister, Miss Winifred Allin, keep the store and post office at Blackwater Jct., and her brother, John Allin, formerly Peterborough druggist, is the postmaster at Sunderland.

Elizabeth Allin is the direct sort of person, unusual in either sex, who says, "No, I don't mind telling you my age. I'm forty-four." With her soft, blue eyes, fair skin and young smile, she doesn't have to worry about looking her age, not that she would in any case.

Her chief worries hinge on spectroscopy, hyperfine structure of spectral lines and X-rays; all of which tie up the nucleus of the atom, in a way understandable only to physicists.

Physicist Allin had a most unscientific beginning in Blackwater, "six houses and a store" about two-and-a-half miles from Sunderland, her father, the late Joseph C. Allin, was postmaster in Blackwater for 30 years. As a child, she went to the Sunderland one-room school. Because the teachers changed about every three months, it took a long time to wade through the first reader.

In Port Perry High School, she caught up and three or four other students, all girls, used to jockey for first place. It was there she discovered her proficiency in mathematics and basketball.

"I was five-foot nine," grins Miss Allin, "then invaluable for basketball. I used to think I was pretty tall, but I don't any longer, there are always a number of taller women on this campus."

At the University of Toronto she discovered that Mathematics and physics was all one course so enrolled to get the math. Gradually her interest was won over to the physics.

"There were four girls in that graduating class," she remembers. "I must admit we were regarded as a little bit peculiar 20 years ago. But, do you know, there are no more women honoring in physics now than there were then.

Miss Allin got her Ph.D. while working on National Research Council scholarships and spent a year at Cambridge, in the atomic physics section, on a Royal Society of Canada Fellowship. During the war she was probably the only woman in Canada instructing the troops in radar and radio mechanics. "The boys, airmen and sailors, didn't seem a bit surprised to have a woman teaching them," she says. "They took it in their stride like they did everything else."

Work during war years meant a minimum of nine hours a day, more often it was 12 and 14. Research fell by the wayside. Miss Allin, though she was on intimate terms with the atom at the time, doesn't like to admit she expected the atomic bomb.

"Well, I knew such a process was possible, but I did not know anyone personally working on the bomb," she hedges.

As for the new hydrogen bomb, she points out that makers of the atom bomb had the same worries. "They were not certain how they could stop chain reaction once started," she points out. "They were faced with the possibility of being destroyed themselves, but they worked it out. The same possibility faces the makers of the hydrogen bomb, but I have no doubt they will work it out too."

At present the University of Toronto physics department is awaiting the appointment of a new head. And to the question, "Is it likely to be a woman?" Professor Allin replies doubtfully, "Well, I suppose it could happen. But it's not very likely."

Three Burned

LAWRENCE, Mass., March 3— (AP). — Three members of a policeman's family died early today when fire swept a tenement house in a congested dwelling district. Dead were Mrs. Italia M. Larco, wife of Patrolman Philip Larco, their daughter Phylis, and a son Philip, Jr. Nine other persons were rescued.

Berserk Husband

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 3 (AP).— A berserk husband killed his wife and mother-in-law, wounded his stepdaughter, and shot himself to death Thursday soon after his wife sued for divorce. Police said the gunman was Fred D. Rutherford 55, unemployed, whose wife had obtained a court attachment on a large metal can of money in the couple's cottage.

Third Offenders Given Three Months In Jail

Convicted on pleas of guilty to third offence drunkenness, eLo Grisdale 39, of Burleigh Falls, and Albert Quinlan 40, of RR 3, Peterborough, were both sentenced to three months in the county jail.

Sentences were imposed by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, who returned to the bench Thursday after a three-day absence due to illness.

Milton Barnard, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to a charge of second offence drunkenness, and given the option of paying $50, and costs, or a month in jail.

Ontario Mines Boost Output

TORONTO, March 3 (CP) — Output value of Ontario's 44 gold and silver mines for January, 1950, was $7,491,263, compared with $6,428,890 in January, 1949, department of mines announced today.

Although 658,836 tons of ore milled was the highest since August, 1942, a grade drop in the ore resulted in a lower production compared to each of the three previous months.

Compared to gold poduction figures for January, 1949, there was an increase last January of 7.44 per cent in tons milled, 6.76 per cent in gold ounces produced and 16.52 per cent in value. Silver production was about the same.

Following is a breakdown of January gold and silver output values in the four fields with the 1949 figures in brackets:

Porcupine (16 mines) $3,267,409 ($2,831,023); Kirkland Lake-Larder Lake, (10 mines) $2,602,460 ($2,359,336); Matachewan-Sudbury (3 mines) $255,727 ($241,751); Northwestern Ontario which includes Thunder Bay and Patricia districts, (15 mines) $1,365,667 ($996,760).

Allocation Set At $300 For WMS

WESTWOOD, March 3 (ENS)— St. Andrew's United Women's Missionary Society held the March meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. James Sargent. Ten members and five visitors were present.

With the president, Mrs. C. Brackenridge in charge, it was decided to take a special offering for the "March of Dimes" at the April meeting.

A bundle of used Christmas cards and primary Sunday School papers will be sent to Korea for missionary purposes, after the April meeting.

It was announced that the allocation for 1950 is $300.

The worship service and program were conducted by Mrs. W. J. Brackenridge. Prayer was led by Miss Jessie Davidson, Mrs. John Davidson and Mrs. Rendle Dickson assisted with the program, entitled Sharing the Sacrifice.

The first part, Full-Time Service, by Mrs. Davidson, included a story of mission work in this country. Mrs. Davidson related several experiences of the late Rev. Dr. Thompson, of Hastings, in missionary work in the northern part of Canada in the early nineties.

The second part, Voluntary Service, by Mrs. Dixon, stressed the use of all gifts of hand, mind and heart in the work of the church.

Tea was served and the hostess was assisted by Mesdames C. Brackenridge, W. J. Brackenridge, R. J. Douglas and E. W. Sargent.

New Zealand Government To Assist Home Building

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

WELLINGTON, N. Z., (CP)— New Zealand's new National party government has announced a large-scale drive to encourage people to own their own homes.

It is an almost complete reversal of the policy of the previous Socialist government which aimed at renting houses to the public. Under this policy the state became by far the largest landlord in the country.

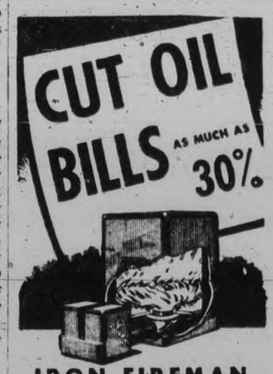
A major step in the new program is the abolition of all land sales restrictions except on farm lands which will come in for attention later. Under the existing system all sales of land and buildings have come before land sales tribunals which fix a price based on 1942 values. It is illegal to sell above this price, but in practice a large proportion of sales of homes and buildings have been accompanied by an illegal side payment to the seller.

Now that owners can legally sell at their own price, a large number of homes which have been withheld from the market are likely to be offered for sale. Prices are expected to rise substantially, as 1942 values are well below present free market levels, but whether the new prices will be above the under-the-table rates which have ruled until now remains to be seen. In any case legal costs and formalities will be greatly reduced.

Another step in the government's scheme is the offering of building loans up to about $6,000 to home builders. They will be available up to 90 per cent of the value of the house for civilians and 100 per cent for ex-servicemen. The government will also grant suspensory loans of up to $600 to home builders. No interest will be payable so long as the owner lives in his house and after seven years the loan will be cancelled. If the owner wishes to sell in less than seven years he must first offer the house to the government and if he ceases to live in the house he must pay interest on the loan.

To Sell State Houses

Another major step by the new government is the offering of state rental houses for sale to the tenants. Thousands of these houses have been built every year throughout the country, but hitherto they have been available only for rental. Now the occupiers can buy them at valuation if they wish. Loans will be available from the government. No tenant will be disturbed in his occupancy of a state house if he does not wish to buy it, nor will his house be offered to anyone else while he remains in it.



These provisions are expected to prove a great attraction to would-be home-owners. But the government is also tackling the housing shortage by making it easier for owners to let accommodation.

Under the previous regime, once an owner let a house, flat or even rooms, it was extremely difficult for him to obtain possession again from the tenant. He had to prove that he needed the accommodation for his own use and in some cases to find the tenant acceptable alttternative accommodation. Even where a tenant was extremely unsatisfactory it was often only after long legal processes that he could be removed.

Now many of these controls are to be relaxed and it is expected that many people who have feared to make vacant accommodation available will offer it for rent knowing that they will be able to obtain possession again.

Mercy Flight May Save Life of Indian Girl 14

TORONTO, March 3.—A 100-mile mercy flight from Christian Island in Georgian Bay to Toronto Wednesday night may save the life of a 14-year-old Indian girl stricken with meningitis. Part of the after-dark trip was made through a blinding snowstorm.

The aircraft, a ski-equipped Seabee, owned by Georgian Bay Airways, Parry Sound, landed at Malton Airport on skis. Because runways are bare, the aircraft had to land on the infield.

Pilot Ian Watt, veteran of 24 years bush and air force flying, said Indian Agent Gauthier at Parry Sound requested the flight. The Seabee flew to Penetanguishene to pick up Dr. I. T. Weldon, and then to Christian Island. After examining the stricken girl, Dr. Weldon decided that it was necessary to remove her to Toronto immediately if her life were to be saved.

A messenger with a team of horses was despatched across the ice to the mainland to telephone Malton Airport to have an ambulance standing by. But the plane, which took off at 6:40 p.m. reached Malton 55 minutes later, before the telephone call had gone through. The unconscious girl had to await until 8:15 p.m. for the ambulance to reach the airport. The girl was unconscious throughout the entire flight.

Wednesday night, officials at the Toronto Isolation Hospital refused to give the patient's name or any information on how she had withstood the flight.

Bandsmen, Wives At Annual Dinner Fete Capt. Peryer

The hope that a ladies' auxiliary to the Peterborough Citizens' Band might be organized this year was expressed by new Bandmaster Wallace Parnell at the dinner Thursday evening which marked opening of the band's 1950 season. Also that the bandsmen hope to show evidence they are worthy of continued support by the city.

Wives of the musicians were their guests at this annual outing, held at the Kawartha Country Club with more than 60 present. At the head table were Alderman Hurrell and Mrs. Dodds, Bandmaster Wallace Parnell and Mrs. Parnell, Wilfred Langan, new chairman of music for the recreation commission and Mrs. Langan, Alex. Sinclaid, recreation director, and Ken Mills, band president.

Presentation of a travelling bag to Capt. W. H. Peryer ED who recently retired from the position of bandmaster after 40 years in the work in Peterborough was a highlight of the evening. President Mills read a letter from members of the band which accompanied the gift. Capt. Peryer expressed appreciation for past support and offered wishes for good luck to new bandmaster Parnell and assistant, Earl Johns.

History of the band which started in 1894 was related by Alderman Dodds. In the 56 years there have been four bandmasters F. Miller, Rupert Glidden, Capt. Peryer and the present master, Wallace Parnell. Good wishes of the Mayor and City Council were extended by the aldermen.

Officers were praised for the businesslike way in which they conduct the band when Mr. Langan spoke offering continued support of the recreation commission. Support was also promised by director Sinclair who is a clarinet player and hopes to continue being a part of the band.

B&PW Clubs Make Intensive Survey On Women's Jobs

Opportunities for women in insurance, department stores and cosmetics are the subject of a booklet issued recently by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs of the United States.

Miss Elizabeth Bacon, social and business historian, was asked to make an intensive survey of the three lines with the object of finding the types of jobs open to women, the attitudes of the industries toward employing women and prospects for important jobs. Of the 18 million women employed in the US only a minute percentage hold responsible positions.

Support Families

Dealing with the arguments against the promotion of women, the booklet answered the claim that men are the breadwinners with Department of Labor figures showing that the majority of women workers contribute 50 to 100 per cent of their earnings to family support.

There was no immediate answer to the claim that many girls don't stay long enough with a firm to justify the expense of training them, or that they start with the idea of using a job as a stop-gap.

In insurance, Miss Bacon noted a recent trend in life insurance companies to have at least one important woman officer. The East and Far West have a far higher average of women in top jobs than the rest of the country. Fire and casualty companies make less effort to give women opportunities.

Insurance Best Pay

Women in key positions receive less money than men in similar jobs. Most goes to life agents who may make from $3,000 to $12,000 a year with high secretarial jobs paying $6,000 or more.

There are also openings in nursing, dietics, and welfare work and research, the last open because the men don't like it.

Findings in the department store field were more encouraging. The majority opinion, Miss Bacon found, was that women compete there on a more equal basis with men, except in store management, than in any other kind of business.

In 1948, 55 per cent of buyers were women, though only 6.7 per cent of merchandise managers were. Fashion co-ordinators were almost invariably feminine, as were copywriters and fashion artists. Publicity directors were in most cases men.

She reported an increasing preference for college graduates, though some stores prefer to train their own personnel after high school. Both young and mature women have a place on the payrolls. Grey hair is considered no handicap in selling.

Lack of Desire

Factors holding many women from promotions were that many have no desire for advancement and others with ability become too much involved with store problems.

The cosmetic industry is described as a development of the last 25 years. Many of the pioneers were women and others have come up to key executive positions. There are, however, no women presidents, except in companies they own and operate themselves. The perfume field is dominated by men.

One Canadian cosmetic company was cited as being all women from the president and vice-president to the lowliest clerk.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

Penalty cards have long been a bone of contention. The easiest way to get around them is to carefully count your points before melding. Here's what should have happened to one of my readers who didn't:

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—I had 2 kings and a joker down on the table, but they were penalty cards. On the previous round I had melded 3 kings and a joker, not sufficient for our minimum requirement of 90. I had discarded one of the kings. At his turn my partner melded 90 points but the next player, my right-hand opponent, went out.

I claimed that as long as my partner had made an initial meld my joker and 2 kings counted as a meld. The opponents said they counted as if they were in my hand. Was I right?

✧ ✧ ✧

A—No. Your opponents were right. Penalty cards count the same as if they were in your hand until you either discard them or meld them. If the play had come around to you again, you might have elected to use your joker in some other fashion, and leave the 2 kings as penalty cards. But in any case, until you have a turn to play, they remain penalty cards

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—My friend A. had enough count in his own hand to meld 90, his initial requirement, but he wanted the pack. The up-card was a ten. He put down 2 tens, and took the up-card of the pack, then melded enough cards from his hand to meet the minimum count of 90. Now he took another ten from his hand and added it to the 3 tens alread on the board, after which he picked up the pack. Did he have the right to take the pack since he did not need that up-card to complete his initial meld, having another ten in his hand which would have completed it without the ten on top of the pack?

✧ ✧ ✧

A—Yes, your friend had a perfect right to take the pack in this situation. The top card of the pack may be used (but no other card of the pack) in counting to the minimum for the initial meld regardless of whether or not the player would be able to complete his initial meld from his own hand without the up-card.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—When a player discards a card that matches an opponent's meld, does the opponent have to pick up the pack

✧ ✧ ✧

A—Only if there are no cards remaining in the stock pile. If cards remain in the stock pile, he may always choose whether to take the pack or draw from the stock pile.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—What is the penalty if you are caught with a black trey when someone goes out?

✧ ✧ ✧

A—There is no penalty except that it counts 5 against you.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—If the last card of the stock pile is a red trey, may I draw it and go out?

✧ ✧ ✧

A—Yes, if you can meld all of your cards and have completed or can complete a canasta. You may not discard, however, as the red trey counts as your discard.

✧ ✧ ✧

One of the main attractions of Canasta is the fact that any number can play. As the answer to one of my readers shows, as many as six can play any one of three different ways:

✧ ✧ ✧

Q.—In six-handed Canasta, how many cards are dealt? How many canastas are required? How many decks are used? How are the red treys counted?

✧ ✧ ✧

A.—The official rules of Canasta provide for three forms of the six-handed game. One is actually a four-handed game with a player from each side sitting out; and as in the regular four-handed game, two decks with four jokers are used.

The other two games are played with all six players participating, using three decks of cards and six jokers. Thirteen cards are dealt to each player. Two canastas are required before a side may go out. Red treys count 100 each, except that if one side gets five treys they score 1,000 points, while if one side gets all six red treys they score 1,200 points

✧ ✧ ✧

Q.—The top card of the discard pile is an ace. Our side needs an initial meld of 50 points. I have three aces in my hand. I know I can pick up the pack with two of my aces, but do I have to meld the third ace, too? Or can I retain it in my hand and meld it later?

✧ ✧ ✧

A.—Yes, you may hold it in your hand. No matter how many aces you had in your hand, you need use only two of them to pick up the pack. Most of the time, however, it pays to get a base down, that is, four natural cards of a kind, so that your partner will know where to play his wild cards to complete canastas.

Q.—Our side needs 90 points for our initial meld. I have two aces in my hand. Can I play these two aces with three deuces? My opponents said I never could put down more wild cards than natural cards

✧ ✧ ✧

A.—Your opponents were wrong. You can meld up to three wild cards with any meld. It does not sound like good policy to put all those wild cards down with just two natural cards, but you have a perfect right to do it if you want to

✧ ✧ ✧

Q.—We need 50 points for our initial meld. The top card of the discard pile is a 10. I have a 10 and a deuce in my hand, also three queens. Can I take up the discard pile with my 10 and deuce, meld my three queens, and thus complete our initial meld?

✧ ✧ ✧

A.—No. Until your side has made an initial meld, the pack is frozen to you, and you cannot take it unless you have two natural cards in your hand that match the upcard. If you wanted to, you could draw from the stock pile, then meld your three queens and deuce. That would give you 50 points, and now the pack would no longer be frozen to you or your partner until somebody discarded a yild card.

Come back after February 23—if there's no change don't bother us for another five years.

Margarine Sale Boosts Imports Of Fats and Oils

WASHINGTON.—(CP).— Canada's new margarine industry has openeed a fresh market for American fats and oils.

Virtually all of the oils in the Dominion's margarine plants are imported, mainly from the United States.

With the lifting of a 62-year ban, production of margarine in Canada moved under way early in 1949 and rose rapidly to an average of 6,750,000 pounds a month for the March-September period, the latest period for which figures are available.

This was at a rate of 81,000,000 pounds a year, requiring about 65,000,000 pounds of refined fats and oils.

The U.S. Agriculture Department, in a report on the new industry, noted that of the 5,686,000 pounds of various oils used in the Canadian plants last August 60.5 per cent. was cottonseed oil and 23.1 per cent. was soybean oil. The remaining 16.4 per cent. was coconut, peanut, marine, palm and oleo oil.

All Imported

Except for a small amount of marine oil used by one manufacturer in Newfoundland, all of the raw materials were imported.

The department said the bulk of these imports were crude vegetable oils. Some of the margarine makers, particularly the smaller plants, buy some refined cottonseed oil and also hardened cottonseed or soybean oil. Some makers buy these supplies directly from U.S. producers and others from Canadian refineries.

Most of the techniques and formulas in Canadian plants have been taken from the United States. Thus, Canadian margarine is of the U.S. rather than the European type, which contains large proportions of whale, peanut and palm oil.

U.S. In The Lead

"As long as these formulas are used," said the department, "the United States can be expected to play an important role in Canadian production.

"However, it is still too early to arrive at a real measure of the effect on United States exports."

Future imports from the U.S., it added, will depend on the Canadian oilseed production program.

Soybeans are one of the few sources of edible oils for margarine manufacture that can be grown profitably in Canada. Growers there have been encouraged to expand their acreage to help minimize reliance on imported oils.

A record crop of 2,000,000 bushels was estimated for 1949, compared with 1,800,000 in 1948 and a pre-war average of 270,000.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Confirmed Bachelor Unfair To Monopolise Girl's Time

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man 43 and have been going with a girl of 29 for the last five years. We are very much in love with each other and have never had any argument on any subject except the question of marriage. She has been after me for the last three years to get married, but I am a widower and, having had a taste of marriage, I prefer to remain single. She knows I love her and never think of any other woman. I take her out two or three times a week and we always have a good time. She is all that any man would want for a wife — good looking, educated, charming, and I fully intend to marry her some day, but she says that I must either make up my mind to get married this year or she is through. Don't you think she is unreasonable?

Dorothy Dix

X. Y. Z.

ANSWER: Not at all. I think she is only showing good sense, and that she would display even more intelligence if she refused to marry yo uat all, for there is small chance of happiness in matrimony for the woman who has to drag a man to the altar against his will.

Evidently you are not in love with the girl. You find her an entertaining and an amusing companion. She is congenial and adds to your pleasure when you take her out. You even enjoy a little love-making on the side that doesn't lead anywhere, and so as long as you can have her society without letting yourself in for paying her bills, why marry? There couldn't be a pleasanter arrangement for you.

That Isn't Love

But that isn't love. When a man really loves a woman he wants her for his own. He isn't satisfied with seeing her two or three time a week and taking her out to dinner now and then. An ardent lover isn't putting off the wedding day. He is using every effort to hurry it up.

You say that one reason that you do not want to marry this girl right now is because you have been married and you dread giving up your freedom. That is a point you do well to consider. Not all men are adapted to married life. There are plenty of men to whom no woman could ever be as dear to them as is their own personal liberty — plenty of men who are not domestic by nature and to whom a wife and children are always burdens. Such men not only preserve their own happiness but save innocent women from misery by staying single, since no wife can be happy unless her husband is glad to be married to her. So have a heart and remain in that state of widowhood to which it has pleased God to call you.

The girl is quite right to call time on you, because there is no possible profit to her in wasting herself upon a man whose attentions are without intention.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the youngest of four girls, all of whom are married except myself. I am 29 years old and engaged to be married to a splendid man, but my mother says that she will lose her mind and threatens to commit suicide if I leave her. She has no objection personally to the young man. She just doesn't want me to marry anyone. Nor will she be left alone, as my father is still living. My sisters tell me to marry my sweetheart, and he says that he will not want me if I wait until mother makes a nervous wreck of me. What shall I do?

ONE WHO IS BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

ANSWER: Don't discuss the matter with your mother any further. Just put on your hat and step out with your young man and get married and telegraph her from the first stop on your bridal tour what you have done.

She won't commit suicide. She hasn't the faintest idea of doing such a thing. That is just a threat with which she is intimidating you, and when she finds out it hasn't worked she will forget all about it. And you will be surprised how soon she will ignore the fact that she ever opposed your marriage.

If a mother has a valid objection to her daughter's marriage, if the man is a drunkard or a roue or plain no-account, a girl does well to listen to her mother's advice. But when mother is just a selfish old woman who is willing to ruin her daughter's happiness for her own comfort, the girl is simply idiotic not to marry her man in spite of mother's objections.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a married woman 40 years old. I am real stout and my husband says I am too fat for him. Please tell me just what to do.

A WORRIED WIFE

ANSWER: Go to your family doctor and get him to prescribe a diet for you. If your husband likes 'em thin, you may rest assured that you have either got to lose your avoiddupois or lose him. So get busy. A wise wife takes the tip when her husband criticizes her clothes or her weight.

A steaming in the bathroom will help take excess electricity out of a taffeta dress. Ordinarily, taffeta will generate electricity when it rubs against a silk or rayon slip.

Linen takes on formal airs in these new costumes. Rhinestones embroider the bodice of the short dinner dress (left) which has a deep V-neckline in front and back. Sheath dress (right), belted in black velvet, sparkles with crystal and bead embroidery on the camisole top. Matching jacket is hip-length.

Spring Fashion Styles Achieved Smart 'Top' Look

By JEAN THOMPSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO —(CP)— Herald of spring in the fashion world is the spring fashion show. And the current show at a large department store here (Simpson's) has a refreshing collection of exciting clothes.

Largely from United States designers, the models included some French imports and a group from Nicol of Sweden. Leading designers were Christian Dior of New York, Pauline Trigere, Nettie Rosenstein and Ben Reig.

It is to be a season of color, despite forecasts of a navy-blue-and-white spring. Yellow, green, tangerine and straw are important whether in coats, dresses or hats. Grey and navy blue, however, still hold their own.

With both coats and suits it is the "top" look this year. This is achieved by turned-up collars, bat-wing sleeves and full backs, tightly belted. Skirts are slim beneath the full tunic. A monotone tweed coat with a pleated back to the waist, had push-up sleeves and was worn with a tangerine straw hat and elbow length white gloves.

Coats may be either belted or loose. For casual costumes they are often short, made of fleece material, and paired with a matching gaberdine skirt.

For Mature Figures

A group of clothes for the more mature figure featured darker clothes and highlighted accessories. One striking dress in navy wool with white pique trim, had straight overskirt of navy lined with pique. White gloves, navy corde or suede bags and shoes to match with a color or flower-accented hat completed the costumes.

Pure silk is a favorite fabric. It appears in prints, shantungs and surrahs, frequently teamed up in color with the coat, or coat lining. White is used for accent, particularly in gloves. Little girls' coats had white overcollars of pique, or eyelet embroidery. The classic pump is still the shoe for 1950, and here fabrics lend the new touch, linen for day and satin for evening.

Hats really have something new this season. It is the forward look. Last fall hats were pulled to one side, but the fashion-wise woman will now wear her hat straight on the head.

Flowers are everywhere. Lily Dache's black straw had pink roses, and Sally Victor's natural straw sailor had lilacs. For a more tailored effect, the modified derby and the forward cloche are important.

The newest evening gowns are shorter, and with them are usually worn many-strapped satin sandals. A lovely two-piece formal gown in a soft blue linen had a strapless sheath topped with a full silhouette jacket with encrusted lapels. There was a touch of the '20s about Ben Reig's white handkerchief formal with points dipping to just above the ankle.

Bonarlaw News

Mrs. Robert Cranston became ill on Friday as the result of a heart condition and is under the care of Dr. Cornell. Mrs. Cranston is worthy mistress of Stirling LOBA No. 655 and her sisters in the Order wish her a speedy recovery.

Miss Shirley Walker of Marmora has accepted a position with CGE in Peterborough and commenced her duties this week.

Mrs. James McIntyre and baby of Bancroft are spending a few days with relatives in Marmora.

Mrs. Jennie Wellman and sons Charlie and Dave visited Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wellman at Havelock on Sunday. They also spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Leona Walker and family at Marmora.

What's Right

You smoke as much as your husband does.

WRONG WAY: When you go out in the evening expect him to keep you supplied with cigarets.

RIGHT WAY: Carry your own cigarets so that your husband won't have to jump to give you one each time.

Young Starlet Enjoys Eating Flowers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 3 (AP) —A rose is as rose is a rose to readers of Gertrude Stein. To starlet Piper Laurie it's a tasty tidbit.

A swain would be "daffodil" to send a corsage to the 14-year-old actress. She'd be likely to eat it.

Piper's flower-eating habits were uncovered during a "Louisa" scene, in which Edmund Gwenn mixes a marigold salad. The rest of the cast was surprised to hear of such a dish.

"What's so amazing about that?" The starlet asked. "I've been eating flowers for years."

"I didn't put much stock in the report until I met the girl at lunch. She assured me that any man, woman, orchid would relish certain flowers.

"They're delicious," she said "Take gardenias, for example They're my favorite. They have a nice, leafy taste, something like lettuce but much sweeter. I eat gardenias plain; most other flowers I eat in salads."

Lots of Vitamins

"Are you serious?" I asked.

"Certainly," she answered. "What's more, a doctor told me flowers have lots of vitamins."

I "aster" how she got started on her bloom-nibbling jag.

"It started when I was a kid in Detroit," she replied. "I loved Lilacs. One day I wondered if they tasted as nice as they smelled. So I went over to the neighbor's yard and tasted some they were delicious."

Soon her tulips were tasting all kinds of blossoms.

"I love red roses," she rhapsodized. "They have a very delicate flavor. Violets are nice, too."

Our luncheon turned out to be a "daisy." Robert Balzer, local gourmet, was there to mix us up a marigold salad. It was he who suggested using the salad in the script.

He recited an old French salad saying, which I thought was a "dandelion":

"Be a miser with vinegar, a spendthrift with oil, judicious with pepper, a light hand with salt and a madcap with the mixing."

So I tried the salad. It's a "lily."

To separate two glasses which are stuck together, put the outside glass in warm (not hot) water and at the same time? put cold water into the inside glass.

POCKET CARTOON

"Of course, Trudi, if you feel you really must stand: Lord Littlehampton and I wouldn't dream of discouraging you, but you do realise that from now on the cost of entertaining political friends in the kitchen will have to be included in your election expenses?"

Hosiery Capers

Vera Very Busy With Coiffures

HUDDERSFIELD, Yorkshire, England,—(CP)—A 200-mile trip to London to give a movie star an exclusive hair-do is all in the day's work for vivacious Vera Moore.

She recently made such a trip to dress Patricia Wayne's hair in the style of the 1920s for the premiere of her first staring film, "Your Witness."

Vera has other long-distance customers is movie actresses Ann Crawford and Hazel Court.

Vera runs her own fashionable salon in Huddersfield. Her natural flair for artistic hairdressing has won her a number of awards in national and international competitions.

If she were not so busy glamorizing hair in London and the provinces, she might have been competing in the famous Monte Carlo auto driving test—her great ambition for a long time.

Building up to it, she has a record of successes in auto trials in Yorkshire. A year ago she won the Huddersfield Car Club's rose bowl for a winning performance. It was the last driving trial her hair-styling work permitted her to enter.

Before that she won prizes in ballroom dancing competitions and, as a violinist, ran her own dance band for three years.

"But for a long time," she said, "I have been thinking of nothing but hair styles. "I am not much interested in my own hair and never bother designing styles for myself."

Typhoid Shots Given At Vimy

KINGSTON, March 3 (CP) — All dependents of military personnel at RCEME and Vimy School of Signals over the age of one year have been ordered inoculated against typhoid fever as a precautionary measure, it was revealed today by Col. Chas. Leef, area medical officer, eastern Ontario headquarters.

A rumor that an epidemic of typhoid had struck the big military establishments east of the city was squashed today when Col. Leef reported that only one person with the fever needed to be sent to hospital in the camp. The case was that of an Indian reserve army soldier who had been at Petawawa camp on reserve army manoeuvres and had been stricken by the disease while there.

Army medical records disclosed that this youth had contracted the fever while still on the Indian reservation near Owen Sound where he lives.

Dr. A. R. J. Boyd, city officer of health, said today that there was only one other case of typhoid in the Kingston area, and that that case had come to Kingston from Portsmouth for hospitalization. Dr. Boyd said there has not been a case of typhoid reported in the city since 1943.

Says Egg Price To Be Higher

LONDON, Ont., March 3 (CP)—Egg market trends soon may bring higher prices to farmers, ending the need for floor prices, the first organization meeting of Middlesex Poultry Producers' Association was told Thursday night by G. H. Sami, of Toronto.

Editor of a poultry magazine (Canadian Poultry Review), Mr. Samie said that Canada's per capita consumption of eggs had risen 56 per cent since Jan. 1, while in the same period there had been a 10 per cent drop in production.

Town Planners Hold Conference At Toronto

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 3 (CP)—A point meeting of the American and Canadian Institute of Planners and Institute of Professional Town Planners opened here today with Prof. Frederick J. Adams, of Cambridge, Mass., and Tracy D. Lemay, Toronto, greeting delegates from across Canada and the United States.

Walter Blucher, Chicago, Ill., presided this morning for the panel discussion on the consultant and the city plan—"How may his services best be applied." Arthur C. Comey, Cambridge, Mass. Aime Gousineau, director of city planning for Montreal, John Layng, architect planner of Toronto, and Ladislas Sedgoe, consultant of Cincinnati, Ohio, participated.

Use Church Buildings As Emergency Schools

OWEN SOUND, March 3 (CP) —The Hanover Public School Board Thursday night appointed a committee to seek a site for a new school to replace the 38-year-old public school building destroyed by fire Thursday with a loss estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000.

In the meantime, emergency closses for the five senior public school grades affected by the fire will be held in the Hanover Community Hall and church buildings. School books and equipment have been sent from Owen Sound and Kitchener.

School board officials estimate that it will be at least two years before a new school can be built.

Swimmers' Coach To Speak

Mrs. Pansy Forbes, coach of Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, is one of four coaches who has been chosen to give a lecture on duet and team synchronized swimming at a special meeting this week-end in the Toronto Granite Club. The first of what is expected to be an annual two-day session, arranged by the Canadian division, International Federation of Coaches, commences this evening. Mrs. Forbes' address will be heard Saturday evening and her points will be demonstrated in the water by members of her club, Norma Gant, Jean Millard, Isobel Crary, Betty Welsh, Iris Rielly and Shirley Moldaver.

Says Canadians Living At Highest Level

TORONTO, March 3 —(CP)— This is no time for blue notes in Canada, Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., said today in an address today to the Toronto Rotary Club.

"We have so much in our favor we are the envy of the world," he declared. "I hope we will not endanger it by letting the gloom peddlers talk us into trouble. This is a time for healthy optimism and common effort....

"Although I cannot see one on the horizon at the moment, we just might have a mild recession such as they had in the United States a few months ago.

"We are all earning more, living better, enjoying more comforts and luxuries than ever before in our history. A recession might mean that we would have to be content with two or three per cent or even five per cent less all around. But we would still be miles ahead of any previous period....

At Highest Point

"Government statistics tell us unemployment is at its highest point since before the war....

In spite of these figures, there is no national unemployment problem. The records show pockets of unemployment in a number of regions here and there and in some instances actual and severe distress which arouses all our sympathies, but it would be a grave error o view this as a wave of joblessess sweeping the nation.

"Nevertheless, the situation is one demanding concern and swift action on the part of our government and of all of us....

"I think industry can help by constructive planning to spread available work and by well-timed expansion programs. I believe labor leaders can help by devising and co-operating in work-sharing plans and by giving both industry and government the benefit of the workingman's viewpoints and ideas."

Make Suggestions

Mr. Sale made several suggestions for dealing with current adverse trends in exports. They included:

Serious thought by the Canadian government to extension of further credits to the United Kingdom and possibly some other countries.

Canadians should look more kindly upon imports from Britain and other countries.

This principal cannot help but involve some sacrifice upon the part of Canadian manufacturers, Canadian business men and Canadian workers, because additional imports means increased competition.

Every effort should be made to search out new markets, on this continent and elsewhere.

Report Father Badly Hurt

KITCHENER, March 3 (CP)—Robert Robertson, burned about his head and arms in a vain attempt to save his eight-year-old daughter from a fire, still is in critical condition in hospital.

Robertson, partially blind, helped his wife and a younger daughter to safety when their home caught fire Wednesday night. He went back for the other daughter, Carol, but she twisted out of his grasp and eluded Robertson.

Mrs. Robertson and 18-month-old Dorothy are in fair condition.

Find City Planning 20 Cents Per Capita

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 3 (CP)—Dr. Aime Cousineau, director of Montreal's city planning department, said today that planning in his city cost 20 cents per capita last year.

"We have ample evidence and justification," he said in an address to the Institute of Planners, "that the services of a consulting city planner are indispensable and should be sought, whatever may be the formula or conditions under which he is attached to a planning agency."

Dr. Cousineau and L. Campeau, Montreal's traffic expert, are the only two delegates at this meeting who attended the first joint meeting of the organizations at Ottawa 30 years ago.

Union Discusses Pension Plan With Martin

OTTAWA, March 3 (CP — A Windsor delegation of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) Thursday discussed with Health Minister Martin the possibility of a $100-a-month pension plan for employees of the Ford Motor Company of Canada.

George Burt, regional director of the UAW-CIO, reported after the conference that Mr. Martin said the government might be able to get a contributory pension plan in operation following the Dominion-provincial conference next fall.

Mr. Martin told the eight-man delegation. Mr. Burt added, that the federal government was prepared to pass legislation on pension plans but that since provinces have jurisdiction over pensions, provincial acceptance would have to be obtained.

The Windsor workers of the Ford Motor Company are seeking a $100 pension. The company has agreed to a pension of $55.

Other government officials present at the 2½-hour meeting were Dr. George Davidson, deputy welfare minister, and Arthur McNamara, deputy labor minister.

The delegation came here at the suggestion of the company, and were accompanied by Wallace Clark, personnel director of Ford Motor Company.

Members of the negotiating committee included Roy England, president of the UAW Local No. 200; William Riley, Mickey Carr, Conny Steers, Bert Ward and Clayton Wood.

SYRIAN WEAPON

The catapult, originally a military engine for throwing stones, arrows and darts, is said to have been invented by the Syrians in 200 BC.

New Robot Talks And Waves

LONDON, March 3 (CP) — A two-foot rubber robot with an electronic brain and a fondness for private enterprise strikes a new and eerie note today in Britain's battle of the sugar bags.

Mr. Cube, a talking mechanical man, will make his first public appearance at a press showing in Piccadilly and technicians say he's so lifelike it frightens them.

Mr. Cube is believed to be the first robot which moves lips, eyes and arms in perfect co-ordination with its speech. How it's done is a secret.

will be for exhibition only. But if the Labor government persists in its plans to nationalize the sugar industry, the robot will stump the country, delvering speeches on the evils of state ownership.

The first Mr. Cube was a cartoon on sugar bags distributed by Tate and Lyle Ltd. throughout the country. Tate and Lyle is an £8,000,000 enterprise which produces 52 4/5 per cent of Britain's sugar.

Meanwhile, sponsors claim, the original Mr. Cube has become so popular with the public that commercial firms are seeking permission to reproduce its likeness on scarves, dress goods, toys, greeting cards, brooches and novelty jewelry.

Textile Workers Get Pay Rise In New Contract

CAMPBELLFORD, March 3 — (ENS). — Employees of Campbellford Cloth Company Textile Workers Union Local 743 have signed a new contract with the company after completing negotiations for holidays and wages.

Under the terms of the new contract the workers will receive a general pay increase of about 2 cents an hour, retroactive to January 7 this year. The basic wage rates are now 65 cents an hour for men and 51 cents for women. Thirteen cents of the cost of living bonus has been incorporated into the above rates, leaving a balance of 8 cents as bonus.

After six months 'employment, the workers will receive two statutory holidays with pay, after one year five holidays with pay, with an annual increase of one day until, after four years, the workers will be paid for eight holidays.

After six months' employment, the workers will receive 2 per cent of their annual earnings as holiday pay, after two years 2½ per cent, and an annual increase of ½ of 1 per cent until after five years, when 4 per cent of annual earnings will be given as holiday pay.

Jury Acquits Byrnes Of Charge

Verdict Lenient Judge Declares In Discharging Jury

Joseph Byrnes, 26, was found not guilty of a charge of the manslaughter of Mrs. Helen Kendry by a Supreme Court jury Friday at 4.11 p.m. one hour and one minute after they had gone out to consider their verdict.

Byrnes was originally charged with murder following the fatal shooting of Mrs. Kendry which climaxed a beer drinking party about three a.m. Sunday, Feb. 5, in Byrnes' home.

When the verdict was announced a surprised half-filled court room heard Mrs. Byrnes sitting with friends exclaim aloud in relief and start to weep.

After Byrnes and his wife embraced outside the court room, Mrs. Byrnes phoned her mother-in-law. "Mother, you can get up off your knees. It's all over. He's off."

She had to repeat her message before Byrnes' mother could understand that her son had been acquitted of the manslaughter charge.

Appeared Calm

Outwardly, Byrnes appeared as calm as he had all through the trial and the preliminary hearing two weeks before.

"I feel you have been a most fortunate young man," Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel said to Byrnes before telling him he was free.

To the members of the jury he stated, "I think you have taken quite a lenient view of this evidence."

He said he could only assume the jury members had concluded Byrnes had not been criminally negligent when he failed, on his own testimony, to work the bolt of the rifle to ensure it was not loaded and to make sure the safety catch was on.

Not Valid Excuse

Mr. Justice LeBel added that he felt the jury must have taken into consideration that Byrnes had been drinking, "and to excess." However intoxication could never be allowed as a valid excuse, His Lordship said, for the "complete

Coal Strike At End, Lewis Wins

Ontario Emergency To End Soon, Miners Work Monday

WASHINGTON, March 4 — (AP)—A sudden agreement giving John L. Lewis sweeping gains today heralded a swift end of the coal strike in the United States. The 372,000 miners, hard-hit after nearly a month of idleness, probably will troop back to work Monday if remaining details can be worked out and a contract signed this week-end. With the country down to the bottom of its fuel bins, and industry almost to its knees, the 10-month deadlock started to crack with startling speed Friday.

After hours of negotiating, government mediators announced that Lewis and major operators had agreed on "fundamental principles" for a new contract. Southern operators still are balking, but they were expected to fall in line.

The terms were not announced formally, but numerous sources on both sides agreed Lewis had won: (1) a 70-cent boost in the miner's daily wage to $14.75, and (2) a 10-cent hike in the 20-cent tonnage royalty on coal production for the union's welfare fund, which pays for pensions and other benefits.

The surprise agreement came on the heels of an appeal by President Truman for power from Congress to seize the strife-torn industry. He acted after the government had failed to end the strike with a Taft-Hartley Labor Act court injunction against the miners.

Attorney-General Howard McGrath said that the final settlement arrangement would prompt the government to drop its plan to appeal a federal court ruling acquitting the UMW of contempt for the miners' defiance of a court no-strike order.

Relief Soon

Relief is expected soon in the coal shortage which reached crisis proportions in Ontario, with municipal authorities at Toronto and Windsor instituting emergency delivery and industries preparing plans for enforced shutdowns.

Just when this settlement will result in boosting the flow of coal from the United States is problematical but the settlement

Police Get Hancock In Vancouver City

Aubrey S. Hancock, 35, charged with a $100,000 car finance swindle in Peterborough last October, was arrested Friday in Vancouver, B.C., Chief Constable John Thompson said here today. Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke and Sergeant William Aggas left Friday evening for Toronto to fly to the west coast They are expected back with their prisoner about Tuesday. Vancouver police wired Chief Constable Thompson Wednesday to advise him Hancock had been sighted and warrants for his arrest were immediately despatched.

No word of Paul Imming, 24, believed to be Hancock's partner has yet been received.

Sought Four Months

In the four months or more that Hancock and Imming have been sought, rumors have been continually heard as to their whereabouts. The earliest and most persistent was that the pair had gone to Mexico.

The swindle believed to be the biggest car financing swindle ever to be perpetrated in Canada, was revealed Oct. 28. It was common knowledge Hancock and Imming had disappeared from the city about three weeks before that.

Victims of the alleged swindle, Colonial Finance Company, of Toronto, said they were cheated of at least $100,000.

Police charge that from April to October last year, Hancock, a Toronto man, and Imming who was born and raised here, were operating as used car dealers. They received payment from the finance company for non-existent cars which they sold to fictitious people bearing real and fictitious names at addresses in Peterborough and the surrounding district.

Using the names Midtown Motors and Ideal Auto Body, police say, they forged agreements of sale which included applications for loans from the finance company.

2 Teen-Agers Quarrel, Die Of Wounds

TORONTO, March 4—(CP)—A young girl and her "steady boy friend" died in hospital early today each with bullet wounds in the head following what police believe was a quarrel.

Beverly Thrush, 14, of York township, died two hours after her parents found her in 15-year-old George Moore's home on the northwest outskirts of the city. Moore, Beverly's boy friend, was found on the kitchen floor. He died soon after Beverly.

Police said a .22-calibre rifle was on the floor near the wounded boy. There was no one else in the house when the youngsters were found by Beverly's parents.

Beverly had telephoned her parents at home, police said. Their conversation ended abruptly and the girl's parents rushed to the Moore home a few doors away. There were no signs of a struggle in the Moore house.

Had On Coat

The girl had a kerchief on her head, through which the fatal bullet passed. She was wearing her overcoat.

The girl's parents accompanied police to Western Hospital and George's parents went also when they were notified. They had been out for the evening.

"It's a terrible thing, Beverly's father told a friend a few minutes before Beverly died. "This is just about the end as far as I'm concerned."

Moore's father said he had no idea of what had happened until told by police.

The bullet that killed Beverly, said police, entered at the back of her head: the boy's wound was in the right temple.

Will Cooperate Not Appease Soviet-Pearson

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP) — The government and opposition agreed in the Commons Friday that in relations with Russia there should be co-operation—but no appeasement.

In the annual Foreign-Affairs debate External Affairs Minister Pearson said that no means of bridging the gap between the west and the east should be rejected.

But, he added, it must be made clear that the democracies are not prepared to make "any unrequited sacrifice through which we would weaken our position in exchange for nothing."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the word "appeasement" must go and the Russians must be told that the democracies will not bow to their "vile" tyranny. Canada should not make "haste" in deciding about recognition of China's Communist government.

Door Left Open

The door to co-operation with Russia was left open by Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel), external affairs spokesman for the official opposition. He suggested that a special meeting of the United Nations be called to clear the decks for peace.

Mr. Pearson suggested the UN might go so far as to hold a meeting in Moscow.

The suggestion received a mixed reception.

Mr. Graydon thought the Minister had gone too far. He said:

"After all, we do want to have a special meeting of the United Nations and we would like to have it at a place which would be convenient generally; but I do not think this country, or, indeed, any other democratic country, wants to get down on its knees to any other competing nation.

Meet On Fair Ground

"What we want to do is to meet on fair, reasonable, equitable and decent grounds, wherever they may be."

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said he felt Mr. Pearson had

Seek To Stimulate Buying Of British Goods In Canada

On a special commission by the British Board of Trade, Sir Gerald Campbell, G.C.M.G., had lunch at the Empress Hotel Friday with a group of local business men. He was accompanied by Mr. A. P. Timms, Toronto, United Kingdom Trade Commissioner.

Sir Gerald in enquiring into the different types of exhibitions and fairs across Canada preliminary to a proposed promotional campaign in the interest of British manufacturers and exporters. The Kiwanis industrial fair in June and the Peterborough Exhibition in August attracted Sir Gerald to this city.

The stimulation of Canadian purchases of British goods is essentially the purpose of this tour of study of exhibitions and fairs which is taking Sir Gerald across Canada and into United States.

He is seeking information about the extent and possibilities of these exhibitions as a means of gaining greater publicity in Canada for many lines of British products. The specific purpose of his visit is to prepare a list of such exhibitions which may be recommended to the Board of Trade as affording the most promise of publicity value to exporters in the Old Country.

There are some other phases of his survey which in a general sense is aimed at broadening outlets in this country for British manufactures.

Sir Gerald was High Commissioner from Britain to Canada during the period from 1938 to 1941, and also served in an advisory capacity on the staff of Lord Halifax, British Ambassador in Washington.

Those who met Sir Gerald here included Mayor Swanston, Ald. P. J. Anglesey, W. G. Ovens of the Kiwanis trade fair, Norman W. McConkey and G. A. Gillespie of the Exhibition Board, H. L. Garner, Herbert I. Bradburn and Bruce Payne of the Industrial Commission, Dick Raine, Wilson Gemmell, P. D. Scollard and Jas. M. Fraser of the Chamber of Commerce.

TORONTO, March 4 (CP) —Elmer Patterson, 36, collapsed and died of a heart attack in the Union Station here late Friday night as he was preparing to leave for Sudbury. Patterson had been notified Friday that his father was in hospital at Sudbury with coronary thrombosis. His own death resulted from coronary thrombosis, according to Dr. W. E. Brown.

Czechs Threaten Church Action

PRAGUE, March 4 (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist government has threatened new state action to curb what is described as the anti-state campaign of Archbishop Joseph Beran and his Roman Catholic Bishops.

The Minister of Justice, Alexei Cepicka, who also is Minister of Church Affairs, opened a new blast at the Catholic hierarchy Friday in an open letter to Archbishop Beran, Primate of Czechoslovakia.

He charged Beran with "working for a long time to spread disruption and incitement."

This latest state attack on the church was prompted by a circular letter from the prelate forbidding Czech priests to attend discussions with government representatives and threatening them with excommunication if they accepted government posts without prior approval of the church.

2nd Polish Attache Defies His Recall

OTTAWA, March 4 — (CP).— Tadeusz Wiewiorowski, for four years commercial attache at the Polish Legation here, Friday quit his post in defiance of a recall to Poland and announced his intention to stay in Canada.

The blonde 50-year-old Pole, second to break ties with the legation in the last year, said that missions of Soviet satellite countries in Ottawa are being loaded with "ideological shock troops ... trained and indoctrinated to the last degree in Communism."

French Assembly Calls Troops To Quell Reds

PARIS, March 4—(AP)— The French National Assembly cut off endless debate on the anti-sabotage bill today by a vote of cloture after an all-night, rough-and-tumble filibuster.

The Communists who had been thrown out of the Assembly twice during the night announced they would attempt a vote of censure against the government. If the motion of censure were accepted it would throw out the government of Prime Minister Georges Bidault, but nobody expected it to be accepted.

How strictly the Assembly would be able to apply its cloture rules was uncertain. Under cloture the long hours of speaking by Communists who have been trying to block passage of the bill would be prevented. But even the cloture rules permit one man from each party the right to make a brief speech on any section of the bill, and on every amendment presented.

The government majority showed itself determined to keep the deputies in session until they adopt the bill which would insure receipt of American arms and under the Atlantic Pact.

Government forces had had to cope with two Communist sit-down strikes on the Assembly rostrum, fist fights on the Assembly floor and a near riot in the Assembly corridors.

Twice squads of mobile guardsmen were called into the Chamber. Once they ousted the Communist, who had seized the rostrum. Later they evicted a Communist who defied the presiding officer's orders to leave the Chamber.

The Communists fought the first eviction. Deputies and guards struggled on the Assembly floor.

Some Communists were carried bodily from the Chamber, kicking and clawing guardsmen.

U.S. Rejects Request To Cut Diplomats

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP) —The United States today rejected a Hungarian request that it consider reducing its diplomatic staff at Budapest. It also accused Communist Hungary of damaging relations between Hungary and the United States.

The Department announced that an American note was delivered by the delegation in Budapest to the Foreign Affairs Ministry. It was a reply to a Communist government note of Feb. 23, asking that United States consider reducing the size of the legation.

Armoury Fire In Montreal

MONTREAL, March 4 (CP).— A three-alarm fire early this morning caused extensive damage to the Black Watch Regiment Armoury on downtown Bleury Street.

Tram car traffic along Bleury Street was disrupted and thousands of persons on their way to work were forced to make a detour around the three-storey building.

Firemen were handicapped by a bitterly-cold wind and below zero weather.

No one was injured.

It was believed damage will run into several hundred thousands of dollars. Destroyed was an army museum, opened last November by Lord Wavell and containing firearms and army equipment dating back a century.

Cars Meet Head-on 4 Killed In Quebec

BERTHIER, Que., March 4 — (CP)—Four Montreal residents died Friday night when two automobiles collided head-on at high speeds on the Quebec-Montreal highway four miles east of here.

Dead are Michael M. Elwood, Joseph Pierre Dumais, Ferband Noel and Miss Madeleine Ross.

Police said Dumais was driving a car containing Miss Ross and Noel toward Three Rivers while Elwood was driving toward Montreal when the crash occurred.

Elwood was killed in the crash itself when he was hurled through the windshield.

Dumais died shortly after being admitted to nearby St. Barthelemy hospital.

Miss Ross died in Berthierville hospital and Noel on his way to a third hospital.

700 Casualties In Canton Raid

HONG KONG, March 4 — (Reuters)—Seven hundred persons were killed or wounded in Canton Friday during a series of raids by Chinese Nationalist aircraft the Hong Kong Standard reported.

Unconfirmed reports said Canton power station was damaged.

RAF Spitfires went up to protect British territory when Nationalist bombers started huge fires in a raid on Shamchun, just beyond the Hong Kong border.

Eyewitnesses believed the approach of the Spitfires prevented a prolonged attack, since the raiders were unable to start or finish their strafing runs over British territory, as on some previous occasions.

A dump containing 300 drums of gasoline and a truck load of chemicals was set alight by Nationalist bombs.

Lindsay Dentist Wins Assault Acquittal

LINDSAY, March 4—(CP)—Dr. C. W. Lyons, Lindsay dentist, Friday was acquitted on a charge of assaulting a young patient who refused dental treatment. Magistrate E. A. Gee ruled there was no malice or intent on the part of the dentist and he dismissed the charge.

Former police constable Thomas Bolderstone alleged that his daughter Donny, 9, a nervous child with a weak heart, had been slapped by the dentist and required medical attention for a split lip. Dr. Lyons testified that the child was unmanageable and said he had "chucked her under the chin" to get her into position in the chair for treatment.

Butter Likely 52 Cents If Ottawa Cuts Support

OTTAWA, March 4—(CP)— The government's support price for butter will be reduced by five or six cents a pound April 1, dairy experts forecast Friday.

The new price will be announced by Agriculture Minister Gardiner within the next three weeks. The current price of about 58 cents a pound may dip to 53 or 52 cents.

The experts said the government will lower the butter floor to:

1. Prevent accumulation of surpluses which occurred as a result of the government's entry into the butter business.

2. Bring the butter floor more into line with the lower support price for cheese.

As a result of the government's decision to support butter prices last August, it was forced to purchase about 50,000,000 pounds and still has in storage about 20,000,000 pounds of unsold butter.

In an attempt to clear the warehouses of surpluses, the government has asked the butter industry to help it find export outlets for at least 10,000,000 pounds.

Canada normally never has been an exporter of butter, but the introduction of margarine, said the experts, has changed the picture.

An Agriculture Department circular to the trade indicated that the government would be willing to pay all handling costs if export markets could be found.

Prepare For Trouble

CALCUTTA, India, March 4— (AP). — City officials braced themselves for possible trouble today, as Calcutta's Hindu population began observance of Holi —major religious holiday. Riot squads stood ready and all bus and streetcar transport was kept off the streets as the holiday got under way.

PILOT BREAKS RECORD — Flt. Lt. Don Laubman of Provost, Alta., climbs from the cockpit of his RCAF Jet Vampire at St. Hubert Airport near Montreal after a record flight from Vancouver. He streaked over the 2,300 miles at an average sped of 460 miles and hour, smashing by nearly two hours the 1948 record of six hours, 52 minutes set by a Trans-Canada Airlines North Star. Laubman stopped at Winnipeg for 29 minutes to refuel his plane. The North Star flight was non-stop.

Urges Highway In Case Sault Bombed

TORONTO, March 3—(CP)—Possibility of Sault Ste. Marie being bombed by Russia necessitates completion of a highway around the north shore of Lake Superior as an evacuation route, G. I. Harvey (CCF—Sault Ste. Marie) told the Ontario Legislature Friday.

Sault Ste. Marie, with its steel industry and canal system was a strategical centre in the North American defence system and could become "another Pearl Harbor or Hiroshima," he said.

Russia was "the potential attacker," he said, and "high on its list for immediate destruction would be the canal system at Sault Ste. Marie."

May Need Speed

"Should it be necessary to evacuate the population of Sault Ste. Marie we want to get out in a hurry." The best way would be by Highway 17 which is still uncompleted between Montreal River and Schreiber, Ont., a distance of 179 miles.

The highway was "the shortest and most logical" route for Ontario's section of the Trans-Canada highway. It would develop the area as a tourist attraction and give aid for mining, lumbering and railroad industries.

The road would satisfy, "not only a local need, but a national and international need in the completion of an adequate defence system."

eased problems of municipal and industrial leaders.

Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, promptly announced at Montreal that the 25 per cent cut in CNR passenger service, effected last Jan. 9 as a result of low coal stocks, will be ended and full services will be resumed, with dates of full services to be announced Monday.

A large shipment of Alberta coal was reported en route to Ontario. The shortage for domestic consumers apparently was most acute at Windsor and Toronto, with civic authorities in both cities instituting an emergency control over deliveries. At least 10 of the coal dealers at Toronto reported their stocks exhausted, and 13 coal firms at Windsor had reached the bottom of the bin.

Premier Frost of Ontario said in an interview the Alberta shipment of coal was arranged by the Dominion Fuel Controller in co-operation with dealers' organizations.

Starts Ball Rolling

Acquittal by Judge Richmond B. Keech was what started the ball rolling toward an agreement. The prospect of industry seizure gave it another push.

Neither Lewis nor the operators liked the legislation Truman sent to Congress—the miners because it barred any contract deal with the government, the operators because it limited the amount of revenue they could get from their seized properties to "just compensation," a phrase that had them worried.

George H. Love, representing the northern and western operators, and Harry Moses, representing steel interests were reported to have figured the time had come to do business with Lewis.

The result was a quick compromise with Lewis.

Take Several Days

Even with the contract signed and sealed, it may take several days for production to get really rolling, and even longer before the country's coal stocks are out of the crisis stage.

Besides the increases given the union in wages and welfare fund money, these were the other main features reported in the agreement:

1. The union shop, requiring miners to belong to the UMW, stays in effect.

2. "Memorial" stoppages after mine disasters are to be limited to five days a year.

3. The clause saying miners work only when "able and willing" is rewritten. This also had provided a union excuse for strikes. Rewording of the language—originally intended to relieve the UMW of legal responsibility for local strikes—was one of the "details" remaining to be worked out.

The agreement is understood to run to July 1, 1952, with permission to re-open in on some phases, including wages rates, April 1, 1951.

Neither side got everything it wanted.

The finance company, receiving an application, made one investigation. The company would write to the fictitious applicant car buyer outlining the terms of the loan. A note was added that if any of the particulars were wrong, the company was to be notified. Otherwise, the loan would automatically go through and a check would be sent to the "used car dealers."

The pair were smart enough to see that monthly payments for all loans, about 80 of them, were made on time as long as they continued to work the deal. When a payment came due, a man bought a money order using the false name for the correct amount and sent it to the finance company. Thus the company had no reason to suspect any skullduggery.

The whole scheme came to light when, after the pair had skipped town, the finance company stopped receiving loan payments as they came due from day to day. They sent out letters of enquiry and this time there was no one to intercept them. They got some letters returned because the persons were not known and from those people whose names had been used, they got indignant letters back asking what was going on.

Three men were arrested in connection with the affair. The first was Richard O'Brien, 512 Stewart St. The second was Jack Douglas, Toronto. Charges against them were withdrawn after some time. The third man, James King, Peterborough, is still facing a charge of being an accessory after the fact in the affair, the same charge laid against the other two.

made a good suggestion. He urged that Canada take the lead in proposing that the UN meet in Moscow.

Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East) acting CCF leader, said he did not believe that a better approach to international problems could be obtained by meetings of heads of States. Efforts should be made to solve problems through delegations rather than through heads of state.

Haven't Changed

In his speech, Mr. Pearson also:

1. Said the Russians have been cultivating the impression that the west has turned down new Soviet proposals for world atomic control. The Russian position on essentials of international inspection, the key to control, had not changed.

2. Reported progress in a number of negotiations with the US and said "it is still our strong hope that Congress may soon be able to give consideration" to the St. Lawrence Seaway.

3. Said Canada has no objection to a conference on a Pacific defence pact.

Mr. Pearson said the west, steadily gaining in power, should "reaffirm our desire to seek again through negotiation a settlement of the divisions which now beset the world."

"Between the Communist and non-Communist world some modus vivendi, some agreement to live and let live, can be worked out," he said.

Genuine Compromise

"But this can never happen except through a process of genuine and mutual compromise and accommodation. If there remains any doubt about the desire of the western powers to find a basis for such compromise and accommodation then we must try to sweep away that doubt.

"That may require a great new effort on everybody's part, possibly some new high-level meeting of a full-dress conference of the 15 or 16 powers principally concerned on all forms of disarmament including atomic disarmament or it may require something else. It might require a meeting of the UN in Moscow. an invitation to which may not be too easy to obtain.

President Intervenes

WARSAW, March 4 (Reuters) —Intervention by Polish President Boleslaw Bierut has freed Dr. Kazimierz Kowalski, Roman Catholic Bishop of Chelmno, West Poland, from house arrest, it was announced Friday night. Two weeks ago Bishop Kowalski was forbidden to leave his palace while charges were investigated that he had penalized pro-government priests. The announcement said Dr. Kowalski now was anxious to abide by the law.

Bushworker Convicted, Hanged In May

SUDBURY, March 4 — (CP) — Adelard (Eddie) Latour, 49-year-old bushworker, was convicted today of the knife slaying of Mrs. Cecile Rainville, 23, and was sentenced to be hanged May 16.

Mrs. Rainville, mother of three small children, was slain last Sept. 12 in her basement apartment. Medical testimony was that her body was stabbed in 32 places.

Latour is a cousin of Mrs. Rainville's husband.

The guilty verdict came on the fourth day of Latour's trial before an Ontario Supreme Court jury. Sentence was passed by Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly.

Latour pleaded self-defence and said he suffered a "blackout."

Latour's Story

Latour's story was that he had gone to Mrs. Rainville's apartment to return a jacket borrowed from her brother. She had asked him to stay, had spread chesterfield cushions on the floor and had suggested they be intimate.

When he refused, Latour testified Thursday, the woman attacked him with a knife—his hunting knife. He said he suffered cuts about the hand as he tried to grab the weapon from Mrs. Rainville. What happened after that, he didn't know.

One Crown witness testified he saw Latour come up the stairs from the basement with blood on his shirt and blood dripping from his hands.

"The evidence," defence counsel Maurice Lacourciere said in his charge to the jury, "has shown that Latour is hot-tempered and in a fight doesn't even know his best friend."

disregard for the safety of others."

"Nevertheless, this should be a lesson to you which will be seared on your memory for all time," Mr. Justice LeBel told Byrnes.

"A young woman in the prime of life who did no wrong but to accept your invitation to a party" and like the others failed to go when you "rudely" asked them to leave the house, "is dead today."

He said if Byrnes had any conscience that knowledge would remain with him all his life. He added that if wise at all, knowing he could not hold his drink, he "would leave it alone."

Describes Shooting

In court Friday morning, Byrnes took the witness stand and described how the shooting occurred in his bedroom and Mrs. Kendry standing in the living room was fatally shot through the abdomen by the 43 calibre lead slug which ripped through the bedroom door panel, through the five inch wall and pierced her body to strike Harold "Huck" Frost standing directly behind her.

He told of having drunk several pints of beer both in his own home and in downtown hotels. He testified he was on friendly terms with everyone at the party. After his wife returned from the doctor who stitched up a cut on her hand she received when she put up her hand to protect herself from the tricycle flying toward her which Byrnes had thrown at McGregor, she sat in a chair and he sat on the floor beside her.

He said both he and his wife asked the guests to leave with no results. "I got up, went downstairs and took four fuses out of the fusebox," Byrnes related.

Gets Rifle

He continued: "I went into the bedroom and got the rifle in the closet. I brought it out so everyone could see it. I said 'Go now.'" He received no reply to his command.

He demonstrated how he held the rifle with both hands at arms length across his body so that it pointed toward the kitchen. After standing there a short time, he went into his bedroom, took off his trousers, socks and shoes and got into bed dressed in his underwear shorts. He had put the gun under his bed.

He said after about 10 minutes Mrs. Weir came to the foot of the bed about three feet inside the bedroom.

He related he got out of bed, picked up the gun and shouted, "Get her out of here!" three or four times. He said Mrs. Weir stumbled and fell and his wife and Spencer came into the bedroom and bent over Mrs. Weir.

Demonstrates Hold

He showed the court how he was holding the gun with his right hand at arm's length pointing toward the south wall of the bedroom.

Seeing his wife and Spencer attending to Mrs. Weir, he said he started back to bed "backing up."

"I stumbled. I lost my balance, let go of the gun, then grabbed it with both hands as it was starting to fall and the gun went off," Byrnes related.

He said he had stumbled over his shoes. "I sat down on the bed. I was surprised it went off."

"I would have sworn the gun was not loaded," Byrnes told his lawyer, T. J. Carley, K. C.

In charging the jury, before it retired, Mr. Justice LeBel said the crown's case depended almost entirely on the evidence of the accused himself and his wife.

The jury consisted of: Grant Morrow, foreman, 488 McKellar St. Alvah Rook, 526 Bolivar St.; Frank Pollick, Belmont township; Leo Moher, Douro township; Ernest Lee, 29 Cricket Place; Arthur Sayer, Otonabee township; Albert Bolton, Burleigh township; Ernest Ivey, Dummer township; Cecil R. Hagerman, 196 O'Carrol St.; Thomas K. Harrison, Smith township; William Guppy, 160½ Sherbrooke St.; and Stewart Lockington, 591 Donela St.

Stock Markets Finish Week On Strong Note

By The Canadian Press

Stock markets ended a week of irregular dealings with a strong rise late Friday following news that President Truman would request power to seize coal mines in the United States.

Generally, markets continued moving on a highly selective plane for the first four sessions. When the news of Truman's plan was announced, prices in New York moved upwards, especially in steels, autos and rails.

The comparatively strong rise was accompanied by increased volume and the average price level of the market moved within touching distance of the 3½ year high.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose to 74.1—a gain of .4 from the previous Friday and just .2 distant from the highest point touched since August, 1946.

Canadian industrial markets were also strong. In Toronto, strong selective demand pulled the exchange's industrial index of representative stocks to the highest point on record Friday. It showed a gain of 1.66 over the five days.

Golds also brightened gaining .93 on the index. Attention was centred in low-priced gold stocks early in the week as traders turned away from narrow industrial markets.

Interest has been perking up in recent weeks in golds as development and drilling news increases. Companies with property in the Little Long Lac area, northwestern Ontario, were particularly active.

Leading base metal stocks, like Consolidated Mining and Smelting and Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting were pushed lower. The base metal index was down 1.36

Western oils were largely ignored. Mild selling slowly depressed the list for a loss of 1.24.

HOCKEY PLAYER HURT

Ernie Nicholls, star centre on the first line for the Lakefield Indians, fractured his right ankle in a game at Lakefield Friday night, and he will be out for the rest of the season. It was a freak accident in the first period of the opening game of OHA intermediate "B" playdowns with Napanee, Lakefield winning 14-2. Nicholls was thrown accidentally into the boards and sustained a bad fracture of the ankle.

Cochrane Folk Prepare Plan For Settlers

TIMMINS, March 4 (CP)—Representatives of various municipal councils and organizations in the vast Cochrane district at a meeting Friday elected a committee to draw up a brief to the Ontario Legislature on the plan to bring settlers from Southern Ontario.

Councillor J. P. Bartleman, of Timmins, original mover in the proposed "south to north" migration, presided over the meeting sponsored by the Timmins council.

The committee will consider suggestions and recommendations from municipal councils, boards of trade, chambers of commerce, school boards and other organizations interested in the plan. The committee will meet here March 13 to review recommendations and draft the brief to be submitted by the members for Cochrane North and Cochrane South in the Legislature.

J. P. S. Ballantyne, Northern Ontario Agricultural Development commissioner, outlined the farming possibilities of the 17,000,000-acre clay belt stretching 200 miles across Northern Ontario.

Help For Settlers

W. O. Langton, Timmins, president of the Northern Ontario Associated Board of Trade, told of attempts made by the association to obtain increased government help for settlers.

The progress of the meeting was interrupted when William Kennedy, international representative of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, arose in general discussion to demand that no settlers be brought in until the present farmers are catered for.

Some farmers at the meeting contended that storage buildings and a grading station are needed to make possible a steady flow of farm products throughout the year. Councillor Bartleman pointed out that the farmers had failed to organize themselves to seek assistance and that the migration plans was a separate matter.

Appeal Court Upholds Ruling On Promoter

TORONTO, March 4 (CP)—The Ontario Appeal Court Friday in a 44-page judgment upheld an order delivered by Mr. Justice G. F. McFarlane last October and extended it to provide complete investigation into the operations of J. J. Gray, mining promoter and organizer of the $3,000,000 New Augarita Porcupine Mines, Ltd.

Complete investigation into Gray's operations by the Master of the Supreme Court was ordered in Friday's judgment, which denounced "raiding" and "plundering" tactics. The judgment described Gray as guilty of "wilful, reckless and gross fraud in despoiling" the company of its assets.

By the judgment Gray was made fully liable for the difference between the purchase price of more than 300,000 shares in his company and "the excess received in its sale." The judgment indicated that Gray purchased the shares of $1 par value at figures often as low as 20 cents a share.

Canada Spends More Than Others On Planes

TORONTO, March 4 — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton said Friday night that Canada is spending a "far greater proportion" of her defence budget on air power than other countries.

"We are placing great emphasis on the air force but not to the point where the proper roles of the navy and army are ignored," said Mr. Claxton in an address prepared for delivery before the RCAF Association at Toronto.

SATURDAY, MARCH 4, 1950

And Now We Pay

Astounding! That is the mildest expletive which comes to mind when we look at the details of the bill which the Ontario Hydro Commission has levied against the Peterborough Utilities Commission—that is, against the electricity-using people and industries of this city on whose behalf the local Utilities Commission operates our Utilities buildings, provides services and distributes power. The most astounding item on the bill is the interest charged by Hydro as Peterborough's share of the total Provincial Hydro debt-carrying charges. The cost to Peterborough for interest alone in the one year was $124,435. This huge sum is almost as much as the total actual cost of all the power Peterborough used during the year—$133,425. These charges for interest cannot be expected to decrease in the next decade; they will almost certainly increase.

* * *

When we add to this cost for interest alone the shares levied against Peterborough for other general Hydro costs, the situation is even more astounding. Here they are, from the bill which Hydro presented the city Utilities this week:

Peterborough's share:
Of operating, maintenance and administrative expenses	$117,794.14
Of Interest	124,435.65
For Frequency Conversion, Contingencies, etc.	74,551.32
For Sinking Fund	31,434.66
For renewals	27,916.59
Total	$376,132.36

The contrast between these central, general charges and the actual cost of the power which Peterborough used—$113,425—is most remarkable. Be it noted that the Hydro charges for interest, maintenance and the like have nothing to do with, and do not include, local Utilities maintenance and other costs.

* * *

The table given above emphasizes that Peterborough has a large financial stake in the vast expansion of Hydro, and in the Frequency Conversion, which are now taking place. We here in Peterborough are paying and will continue for decades to pay, hundreds of thousands of dollars toward the general Provincial system. We do, of course, benefit, as do other parts of the Province; for instance, we need not now expect further power shortages.

* * *

During the war our local Utilities rates were kept low, and the annual credit which the Hydro Commission paid back (the "thirteenth bill") was high. The necessary expansion of Hydro, both provincial and local, which was delayed during the war, has now hit us financially. The local Utilities costs have risen; so has the Provincial bill — very sharply. For instance, this year the rebate was only $5,318. Last year it was $44,999. And there is warning from Toronto that its general costs will be higher, and its bills higher. As a consequence, local hydro rates are being increased by ten and eleven per cent. beginning last Wednesday, March 1st.

* * *

The vast Hydro expansion program and the Frequency Conversion were approved in the Provincial parliament almost unanimously two years ago. It was said at the time that the costs could be financed through regular and easy routine ways. The broad details of the financing plan, though open to public scrutiny, were so intricate that only experts in Hydro accounting could assess them adequately. Now the gloss has worn off, the details are coming plain. What the Hydro work now in progress means in terms of Peterborough dollar costs is plainly to be seen.

Three Penny Beaver To Four Cent Matthew

An article in the current monthly bulletin of the Department of External Affairs may interest those of our readers who, like ourself, do not indulge in philately and generally look at stamps as pieces of adhesive paper to be licked, which sometimes bear pretty pictures, and sometimes pretty bad ones. The article outlines the story of Canadian postage stamps, from the first "Three Penny Beaver" issued in April, 1851, to the 'Matthew' stamp put out last year to mark the union of Newfoundland with Canada.

After the first stamp showing the native beaver, designs were confined to royal portraiture and portraits of Jacques Cartier, until the "Map Stamp" of 1898 appeared. This stamp was designed to commemorate Imperial Penny Postage. It was our Post Office's first attempt at a many-coloured stamp. The British Empire was printed in red, the oceans in blue, and the outline of the rest of the world in black. The British red unaccountably overflowed into parts of the world which had not then been warmed by the never-setting imperial sun, which may have annoyed Americans and the German Emperor. The next pictorial stamp was not issued until 1908, when the tercentenary of Quebec city's foundation was observed. Seven historical stamps were put out for the occasion.

The fiftieth and sixtieth anniversaries of Canada's confederation were marked by special issues in 1917 and 1927 respectively. Some of these stamps were excellent. The 20 cent orange 1927 Special Delivery Stamp was particularly praised as a good work. The article thus describes it:

Through a gothic window casement, symbolizing European culture, five different methods of mail transportation are shown against a background which reveals something of Canada's vastness and diversity. Dominating the scene is a lofty peak, typical of Canada's great mountain ranges. In the foreground is a railway line along which a trans-continental train is speeding, and between the mountains and the foreground is an arm of the sea down which steams an ocean liner. In the foreground there is a stretch of ground suggestive of the prairies with a "pony express" rider carrying a mail bag on which appears a philatelic tour de force: the smallest engraving ever attempted on a postage stamp. On the mail bag, so small as to be indecipherable to the naked eye, appear the words "Canada P.O." Beyond the train, on a stretch of snow-covered ground, a dog team draws His Majesty's Mail. Above, two airmail planes take off for the far North.

From 1928 onward the Post Office spread itself through all sorts of pictures and stories having to do with national life and history: for instance, the 50-cent Bluenose schooner stamp of 1928, Niagara Falls 20-center of 1935, the 10-cent Peace Tower of 1938 (an odd year for it, despite the Munich Pact), the munitions manufacturing scene on the fifty-cent stamp of 1942, wheat harvesting on the 20-cent stamp of 1946. It was in 1928 that the Post Office department decided, while continuing with royal effigies on stamps of small denomination, to use the higher ones to show phases of Canadian life and industry.

If our stamps have improved pictorially, they have retrogressed in the royal designs. In other, better days, the sovereign always looked the opposite way from his predecessor—as coin heads do. For instance, Edward VII looked right, George V left, Edward VIII right. The present King should therefore look left, and not squarely face on, or even slightly right as he does in the latest and current issue of the one to four cent stamps. This issue, from the point of view of colour and design is as poor as we have seen in Canada. Perhaps the article in the External Affairs Bulletin is a face-saver for the Post Office designers and engravers, recalling, in the present shame, the past glories of Canadian stamps.

Annual Eye On The Schools

Special attention in Peterborough is being directed this coming week at our schools and educational system in their theory and practice. Open house is being held at various times by the elementary and secondary schools, and parents and other interested adults will no doubt take advantage of the opportunity to see for themselves what goes on, the changes in fabric and curriculum, and to talk with the teachers. Even reduced to hard terms of dollars, schools are important. The largest single call on the city tax rate comes from the Board of Education—this year almost half a million dollars. All citizens, whether or not they have children now at school, will be interested in seeing how the $480,935 of their money is being used in local educational practice.

This being Peterborough's centenary, a look back as well as forward is appropriate. The Examiner is co-operating with the Peterborough Branch of the Teachers' Federation in this matter. Various teachers and school principals have prepared historical accounts of their schools and the first three of these appear today on our Feature Page. Articles on other city schools will follow during the week.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The U.S.A., we read, is suffering from "a surplus of eggs, potatoes, and women". Export is the obvious solution, and only of the Grade A goods.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Miss Minerva Hawser

Dear Miss Hawser:

You are forever asking me questions; how would it be if you answered a question of mine, for a change? What makes my foldfish die?

A few weeks ago a false friend gave me a small bowl containing a goldfish and another black fish, with long transparent trailing stuff hanging from it, so that it looked like Salome in all her seven veils. Salome had pop eyes, in which it was possible to read the secrets of her fishy soul. Almost from the time she entered my house she pined, and it became obvious to her best friends that she was covered with a rather nasty scum. It was no surprise to me when, one day, I found her floating on the top of the bowl, a husk from which the lovely spirit had flown.

Being a humane man I trotted to the pet shop and bought a companion for the goldfish. I got a small sardine with stripes on it. I also bought a snail, as the woman in the shop said it would keep my fish from growing scummy. Within a week the goldfish was no more. The vital spark had fled. And my sardine is beginning to look a trifle peaked.

Soon I shall be left with nothing but the snail. I cannot love my snail. It grips the side of the bowl with its single foot in a way which repells me. Have you ever examined the sole of a snail's foot through a magnifying-glass? I have. It is a sight to make the gorge heave. Indeed, I almost hove my gorge right into the goldfish bowl.

What have I done wrong? Do I simply lack a green thumb with goldfish, or what?

Yours in deep puzzlement,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

P.S.: Just looked in the bowl, and the snail is now in Abraham's bosom. A merciful deliverance, perhaps.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.

Dear Marchbanks:

I see that some naughty boys have been sent to jail for robbery. In an intimate talk with the police they confessed that they were great admirers of crime movies, comic books and wicked literature. All naughty boys say this, of course. It is expected of them.

When you and I were young, I clearly recall that the tendency of movies was toward romance, rather than crime. We doted upon Richard Barthelmess, who often appeared as a pirate of a highly ethical sort. And we yearned to be like Douglas Fairbanks, and wasted many an hour trying to jump over chairs, as he did. I recall twisting my ankle badly and jolting my sacrum by jumping out of the haymow of a barn, in an attempt to rival Fairbanks. And I do not recall that we ever stole anything except a few apples; we were too much afraid of the Wrath to Come.

In my view the modern boy needs a larger proportion of moral pirates in his movie diet, and fewer gunmen.

Yours platitudinously,
A. PILGARLIC.

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.

Dear Fribble:

Isn't it odd how the same bit of information will crop up two or three times in the course of a week's reading? Recently I have run across several references to the nineteenth century custom of drinking champagne out of a lady's slipper, upon occasions of merrymaking. The usual thing, when the party was at its height, was to hoist the belle of the ball onto a table, laughingly remove her slipper, fill the heel of it with champagne, and quaff it off, while the lady shrieked with delight, and other fellows stood about, enviously wishing that they had thought of it first.

Plagued with a desire to test this for myself I have tried an experiment: I have a fairly new pair of bedroom slippers, and I poured some tap water into one of them and attempted to drink it. It is very hard to do this without slopping, and the liquid has a tendency to run down into the toe. It was a rather woolly drink. Further, it took my slipper eight hours to dry.

Now what do you suppose happened at those parties? When the toast had been drunk from the slipper was it then squelchily replaced on the dainty foot? And if not, how did the lady get home? So far as I know, these matters have never been satisfactorily settled. Are there any old-timers who have performed this slipper feat, who can throw light on what came later?

Yours curiously,
S. MARCHBANKS.

To Apollo Fishorn, Esq.

Dear Mr. Fishorn:

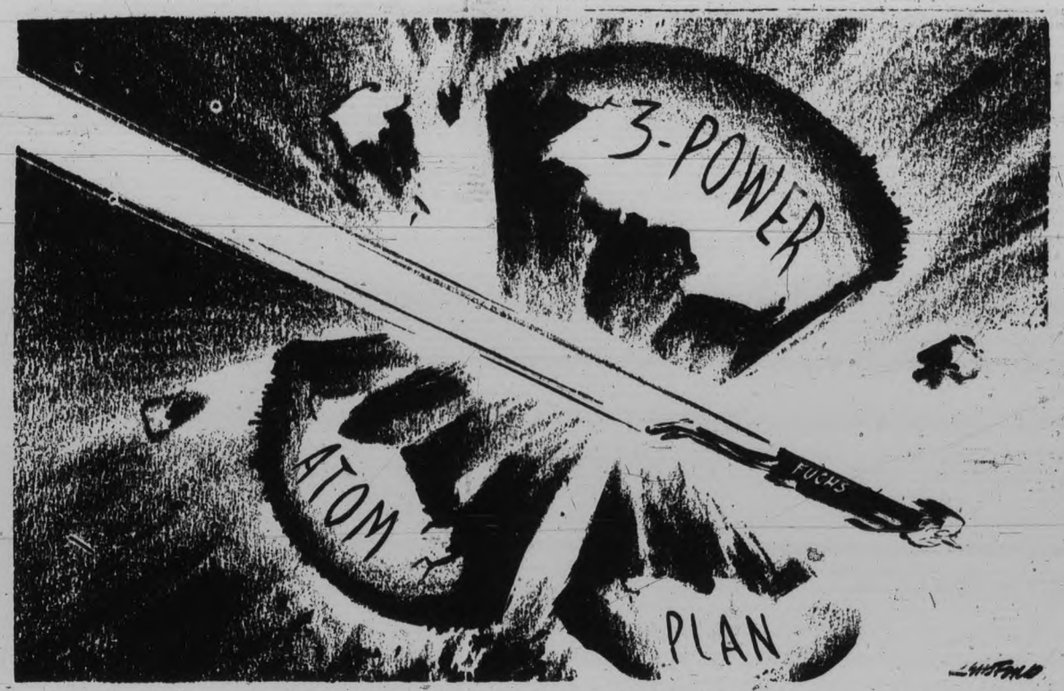
You want to be a Canadian playwright, and ask me for advice as to how to set about it. Well, Fishorn, the first thing you had better acquaint yourself with is the physical conditions of the Canadian theatre. Every great drama, as you know, has been shaped by its playhouse. The Greek drama gained grandeur from its marble outdoor theatres; the Elizabethan drama was given fluidity by the extreme adaptibility of the Elizabethan playhouse stage; French classical drama took its formal tone from its exquisite, candle-lit theatres. You see what I mean.

Now what is the Canadian playhouse? Nine times out of ten, Fishorn, it is a school hall, smelling of chalk and kids, and decorated in the Early Concrete style. The stage is a small, raised room at one end. And I mean room. If you step into the wings suddenly you will fracture your nose against the wall. There is no place for storing scenery, no place for the actors to dress, and the lighting is designed to warm the stage but not to illuminate it.

Write your plays, then, for such a stage. Do not demand any processions of elephants, or dances by the maidens of the Caliph's harem. Keep away from sunsets and storms at sea. Place as many scenes as you can in cellars and kindred spots. And don't have more than three characters on the stage at one time, or the weakest of them is sure to be nudged into the audience.

Farewell, and good luck to you,
S. MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.



How, Marchbanks:

They going to throw me out of jail tomorrow, Marchbanks. What I do? "You not want liberty?" say Turkey. "Liberty, hell!" I say; "I want social security; keep me in jail". Turkey get very wild. Neck awful red. "You a disgrace", he say. But Turkey got soft job. In jail all time. You got pull, Marchbanks. You get me Turkey's job?

How, again,

Chief of the Crokinoles.

Letters To The Editor

REJOICES IN NASSAU

Sir: Today at noon I heard a newscaster on the radio say it is 10 degrees below zero in Toronto, Canada, today. I knew Hastings would be colder. So I was glad I was in Nassau where the temperature is 83.

Bay St. is the shopping centre and is crowded every morning with tourists and shoppers. The natives make lovely bags and hats and they have their own market place. The native women all wear hats, they never wear slacks or shorts, even working in the gardens. In the fish market there are blue fish, box fish, Jack, and running Jack, crawfish and a dozen others. Huge turtles which they chop up with a hatchet, is a favourite with the natives; unless you take a bag to put the fish in, they thread a piece of palm through the gills and you carry it home like that.

The streets are very narrow and mostly one way, and very few sidewalks.

The flowers and flowering trees are very beautiful. There are coconut trees, bread fruit trees, banana trees all loaded with fruit. There are sapadilla trees with bunches of fruit that look like russet apples and are very sweet.

There are several large hotels crowded with tourists. The British Colonial is painted yellow. The Montague painted pink. Pink seems to be the favourite colour, and pale green is used often.

Ninety per cent. of the population is coloured. And the colour line is very strict, nearly every white woman has a coloured maid.

The beaches are pure white coral sand. The white coral is cut out of the hills in blocks or bricks and used for building, and slates for roofs.

There are two inland lakes that rise and fall with the tide and are salty, so they must be connected with the sea in some way.

The few buses there are, are not patronized by the whites. So to live out any distance or go any where it is necessary to own a car or hire a taxi.

There is no ration here. And American money is taken. Oranges and grapefruit are very cheap, bread is 18c, milk 32c quart, eggs 93c dozen, fish 21c pound. The tourist season is supposed to last three months. The big hotels close when the season is over.

(MRS.) M. FOSTER.

SAYS SCOTS HOSPITALITY SUPERIOR

Sir: I read, with no little amusement, Gerald Tully's reply to Mr. Braund's statement that Scots hospitality far exceeds the English brand.

Being a native of one of these countries and having, unfortunately, sojourned in the other, I heartily agree with Mr. Braund's verdict.

Mr. Tully's excuse (I believe that's what it amounts to) that the English have to line up for half an hour for bread, meat, ice cream, etc., doesn't sound very convincing. After all, the Scots who are forced by circumstances to send the same meat, bread, and what have you, to help feed the English, have for this reason to line up for hours on end for the self-same commodities.

Furthermore, during my short stay in Canada I have found the Peterborough police and bus drivers anxious and willing to help in any problems which I have submitted to them.

Finally, I have never yet heard any Canadian veteran who would dream of comparing English with Scots hospitality.

Yours, etc.,
MAC DUFF.

GREAT BAR RECORD

Sir: I have taken great interest in the Examiner newspaper dispatches referring to Mr. Isaac Pitblado, K.C., of Winnipeg, and concerning the celebration of his 60th year as a member of the bar.

May I recall to the minds of Peterborough citizens the record of two of our former legal practitioners, Mr. E. H. D. Hall, K.C., and Mr. E. A. Peck, K.C., each of whom continued in active practice almost up to the time of their death, and practised their profession for a period of sixty-six years — something of a record for any community.

Yours truly,
F. D. KERR.

HEROIC RELIGION

Sir: To complete the picture presented by Mr. Harold Gilbert in letter titled "Hero", we should abolish Christianity and create a new religion, Churchillanity.

Yours truly,
C. E. CORNWELL.

Garbage Gadgets Banned

In Toronto where at times they get very sanitary minded and concerned about little things, the latest is a complete ban on permits to instal garbage disposal units in domestic sinks. The city council talked over the matter at length and then voted 11 to eight against the gadgets.

Even in Toronto it is unlikely this decision will cause much consternation. The machines cost several hundred dollars and most people are still content to use the old-fashioned garbage can and let someone else worry about final disposal.

But it's a blow to modern ideas. The gadgets—grinding machines operated by a motor and installed under the kitchen sink—were great things to show-off to visitors. But keeping junior's roving hands out of them must have been a problem. Anyway they were being blamed for added pollution at Toronto's beaches and overburdening the city's ancient sewage system, so they are out.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord said unto Samuel, How long wilt thou mourn for Saul, seeing I have rejected him from reigning over Israel? fill thine horn with oil, and go, I will send thee to Jesse the Beth-lehemite: for I have provided me a king among his sons.... And Samuel did that which the Lord spake, and came to Beth-lehem. And the elders of the town trembled at his coming, and said, Comest thou peaceably? And he said, Peaceably: I am come to sacrifice unto the Lord: sanctify yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice.

And it came to pass, when they were come, that he looked on Eliab, and said, Surely the Lord's anointed is before him. But the Lord said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart....

Again, Jesse made seven of his sons to pass before Samuel. And Samuel said unto Jesse, The Lord hath not chosen these. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Are here all thy children? And he said, There remaineth yet the youngest, and, behold, he keepeth the sheep. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Send and fetch him: for we will not sit down till he come hither. And he sent, and brought him in, Now he was ruddy, and withal of a beautiful countenance, and goodly to look to. And the Lord said, Arise, anoint him: for this is he.

Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren: and the Spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward. (I Sam. 16: 1, 4-7, 10-13.)

A BRITISH OPINION

Progress of Peterborough: IX

First Building On City Site Scott's Plains Founded 1820

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

On March 27, 1818, Samuel Wilmot, a surveyor working with Birdsall, sent in a partial map of Monaghan to the Surveyor-General, recommending the reservation of lots 14, 15, 16, Concession 13 of Monaghan "lying at the head of navigable waters of the large river at the Carrying Place . . . a beautiful elevated situation for a village . . . " Surveyor-General Ridout sent the proposal to the Executive Council, adding: "As the river immediately below this spot forms a small lake, I respectfully suggest . . . the reservation of Lots Nos. 13-16 in the 11th, 12 and 13th Concessions of Monaghan for a townplot, glebe and the uual appendages of a town. As many of these lots are not 200 acres, the whole Trace submitted contains only about 1,600 acres." This was approved by the Council on May 8, 1818. Peterborough's career had begun.

Charles Fothergill of Smith's Creek, a promoter who has already been mentioned, immediately heard through his oficial connections about this promising townsite, and realized the advantages of a mill situated close to the growing settlements in Smith, Otonabee, Monaghan, Emily and Cavan. He went exploring up the Otonabee to locate a good site, and on July 22, 1818, petitioned the Government "In the 13th Concession (Monaghan) on lots Nos. 15 and 16 which are reserved, there is an excellent situation or mills, and unless a mill is speedily erected there your petitioner verily believes the progress of the settlement will be seriously impeded as many settlers have already to traverse swamps and wilderness for nearly 30 miles for their supplies. Your petitioner would gladly undertake the erection of mills could we have such encouragement from the Government either by a grant, an exchange or long lease, as might warrant the necessary outlay of money . . . . "

After some delay, Fothergill was on February 11, 1819, granted "LEASE TO CHARLES FOTHERGILL: All that parcel of land in the township of Monaghan . . . being the millseat situate on part of a certain plot of ground reserved for the site of a town . . . together with 10 acres of land adjacent thereto, for the term of 99 years at the yearly rent of 5 shillings to be paid annually to the Receiver-General, which parcel of land is composed of parts of lots 14 and 15 in the 13th concession and part of lot 15 in the 12th concession of the township of Monaghan . . . . . Reserving for a road one chain in width to the landing with space for each street in the future town which may lead toward the river; with free access to the beach by all vessels, boats and persons not interfering with the present mill and dwelling-house "

There was much jealousy over Fothergill's lease in the district, among others with less influence. Nevertheless, he was given the patent for the 10 acres on February 13, 1823, even before the townsite was marked off into lots.

Later, on May 20, 1829, the Government compelled him to surrender the millsite after an efficient mill was built at Government expense to serve the district.

To build his mill, Fothergill selected Adam Scott, a 22-year-old Scot who came to Smith's Creek in 1818 via the United States, built a mill there, and promptly married a daughter of James Mann of Smith Township.

Scott Commissioned

Scott's contract is given in one of the informative articles on Fothergill by E. S. Clarry in the Examiner September - October, 1945: "I, Adam Scott, millwright, hereby certify that I have promised and agreed to build . . . a grist and sawmill in a good sufficient workmanlike manner for Charles Fothergill Esq. on the river that falls into Rice Lake on a lot to be leased from Government . . . and to have the same ready on or before the middle of October, provided the said Charles Fothergill fulfills his part of the agreement . . . signed May 7, 1819. ADAM SCOTT."

A few days later, Fothergill, Scott, Ward, Edmison, John Farrelly (surveyor) and Barnabas Fletcher (farmer) rowed up the Otonabee and landed at Spaulding's Bay above Little Lake. When Scott had lit a fire by discharging his gun, they prepared to spend the night by the river at the spot later known as the Steamboat Landing. Next morning Edmison and Ward went into Smith Township to seek their lands, while the others spent the day finding the best location for the mill, dam, flume and pond. As soon as Ward returned that same day, the party returned down the river and overland to Smith's Creek, well satisfied with the results of their journey.

Due to Fothergill's delay in providing money and getting a firm lease, it was not until the spring of 1820 that Scott returned to build the mill. His first act was to build a rough log shanty 20 x 18 feet covered with black ash bark on the river bank near the foot of the present King Street. To this home he brought his family in the same summer, and before the end of 1820 his daughter Jeannette was born here, the first white child in Peterborough.

Mill Built

Having decided against trying to control the Otonabee rapids, Scott dammed up the waters of the creek traversing the townsite at a spot west of George Street on King Street, and conveyed the water to the mill by a flume down the steep bank to the Otonabee near his house. Here he built a crude mill of rough boards about 24 x 18 feet, containing a small upright "up and down" saw and a poor run of granite millstones which he quarried nearby for grinding grain. An undershot millwheel in the flume provided power to run the saw and the stones. (A map of Peterborough in 1825-1827, to be printed later, will show these landmarks.)

As late as 1867 Poole describes a mill operating on the same site, and up to recent years a flour mill operated there, though not run by waterpower. Part of the flume was dug up when the foundations of the Grand Opera House and Turner's factory were being built about 1900. It is said that the mill was stopped for long periods in summer and autumn, as well as the usual winter freeze-up, due to insufficient water, and that even when it did run it had not enough power to saw lumber of any thickness or to grind grain evenly. Scott did, however, use some of the first lumber from his mill to build a square frame cottage on the west side of Water Street midway between King and Charlotte Streets.

Mrs. Thomas Medd, granddaughter of Adam Scott and grandmother of Scott Medd and Miss Mary Medd, in a recently-discovered memoir described a trip she made from Smith to see "the small clapboard house with cottage roof" where her Scott grandparents had lived. Like the original shanty and mill, it has long since disappeared; an industrial area has swallowed most of these historic landmarks.

Scott did not prosper at the mill on Scott's Plains beside the Otonabee. Fothergill, having more profitable interests elsewhere, failed to finance the venture, and in 1820 had to give Scott a half-interest in the mill after the latter had used up all his own money.

Scott's Prowess

Scott himself was 6' 4" tall, weighing 260 pounds, and immensely strong. The late Thomas Choate, himself the first settler of Warsaw, related that in March, 1821, as a boy of 11, his father, Jacob Choate who was farming near Smith's Creek took him on a visit to carry needed supplies to English settlers in Smith. They came up through the forest by sleigh on a blazed but uncut snow-road, the snow being 10" deep. Ten miles north of Smith's Creek they met Scott trudging toward that village with the 250-pound iron crankshaft of his mill on his shoulder; it had broken and he was taking it to be repaired. Scott rested it on the sleigh and chatted with his friend Choate for a few moments, then hoisted it on the other shoulder and set off to finish his 30-mile walk, woollen stockings hanging down over his boots far below his corduroy breeches. The Choats called at Scott's house on their way back from Smith, and found his wife had not even a candle in the house, so poor were they. They met Scott walking home with the mended crankshaft, a stout-hearted pioneer if ever there was one.

His troubles with Fothergill continued. In a petition of May 12, 1823 to the Lieutenant-Governor, Scott complained that Fothergill, having recently got the mill-lease patent in his own name instead of the names of both partners, was trying to force him out by insisting on excessive deliveries of lumber contrary to their agreement, apd would not provide money to build a proper gristmill, "the gristmill being put up in the sawmill partly for want of time, materials and means."

We have no record of the outcome but Scott continued to operate the mill until 1827, and after 1825 set up a crude distillery in his home to make whisky for the settlers, to augment his scanty income. The legend is that he pastured his oxen on the eastern plain, now Ashburnham, and would cross the river even in flood on stilts to tend them.

Scott's wife died in 1825 of fever brought by the Irish immigrants, leaving six children. We shall see something of his later life in another article. At this point, however, it shoud be pointed out that there is no memorial—not even a street named for him—to Adam Scott of Scott's Plains, the actual founder of the flourishing city of Peterborough.

If Murray Daly of Barry's Bay had not been lax in reporting the 11-pound, 3-ounce brook trout he landed in Spectacle Lake to the Field and Stream competition in New York, he would have been a famous fisherman today. But he didn't. The 1949 competition results have just been published, pages of them; and although most top specimens were taken by Americans, the following Canadians made a showing for their home land:

First in brook trout (open) to J. J. Hayes of La Tuque, P.Q., an 8-3 at Big Lake, Wayagmack, P.Q.; G. V. Kinsley of Cameron Falls in third place with a 7-12er in the Nipigon River; Jim Jessiman of Fort William, fly casting, a 6-10er in Lake Nipigon.

Pickerel grow big in the Nottawasaga River where William Charboneau Sr., of Weston took third place with a 15-pounder; fifth place went to one taken in Bancroft's York River by a gentleman from Kent, O.; the largest of all was taken down in Tennessee.

Gladys Quibell of Savant Lake, N-W Ontario, came 9th in the northern pike, or jackfish, class with a 28-pounder; she took it in Sturgeon Lake. In the Brown trout (open) class Orville A. Heimbecker of Holland Centre received honorable mention for a 10-4 number from Bell's Lake.

Muskies were not mentioned. What's wrong F and S?

Offshoots of Wolf Hunt

We are following the mass wolf hunt business relentlessly and have the following results from last week-end's effort at the Soo: wolves seen, seven; wolves shot at, two; wolves killed, none. That makes us feel better in Peterborough county. Now about the film that Mr. Couture made of the Burleigh effort for the National Film Board.

The material is now in the editing stage in the Ottawa laboratory but officials have not decided, when it is finished, to release it to newsreels in New York or to hold it in Canada for their bi-monthly release "Eye Witness". In either case it will be considerable time before it will be screened in Peterborough due to the intricacies of theatrical distribution contracts. It may be something cool to watch next summer or it may even be later than that.

Come spring, male partridge will be heard drumming to their mates on logs in the deep woods and because of his loud courting game officials in Pennsylvania have been able to capture specimens for banding. The simple box trap is set with a mirror inside which attracts the vain male and gets him into trouble. No females have been caught by this device which all goes to show that females of the wilds are not as vain as their boy friends. The only way they have been taken is by gill nets thrown over the nests.

For the first time in many years a reduction in speckled trout creel limits will go into effect on opening day, May 1st. The new limit, 15 fish per day throughout the province, except in Norfolk county where it will be ten. The former limit was 20 fish or ten pounds, which ever was reached first.

Flag Of Soldiers Of The Queen

Last Saturday night I covered an assignment of the first get-together in Peterborough of the soldiers of the Queen, district veterans of the Boer War: seventeen of about 50 showed up. Endeavouring to find some war relics to embellish group photographs, none could be found. Neither city officials who gave the party nor heads of the Regiment present knew where any such articles could be found. There is one in the dusty archives of the Public Library basement that might have considerable history connected with it, a Transvaal battle flag. It is about seven feet long and incorporates the red, white and blue bars of Holland with a bright green fly and it's either rusted or bloodstained and riddled with holes, either from moths or rifle fire. And very very dirty. Will the city have it dry cleaned and hung in the Sergeants' or Officers' Messes or leave it to become dusters for book stacks?

Mirror To The Last Frontier

A magazine came in the mail the other day from Ketchikan, Alaska, which sets itself up as "holding a mirror to the last frontier." I took it home over the week-end in anticipation of reading a feast of articles about that far-off territory.

There were stories of grizzlies and salmon runs, of sourdough characters who had holed up there since '98, of moose hunting, mountain sheep and mining. Other instructive articles explained the making of seal gut raincoats and wood, bone and ivory carvings. But not a line of quotation from Robert W. Service, the man who made the world Alaska-conscious in ballad verse. Instead, an advertisement drummed up the sale on an Alaskan classic, "The Passing of Backhouse Bill"—to be had for 60 cents a copy.

After several pages of such fare that extolled the majesty of that rugged land and its devil-may-care people, the publication finished with two pages of classified ads. These, in my opinion sounded the keynote of the whole country. Its people are lonely.

Thirty ads in the personal section were headed with such catch titles as Lonesome? Lonely? Banish Loneliness! Are You Lonely? Marry Rich! Lonely Hearts Club! Why Be Lonely? Lonesome and Blue? Someone To Care; Meet New Friends.

Perusing these bits of heart balm further, I found that information toward finding life mates could be had anywhere from the cost of a three-cent stamp to a bi-monthly service sheet for $2 per year: nation-wide names and addresses, either sex, captivating descriptions, sparkling pictures, widows, widowers, bachelors and beautiful girls.

Think I'll forego three or four lunches next week and send for some of this alluring literature just for a laugh, of course. But in case this column is missing suddenly in the near future, you will know some of them reached Wits' End in error. Watch the obituaries.

The Human Seasons

Four seasons fill the measure of the year;
There are four seasons in the mind of man;
He has his lusty Spring, when fancy clear
Takes in all beauty with an easy span:

He has his Summer, when luxuriously
Spring's honey'd cud of youthful thought he loves
To ruminate, and by such dreaming high
Is nearest unto heaven: quiet coves

His soul has in its Autumn, when his wings
He furleth close; contented so to look
On mists in idleness—to let fair things
Pass by unheeded as a threshold brook;

He has his Winter too of pale misfeature,
Or else he would forgo his mortal nature.

Education Week Begins In City Schools

St. Mary's Began 1851

By SISTER M. DOLORETTA, Principal

The first Roman Catholic Separate School was organized in Peterborough in 1851. For three years rooms were rented in a building on the corner of Aylmer and Simcoe Streets. The salary then paid was seventy dollars a year.

In 1854 a roughcast building with two rooms, one for boys and the other for girls, was erected on the lot where the convent now stands, but before this building was ready for use the basement of the rectory was used as a school-house. The priest's house was then situated on the cathedral lot just about where the statue of Christ the King now stands. For ten years the school on the convent lot was in use, but on November 14, 1864, it was destroyed by fire.

The old Union School on the lot now occupied by the Central School was rented until 1865, when a new brick building was erected on the convent school grounds. A part of this building still stands in the portion of St. Mary's Convent which faces the Cathedral. The portion in the rear is of more recent construction.

265 Pupils, 1865

In 1865 the number of pupils on the Register was two hundred and sixty-five. The first teacher was Mr. Bernard Boyd, others were Mr. Dan Sullivan, Mr. McCabe, Miss Young, Miss Vinette, and Miss Hogan.

In 1867 the Nuns of the Congregation of Notre Dame were invited by Rt. Rev. E. J. Horan, Bishop of Kingston, to take charge of the school. Four Sisters from the Mother House in Montreal were appointed. On arriving in Peterborough the Sisters found that the Convent was not ready for their occupation and they boarded for some time with the family of Mr. David Lemay. In December they began classes in the Convent, using a portion of it as a residence. These Sisters remained in Peterborough until August, 1902, when they were replaced by the Sisters of St. Joseph, who have conducted the Convent ever since as a school for girls.

In 1941 the classrooms were thoroughly renovated, and new plumbing and electric lighting systems were installed. In 1946 the Sisters moved to St. Cecilia's Convent on Reid St. and the part of St. Mary's vacated by them was taken over by the Separate School Board to relieve the congestion becoming prevalent in all our schools at that time. Work on it was begun immediately, and in the following September two large classrooms, up-to-date in every detail, were ready for occupancy. In that part of the building are also a Board Meeting Room, and a modern, well-equipped kitchen.

CENTRAL SCHOOL 90 YEARS AGO—This photograph shows the old school as it was in 1860, before the first Collegiate was built (the present lower building of the Central School group). Note the wooden sidewalk, the picket fence, hitching posts. The school, built in Italianate renaissance style, was a remarkably handsome building for its time in this back-country district, when Peterborough had fewer than 5,000 people.

Notable Staff, Pupil Record At Central, Oldest School

By LILLIAN CAMERON ESPLEN, (Central School Staff)

During Centennial year it is only natural that the development of the Educational System in our midst should be of very great interest to all our citizens.

We can be justly proud of our schools, but fine and all as the modern ones are, Old Central is the one that holds foremost place in the hearts of the majority of the people, because she is their Alma Mater.

The first school in Peterborough was a log building with a shingled roof, erected in 1826-27 on the north-east corner of the present campus of Central School and conducted by the Rev. Mr. Armour first Episcopal clergyman in the village. This was the foundation of the excellent Educational System in this city, and it answered the purpose for many years, first as a school for all grades and later as a Grammar School.

By 1853 this building had become so dilapidated that it was untenable for winter use and the vacant church situated at the corner of Sheridan and Hunter streets, formerly occupied by the British Methodist Society, was leased and used as the school for a number of years.

New School

By 1857 the attendance had so outgrown the accommodation of the old church that a movement was started to provide a new school and the following building committee was named, Messrs. Jas. Hall, chairman; W. S Conger, William Cluxton, Thomas Fortye, Jas. Stevenson, Frederick Ferguson and Rev. Mark Burnham. After much discussion it was finally decided to use the site on Murray St. and to erect a noble structure which would be an ornament to the town and sufficiently large to accommodate the Grammar and Common Schools for many years. It was started in the fall of 1857 and completed Jan. 1860., at a cost of $16,258.

It was formally opened Jan. 3rd. 1860. Little did those men think in that day, that they were providing a building which, with very few alterations, would continue to serve the community honourably, ninety years hence.

Originally the basement rooms were heated by huge stone fireplaces which cast their warm glow about the place, while the rooms on the first and second floors were heated by stoves What a job it must have been to keep them all going. However by 1868 steam heating was installed by the Wm. Hamilton Co It was first tested and found to be satisfactory on Nov. 5th. and is still keeping the old school comfortable.

Collegiate and Normal

In 1884 the smaller of the two buildings now known as Central School, was opened and used as the Collegiate Institute until 1908, Central School and has since been used for the Primary Work.

The new Normal School was opened that year also, and as Central was one of the Critic schools, in connection with it, for a great many years, Manual Training and Domestic Science were started in the little school At this time tower-like extensions to accommodate new stairs and extend the halls, were added to the upper building. Part of the original tower had to be removed a few years ago, which was unfortunate, but apart from these slight changes Central School looks much as it did in 1860.

1927 School From County

By J. G. NICHOLS, Principal

The history of Confederation School, situated on Park St. and serving an ever-increasing community south of Lansdowne exemplifies in a very unique way how a school has grown to provide for a part of the educational requirements of Peterborough and its environs.

About twenty-five years ago we find that the area south of Lansdowne St. and west of Monaghan Rd. formed a township school division on the edge of the city known as S. S. No. 2 North Monaghan. When May's School could no longer accommodate the school population of this section, additional space was obtained in the basement of St. George's Church and in the Orange Hall on Lansdowne St. This was not a satisfactory arrangement and plans were made to put up a new building. Accordingly a four-roomed school was constructed in the year 1927

As Canada was celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of its founding, it was fitting that this new school should be named Confederation. Extensive home construction by residents from the city in that area east of May's School warranted the locating of the new building on Park St., south of the Exhibition Grounds. Older residents will probably recall that the Board of Trustees at that time was composed of Chairman A. J. Arnott and Trustees W. H. Webber and H. H May. The builder was Mr. Fred Finnie who now is the building supervisor for the Peterborough Board of Education

Occupied 1928

The school was occupied in Jan. 1928 and staffed by Mrs. H. B. Jackson, Miss Sanders and Miss E. Garbutt, the latter still serving as the senior member of the present staff. In September of the same year the fourth classroom was opened with Miss O. Johnston in charge. As the years went on an increasing number of city residents built new homes in the area and a two-roomed addition was required in 1942 to meet the needs of the growing school population.

With the borders of Peterborough extending southward, it was but a short time that they soon encompassed a large part of the populated area of S. S. No. 2 North Monaghan. Arrangements were made for the Board of Education of the city to take over control of the two schools in the annexed territory in September, 1944. In order to relieve the pressure on school accommodation, the senior grades of Confederation School were transferred to King Edward at this time.

New Addition

The war years saw rapid growth in the population of Peterborough. To meet the housing problem numerous construction projects went hand in hand with private building. Especially was this so in the vacant areas between Lansdowne St. and the Otonabee River. This part of the city soon became dotted with new homes. It soon became

No. VI: Travel Is Indicated.

Journeys, large and small, are very commonly foretold in the teacup. The figure itself, and the omens that surround and "qualify" it, will indicate whether it is in the nature of a little excursion or week-end trip, or a journey of pretentious proportions.

An Arch indicates a long journey, probably by steamship.

A Bear, a long journey, extending over a considerable period of time (corresponding to the bear's winter disappearance.)

A Bird, if not flying, portends travel.

A Bridge indicates a trip of a pleasant nature.

A Kite, a long trip, probably by sea, and with considerable attendant honor and prestige

A Ladder, travel, usually with some definite motive rather than just a pleasure trip.

Line or Dots denote a trip, especially if other signs of travel are present; if the line extends right around the cup, a wonderful trip is indicated, possibly around the world; the length of the line suggests the length of the journey. The straighter the line, the more pleasant the prospect. If the line wavers greatly, the journey is troublesome or attended by losses of some kind.

The position of the omen, its nearness to the rim of the cup, indicates the probable time of the journey. Other omens of good or ill, may tell of incidents of travel, pleasant or otherwise.

Legionnaires Even Series With 7-4 Win Over Nylons

Roaring into the enemy zone continuously through the third period, the local Legionnaires whammed home four goals in the last heat to beat Kingston Nylons 7-4 here last night. It evened up the best-of-seven OHA group senior "B" finals at a game each and broke Kingston's undefeated string of 21 games this season. A crowd of 2,000 saw a fast, clean contest—with but three penalties—between two well-matched squads. Legion looked a bit better most of the route, but had to fight from behind twice to gain the decision.

Nylons Led

Kingston led 2-1 in the first period and 4-3 going into the third, but Legion had a 4-0 edge in the final frame to wrap it up handily. They actually outplayed the Nylons a bit in each of the first two frames, though outscored and they made sure of it when the chips were down in the wind-up stanza. The losers drew two of the three penalties handed out in an exceptionally clean playoff fray.

Bert Hill was in on three of the Legion goals while Bill Crowley, Joe Rochetta and Sixty Coombs counted a pair apiece. Single points went to Freddy and Doug Mortimer, Vitarelli, Godfrey, Parnell and Greenlaw. Joe Catline and Ken Partis were in on three each for the Neylons, with Walt Gerow in on two, this starry trio proving plenty dangerous all the way. Plumb and McKeown each figured in a goal. Both goalies shone, with Udall much the busier on close-in thrusts. Montgomery hustled all the way on the Legion defence.

Cost a Goal

With Freddy Mortimer off for interference early in the first chukker, Plumb rapped home McKeown's pass from an angle to put Nylons up one. Crowley later got that back on a screened shot as he tore around defence. Partis took Catlin's forward pass and, with the goalie out, hit the twine to make it 2-1 on a nice play. Armstrong's penalty for high-sticking did no damage as play swept back and forth fast, with Legion having more dangerous tries, Parnell almost hitting the jackpot twice.

Rochetta tied the count in the second on a corner passout in close but Kingston, using floaters and long passes, had some good chances, too. Catlin put them in front on a rebound shot. Gerow and Partis aiding, after Nicholls was pulled out to make one save. They made it 4-2 later when Partis rapped the puck home on fast inclose combination with Gerow and Catlin. Crowley got that one back on a faceoff pass inside from Rochetta and slap shot at the goal mouth to make it 4-3.

ROSS SHINES—Ross Nicholls looked good again in goal for Legion last night here as they trounced Kingston Nylons 7-4 to even up their group finals at a game each. While not as busy as Goalie Udall, of Kingston, Nicholls made no mistake in a hot go.

Went In Front

Coombs tied the score to start the third, Hill and Godfrey aiding on Legion's good power play. Graves was gated for tripping but no damage was done in his absence. Some of the lights went out and there was a holdup of nearly 15 minutes till they were lit again. Coombs put Legion up one from Hill right on Udall's doorstep and play was hot and pretty even for a space. Legion later bored in again and Freddy Mortimer made it 6-4 on a passout and slap shot in close. Parnell and Greenlaw-earning assists. Just before the finish, Doug Mortimer blazed one more home on Hill's pass to really rub it in.

Kingston: Goal, Udall; defence, Murphy and Plumb; centre, Partis; wings, Catlin and Gerow; alternates, Armstrong, Joyce, Hawkins, McKeown, Ohlke, Graves and Stone.

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Burns and Godfrey; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alternates, Parnell, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Hill, Stewart, Coombs, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.

Referees, J. Crombie and W. Wilson.

Normal-Nurses Victorious In Lasses' Loop

Normals took a 20-8 victory over CGE to open the Girls' Basketball League semi-finals at the YWCA last evening, while Nurses Seniors romped to a 43-11 verdict against Black's. Return games will be staged next Friday there.

The first tilt was rough enough for a time but generally fast. The passing was off for a time, and Normals racked up a 13-4 lead in the first half, playing being much closer in the second. CGE missed Betty Stewart. Marg Batley and Marg Kennedy led their attack, while M. Coombs, A. Curtis, S. McEwen and G. Clarke spearheaded the Normals drive. Teams:

CGE— M. Batley 4, M. Hodson, T. Stewart, B. Luther 1, M. Kennedy 3, M. Perrin, D. Jackson.

Normals — M. Holroyd, M. Coombs 5, A. Curtis 6, S. McEwen 5, L. Cullis, J. Galway, G. Clarke 4, B. Herrington.

Flashy Play

The senior Nurses dished up some flashy and fast play to walk away with the nightcap. They ran the count up to 23-10 at the half and almost blanked Black's in the second part. Nurses had five fouls called on them, three counting, while Black's gave away 11 points in as many free throws, showing the accuracy of the winners. Anita Davis had 19 points, while A. Bowler, J. Plunkett, G. Wiechorek, B. Deyell, and B. Pringle were other effective palyers. Ruth Beard led the losers with seven of their points. Teams:

Nurses Seniors — A. Bowler 4, J. Plunkett 6, G. Wiechorek 4, J. Deyell 2, J. Smith, B. Deyell 3, A. Davis 19, B. Pringle 5.

Black's—M. McKee 1, M. Knox, R. McInroy 1, R. Naylor, M. Beggs, D. McNeeley 2, R. Beard 7, A. Hickling.

Referees— A. Menzies and H. Smith.

West In Front With 40 Points

Junior West in his first season in OHA senior "B" company led the Petes in scoring this winter. The speedy young centre, with real stick-handling wizardry and a hard shot, scored 40 points in 23 games played by the Petes, four of them in group semi-finals. He was 10 points ahead of his nearest teammate, having 20 goals and 200 assists in amassing his fine total.

Freddy Garvey was next in sniping with 24 goals and nine assists for 30 points, being well ahead of Murray Fife in third place with 18. No accurate record can be made of any of the defencemen, as such, since most of them took a turn at times on the front lines. Following are the points tallied:

Lakefield Wins

LAKEFIELD, March 4 (ENS).—Lakefield edged Apsley 4-3 in a Haywire Hockey League tussle here to gain the right to play-off with Buckhorn for the Sherindale Trophy, donated by Harry Sherin. Chittick scored the only first frame goal from Millage. Apsley got two in the second by Lapham and L. Smith, with Paterson tying it up. After D. Dunford counted in the third for the A's, Hill and Paterson found the mark for the homesters' win. The teams:

Lakefield— Goal, Huddlestone; defence, Sabatino and Montgomery; centre, Paterson; wings, Millage and Twist; alternates, Calberry, Hill, MacIntyre, Chittick.

Apsley — Goal, Spencely; defence, J. Tucker and D. Tucker; centre, E. Dunford; wings, McMillan and Watson; alternates, D. Dunford, Smith, Brown, Lapham, Howden, Jeff.

Referees—E. Nicholls, P. Nicholls.

LOUIS WINS

At Wayeross, Ga., Joe Louis floored Leo Johnson of Syracuse, N. Y., three times Friday night in a four-round exhibition match. The retired heavyweight champion had Johnson bleeding and groggy at the end of the match. The Brown Bomber had to carry him most of the last round. Johnson was not able to land a solid blow on the former champ. Louis weighed 224, Johnson 202.

BARRY VICTOR

Timing his finishing kick to the split second, John Joe Barry of Ireland nipped G-man Fred Wilt of New York by two feet in the Heptagonal Collegiate track meet's special invitation two-mile event Friday night at the Boston Gardep.

Barry, who ran third in the five man field until the gun lap, was clocked in 8:57.9. All but one of his rivals broke nine minutes.

Just a reminder of that Sports College contest. A free all-expense trip for two people to either the 1950 Stanley Cup finals or the World Series. Just write an essay on a subject of importance in the development of a high level of health, fitness and sports efficiency. The assignment will only be given on receipt of an entry. This entry doesn't cost anything, but must be made to Sports College, Box 99, Toronto 1, and entries close on March 15. Open to anyone in the country. The idea is to raise the standard of fitness, health and sports efficiency in Canada.

Elsewhere may be seen the scoring standing of the Petes' senior "B" puckists for the season. Junior West is well out in front of his teammates with 40 points, gained on 20 goals and 20 assists in the 23 schedule and playoff games the team played. Nearly two points a game for a team which finished fourth in the group standing. A mighty fine effort for a boy just up from junior "D" ranks the past year, having sparked a good Orono team along the playdown trail last year. A fast-skating, rangy boy, Junior is a clean and likeable player who should go places.

* * * * * *

Next Highest Snipers

Freddy Garvey is next in the list with 30 points, made up of 21 goals and nine assists. A neat chore, too, as Freddy toiled hard throughout. He is well ahead of Murray Fife with 18 points in third place, the fast-stepping Murray not clicking so well the last part of the semester. Not for a former senior "A" player, we mean. Jerry Creighton follows him and then Gus Leonard, Ted Collins and Jim Conlin. Bill McMaster led the defencemen, though he played up front the odd game. Some of the others were a bit disappointing in their scoring punch, or lack of it.

* * * * * *

All in all, the Petes didn't do too badly in this season of rebuilding. Coach Eddie Foley and Manager Red Creighton—and a capable executive headed by Prexy Ed Riley—had quite a task ahead of 'em to start. They had to try to mould a team out of a mixture of veterans, youngsters just coming up, and several newcomers. The team won a fair share of games, lost a lot of close ones and were strong at the start of the group semi-final playoffs. But they were in against a tough Legion squad and it proved too much. Had they met Belleville in semi-finals, they might have taken the Diesels and gone into finals. Three or four more real good players, and they'll be a potent pack next winter.

* * * * * *

"The Fighting 52nds"

Though minus Bob Greenlaw and Ned Vitarelli of 1949 — and Chum Fryia who is out with an injury—Legionnaires showed last night why they won the senior "B" title last year. They served up their old fight, refusing to fold up when down 4-2 near the end of the second period. Came back in the third to pour four goals by the cocky Kingston Nylons and old "eagle-eyed Udall"—who was nearly cross-eyed at times last eve as Legionnaires flitted about on his doorstep—to win handily. First reverse for the Nylons in 22 straight games. But they'll have more from now on, likely Monday right in the Harty Arena. A crowd of 2,000 saw Legion in its old fighting style.

* * * * * *

Play was clean throughout as both sides hustled, and the refs said it was the best senior hockey they've seen this year. That first line for Nylons is really good, a great trio of capable and experienced opportunists. They need to be checked extra closely. All the Legion crew went good from goal out, and we especially liked the over-all work of Crowley, Rochetta, Hill, Coombs and Montgomery. Even when there was a delay to fix the rink lights, the Legion crew didn't cool out—they were plenty hot on their return. Rochetta got a cut over the eye and a lady was hit with a flying puck in the speedy going. The Ellis outfit is in Kingston Monday and back here on Wednesday.

Omemee Victors

OMEMEE, Mar. 4—(ENS)—Trimming Stromberg 12-1 here last night, the Omemee Black Hawks took their second ORHA playdown round by a 24-8 score. With Bill Fisher strong in goal, and the Jamieson-Armstrong-Deyell line flying, it was a one-sided game from the first frame on, though speedy and generally clean.

Deyell got the two first period goals for Omemee, with Armstrong aiding on both, as B. Graham tallied from Cabell for the visitors. In the second heat, Deyell dented the twine three times, Jamieson scoring two, and Crawford and Floyd Parsons one each, Deyell and Jamieson having two assists each, as well. In the third, Elliott, F. Parsons and Deyell were the marksmen, with Jamieson aiding twice and Parker once. teams:

Stromberg: Goal, Tuston; defence, Breedin, Moody; centre, Hamlin; wings, Winters, Hollinghead; alternates, T. Graham, B. Graham, Harvey, Bacon, Lesk, Edwards, Cabell, Marchant.

PCVS Damsels Get Wins In Playdowns

Both Collegiate girls' cage squads managed to survive the first games of their two-game series points-to-count for the lakeshore titles Friday as the seniors bested Uxbridge High 38-31 and the juniors came from behind to edge Bowmanville 28-20.

Miss Pemberton's seniors were hot in the first session having an edge on the play and the score 14-9. Uxbridge lasses warmed up in the second with a four-girl attack and were down but 20-18 at the half. Both teams checked close in the third, with Peterborough picking up seven points to Uxbridge's three. The girls turned on the heat in the fourth with PCVS outscoring Uxbridge 11-10. Mary Craw led the scoring with 19 points, while Mary Braund picked up 15. Isabelle Acton was tops for Uxbridge with 10 points while teammates Aileen Skerrat and Dot O'Dell each had six.

The Collegiate guards were loose in the first half, allowing Uxbridge forwards to wander at times in the PCVS defensive zone. In the third quarter they buckled down and began to hold Uxbridge off.

Score Tied

PCVS took a quick 6-2 lead in the first, only to have it tied up 6-all by poor guarding. Mary Craw sent two foul shots through to make it 8-6. Snappy passes by Mary Braund, Mary Craw and Peggy Estlick upped the score to 14-9. Foul shots by O'Dell of Uxbridge and Braund started the second quarter off. Braund added a basket. Uxbride retaliated with O'Dell, Crosby and Acton picking up five points to draw within two points of PCVS. Crosby sank a foul shot followed by Carol Raper flipping in a basket. Points by O'Dell and Craw ended the half at 20-18.

Mary Craw dominated the scoring in the third backed by the quick breaking of the PCVS guards. With Raper and Jaquith, Craw sent home six points before Crosby of Uxbridge scored a point on a foul shot. Acton got a basket. Craw finished the quarter with a foul shot. Willis and Crawford picked up points for Uxbridge to begin the fourth. Hutchinson and Braund sent home points for PCVS only to have Skerrat and Willis score to make the score 34-28. O'Dell and Willis sank the last points for Uxbridge after Craw made the score 36-28. The scoring was ended by two foul shots good by Craw.

Foot Play

Miss Doreen Pemberton's juniors started off on the wrong leg in the first quarter of their rough, fast game. Bowmanville first took the lead which was overcome by PCVS who were on top at the quarter 10-6. Led by Bates, Bowmanville fought back in the second to lead at the half 15-14. Play in the second was slow and unexciting despite the fact the score was close all the way. PCVS regained their lead in third 22-16, and went on to finish it 28-20 in the fourth.

Bates for Bowmanville was the top scorer with 13 points, while three PCVS lasses, Joan Krogh, Pat Nixon and Rose McInroy, each had seven. Marg Clark was the standout of the PCVS guards.

Husak tied the game early one-all on a foul shot. Bates drifted in a two-pointer to put Bowmanville up 3-1. Pat Nixon sank two foul shots to tie the score. Bates again shoved the Bowmanville cage sound up two points, only to have Rosy McInroy tie it seconds later. Lorraine Derry put Peterborough up 7-5 with McInroy adding two points a minute later. Bates sank a foul shot and McInroy added a basket before the quarter ended 10-6 for PCVS. Pat Nixon added three points for the PCI'ers in the third. Bates then brought up the Bowmanville squad 13-11, Snowden tied the score, and a foul shot by Bates sent the Bowmanville squad ahead once more. Dippell and Nixon added singles.

A different PCVS team met the Bowmanville cagers in the third as they checked and attacked well. Joan Krogh put PCVS up 17-15. Ida Hollend and Pat Nixon added points for PCVS and Snowden for Bowmanville. Hollend ended the quarter with a basket. Snowden sank a basket at the first of the second followed by a two-pointer by Bates. Krogh with four points and Rosy McInroy with two finished the scoring in a loose last quarter.

The line-ups:

Junior Game

Bowmanville — Bates 13, Husak 1, Dippell 1, Snowden 5, Osborne, Dale, Clarke, Campbell, Hutton, Larmer, Robson, Hutchinson.

PCVS — Krogh 7, Hollend 4, Nixon 7, McInroy 7, Laing, Clark, LaPointe, White, McGee, Leggatt, Peryer, Derry 3.

WALCOTT WINS

Jersey Joe Walcott celebrated his return to New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night by stopping wild-swinging Omelio Agramonte of Cuba in 2:11 of the seventh round of a scheduled 10-rounder. Walcott, a 1-4 favorite, outweighed his foe 198 to 183¼.

Barrie's Overtime Goal Knocks Irish From Series

By The Canadian Press.

An overtime goal with less than three minutes to play and another team was eliminated from Memorial Cup contention.

The once-powerful St. Michael's College Majors was the team to feel the sting of defeat last night and they have Johnny Bobenic of Barrie Flyers to thank for their demise.

The 165-pound winger from Kirkland Lake whacked in an unassisted tally at 7:07 of the evertime period and gave the Flyers a thrilling 3-2 victory to send them into the semi-finals of the Ontario Hockey Association playoffs against Guelph Biltmores.

All three victories by the Flyers in the best-of-five series were won on Barrie ice. St. Michael's won the third and fourth in the homey atmosphere of Maple Leaf Gardens.

Share Glory

Kitchener - Waterloo - Flying Dutchmen came in for a share of glory last night and paved the way for an "ice jam" in the Senior A round-robin semi-finals. Victors over Toronto Marlboros 3-2, they play the 12th and final game in the series tonight against Hamilton. If the Dutchmen lose, all three games will be tied with a 4-4 record.

In the event of a three-way deadlock, the two teams with the best goals average will advance to the finals.

Marlboros backed into the finals with their 30-27 goal average and Kitchener have a 20-21 record, leaving Hamilton having to win by more than one goal to be sure of a spot in the finals. They have scored 19 while allowing 22 to pass.

Things will really be confused if the Tigers sneak through with a one-goal victory. That will leave both clubs with identical records, and will probably mean a sudden-death playoff for the second spot in the finals.

Started Well

St. Michael's started like a house afire in their game at Barrie. Bob Sabourin turned the trick at the :38 second mark of the opening frame via the unassisted route but a red-topped Sudbury flash by name of Mirl (Red) McCarthy rapped in two goals to give the Flyers a 2-1 lead.

The only goal of the second came after a scramble around the Barrie net. Fred Sandford put the Collegians back on even terms.

After playing through a scoreless third period, Bobenic came through with his dramatic counter to end the series and force the Irish to hang up their skates until another season.

The Dutchmen squeezed all their goals into the second period and held the powerful Marlboro aggregation to singles in the second and third.

Ted Grasser, Micky Roth and Butch Martin were the heroes of the twin-city crew, Don Rope and Johnny McLellan clicking for the losers.

Larwood Emigrates

BLACKPOOL, Lancashire, England, March 4—(CP)—Harold Larwood, famed "Nottingham Express" whose bean-ball bowling touched off the hottest controversy in Anglo-Australian cricket history, plans to emigrate — to Australia. He has sold his tobacco and candy shop here and will take his wife and five daughters to Sydney, sailing April 27. His host until a permanent home can be found will be Jack Fingleton, former Australian cricket star.

TO MEET DR. HALL—Nanjo Singh, shown above, who has agreed to meet Dr. Len Hall in the main go of next Thursday's mat card at the Brock. It looks like the doctor will have the unique experience of having the fans cheering for him for we doubt if any wrestler is more hated than Nanjo Singh. Hall has not lost a decision since his return locally and it will be a real pleasure if he can continue his winning ways and give the Hindu a real pasting. Two other bouts are being arranged.

Hastings Leads Trenton 18-7

In an exhibition tilt in Hastings, Hastings drubbed Trenton Mic-Macs 18-7. Hastings were reinforced by Junior West and Bill McMasters, and although the score was one-sided, there was much good hockey.

Junior West was in rare form and looked right at home alongside Mac Fife, while Wild Bill delighted the fans with his usual display of showmanship.

Joe Gould, former lacrosse star of Hastings, was responsible for bringing the Trenton boys up, and spent a very busy 60 minutes in the net for the Mic. Macs. Jones, Lenarr and McDonald looked best for the Mic-Macs.

Referee, R. Scriver.

Line-ups:

Hastings—Goal, Mueller; defence, McMasters and Fairman; centre, J. West; wings, Fife and Pettierew; alternates, Wilson, Carr, Edwards, D. West.

Mic-Macs—Goal, Gould; defense, Ellis and Black; centre, Jones; wings, Lemarr, McDonald, Weyland, Ormshaw, Stead.

Wings And Leafs At Full Strength

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Both Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs will be at full strength tonight when the two top teams of the National Hockey League collide at Toronto. Coach Tommy Ivan of Detroit makes no secret of his desire to stay at the top of the league, which is where the Wings have been practically all season.

The Leafs, nine points behind Detroit in second place, don't have much hope of overtaking the leaders. But the Leafs edged Wings 3-2 in their last encounter at Toronto two weeks ago, and might do it again.

The league leaders looked impressive in practice Friday with a big squad of 12 forwards, five defencemen and two goalies. Ivan has a routine for practice dressing that impresses onlookers. His forward lines wear different sweater colors; one line Friday was in maroon, another in green, a third in orange and a fourth in black. Captain Sid Abel was excused, resting up a heel injury, but he's expected on the ice tonight to complete the big line, the league's top scoring threat — Ted Lindsay, Gordon Howe and Abel.

Meantime Montreal Canadiens entertain Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers play at Boston in tonight's other games. Sunday sees Leafs at New York and Hawks at Boston.

What's New In Baseball

By The Associated Press.

Manager Casey Stengel is delighted with the progress being made by jolting Joe Dimaggio and other veterans of the New York Yankees at the world champions' St. Petersburg, Fla., training base.

"I never saw or heard of Di-Maggio working this hard so early," said Stengel of the Yankee clipped. "I might also say he is working too hard. However, I told him he could do his own training and if he does more work rather than too little, that's strictly up to him."

A pair of Jacks may be the answer this season to the pitching problems of Leo Durocher, New York Giants' skipper.

One, of course, is Jack Kramer, obtained from the Boston Red Sox. The other is Jack Lohrke, rifle-armed third baseman whom Durocher yesterday appointed a member of his try-out pitching staff.

Jolly Joe Gordon, who didn't want to play major league ball this year, may get more relief at second base than he did last year, but he still will be Cleveland's regular keystone sacker.

"Avila and Wilson show a lot of promise," manager Lou Boudreau says, "but we've got to go with Gordon. He's our second baseman."

Lou, looking over the talent at the Tribe's Tucson, Ariz., camp, referred to Roberta Avila, the 23-year-old Mexican who was with the Tribe all last season, and Bobby Wilson, 24, who hit .268 at San Diego.

At Bradenton, Fla., manager Billy Southworth indicated Johnny Sain, one of the keymen in the Boston Braves' pennant hopes, will be carefully nursed along this season. Southworth omitted him from the list of 12 pitchers who will be taken to Miami next weekend for a two-game exhibition series with the champion Brooklyn Dodgers. Sain has been impressive here to date but Southworth explained: "I want to give him more time before putting him in a game."

Trent Valley Goes OHA Playdowns

MARMORA, March 4 (ENS) — Marmora's Trent Valley team goes into OHA Intermediate playdowns before games settling the championship of the league are completed. They will receive Stirling on Tuesday evening in the first round in which the best out of three series is being played.

While unfortunately the Marmorians will be lacking the services of Gus Leonard whose recent injury keeps him out of hockey for the rest of the season, they can be depended upon to put up a dogged fight for OHA honors.

Both Stirling and Marmora will be fortified by the inclusion of a limited number of other players from teams in their respective leagues.

Campbellford Out

CAMPBELLFORD, March 4—(ENS)—Close to 800 fans in the Campbellford arena on Friday night saw the fighting Campbellford TVLers go down to defeat before the determined Frankford team 6-5 in overtime. This was the deciding game of a three-game series. The defeat was rather unexpected by the Campbellford supporters, as the home team had made a good showing against the Franks throughout the hockey season, and had skated off the ice in the Frankfort arena on Wednesday night after winning 6-1. This loss puts Campbellford out of the play-offs, and allows Frankford to meet Marmora in the latters' ring on Monday night.

Two early goals by Doug Free seemed to lull the Campbellford team into a false sense of security. The supporters of the local squad were quite confident at that point that their team would emerge victorious. Frankford came from behind on two occasions to tie the score, and their never-say-die attitude lasted until the final bell. Courtney's goal about half way through the third period put Frankford out in front, but young Vincent Harrington came through for the locals to tie the score and force the memorable overtime battle.

Every player gave his all, and big Lou Schmidt came through the Campbellford team time and time again, only to be thwarted in his efforts by Red La Verne, who played a remarkable game in the Campbellford nets. Don Davis at the opposite end of the rink turned in just as fine an exhibition, and his efforts held the onrushing Campbellford boys from scoring on many occasions.

The big break came at 10.29 in the second overtime frame, when Farmer capitalized on a brilliant effort by McKee to slap the winning goal past LaVerne and the game ended there. The Frankford fans poured over the boards to mob their hero, and Farmer was carried triumphantly off the ice.

Campbellford: Goal, La Verne; defence, Tanner and Free; centre, Blake; wings, Hay and Pace; alternates, Robinson, Harrington, Doherty, Taylor, Forrester, Smith, Peake, Hendricks.

Buckhorn Triumphs

LAKEFIELD, March 4 (ENS)—Buckhorn dropped a 4-3 decision to Nepheline Mines but wound up their Haywire Hockey League semi-final series by a 23-6 round score here, and now meet Lakefield in finals. Lambert and Dafoe scored for the Mines in the first frame with M. Hunt getting one back in the tight middle stanza. Trude notched a pair in the third for the Mines, with Woodruff aiding on one. M. Hunt, who played fine hockey throughout, counted twice before the end of the period. The first game of the series ended in a 10-2 win for Buckhorn. Teams:

Nepheline Mines: Goal, Lynhorst; defence, Crowe, Lambert; centre, Woodruff; wings, Trude, Before; alternates, H. Dafoe, F. Dafoe, McLittle, McIlwaine, D. Whetung, S. Whetung.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The Canadian Badminton Association Friday night at Calgary authorized a junior Dominion men's and ladies' tournament for the first time in its history.

The decision was reached at the CBA's annual meeting held in conjunction with the Canadian championships in progress at Calgary's Glencoe Club.

The first junior tournament will be held in 1951. The venue will be decided at today's concluding session, when officers for 1950 will be elected.

The association also expressed itself as "ready to hold" a Canadian open in men's singles and doubles events.

The last open, attended by North American professionals and leading amateurs, was staged in 1936. Jack Purcell of Toronto, now an executive member of the CBA, at that time defeated the American champion—Bill Markham of New York. The Canadian team of Jim and the late Paul Snyder, of the Granite Club in Kitchener, won the doubles at Toronto's Massey Hall.

President Stuart Lawson of Toronto said an open "will probably" be held next year at Montreal and may become an annual affair.

At Arcadia, Calif., Citation, his most recent conqueror Noor, and six others were named Friday to race in today's $50,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap. It is the last chance at Santa Anita for the Calumet star to hit the turf's all-time money winning goal.

Poor Spitfires Have Import Trouble Again

TORONTO, March 4 (CP) — Windsor Spitfires tackle Toronto Marlboros with a clean bill of health today in their Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Semi-final, but they'd rather not hear anyone mention the word "import." They've had almost as many import problems this season as the Canadian government.

Friday night the OHA executive lopped Earl Johnson from Spitfires' roster under the branch-to-branch import rule, which prohibits more than two players from organized leagues in other parts of Canada to play for an OHA club. Johnson was the third player removed from the Spitfire lineup by executive action this season.

There was one consolation for the Windsor club. The two semi-final games in which Johnson played will be allowed to stand. That leaves the Spits with a 2-1 edge, going into today's fourth game of the best-of-seven set.

The clubs split the two games in which Johnson participated. Spitfires won the third contest, from which the Winnipeg forward was barred, pending investigation of his case.

Ruled Ineligible

The OHA ruled Johnson ineligible as a result of information given them by Stafford Smythe, manager of the Marlboros. Smythe did not enter an official protest.

George Panter, assistant secretary of the association, explained at Friday night's meeting that Spitfires had used Johnson in good faith, under the impression that he had previously played with a club unaffiliated with organized hockey and was not considered an import under OHA regulations.

Panter said Spitfire manager Lloyd Pollock had applied to the OHA for a transfer for Johnson last October.

Pollock had told Panter that Johnson played for St. Paul's College juveniles in Winnipeg last season and that the St. Paul's club had no affiliation with organized hockey.

Panter had written the Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association to obtain clearance for the player and to check on the status of the St. Paul's club. When he received no reply by Nov. 1, Panter granted the transfer by default.

Smythe told the meeting he had learned only recently that Johnson had played for the St. Paul's club, which he knew to be affiliated with the MAHA.

Oil Capital Takes $50,000 Race Purse

MIAMI, Fla., March 4 (CP)—The ornate gates at Hialeah were closed today and the thoroughbreds moved to Gulfstream Park at nearby Hallandale for the final 41 days of Florida's racing season.

Hialeah's surprisingly successful 40-day meeting saw Tom Gray's Oil Capital take the closing day feature Friday, the $50,000 Flamingo stakes with a six-length victory in 1:48 1-5 — fastest time for the stakes event since 1938 and only three-fifths off the world's speed record for the 1⅛ miles.

Oil Capital's victory, worth $44,800, established the dark gray son of Mahmoud as the winter book favorite for the Kentucky Derby.

Hal Price Headley's Lotowhite was second and Calumet Farm's Theory finished a head back in third place. Wilorene Farm's Trumpet King was fourth in the field of seven three-year-olds.

MOSES

(Copyright 1949 Oxford University Press Inc.)

Stories From The Bible

In the third month, when the children of Israel were gone forth out of the land of Egypt, the same day came they into the wilderness of Sinai. And there Israel camped before the mount. And Moses went up unto God, and the Lord called unto him, saying, Thus shalt thou tell the children of Israel: If ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my convenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people; for all the earth is mine: And ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and an holy nation.

And Moses came and called for the elders of the people, and laid before their faces all these words which the Lord commanded him. And Moses told the words of the people unto the Lord.

And the Lord said unto Moses, Go unto the people, and sanctify them to day and to morrow, and let them wash their clothes, and be ready against the third day: for the third day the Lord will come down in the sight of all the people upon Mount Sinai.

And on the third day in the morning there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud: so that all the people in the camp trembled. And Moses brought forth the people to meet with God; and they stood at the nether part of the mount. And Mount Sinai was altogether on a smoke, because the Lord descended upon it in fire. And God spake, all these words, saying:

I am the Lord they God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the inquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; and shewing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.

Thou shalt not take the name oft he Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltles sthat takes his name in vain.

Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work: But the sevnth day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God; in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the sabbath day, and hallowed it.

Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

Thou shalt not kill.

Thou shalt not commit adultery.

Thou shalt not steal.

Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neghbour's.

And all the people saw the thunderings, and the lightnings, and the noise of the trumpet, and the mountain smoking: and when the people saw it, they removed, and stood afar off. And they said until Moses, Speak thou with us, and we will hear: but let not God speak with us, lest we die. And Moses said unto the people, Fear not: for God is come to prove you, and that his fear may be before your faces, that ye sin not. And the people stood afar off, and Moses drew near unto the thick darkness where God was...

And the Lord gave unto Moses, when he had made an end of communing with him upon Mount Sinai two tables of testmiony, tables of stone, written with the finger of God.

Wilderness Has Produced Outstanding Saints Of God

By REV. E. E. JAMES

IMMEDIATELY THE SPIRIT DRIVETH JESUS INTO THE WILDERNESS AND HE WAS TEMPTED OF SATAN. St. Mark 1: 10.

A modern scholar reminds us that the wilderness produced outstanding saints of God. May this thought grip your mind in this age of the noisy radio.

THE SPIRIT. Who is this Spirit? It is that spiritual power that came upon the Carpenter when He was baptised and that Spirit never left Him. God did not give Him that spirit by measure. It is the overflowing energy of the same spirit that enters into every man who lives "in Christ" to reproduce the image of the Master. Men are to take knowledge of you that Christ is being formed in you. This is to be your ideal of witnessing for the Lord.

At His baptism He heard the Father say: "Thou are my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased". He is now conscious that in some mysterious way He is the Messiah; the Christ.

What did it mean to be the Son of God; how must He live and act? These pressing questions must be answered. So He departs into the wilderness to think out the right answers. It means agony of thought and mind. We are dealing with a mysterious subject and we can only get a glimpse of the answers. We are entering the inner life of the Son of God.

SATAN. Who is this evil one? It is the spirit in opposition to God He is a real spiritual power. You kneel in your private prayers. Suddenly an evil thought enters your mind. This is the work of Satan, the evil one who fights against God. The spirit of evil came to the Lord. Never forget that He is truly man. "bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh" The peril of evangelical teaching is to forget His Manhood and to over emphasise His Diety — Perfect Good. So the devil tempts Him through His manhood. "If thou be the Son of God command that these stones be made bread". Self preservation is the first law of nature. As a man he needs food to keep alive. It is a natural instinct. So the evil one whispers: — "surely your Father who loves you and whom you love expects you to sustain your life. Use your supernatural power and turn this stone into bread".

The Messiah was expected to have power to work miracles. The Carpenter had grown up in this atmosphere. How did He Resist an ancient scripture came to his mind. "Man shall not live by bread alone but by every word that cometh from the Mouth of God"... Have you some scripture put away in your mind for defense and encouragement in your day of stress and strain Here is a scripture which has comforted this writer: "My Presence shall go with thee, saith the Lord."

Our Lord's humanity was strengthened by the stress and strain of temptation. Even so must your humanity be strengthened. Production of Christian character is not easy. A painless Gospel is very attractive, but it is not Christ's ideal.

JESUS SAITH UNTO HIS DISCIPLES: IF ANY MAN WILL COME AFTER ME LET HIM DENY HIMSELF AND TAKE UP HIS CROSS AND FOLLOW ME.

U.C. Stresses Human Right

TORONTO, March 3 (CP)—The Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada Friday urged the Federal and Provincial Governments to "implement in word and deed the spirit" of the universal declaration of human rights.

Race and class prejudice is un-Christian and "one of the most stubborn barriers to peace," the board said in a resolution adopted at its annual meeting.

In other resolutions Friday, the board:

1. Promised continued support of the policy of administration of the unemployment insurance fund.

2. Urged "more vigorous action" by provincial and municipal authorities to prevent drunk driving.

3. Asked the federal government to consider the question of liquor advertising with a view to bringing it under federal control.

4. Recommended the "excellent" work of alcoholics anonymous.

5. Commended the Ontario Government for its proposed civil-marriage legislation and recommended that it include provisions for compulsory physical examinations.

6. Urged parliament to guard against attempts to invalidate legislation curbing distribution of crime comics.

7. Commended Premier Frost of Ontario for his opposition to night harness-racing.

8. Recommended the Borstal system for juvenile delinquents.

Lindsay Tax Rate Jumps 5 Mills To 47.5 High

Lindsay's 1950 tax rate is up five mills. The rate is 47.5 compared with 42.5 in 1949.

Despite the increase the town council is budgeting for a deficit of $1,200 or slightly more than one-fifth of a mill. It was decided that it would be better to budget for a deficit than boost the levy any more than five mills.

The council found one happy item when they were striking the estimates. Lindsay Collegiate Institute reduced its demands from $16,351.14 to $12,112.67.

One mill was needed to take care of debenture debts and another mill and a half was needed for school requirements.

IUE-CIO Wins Over UE In U.S. General Motors

The IUE-CIO this week won a decisive victory over the UE in National Labor Relations Board-sponsored elections in the United States. It broke the 10-year-reign of the left-wing UE in the General Motors chain.

Following are the results of the balloting: Frigidaire, Dayton, Ohio: IUE 10,860, UE 1416, no union 583; Delco Products, also at Dayton: IUE 5,098, UE 762, and no union 418; Packard Electric, Warren, Ohio: IUE 3,273, UE 215, and no union 114; Delco Appliance, Rochester, N.Y.: IUE 1,639, UE 135, and no union 119; Delco Remy, New Brunswick: IUE 297, UE none, and no union six.

It was the first major NLRB election since the IUE was chartered four months ago.

City Estimates Prepared For 1950 Rate

City council reports a surplus of $9,800 from its administration of the municipal business last year. Mayor Swanston informed the Examiner today.

"I think we will be ready to strike the tax rate for this year next Monday night," His worship said.

Following the interview with city fuel dealers Thursday morning, the treasury group reviewed the recent progress on sections of the budget. The requisition from the Board of Education virtually completed the integrating of the appropriations for this year.

They were put together again Thursday in the hour's survey by Ald. Hugh Waddell, chairman of the finance committee, City Treasurer A S Couper, City Auditor Edward Humpage and the Mayor.

"I don't want to be quoted in regard to the 1950 tax rate," said Mayor Swanston. "I think that properly belongs to Ald. Waddell, but I also think it is all right to say the spending over which the council has direct control is not going to be any more than last year. That is what it looks like but the budget statement is something that remains for the chairman of the finance committee when he is ready."

Dr. A. J. Madill Dies On Bus Once Normal School Master

Dr. Alonzo J. Madill, retired science master of Peterborough Normal School, died suddenly of a heart attack late Friday afternoon. He was stricken in a Jackson Park bus, and was reported dead when he was received at St. Joseph's Hospital. Driver of the bus, William Holland, Beverley St., made an emergency stop at the residence of Dr. J. A. McNeill, Monaghan Road, and was directed to take Dr. Madill to the hospital. The passengers were let out down town, and bus continued without delay across to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Dr. Madill retired from his profession in 1944. He had been 26 years on the staff of the Normal school, Science Master and also teacher of nature study and agriculture. He was appointed from Fort William Collegiate Institute, following similar collegiate engagements at Niagara Falls and Orillia, at Paris High School, and previously in his first appointment, at a public school near Dunnville.

Dr. Madill was born near Markham in Ontario county, attended primary school at Tillsonburg and Springfield, and Collegiate Institute in Aylmer and Woodstock.

Doctor of Pedagogy

In preparation for teaching, he took the Normal College course, Hamilton, and the arts course at McMaster University, of which he was an honor graduate specialist in science.

For the Doctorate of Pedagogy conferred on him by the University of Toronto, he wrote a thesis on agriculture, after a summer of study with Ontario Agricultural College. For three years he was principal of the summer course staff of Kemptville Agricultural School.

While the teaching of science was the vocation of Dr. Madill, nature study and its promotion was his avocation. From his boyhood, all through life, he loved the fields and woods and flowers not only from esthetic interest but as a naturalist and ardent exponent of the attractions and beauty of the great outdoors.

Ardent Naturalist

He was a member of the Ontario Naturalists Club and also of the corresponding club in Peterborough, associated for years with the late F. J. A. Morris. Both these local teachers seemed to have borne a special mission in the propagating of interest in the charm of waysides and headlands.

Dr. Madill was a past president of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, is credited with having inspired the Scenic Drive, and generally had done much for the advancement of the society and beautification program from the time he came to Peterborough.

Dr. Madill was a son of Benjamin Franklin and Elizabeth Amelia Madill. He was appointed to the Normal School here in 1918 and was its Science Master for 26 years. He was greatly esteemed by the members of its staff and beloved by the young student-teachers who came within influence of his intelligence and personality through all these years.

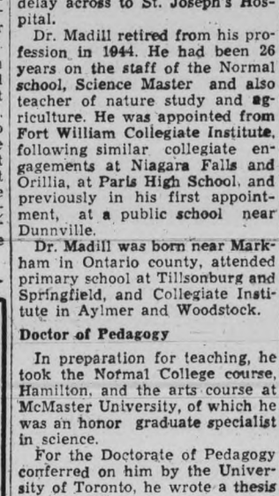
26 Years At Normal

At his retirement he was presented by the staff and student body with an illuminated letter and that year book was dedicated to him.

Dr. Madill was an exceptionally helpful and loyal member of Murray St. Baptist Church. He was superintendent of the Sunday school for twenty years, was a deacon for about the same period, and for a time was chairman of the deacons' board.

Dr. Madill was a member of the Masonic Order, being initiated into Masonry in Orillia and when he moved to Peterborough he affiliated with Royal Arthur Lodge. He was also a member of the Lodge of Perfection, Scottish Rite.

Dr. Madill leaves his wife, the former Ada L. Logan, two daughters, Mrs. Patricia Metcalfe of Toronto and Mrs. Kenneth Hayman of Scarboro Junction; two brothers, George Madill of Long Beach, Cal., and Byron of London, Ont.; and his sister, Mrs. Oscar White of Toronto.



The body is resting at the funeral home of A. Comstock & Sons, Water St. until 12 noon Monday. The service will be conducted at Murray St. Baptist Church by Rev. Ivan C. Morgan. Burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Pastor's Tribute

"Dr. Madill was the most wonderful layman I have ever known," Rev. Mr. Morgan said to the Examiner today in a deeply grateful tribute to the memory

Plan To Build 20-Unit Motel

A modern motor court or "motel", as well equipped as any in the United States, will be opened early this summer at Wenonah Camp, a mile north of Peterborough on Highway 28.

The proprietor H. A. Sutherland, told the Examiner the 20-unit building should be completed by the beginning of June. It can accommodate 180 people.

Radiant heating will allow the building to be used the year round. It will be constructed in the shape of a large "L" and one of its best features is that the motorist and his party will be able to drive right up to the unit and park their car outside. Just a few steps from the car to a night's lodging.

Each unit is self-contained with an individual entrance, shower bath, flush toilet and beds. The dining room, however, is separate. The centre of the court will be a playground.

Mr. Sutherland who has been a tourist camp proprietor for the past 14 years decided to bring a "motel" to Peterborough after journeying through the southern United States with his wife and daughter Marion and staying in motels. Their three-month fact-finding junket included stopovers in Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana and Florida.

According to Mr. Sutherland the best features of the motor courts he saw in these places have been incorporated in the plans for the one he will build.

City And District Unemployed Now Total 1,756

Unemployment continued to increase in Peterborough and district during February as the National Employment office reached a peak of claims to 756 jobless. This was an increase of 162 claims on the January figure and a rise of 435 over the claims in December. At present there are 1366 males and 390 females drawing funds. The 1756 unemployed on the roles at the end of February were 565 more than in February last year.

William Mellis, manager of the local office, said the slight rise during February was due to a layoff of some railway help at the first of the month and shortage of building materials. In the past week, he added, some of these men were returned to work to help with the removal of snow. The Hydro construction in the area took 10 laborers and 10 carpenters off the unemployment line lately.

No letup in the situation was seen by Mr. Mellis for a month to six weeks. By then the construction companies will take a number of unskilled laborers off claims. He could see little help from the factories.

The United States steel strike, Mr. Mellis said, might force a further increase in unemployment before long if the miners stay out. A shortage of coal and steel in the city would force layoffs.

Men's Claims Increase

During February the number of women on short-time claims decreased while the number of men increased. There were 20 women in this class and 116 males as compared with 26 women and 93 men in January and a total of 61 in December. These claimants are persons drawing for one week, then working one, two or three weeks.

February's figure of 1366 men on claim is considerably higher than February 1949's figure of 869 males. The 390 women drawing unemployment are few more than the 322 on claim last February.

Lone Ratepayer Opposes Land Purchase

Arthur Williams, Ware St., was the only objector to the city council's application to the Ontario Municipal Board Friday for authority to buy 150 acres in North Monaghan for industrial sites.

His contention was that the by-law should be submitted to the ratepayers for approval, "that $35,000 should buy the whole block instead of $57,000", and also "there is a lot of quick sand and black muck in the property".

The Board was represented by Mr. R. H. Yeates of Toronto, who announced that he would report the facts of the hearing to its other members for decision.

Council was represented by Mayor Swanston, Aldermen Gillespie and Anglesey, City Solicitor Huycke and City Clerk Outram, and Mr. H. L. Garner, chairman of the Industrial Commission, reviewed the factors of advantage which had recommended the purchase of adequate acreage in one block for the future industrial growth of Peterborough.

Mr. Yeates told Mr. Williams that the Municipal Board had statutory authority to hear such civic applications, with any objections that might be presented, thereby dispensing with reference of the a question to the vote of the ratepayers.

"If you have any objections to submit, I am here to hear you," Mr. Yeates said. "Decision will be made by the whole Board."

Background Outlined

In outlining the background of the application, Mr. Garner reviewed the appointment of the Industrial Commission by the council last year. He is chairman with Mr. Herbert Bradburn and Mr. Bruce Payne. Ald P. J. Anglesey is the liaison member of the council.

The industrial expansion of Peterborough was moving toward the south and west, Mr. Garner said, an extension of the large factory area in that section of the city.

It had been observed here and elsewhere that manufacturing plants preferred to be located generally together. The council had already acquired sites on the southwest front, and the present investment was a substantial enlargement of that property. It was adjacent to two railways and No. 7 Highway.

As previously reported to the council, which had given unanimous approval to the project, the Commission stressed the fact that purchase of the proposed 150 acres would increase to 170 acres the city's industrial site holdings in one large block.

Mr. Garner informed Mr. Yeates that the nylon division of Canadian Industries Limited would have been built on part of the property, fronting on No. 7 Highway, if sufficient volume of low temperature water had been obtainable there.

"They said at that time that they considered it one of finest industrial sites they had seen in their survey," Mr. Garner said.

He also emphasized the desirable land in ample acreage, with railway siding and other facilities, in order that control of its value and selling price would be in the hands of the council. Private owners of land, sought for industrial purposes, boosted the price with the first intimation of manufacturing interest.

The area west of Erskine Ave. and south of No. 7 Highway had been valued by experienced realtors before the Commission submitted their proposal to the city council.

"The main part of that property is perfectly good for industrial sites," Mr. Garner said.

Mr. Williams had said that the city bought property several years ago at Lansdowne St. and Erskine Ave. Part of it was now occupied by truck barn of Coca Cola Company.

On that point, City Clerk Outram said the Coca Cola Co. had plans ready for the building required for their plant and office needs, "just as soon as the city can supply them with sewer and water services".

The Harstone property, north of the C.P.R. and west of High St., bought by the city, has been leased by Timber Rib Company with option of purchase, Mr. Huycke informed Mr. Yeates. "They have erected a building there for their

Campaign To Raise $75,000 To Aid Ten Agencies Gets Under Way In City

It is a privilege to share in the good work being carried out by the ten agencies for which the Red Cross and Community Chest is campaigning for $75,000 during the next week, James F. Scruton, vice president and general manager of H. J. Heinz Company Ltd. told some 350 campaign workers and a wider radio audience at a dinner in the C.G.E. cafeteria Friday. The dinner marked the official opening of the 1950 campaign—the tenth to be organised in Peterborough.

Mr. Scruton pointed out that it was not only a duty, but a privilege to contribute to the work of the organizations which were fulfilling a variety of needs to the community.

The speaker listed the ten agencies—the Red Cross, Humane Society, Navy League, Salvation Army, St. Vincent's Orphanage, Children's Aid Society, Y.M.C.A. YWCA, National Institute for the Blind and Victorian Order of Nurses for which the community is asked to contribute a total of $75,000.

Confidence Justified

After referring to the difficult time through which the world has passed in the last seven years, Mr. Scruton reminded his audience that all through those unrestful days, institutions which the community is being asked to support, went on steadily, constant in their sense of responsibility. Never was confidence more abundantly justified, he declared.

"In commercial endeavour it is easy to lose sight of ideals, yet it is the spirit in which we work that conditions the results of our labors" Mr. Scruton told the workers.

The need for funds is greater this year and this is a signal for the people of Peterborough and surrounding districts to do some real heart searching, the speaker said.

The people whose names were on the list of "special names" knew their duty but there was another class of special names. He referred to the industrialists and business executives who, a few years ago, were listed as junior executives Many had climbed the ladder of success and their incomes had increased. But, their donations to charity had not kept pace. So far as charity was concerned they were still living in the junior executive world.

The country was in need of defence. Not only military defence, but protection against privation, disease, delinquency and other enemies.

"There will be someone who does not like some particular charity benefitting from the fund, but only the thoroughly soured will be unable to find some good ones in the group which compose your community chest" Mr. Scruton declared "Most people on whom you call must agree that all the organisations are doing splendid work."

Mr. Scruton was followed by Frank T. Sherk, general sales manager and director of H. J. Heinz Company. He told the campaigners "the longer you wait to call upon the people the smaller their contributions will be because they will find other things to spend their money on."

After a vote of thanks to the two guest speakers, proposed by Mrs. W. E. Fanning, chairman of the women's division of the campaign, Ross L. Dobbin, chairman of the campaign, reminded the audience that all previous objectives had been attained. During the past ten years nearly three quarters of a million dollars had been raised for the Red Cross and Community Chest.

He announced that a dinner at the Empress Hotel will conclude the campaign next Friday, and on Wednesday, at a midday luncheon, progress reports will be presented by team captains.

Textile Union For Laundry

The Ontario Labor Relation Board has certified the Textile Workers' Union of America as the legal bargaining unit for the 45 eligible employees of Fannings' Launderers and Dry Cleaners.

No balloting will be necessary, the Board decided, as 27 of the eligible 45 employees were shown to be members in good standing.

Management, it is understood, intervened only to the extent that it doubted if laundry workers came within the TWUA jurisdiction.

Application for certification was made by the union on January 27 and the hearing was held on February 21. Certification was granted after the Board examined the claim of the TWUA to be the legal bargaining agent, representing a majority of the employees.

At the date of application there were 50 employees; 30 signified their intention to join the TWUA. Since then the staff has shrunk to 45 with 27 signing TWUA cards.

Those eligible included all but foremen, above the rank of foreman, and office staff.

Woodworkers Ask 45-Hour Week

The International Woodworkers of America, CIO-CCL, announced today that it had forwarded its proposals for the 1950 contract to the Peterborough Lumber Company.

Included among the union's requests was a reduction in the work week from 48 to 45 hours, without loss of take-home pay. In addition the Union is asking for a further increase of 5c hour and 8 paid for statutory holidays instead of the present 5.

Another major request this year is the establishment of a group insurance plan to be paid for fifty-fifty by the Company and the employees. The plan would include doctor's bills, hospitalization and surgical expenses for both the employee and his dependent, life insurance and a certain amount of weekly income if an employee is away sick or has had an accident.

SIMPLE DESIGN ADDS BEAUTY TO HOME – MAKES DOLLARS STRETCH

Owner-Occupied Homes Safeguard To Neighborhood

One of the most important things to look for in choosing a neighborhood is a high percentage of owner-occupied homes Pride of ownership, resulting in greater care for homes and grounds, is a real safeguard against depreciated property values. While small areas of rented homes may not detract from a community if well maintained, owner-occupied homes, generally speaking, show greater care and better maintenance.

The character of a neighborhood is determined by the people who live in it. . .a community of low-cost homes can be just as livable as one which is limited to higher priced properties. You'll want to consider the people who are living there to determine whether or not you have interests in common. You can do this by visting neighborhood schools, churches and community centres.

In locating a neighbourhood you should consider both the natural and man-made features which exist in the vicinity. Bodies of water, such as rivers or lakes, may be desirable; but you should avoid swamp-like land which might flood or rivers which might over-flow. You should also avoid the use of rocky or rubbish-filled land which is likely to add to the cost of building and make it difficult to grow a lawn or garden.

Nearby heavy industry to windward will be an objectionable source of noise, smoke, dirt and odours. . .both from the factories themselves and from the railroads serving them. Light industry, on the other hand, may be an asset to the community, providing work close to home in pleasant surroundings. This will be especially true if the small factories are operated by electricity.

How are the streets laid out? In a properly designed neighborhood, they should be safe, convenient and well-surfaced. They should be free from through traffic, but accessible to main arteries. The street layout should be attractively landscaped and should take advantage of all natural features such as hills and valleys, wooded areas and waterways. Streets fitted to an irregular terrain can provide easier curves, thereby saving on construction costs. Curves and grades must be designed so as to offer desirable lot sizes and shapes.

Houses in a livable neighborhood should be similar in general size and character, but should vary in exterior appearance. A simple, appropriate and "honest" design is necessary to all sound architecture. Houses should be gauged by people's habits of living and fitted to the topography or ground on which they are constructed. They should be adapted to the regional climate. A "Spanish" type stucco house might be all right for Florida in a setting of palm trees, but it would very much out of place in the snow drifts of our own climate.

Too many different materials should not be used in one small home without good reason; that is, to reduce apparent height or to add interest. In choosing a permanent neighborhood, you should look for houses which are similar in general size and cost, substantially constructed with materials which assure long life and low maintenance.

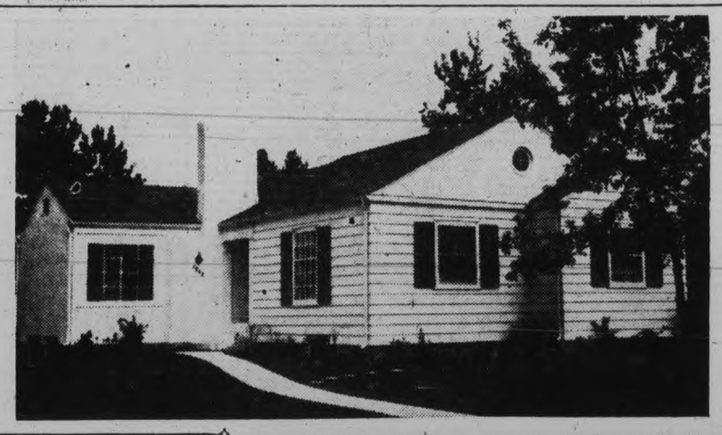
Unless a neighborhood has an adequate and approved water supply, there will have to be individual wells and pumping systems for each home. If sanitary sewer lines are not provided, private septic tanks or individual sewage disposal arrangements will be needed. For lots of average size this is a considerable expense. There should be a system for collecting and discharging surface drainage. Look for street lights and accessible fire hydrants. Telephone and electric service should be readily available in the neighborhood which you select.

Proper Transportation

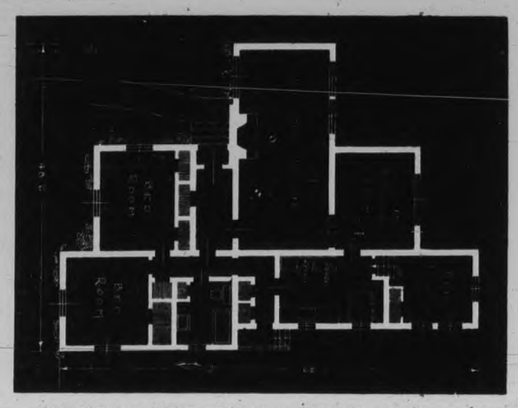
Transportation must be kept in mind when choosing a neighborhood. Facilities should be modern and convenient, with frequent service. It will be better still if shops, schools, churches, libraries and parks, as well as work, are within walking distance of the home.

Local zoning ordinances are designed to regulate the use of all lands within a community for the protection of the home owner. If properly written and carefully enforced, they limit the uses to which building can be put, keeping commercial or non-residential elements out of the home neighborhood. By limiting building heights and land coverage, they can insure open space between the houses, thus allowing for ample light and air. Similar and added protection is often provided by local deed restrictions, building codes, and health and sanitary ordinances and laws.

Good neighbourhoods include schools, churches, parks and other recreation areas. A neighborhood centre and a shopping centre should be near by. All of these facilities should be within walking distance of your home.



The school is the natural centre of a neighborhood. It should be well designed and modern, with adequate facilities for play. The school should provide facilities for adult education and neighborhood activities as well as for the child's curriculum.



Look For Park Areas

Landscaped park areas should offer what individual homes lack in space for games and recreation. Some of these areas, at least, should be associated with the school.

The neighborhood centre may be established in a separate building, or it may be connected with the church or school. In any event, it should include a library, a nursery school and a meeting place for 'teen-age groups. The nursery school will permit youngsters to learn how to play together. The 'teen-age meeting place provides an opportunity for games and parties and the development of leadership responsibilities.

The shopping centre should be located between two corners rather than at a street intersection. This will confine it and keep it from spreading and destroying neighborhood property values. The general character of the centre should be such as to safeguard these values. It should be housed in building especially designed to fit the surroundings, with adequate parking space off the street.

HOUSE No. 128 — Don't you like the way the entrance is tucked in beside the stout chimney and the wing formed by the living room? There's nothing commonplace about this house . . . even its front door shuns the conventional spot! Naturally you've already noticed those whopping big windows. There are lots more that you can't see. Look at the floor plan and you'll discover them. Most spectacular of all the rooms is the huge living room with the open fireplace. The latter is rather unique, being panelled and without mantel. It has book shelves on either side. The house is heated by a forced air conditioner, which is fired by natural gas. The owners say they make good use of the air conditioning unit during the warm summer months. Lovers of all-on-one-floor homes will like the layout of this house. The bathroom is well placed for convenience, and there are good-sized closets throughout. If your lot slants from its frontage to a low back or side, here's a house designed for such a site. The garage is in the basement, together with a recreation room with fireplace, and a washroom. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Blind Readers Have Competition

LONDON, Ont.—(CP)—An innovation in scholastic contests—Braille-reading—is planned by the Canadian Council of the Blind for the last week in March. It will be the first held in Canada and is open to every blind person in Ontario.

Judging will be divided into three classes—those up to the age of 20 reading Braille or any dot system; persons between 20 and 40 reading Braille; and those who learned to read Braille after 40.

Marks will be awarded for speed and accuracy in reading, for articulation, intonation and phrasing. Heads of university or secondary school English departments, speech training teachers or other qualified persons will be invited to decide winners in local competitions who will advance to a final provincial contest.

Judging to declare provincial winners may have to be done from tape recordings in some instances, since the council expects difficulty in making travel arrangements for district winners to meet in one centre for the final.

A similar contest was held in the United States last year for the first time.

PC Supporter Mrs. T. Kidd Dies

KINGSTON, March 4 (CP) — Mrs. Thomas A. Kidd, wife of Lieut. Col. T. A. (Tommy) Kidd, former Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Kingston and past Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, died Thursday at her home after a four-year illness. She was 61.

The former Eva Richardson, daughter of the late Senator and Mrs. H. W. Richardson of Kingston, Mrs. Kidd lived here all her life.

Closely associated with her husband's career in politics, she took a prominent part in the work of the Progressive Conservative party in Ontario.

Surviving Mrs. Kidd besides her husband are a sister, Mrs. H. Graham Bertram, Dundas; and a brother, J. B. Richardson of Winnipeg.

Britons Still Fuzzy On Train Directions

LONDON, (CP) — Habits of train travellers are still as unpredictable as ever, says George Rowlands, 75-year-old London porter, who has retired after 60 years on the railways.

He joined the old Midland Railway in 1890 as a vanboy.

"People still ask three or four railwaymen in turn for directions and then get on the wrong train," Rowlands said.

Tipping has improved from the time when twopence (three cents) was considered generous. Average now is about one shilling and sometimes twice as much.

Rowlands has handled thousands of "live, poisonous snakes" and still remembers the ones that got away.

"Once a hyena broke loose in a wagon load of hams at St. Pancras station and finished off most of them before a zoo official arrived to control it."

Ask Conference On Unemployment

TORONTO, March 4 (CP)—The United Church of Canada Friday urged the federal government to talk over the unemployment situation with provincial, municipal and "other responsible bodies."

The church's Board of Evangelism and Social Service, at its annual meeting, adopted a resolution saying that unemployment is critical, especially in British Columbia and the Maritimes.

"Though one of the causes may be a seasonal decline of employment, other factors must be considered such as some loss of overseas markets, some uncertainty of trade with the United States, the relatively decreasing domestic demands and the pressure of inflation on poor people resulting in lower purchasing power."

The board said it believes "productive work for the employable is essential."

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Mr. Fix

Fixing Furniture Damage Is Not Difficult Task

Scraping off old finish after applying remover — Sand smooth — Apply varnish with smooth long strokes — Rub with the grain

REFINISHING DETAILS

By BOB SCHARFF,
Written for NEA Service.

In every home there is a piece of furniture that is basically good enough to deserve refinishing, but not all surface damages require refinishing.

A scratch in a varnished surface can be removed by putting a little turpentine in it with a sharpened match end or a fine brush. Special furniture "scratch sticks" of a wax like compound shaped like a pencil are available and do a good job of hiding scratches.

White spots caused by water or hot dishes, don't require a refinishing job. They may be removed by rubbing lightly with a piece of flannel dampened with spirits of camphor or a drop or two of ammonia.

Dents in wood can be reduced to some extent by first removing the finish from around the dented area with turpentine and then laying on a bit of damp wool cloth or blotting paper for several hours.

Heat (not too much) should be applied to the paper or cloth with a warm iron. Sandpaper the area when dry and finally, varnish or other finish should be applied, followed by wax or polish.

Deep burns in furniture should be erased by sandpapering. Then to fill the indentation thus caused use stick shellac softened with heat. A steel knife may be used to spread the shellac smoothly, and a razor blade to smooth it off. Sandpaper and refinish. Defects and other holes can be treated in the same manner.

For a complete refinishing job, the old finish must be removed, the wood sanded smooth, and new finish applied. To remove an old varnish surface, apply a thin coat of paint and varnish remover with the grain, using a cheap two-inch brush. Cover an area 1½ to 2 square feet at a time.

When the varnish bubbles up, scrape it off with a three-inch scraper. For cleaning curved surfaces, use a stiff wire brush and piece of burlap. After the old finish has been removed, clean the entire surface with denatured alcohol.

Shellac surfaces can be removed with alcohol applied with a cloth.

• • •

When the surface is dry, sandpaper it completely smooth. If the wood is open-grained and tiny holes are visible, fill the pores with pastewood filler applied according to manufacturer's directions. When purchasing the filler, be sure to get a color that will blend with the wood.

To apply, the new finish, the varnish is brushed on with long, smooth strokes, directly from the can. Leave the furniture piece in a dust-proof place, allowing at least 24 hours to dry.

When dry rub down with a cloth saturated with linseed oil and then dipped into powdered pumice. Rub with the grain until the gloss is gone. Repeat varnishing and rubbing two more times. Then apply varnish for the fourth time, and when dry, rub gently with cloth dipped into linseed oil and then into powdered rottenstone.

Continue rubbing until surface is smooth. Finally, apply several coats of furniture wax or polish

Fix-It Forum

Q—What can be used to take wax off furniture?—AJS.

A—You can use either turpentine or naphtha, remembering of course that naphtha is more inflammable than turpentine.

Board Can't Figure Cause Of Plane Crash

OTTAWA, March 4 — (CP) — A Government Board of Inquiry has been unable to determine the exact cause of a crash which took the lives of five men on a hunting trip 90 miles north of Montreal last October.

Findings of the board, released Firday, indicated that the single-engined Norseman carrying three doctors, a pilot and a hunting guide, struck the surface of Lac Toro with "considerable force."

"Either the landing speed or the landing altitude was abnormal, the report said. In any event, the case is not yet officially closed. The engine and propeller have not been found. If they are, the investigation will be reopened.

The five men who died were: Russell Holmes of Toronto, pilot; Dr. Rene Dandurand, Dr. Emile Legrand and Dr. Azaire Cousineau, and Conrad Delorme, the guide.

Plan Queenston Plant Completed In 1953

RIDGETOWN, Ont., March 4—(CP) — Signing of the International Niagara Power Treaty by Canada and the United States should allow the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission complete construction in 1953 of a new power plant at Queenston, providing the province with an additional 500,000 horsepower, Chairman Robert H. Saunders of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission told a Masonic Lodge meeting Friday night.

He hoped the Niagara project would then meet Ontario's power demands until development of the St. Lawrence Waterway is under way.

Speaking before a meeting of Howard Lodge No. 391 AF and AM, the hydro chairman said Ontario power production is keeping pace with demand and that by the end of 1952 the province would be safe from power curtailments.

Adele Jergens 'Nice Girl' In Latest Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March, 4 (AP) —Adele Jergens, who has made a handsome living as a sex doll on the screen, says she feels "so refined" in her current role.

"I play a nice girl for the first time in years," the blonde remarked about her "sugarfoot" part. "Actually I'm still a saloon entertainer, but underneath I'm nice.

"I dress conservatively in this one, too. I just have two dresses that even hint of sex, and they're just off the shoulder. I've got to depend on my eyes and shoulders for all the sex."

Her part in the Randolph Scott western is tame compared to what she usually plays. From the start of her career, Adele seemed destined to enact sexy females.

Accident Incidence

She began as a model and she tells the story of a billboard in Newark, N. J., on which she displayed her gams for a hosiery ad. She claims that a series of auto accidents occurred in rapid succession near the billboard. After an investigation, the ad was removed in the interests of public safety.

Adele's first big Broadway break was another hint of the shape of things to come. She replaced Gypsy Rose Lee in "Star and Garter."

She was tabbed for pictures by a talent scout. Her first screen role was in "Together Again" — as a strip teaser. Her most recent role was in "Code 3—as a strip teaser.

More Cheesecake

In between pictures, Adele is posing for cheesecake. She has been selected for all kinds of honors.

"My most recent nomination was 'Miss Hot Tea of 1950,' " she reported. "There have been so many like that, I can't remember them all.

"When Anita Colby was 'the face' and Frank Sinatra was 'the voice,' I was dubbed 'the eyeful.' "

The blonde beauty does most of her posing in a bathing suit, but she believes that women are sexier covered up.

"You don't have to undress to be sexy," she claimed. "Sex is in your manner. Your eyes do the talking."

Adele, whose 128 pounds are admirably distributed over her five-feet, six-inch frame, no doubt has talkative eyes. I didn't notice.

POPULATION DOUBLED

The population of Great Britain in 1948 was 49,990,000, an increase of nearly 100 per cent in 100 years.

BE READY FOR ANY FUEL
For convertible automatic heating, pick an Iron Fireman "Coal or Oil" furnace or boiler. Both are easily convertible from one fuel to the other simply by replacing the burner unit. If, however, you are not yet ready for automatic heating, install the hand-fired "Triple-Shift" furnace. Later on, you can "go automatic" by adding the Iron Fireman burner you prefer.

CGIT Doings

KNOX

Beverly Hamblin chose a portion from "The Upper Room" for her Bible reading at the meeting this week. Members of the group are using this booklet for their Lenten reading. The flags were presented by Beverly McDougal and Beverly Lindsay. Plans were made to make wash clothes for the bale. Seniors, under the leadership of Mrs. E. McIlraith, had a discussion on "A Home of Her Own" and Intermediates discussed home relationships between mother and daughter with Miss Inez Barrer. A play period was enjoyed before the meeting closed with tans.

MURRAY ST.

Using as her theme "Ambassadors for Christ," Miss Marion Pogue conducted the worship. The girls then separated into two groups, while singing a hymn. Joycelyn Arnott and Phyllis Thompson were appointed to represent Intermediate group at the meeting of Girls' Council on Monday, and Joan Naish and Irene Kelly will be present from the Senior group. Both groups made plans to welcome Miss Ross, a visitor from Holland, who will be speaking at the next meeting, and Intermediates will put on a skit as part of the program.

ST. JAMES

Josephine McMeekin, Donna Loucks and Helen Ward each gave a summary of her group's activities during the past month, in preparation for the report to Girls' Council. Games were played before the close of the meeting.

TRINITY

Some new relays were played before the opening of the meeting. Joan White presided when the worship as outlined for the World's Day of Prayer was followed, Gaynor Galoska, Beverly Hutton and Lola Jane Buckland taking different parts with Helen Lancaster acting as pianist. During the business it was decided that the first hour's pay received for baby sitting, when a girl was called as a member of the CGIT, would go to the department treasury.

Using the study book "Growing With the Years," members of the Senior group put on a skit which outlined the work done at the WMS hospital at Teulon, Man. As this hospital is one of the "Special Objects" for CGIT groups of the United Church, it gave the girls an understanding of the work carried on. Joan Henry, Joan Krogh, Joan White, Helen Lancaster, Beverly Hutton and Beth Davidson took part in the skit. Marie Woodgate then briefly told the group of the different hospitals which are maintained in Canada by the United Church.

Seniors made plans for the worship service for the next meeting and reported that letters had been written to three girls in Japan.

Members of the Intermediate group welcomed Joan Krogh, former department president, as their new leader, taking the place of Marjorie Bryden who has left the city. Carol Hughson was in the chair for the business, when the girls discussed what they would like to do at future meetings. Janet Hughson reported this meeting.

MRS. DONALD GORDON, wife of the president of the Canadian National Railways, died suddenly in Montreal, a few days ago. Her death, which was due to a heart condition, occurred in the Windsor Hotel where she and her family have been staying since Mr. Gordon took over the presidency of the CNR on Jan. 1 of this year. Mrs. Gordon, who was 47, had been under the doctor's care for the past week.

World Is Moving Backward Intellectually, Writer Claims

Gregory Clark, widely known writer and commentator, pointed to concrete signs that "intellectually the whole world is moving backward", an opening statement in his address to the Peterborough Women's Art Association given Friday afternoon in the YWCA.

"The little square houses, the schools and public buildings now being erected, resemble in architecture that latest buildings that have been exhumed from long-covered ruins" he said, and suggested that these types of "functional" buildings should be labelled "primitive" rather than "modern." He said that same adjective should be applied to the work of present-day painters and that modern poets "might as well use hieroglyphics." He went on, "politicians have almost attained a Pharaoh state. Stalin could build a pyramid—and indeed he might."

Three Fish Stories

Then, the little man, whose "art" is story-telling, relaxed into his natural capacity and gave his female audience three good "fish stories." But these too served the principles of the Art Association by showing the curious and fascinating characteristic of a true sportsman.

"In my opinion, the sportsman comes the nearest to the natural man in that he is neither good nor evil" asserted Mr. Clark.

His first story proved that "optical illusions" are quite conceivable in the character of a sportsman, and they can also win fame and gain in a Liar's Club the second that there are "contemptible stinkers" posing as sportsmen. His third tale was of an amusing incident in the last years of the late Sr. William Mulock's life when the grand old man's sportsmanship had a "brush" with the law and order it was his duty to maintain.

In deference to his geographical position, scenes for all these stories were in the Kawartha district, and the narrator brought in his also well-loved former partner, the late James Frise, as well as Stony Lake "muskie guides", who also gain a wide circle of acquaintances in season-after-season work, and a frequent visitor from the US to the Burleigh Falls fishing area.

The Hon. Harold R. Scott of Peterborough introduced Mr. Clark giving an account of his interesting career, especially since he first came to know him more than 25 years ago.

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. N. D. Seaton, President.

Ancient Ephesus As Related To Modern Times

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Ephesus, in the days of the Roman Empire, was the capital of the Roman province of Asia. Situated at the mouth of a river three miles from the sea, its ample port made it a most important point on the route of trade between Rome and the east. Silt from the river made constant care necessary to maintain the port, and after the decay of Rome the harbor began to fill up, and the modern place is inland from the sea.

Much of interest was associated with the place, but its significance for our story, drawn from Acts 19, was in the strength of its pagan religion, which centered in the goddess, called Diana in Acts, but actually the goddess Artemis. This goddess, reputedly fallen from heaven, was worshipped in many parts of the east as the huntress goddess and also as the many-breasted goddess of fertility, with rites in her worship of a degraded nature to which perversions of that conception easily led.

Here, at Ephesus, was a great temple to the goddess. Throngs came to worship at various times of the year, and the worship and the throngs made much opportunity for profitable business. Worshippers in the temple presented shrines to the goddess. Among the poor such shrines were of terra cotta, but the rich presented shrines of silver. The terra cotta shrines were later thrown out by the priests, but the silver shrines were hung in the temple, until great quantities had gathered and then they were melted down.

Obviously the making of such shrines was very profitable to the silversmiths, and they naturally were stirred up when the worshippers fell off under the success of Paul's Christian teaching—Paul spent nearly three years in the city—and demand for silver shrines declined.

Among themselves they said, "Our craft is in danger"; but that might not have been of much appeal to people unconcerned about their profits. So they made a religious issue of it, concealing their personal interest and stirring up prejudice, by crying that the great goddess and her temple were being despised, and her magnificence destroyed.

Their ruse worked to the extent that a great riot was started in which Christians and Jews would have been in danger of being killed, had not the town clerk managed to stop the riot and dismiss the assembly.

The interesting story is old, but even new. Never, when great reforms are planned, or effort is made to suppress vice, or anti-social practices, are these things defended for what they are. It is not so long ago that the most ardent advocates of liquor were decrying the saloon, and giving the strongest assurances that it would never return. But the rallying cry was about "personal liberty." The gambling interests today have entrenched themselves around the taxes they pay for old age pensions, and if profits from doubtful things can arrange for taxes to go for schools, or for schools, or for some other socially worthy project, thei rdefense is secure. Disreputable businesses shelter themselves around what will happen to reputable business if they are suppressed.

Ancient Ephesus is not as old as it seems.

"Hard-Boiled" Mother Better Than "Sweet Saint"

A correspondent asks:

"What is your ideal of a good mother?"

Well, my ideal of a good mother is not the popular one of tradition. She isn't the sweet saint who enslaves herself to her children and lets them run roughshod over her. She isn't a martyr who offers herself up as a living sacrifice on the family altar.

Dorothy Dix

No, my ideal mother is not a bit like that. She is more of a hard-boiled egg than she is a mush poultice. She has a heart as big as all outdoors, but she also has a backbone as large as a telephone post and she has an enlargement of the funny bone.

She does not make herself a doormat for her children. She puts herself on a pedestal so that they have to look up to her. And she is a woman of action. She doesn't trust to luck about how her children will turn out. She bats them into the straight and narrow path and keeps them walking it until they like it and don't feel at home anywhere else.

Is Realistic

My ideal mother tries to see her children as they are. She doesn't think that all her geese are swans and that each individual child is an infant phenomenon.

If Mary is an ugly duckling mother sees to it that she is given the education and taught the parlor tricks that take the curse off her homeliness and save her from being a wallflower. If John is dull at his books but clever with his hands, she steers him into a career where ingenuity counts instead of the dead languages.

She gives her children a sporting chance in life because she has the intelligence to recognize their defects and help them to correct them.

My ideal mother knows that every mother writes her own price tag for her children, and that they take her absolutely at her own valuation. If she makes herself cheaply, they regard her as worthless. If she makes herself a servant to them, they treat her as they would a servant. If she is shabby, they are ashamed of her. If she permits them to talk back to her, they are insolent to her. If she gives them the best of everything, they take it without even a "thank you."

My ideal mother knows that her children will treat her exactly as she teaches them to treat her, and so she exactly as she teaches them to treat her, and so she exalts herself in their eyes. She poses before them as an oracle and as long as they live they think that mother knows best. She commands their respect and they are proud to show her off to their friends. Mother is queen of the household because she has elected herself to that office and her children do her reverence.

Keeps Up-To-Date

My ideal mother has kept up with the times. She doesn't sit at home and wring her hands over the young generation. She steps out with it to see where it is going and to try to keep it from going too far.

My ideal mother doesn't try to enforce any hard and fast rules upon her daughter. She uses diplomacy instead of force, suggestion instead of command. Above all, she talks to her daughter with frankness. She teaches her how to take care of herself and draw the line between prudery and prudence.

My ideal mother tries to fit her children for the world in which they must live, and then when she has done that she lets them stand upon their own feet. She cuts the apron strings that bind them to her and leaves them free to live their own lives, for she knows that we must all find our own niches. We must all find our own happiness.

She does not try to keep her children with her if they want to leave the home nest. She does not attempt to choose their careers for them nor their husbands nor wives. She does not make for love a burden on them nor foist herself upon them as an unwelcome guest in their houses because she has been ALL mother and has nothing left when her children are gone.

In one of his plays Shaw tells of a woman who was such a good mother she was hardly human. My ideal mother is all human and understanding and love for her children. But she is a modern version of motherhood.

Broadway Mood Serious Plays Indicate

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, March 4 (CP) — Broadway is in a serious mood these days.

Eight of the 28 productions currently booked at mid-town theatres are solemn in theme and content.

Outstanding among them is "Death of a Salesman," the Pulitzer-prize-winning drama which has been on the boards for a year. This season's serious plays include T. S Eliot's "The Cocktail Party," profound in meaning despite its surface polish of comedy; "Lost in The Stars" and "The Member of the Wedding."

To this category now is added "The Bird Cage," an expose of an unscrupulous night-club owner.

Melvin Douglas Scores

"The Bird Cage" is well acted, despite weaknesses in the play, written by Arthur Laurents. A fine cast in this Coronet Theatre production is headed by screen star Melvin Douglas, who is convincingly villainous as the two-bit club Czar.

Maureen Stapleton gives a superior interpretation as his wife, driven to the bottle by loneliness.

Laurents, who wrote "The Snake Pit" and "Home of The Brave," is less successful with "The Bird Cage." The play is uneven in quality, hardly coming alive until the second act. But the production is never dull.

Partnership Ends

The successful producing firm of Robert Whitehead and Oliver Rea has been dissolved. Both Whitehead, a former Montrealer, and Rea emphasize that the separation was amicable. Their ventures on Broadway since they teamed in 1946 include "Medea," "Crime and Punishment" and "The Member of the Wedding." The last, which opened here in January and is drawing packed houses, was produced in association with sculptor Stanley Marinteau, also once on Montreal.

Footlight Footnotes

"The Heart of the Matter," adaptation of the Graham Greene novel about the moral problems of a British civil servant in West Africa, won't be brought to New York until next season, says Richard Rodgers. The play will end its current try-out run in Boston this weekend. Rodgers, co-producer with Oscar Hammerstein 2nd, says it is being withdrawn for extensive rewriting.

What's Right

You tell a funny story on your husband and he doesn't seem to appreciate it as much as those who hear it.

WRONG WAY: Make it one of your stock stories anyhow, since you know it will always get a laugh.

RIGHT WAY: Try to make amends by adding some remark that restores your husband's dignity and make a mental note not to tell the story again.

Lone Ratepayer

present production needs."

Mayor Swanston said he was glad to see that Mr. Williams was an interested ratepayer.

No Objection Raised

His Worship said the council wished to co-operate with the Industrial Commission and to assist them as far as possible. Intention of buying the 150 acre had been reported on several occasions, but no objection had been raised by any citizen.

"The members of the Industrial Commission are taxpayers," said Mayor Swanston. "One of them is quite a heavy taxpayer, Mr. Bradburn. I believe he knows real estate values as well as any other person in the city. If he is satisfied that is good enough for me personally. The Commission obtained the advice of real estate experts, and the council was unanimous in voting for the purchase of this land.

I don't think the council would go far wrong in taking the advice that was submitted by the Industrial Commission."

Mr. Outram recalled reports which he had heard from his father and others to the effect that when the Canadian General Electric Company decide to locate on the Park St. property, a lot of people thought the company of that time "was crazy". It was mostly a tamarac and black muck swamp. City drainage had during the years entirely changed the complexion of that block.

Mr. Williams had complained about the municipal electoral restriction in Peterborough requiring voters for the city council and Board of Education to mark their ballots for at least four candidates. Mr. Yeates listened to this grievance of Mr. Williams, but replied that it was in no way related to the council's application to purchase a factory site area and to Mr. Williams' objection to that undertaking.

Dr. A. J. Madill

and Christian service of Dr. Madill.

"For instance, he spent five afternoons a week doing church visiting; as superintendent to our Sunday school he was interested in every one of our young people. If a child was absent even one Sunday, and he was certain to be missed, he had a visit from Dr. Madill before that week was out. And the doctor had his own teaching to do at Normal School.

"He was a member of the superannuation board of the Ontario and Quebec Baptist Convention, and only last Thursday he was at our church house in Toronto as a member of the nominating committee of the Convention."

Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser, president of the Horticultural Society, said: "Dr. Madill was an invaluable member of our society, and did a fine community work in Peterborough, and particularly in paternal interest in the children of the schools, encouraging them in the care of gardens and leading them into a love of the beauties of nature.

"Dr. Madill never missed a meeting that he could possibly attend, and he carried on his activies longer than he should have done. In the scenic drive which he helped to much to develop and maintain, and in the community beautification that has been accomplished in Peterborough Dr. Madill took a prominent part for years. We owe more to him than we realize, and I know the members of our Horticultural Society will regret his sudden death."

Law Office Burns

MIDLAND, March 4 (CP)—Fire gutted the law office of George S. Dudley, KC, in downtown Midland Friday night. Mr. Dudley is secretary of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and treasurer of Ontario Hockey Association. Also damaged was an adjoining barber shop and a private apartment above it. Damage in the building, owned by Mr. Dudley is unofficially estimated in

New Y.M. Groups Forming To Guide Outskirt Gangs

As a new venture in Peterborough, the Y.M.C.A. is expanding its work outside the wall of the Y.M.C.A. building by helping to guide the activities of groups of boys living on the outskirts of the city. With a capacity membership at the Y, there are still many boys living too far away from its building to attend regularly and it is among these lads that the new venture is being directed. It is such work as this which underscores the necessity of full support of the Red Cross and Community Fund campaign now in progress.

Under the name N-Y (Neighborhood YMCA) Clubs, the plan is to help groups of boys, mostly of senior public school age, to make the best use of their time together. When Don Duncan, Boys' Work Secretary at the Y.M.C.A. hears of a gang of boys who meet without any leadership or guidance, he suggests they work out a program putting their leisure time to better use.

With the help of the Y.M.C.A. their programs can be greatly expanded without disrupting the group of boys as a gang.

Kits and Leaders

Kits for craft work may be loaned to the groups and they are given helpful ideas for their programs. The Y suggests that each gang has a leader, either an adult living in the neighborhood, or an older boy, perhaps one in his late teens who has leadership experience.

One Club Already

The plan has already started in Peterborough with a group in the south of the city. This group of ten boys has been going around together, unorganised, for some time and at the suggestion of Joseph Barnard, principal of the Grove School and chairman of the N-Y Committee, set up six weeks ago, the gang was formed into an N-Y Club.

Three adults in that part of the city who have agreed to watch over the group in an advisory capacity are Eric McKinstry, Earl Dreury and Jim Joiner.

Eighteen-year-old Jim Cocker is leader of the group and it is expected that many of the boys at present in the gang will develop into useful leaders of other groups, as they reach their late teens.

If N-Y Clubs ring the city, serving boys who live on the outskirts, there will probably be fewer of the less desirous type of gang among older boys, Mr. Duncan believes.

Success in Other Cities

Although a new project in Peterborough, this scheme has been operating in Ottawa, Toronto, London and St. Catharines for some time.

In Ottawa, where there are now 152 N-Y Clubs, the plan is so popular that boys are continually approaching the Y, asking for advice for their gangs.

Once we have it up a few in Peterborough, the same situation will probably arise, Mr. Duncan says.

The club in the south of Peterborough has been meeting five weeks since its re-organisation and will hold its election next week. Weekly meetings are held in Grove School for the main purpose of planning the gang's activities.

This new venture is only one of many community services being rendered by one of the ten agencies which are appealing to the community to support the Red Cross and Community Chest campaign which opened today. The community is asked to contribute $75,000 during the next seven days.

It is reported that this week's storm has blocked many of the roads in the Bethany district and the township plow has been working overtime. A number of farmers have also complained that they are short of feed and groceries.

PCVS Play Anne Gives High Dramatic Effect

Little Orphan Anne of Green Gables made a great hit with the audience which over-filled the Collegiate auditorium Friday evening. The play, adapted from the sentimental, pretty Canadian novel of L. M. Montgomery was within the scope and field of the young actors of the Collegiate Junior Drama Club. It was a most suitable selection and the performance was outstandingly good. A thoroughly charming and pleasing show.

The best tribute came from the school students in the audience—and they were there in hundreds. If they are not schooled critics, they are undoubtedly more sensitive to a stage drama than most adults, and less partisan than parents. Their close attention and spontaneous rapport with the stage creation were proof of a genuine dramatic achievement.

All the actors played with sincerity of purpose and gave evidence of careful coaching, assiduous attention to detail and a fresh delight in their work. There was remarkably little gaucherie and a total effect of ease with the stage. Of the many actors who did well, one might single out Jean Jolly who played Anne ("spelt with an e") who was first-rate for so young (and little) a person, Ethel Roberts as Rachel who had fine poise and ease on the stage, the pretty Mrs. Barry (Dorothy Langley) and the prim Marilla (Beverly Johnston).

Set and Cast

The set was in good taste and in keeping with the tenor and time of the play. (It drew a sigh of appreciation from the audience when first revealed). Casting was good, costuming fetching, make-up appropriate; for instance, Matthew's (Larry Forbes). The play was under the direction of A. J. Noftall and Miss Fern Rahmel of the school staff.

The performance deserved a second night.

The cast and the off-stage persons were: Florence Remsen, Lee Glennie; Minnie Stearn, Pauline Rusaw; Anne Shirley, Jean Jolly; Mrs. Alexander Spencer, Marilyn Bentley; Marilla Cuthbert, Beverly Johnston; Mrs. Barry, Dorothy Langley; Mrs. Rachel Lynde, Ethel Roberts; Matthew Cuthbert, Larry Forbes; Josie Pye, Anne Maudsley; Gilbert Blythe, Jack King; Diana Barry, Mary Raddon; Moody Spurgeon, Lee Barnes; Mrs. Allan, Mildred Hayward; Ira Mills, Arthur Lowe.

Prompter, Margaret Patterson; stage manager, Jack King; properties, Louise Lentz; pianist, Mary McBride.

The funeral of Mrs. William Frankish of RR 2, Lakefield, was held on Friday afternoon from the Tedford Funeral Home, Lakefield. Mr. and Mrs. Frankish a year ago this month celebrated their 54th wedding anniversary. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. W. Yonge, was very largely attended and the large number of floral tributes were evidence of the high respect in which Mrs. Frankish was held.

Pallbearers were Cephas Bullock, Gratton Bullock, Gerald Tedford, Francis Tedford, Roland Tedford and Russell Tedford.

Flower bearers were Eric Jackman, Stan Millage, Stanley Richardson, Percy Hockady, Russell Little and Alex Graham.

Burial was made in Lakefield cemetery.

She leaves her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Stanley Richardson (Edna), and a son, Wilbert, all of Lakefield. There are two other sons, Roy of Otonabee township, and Percy Frankish at home. Two sisters also live in the village, Mrs. Percy Darling (Bella) and Mrs. William Bullock (Betty) and there are three brothers, Archie Tedford of Douro township, William of Young's Point, and Andrew of Hannah, Alta., now at home. Her four grandchildren are Mrs. Eric Jackman (Jean), Miss Marion Frankish, the Misses Anne and Margaret Richardson, all of Lakefield.

CSU Conference Plans Discuss Contract

TORONTO, March 4 (CP)—The Canadian Seamen's Union at its national conference opening today will discuss the question of contracts signed by Canada Steamship Lines and Sarnia and Colonial Steamships Company with a rival union.

The companies repudiated their contracts with the CSU and signed agreements with the rival Seafarers International Union (AFL). A third union, the Brotherhood of Seamen, is also making a bid for contracts on the Great Lakes. The Brotherhood is also seeking a place in the Trades and Labor Congress, which expelled the CSU.

Pearl With Kipper Not Oyster's Work

LONDON — (CP) — Charles Sexton bit into his breakfast kipper—and nearly broke a tooth on a pearl.

With visions of a possible financial windfall, he took it for valuation to a jeweller.

But the jeweller told him: "It's an artificial pearl—quite valueless." Real or artificial, Sexton still doesn't know how it got into the fish.

1927 School

evident that Confederation School could not hope to accommodate the new school population in the existing six-roomed building.

The Board of Education went forward with plans for a second addition and in September 1948 six new classrooms including a new kindergarten room, principal's office and medical room were completed to meet the situation. Four additional rooms were opened immediately making ten classrooms in operation. The eleventh was opened one month later and the twelve classrooms were all in use by September 1949.

A hundred years of progress in the city of Peterborough is worthy of note. As we look back upon it during this Education Week we consider how our schools takes their place in the last quarter century as evidence that "Education is everybody's business". As it has been pointed out this school stands out in striking example of the fact that as the city has grown, so has its schools.

Notable Staff

On Jan. 22nd, 1940 the eightieth anniversary of the opening of the school was celebrated and the descendants of the original Building Committee were on the platform, along with many of the former pupils. Mr. Kidd who returned from the south for the occasion, was the only one of them who started school the day it was opened, but Mr. E. A. Peck, KC, Mr. R. G. Kingan, Mr Adams, Dr Scott, Mrs. Graham and Mrs Lech were among those who attended in the first few years and were present that night along with great numbers of ex-pupils who had attended in the intervening years. It was indeed a happy event and we should try to arrange another get-together on the hundredth anniversary.

Noted Former Pupils

It was unfortunate that Miss Mary Nicholls, who was on the staff in the early days, and who was the oldest teacher in Canada, was unable to be present that evening, but she was deeply interested in the entire programme and supplied much useful information.

Some very outstanding people have at some time or other attended this school. For instance the late Archbishop Owen, Primate of the Church of England in Canada, the late Dr. Pakenham of Toronto University, the late Col. Jack Fessenden, who won the Red Eagle of Serbia, for his outstanding service to that country during the First Great War, Mr. Rollie McVilliam, who was Lieutenant-governor of Manitoba, Dr. Harold Couch of Toronto General Hospital, Archdeacon Sawyers, Rev. Harold Young and Hon. Lester Pearson Minister for External Affairs for Canada, were among the number. May this landmark long continue to turn out such citizens.

STRIKE!

TO THE COMMUNITY OF PETERBOROUGH

The Ontario Labour Code designed by the employers to prevent the growth of free trade unions has provided a haven for Communists.

Your neighbours and friends employed by C.G.E. have been deprived of their democratic rights as free Canadians to cast off the stigma of the Communist dominated U.E.

NOW HEAR THIS

Weak, isolated and condemned by the free Canadian trade union movement, U.E. plans strike action against multi-million dollar G.E. in a fanatical attempt to get a contract and prevent for the next ten months Peterborough workers from joining the ranks of the world's most modern trade union, I.U.E.-C.I.O.

A strike led by a weak isolated and renegade union means suffering and hardship for G.E. workers and their families.

It means endless months of suffering to the entire community.

It means loss of purchasing power.

It means loss to the small business man.

It means an unnecessary burden on the entire community, who will be called upon to feed hungry mouths.

It means suffering, misery and chaos.

FOR WHAT?

The overwhelming majority of G.E. workers have joined the ranks of I.U.E.-C.I.O., the world's most modern trade union. The six and a half million members of the Congress of Industrial Organization and the four hundred thousand members of the Canadian Congress of Labour walk shoulder to shoulder with I.U.E.'s membership. They provide the strength necessary for peaceful collective bargaining at C.G.E. Peaceful collective bargaining means increased purchasing power for the entire community. This is why we fight.

THIS IS YOUR FIGHT

This fight for a government-conducted vote at C.G.E. is your fight. You work with us. We are friends and neighbours. Our suffering means your suffering. The hunger of our children means the hunger of your children. We fight for decency in Peterborough. We fight for a prosperous Peterborough. We ask only for our democratic rights as Canadians. This fight needs you and you and all of you.

THIS IS THE ISSUE

The issue in this stuggle is I.U.E. security, decency and prosperity for Peterborough versus a U.E. suicide strike.

Are You With It? . . . . . Then Help Us Get It!

Wood Splinter Strikes Spinal Cord

GOWGANDA, Ont., March 4 — (CP). — His neck pierced by a 21-inch splinter which struck the spinal cord on the way through, 26-year-old Gaston Clouthier is in critical condition in Haileybury Hospital Friday.

The injured man was working on an edger at Charois Brothers' sawmill in Tyranite Township, 15 miles east of here, when the accident occurred shortly before quitting time Thursday night. The splinter travelled right through the man's neck.

Dr. F. F. Fitch of Matchewan, 50 miles away, arrived three hours after the mishap and removed the splinter. Clouthier was then rushed to Haileybury Hospital, 78 miles from Gowganda. No first-aid equipment was available in the camp prior to the doctor's arrival.

Survey Raps Library In BC

VANCOUVER, (CP) — The "imagination and indomiable patience" of the staff was the only bright spot a two-man survey noted in a report on the city's library.

Facilities of the library, the 82-page report said, were "disgraceful."

The survey was carried out by John Adams Lowe, director of the Rochester, N. Y., public library and John S. Richards, Seattle public librarian. It was financed by a $3,000 city grant.

Occasionally resorting to strong language, the report says the situation is all the more deplorable because "Vancouver offers unusual opportunities for good library service. It is above average in educational level, in economic status, in general living conditions, and has a homogenous population with over 90 per cent of English-speaking origin."

Conditions in the building were found to be "shocking" compared to the average factory. Odors from an adjacent market and alley, the report said, forced the staff to keep windows closed in the summer.

Under minimum standards laid down by the American Library Association, the library here was found short of building, books, librarians, buildings and money.

It has less than one-third the minimum number of books, less than half the money, less than half the number of borrowers and receives slightly more than half the amount of money it should. However, the selection of books was found to be "well-rounded."

The staff, whose "herculean efforts to serve the public with inadequate facilities" showed "imagination and indomitable patience," drew praise.

The report recommended the city seek provincial support and private donations to improve conditions.

Aussie Hangover Bar Built Rich Business

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP) — Eddie Samuels, the man who operated the world's first headache bar, has sold out. And he did all right out of other people's hangovers.

The sale price of his bar, located right across the street from one of Australia's biggest hotels in the heart of Sydney, was reported as £35,000 ($85,750).

Ever since the Headache Bar (rather like a normal bar but with different mixtures) opened nine years ago it's been doing a roaring business. Samuels says the new owners will carry it on with all the nostrums which have helped Sydneysiders with a handover since 1940.

Samuels (Mr. Edmond Samuels from now on) is going into show business with an Australian musical called "The Highwayman."

Election Fails To Halt Socialism

LONDON, Ont., March 3 (CP) —M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF, said Friday night world wide trend towards democratic socialism has not been halted by recent election results.

Speaking at a CCF banquet, Mr. Coldwell said defeat of the Labor Party in New Zealand and Australia indicated the citizens "decided it was time to consolidate rather than proceed immediately on further radical changes."

In the afternoon, Mr. Coldwell told students at the University of Western Ontario that the British Labor Government will stake its life of legislation to nationalize the British steel industry.

Long Branch Fears Etobicoke Flood

TORONTO, March 4 (CP) — Residents in suburban Long Branch are fearful they may have to deal with a flood when the warmer weather comes. Ice at the mouth of the Etobicoke river is piled 15 to 20 feet high they say and the river is blocked for 150 feet out into the lake.

The mouth of the river was diverted two years ago to forestall such a situation. Residents say the former mouth, a quarter of a mile away, is even more completely blocked. Thomas Carter, chairman of the Etobicoke River Authority, said they have asked for dynamite to break up the ice should the weather get milder.

Will Proceed With Labor Code

TORONTO, March 4 (CP)—The Ontario Government intends to proceed immediately with passage of its new Labor Code and it will not likely be submitted to the Standing Committee on Labor, Labor Minister Daley indicated today.

Asked if the bill would be held up to allow Labor and management representatives to express opinions, either privately or before the Labor Committee, Mr. Daley said, "We're going right ahead. Why shouldn't we?"

Mr. Daley said he would welcome any delegates who wish to discuss the bill with him privately.

The bill was given first reading in the legislature last Tuesday and probably will be presented for second reading early next week.

20-Man Committee To Study Schools

OTTAWA, March 4—(CP)— A 20-member central committee was established by Ottawa school authorities Thursday to supervise long-range planning of a new four-grade intermediate division for the capital's school system.

The division will link grades seven to 10 by integrating courses in the four years.

The committee was set up at a day-long meeting of public, separate and collegiate board officials.

Doctor Denies Intention To Kill Patient

Positive Woman Dead, 'Something Snapped' And He Injected Air

MANCHESTER, N.H., March 6—(AP)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander said today from the witness stand "I never had any intention of killing Mrs. Borroto."

The 41-year-old country doctor on trial for murder in the death of the cancer-ridden woman said he called for a syringe the morning of last Dec. 4 after he looked at his patient and thought she was dead.

"It is my opinion then that she was dead," Dr. Sander testified in a calm voice. "I can't explain exactly what action I took then. Something snapped. Why I did it I can't tell. It doesn't make sense."

During cross-examination, Attorney-General William L. Phinney pressed for a reason for injecting air into Mrs. Borroto.

No Explanation

Dr. Sander said he was influenced by the "expression on her face—the long suffering—also the suffering for her husband. The expression of her face touched me off. What I did doesn't make sense."

Under questioning Dr. Sander conceded that he had been taught air in the circulatory system was something to be avoided.

"Did you have any intention of killing Mrs. Borroto?" asked defence counsel Ralph E. Langdell.

"I never had any intention of killing Mrs. Borroto," replied the doctor.

Q. Did you ever agree to kill Mrs. Borroto?

A. I never agreed to kill her.

Under questioning by one of his counsel the defendant said he believed she died of cancer and he so signified on her death certificate.

Asked, then, why he dictated the entry in Mrs. Borroto's record that disclosed the air injection, he replied:

"I think it is the duty of every doctor to put down on the charts what he has done for every patient whether it has any effect or not."

Dr. Sander testified earlier Mrs. Borroto "looked like a dead person" during the last week of her life at hospital.

14 People Ill From Gas Fumes

TORONTO, March 6 (CP)—Two women collapsed and 12 other persons, including eight children, became violently ill Saturday from gas fumes that leaked into two neighboring homes.

Neither house is serviced with gas and both families had been puzzled for two weeks over a series of unexplained illnesses.

A Consumer Gas Company spokesman said a crack in the gas main was caused by expansion and contraction brought on by cold weather.

Mrs. Joseph Rogers and Mrs Everett Van Sinclair collapsed from the effect of the fumes. They were revived with fire department inhalators.

Ill were Mr. Van Sinclair and his son, Lorne, 10 months; Mr Rogers and his daughter, Nancy, 2; Mr. and Mrs. William King and their six children.

Sudbury Folk Reeling Under Weather Mix-up

SUDBURY, March 6 —(CP)— Near-record cold and near-record mildness followed within little more than 48 hours of each other when the mercury shot up to 43 degrees on Sunday after a 42-below-zero reading had been registered Friday morning.

Friday's temperature was the lowest in Sudbury for several years, while Sunday's high was the warmest March 5 since 1922. It was the first time the temperature had topped the freezing mark in three weeks.

The mild weather was short-lived, however. A low of four below was recorded Sunday night and a high of 15 above was predicted for today.

Lost In Rush

KITCHENER, March 6 —(CP)—The sobbing child was half an hour late for kindergarten class, but she had a crumpled note for the teacher. Anxiously, she watched the teacher unfold the message. It read: "Please be lenient with this little girl. She got lost in the rush." It was signed: "Stanley Ernst, bus driver."

Maniac Rages In Brooklyn 4 Die, 3 Knifed

NEW YORK, March 6—(AP)—A 19-year-old youth, just released from a hospital for the criminal insane, slaughtered four strangers and stabbed three other persons in a 10-minute rampage through crowded Brooklyn streets Sunday.

The mad knifer, William Jones, a Negro, finally was beaten into submission with gun butts after police pursued him along three blood-trailed blocks.

Jones, turned loose as sane last Wednesday, wouldn't tell police what made him grab a 4-inch carving knife from a restaurant and rage through the tenement district slashing at the heart of every passerby.

The four who died were white men whom Jones apparently never had seen before.

But one of Jones' other victims, a 20-year-old Negro, was a friend and neighbor, Jones cut him as the victim raised a hand in greeting.

Jones slashed the seven without warning—the way Howard Unruh, crazed 28-year-old war veteran, killed 13 persons with gunfire in Camden, N.J., last September.

Terror Spreads

Terror spread through the Brooklyn neighborhood as reports of a madman wielding a knife came from one street — and then another.

People stood frozen on the sidewalks, horror-stricken and helpless as the killer pulled his knife from hiding, struck from behind and piled up his bloody toll. Other people fled screaming.

"It seemed like he was using the knife so fast nobody wanted to try to stop him," one witness said.

Two policemen in a patrol car finally caught up with the killer. Jones lunged at them with his bloody knife, but they beat it out of his hand and slugged him to the sidewalk with gun butts.

A few minutes after Jones had wounded his first victim, Joseph

Find Rental Rackets In East Toronto

TORONTO, March 6 —(CP)— The Toronto Housing Authority was told today that some landlords in the Regent Park area of east-central Toronto are "trafficking" in rentals, on the assumption that evicted tenants will find accommodation in a city housing project.

Frank Dearlove, project manager, told the housing authority that, on "trumped" charges, landlords are evicting from privately-owned quarters tenants entitled to space in the project. Then the landlords re-rent their properties at rentals up to 300 per cent higher than the tenants had been paying.

Pact Signed, Miners Back In Pits

Coal Workers Gains Now Estimated To Cost 250 Million

WASHINGTON, March 6—(AP)—The signing of a new contract sent soft coal miners swarming back to the pits today—ending a serious threat to the United States economy and promising peace in the coal fields for months to come.

For the 352,000 striking miners, the prize they won was a $1.40 daily "package," plus a reasonable assurance of fairly-steady work for at least a year and perhaps until the middle of 1952. For the operators, it meant getting back into business.

One operator put the cost of the United Mine Workers' gains at $250,000,000 this year. The extra cost to consumers may be anywhere from 25 to 50 cents a ton.

The strike-settling contract was signed by President John L. Lewis of the UMW and the spokesmen for all major groups of operators—north, west, the reluctant south, and the steel-owned "captive" group—late Sunday.

Lewis told reporters: "The United Mine Workers have again accomplished the impossible."

This time there was no defiance of a back-to-work order There was a contract, there would be work. In many districts the jubilant miners waived formal meetings and back-to-work votes. Until now they had defied orders to go back from both Lewis and the Federal Court.

Some pits were ready by midnight to start pouring black energy into the fuel-starved economy. But it may be 10 days before all an estimated 225,000 laid-off men in coal-dependent industries, such as railroads and steel will be back on the job.

Anthracite Peace

Peace in the anthracite industry seemed just ahead, too. Thus far futile talks in New York are being moved to Washington. An anthracite agreement may be achieved within the week, industry and union sources predicted.

The nearly 80,000 anthracite workers did not join the 372,000 soft coal diggers in the strike, although their contract also had expired last June 30.

The bituminous contract runs until June 30, 1952. But it may be cancelled by either party on or after April 1, 1951, unon 30 days' notice.

Fear Foul Play Professor Victim

PORT PERRY, March 6—(CP)—Police Chief George Holmes said today he feels that there is "a strong possibility of foul play" in the disappearance of 78-year-old Harry Gray from his Scugog Island home.

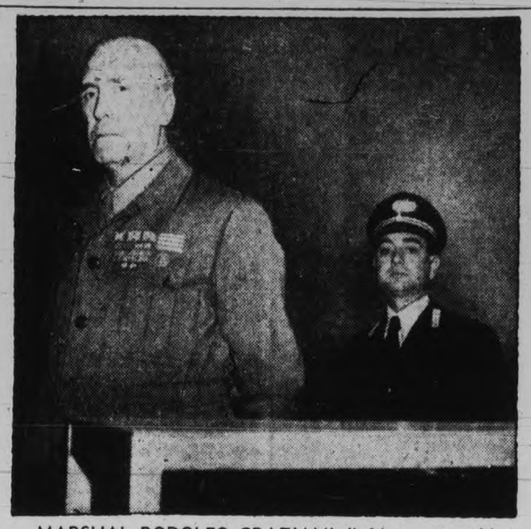
Gray was believed to have had $200 in his wallet when he left for Toronto last Tuesday. The wallet was mailed back to his home with a crudely-written note which read: "This was found in E. York (a Toronto suburb)."

"There is a strong possibility he was slugged on the head and robbed," Chief Holmes said.

The note was scribbled on the back of a wooden match box from which all identifying marks had been removed.

Margaret Given Big Role In French President's Visit

LONDON, March 6—(CP)—Princess Margaret, an accomplished linguist, will play a prominent part in the State welcome to French president Auriol and his wife who are scheduled to arrive at Buckingham Palace tomorrow.



She met Auriols in Paris last Spring on her way home from her Italian vacation.

The Princess has paid several visits to her dressmakers and milliners because she wants to appear at her best before the official representatives of the country where most fashions are born.

In this she has the support of the King and Queen, who will be anxious to show how much Britain has advanced in the world of fashion since the last French State visit just before the war.

Both the Princesses will be present at all major functions planned for the French president's visit. They include a full-scale banquet at Buckingham Palace tomorrow evening, a reception at the Foreign Office, a civic luncheon at the Guildhall and a command gala performance at Convent Garden.

During his stay here it is expected Auriol will offer a return invitation to the King and Queen to visit him in Paris next autumn.

MARSHAL RODOLFO GRAZIANI (left) one-time Viceroy of Ethiopia and Mussolini's war minister in the closing days of World War II, stands in court in Rome, charged with treason and collaboration with the Nazis. Graziani, who served as commander of Italian military forces in North Africa, is being tried before a military tribunal of five generals and one admiral. The 66-year-old marshal wears his campaign ribbons and military decorations but his uniform has been stripped of badges of rank. An unidentified officer stands at right.

Says Canada Leading World In Future Mining Work

TORONTO, March 6—(CP)—No other country in the world has its future mining operations so well defined as has Canada, Mines Minister Gemmell of Ontario said today in an address to the annual convention of the Prospectors and Developers Association.

This is indicated, he stated, in developments afoot from Newfoundland to the Pacific Coast.

Since the turn of the century Canada has produced $13,800,000,000 worth of minerals, with 1949 production at a record $900,000,000.

Mr. Gemmell said that 42 per cent. of production in this century came from Ontario, and estimated 1949's Ontario production at $315,000,000, or $20,000,000 more than in 1948.

(An earlier report from the prospectors and developers, containing a message of greeting from Mr. Gemmell, erroneously put Ontario's production at $515,000,000.)

Detailed Mapping

Mr. Gemmell, reporting on current Ontario developments, said his department intends this summer to make detailed geological mapping of Munro township in Northern Ontario in further exploration of asbestos, which will be in production this spring for the first time in the province.

He stated that pitcheblende deposits on two properties in the Bay area on eastern Lake Superior give every indication of commercial importance, and suggested that the Federal Goverment give careful consideration to increasing the assured price for uranium oxide as an encouragement to exploration. The present policy is to pay 2.75 a pound up to March, 1955. Ontario will have a geological party in the Alona Bay area this year in extension of last year's mapping.

Mr. Gemmell said Ontario, in accordance with recent announcement, will spend 35,000,000 on development of highways in northern and northwestern Ontario in the next five years, over and above the regular annual expenditures for highway purposes. He added:

"The expenditures planned give assurance that large new mining areas will be opened up and made more accessible...

"It has been my feeling that the Federal Government should reinstate its 1935-39 policy of contributing two-thirds of the cost of new mining roads with the provinces assuming the balance."

Two On Plane Injured Soon After Take-off

KITCHENER, March 6 (CP)—Condition of William Kosky, 44, Kitchener furrier injured in the crash of a light plane Sunday, is reported "improved" today.

Kosky suffered serious body and head injuries in the mishap. Irving Gendel, 19, pilot of the plane, also in hospital, is in "fairly good" condition. He received less serious leg and shoulder injuries.

The two men were hurt when a light plane crashed shortly after taking off from K-W airport.

Ex-President Of France Dies

PARIS, March 6 (AP)—Albert LeBrun, former president of the French Republic, died today. He was 78.

The son of poor farmers, LeBrun was elected president in 1932 and served until July, 1940, when he was deposed by Marshal Philippe Petain after France's defeat by Germany. LeBrun spent the German occupation in retirement in the French Alps.

Before he succeeded the assassinated Paul Doumer as president, LeBrun had held a succession of cabinet posts, was a member of the Chamber of Deputies from 1900 until 1919, and of the Senate from 1920 until his election as president.

His functions as president died along with the third Republic he headed. After the liberation France started all over again and built the fourth Republic.

LeBrun was ignored but was not publicly blamed for any of the events connected with France's defeat.

Two Insane Youths Stab Elderly Guard

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6 (AP)—An elderly guard was stabbed and beaten Sunday night by two insane youths who escaped from Central State Hospital.

The youths fled from the hospital grounds after one of them broke through a locked door and grabbed pass keys from an attendant.

The guard, 60-year-old William Elders, was found lying in a puddle of blood.

The fugitives were identified as Aaron Dooley, 20, and James Edward Davis, 25, both of Indianapolis.

50-Cent Boost Seen In Price Of Coal

TORONTO, March 6 (CP) — Milder weather, expected to continue for several days, brought relief to coal-short Toronto today. A director of the Toronto Coal Exchange's emergency board said shipments from the United States are expected within 10 days now that the U. S. strike is ended.

The distribution centre, set up by the exchange and civic authorities, will continue until coal starts arriving. Present supplies are sufficient for that period, E. R. Lockyer, exchange director, said.

Settlement of the strike may add $1,440,000 to Toronto's fuel bill, said Mr. Lockyer.

He predicted a 50 cents a ton increase in the price of bituminous fuel and feared a similar increase on domestic hard coal.

Throne Talk Avoids Controversy

Seek Lasting Solution To Atomic Problem No Challenge Likely

LONDON, March 6—(CP)—The Labor government, facing a new parliament with a precarious majority, today presented a program devoid of controversial issues.

The Speech from the Throne, read by the King at the opening of Parliament, made no reference to nationalization or any other matter liable to touch of a dangerous debate.

It said that only "limited legislation" was proposed at the present session, the first since the general election of Feb. 23 which cut Labor's majority in the House from 148 to seven seats.

However, it promised that if other measures are necessary to maintain full employment and national well-being "my ministers will not hesitate to submit them to parliament even though they may seem likely to prove contentions."

Great Ceremonial

The opening was accompanied with all the glitter and glamor of a pre-war state ceremonial.

The King and Queen drove to the Houses of Parliament from Buckingham Palace along streets bright with banners. An escort of household cavalry, their breastplates and helmets gleaming in the pale sunshine, escorted the royal carriages.

Guns thundered a salute in St. James's Park as the procession passed.

The Throne Speech, which took 12 minutes to deliver, was one of broad generalities, notable for what it did not say rather than what it did. It heralded a bland diet for the immediate future.

There was no reference to the nationalization of sugar or cement, which Labor had proposed to introduce some time in this parliament, or to the plan to make industrial assurance policy-holders the owners of this class of business.

Measures for expanding food production and maintaining full employment also are considered mainly on non-controversial lines.

No Challenge Likely

Political charters did not at once see on what grounds the opposition is likely to challenge the speech, unless it does so by a negative amendment.

It could always put forward an amendment "regretting" the omission of a declaration that steel nationalization or sugar and cement nationalization would be abandoned.

A law passed by the last parliament put the iron and steel industry under state ownership but is not scheduled to take effect until Oct. 1, with the actual takeover scheduled for Jan. 1, 1951. Conservatives stood for repeal of the law.

The main aim of the Labor government now is to steer the government through its budgetary problems in the next few months, and for this reason the speech reflected a desire to avoid controversy in the immediate future. The legislative program laid before the Commons was a

Paris Bus, Subway Strike Fails To Cripple City

PARIS, March 6.—(AP)— A Communist-led strike on Paris bus and subway lines today confused — but failed to stop—the city's normal life.

In the National Assembly, meanwhile, the government this morning shut off a 72-hour Red filibuster aaimed at killing the anti-sabotage bill.

The trikers were demanding a cost of living bonus. The filibusterers had sought to further a Communist campaign against shipments of Atlantic Pact arms aid of military aid to French troops in Indo-China.

Downtown streets were clogged with unusually-heavy auto and bicycle traffic.

With most Paris stores closed normally Monday, the strike's effect on business was minimized. Government ministries managed to get most of their employees to work by special trucks and buses manned by volunteers.

At noon, the public works ministry said "about 100" buses were operating in Paris, and four of the city's 14 subway lines were running.

The ministry saaid many buses and trolley lines were idle in Marseille, Clermont-Ferrand and Mulhouse, but that traffic was normal at Limoges and Bordeaux.

In the National Assembly Premier Georges Bidault ended the Communist filibuster by demanding a motion of confidence on the anti-sabotage bill. Since Friday afternoon Communist deputies alternately had been talking their heads off and tangling in fist fights with colleagues.

Deer Escapes Ice

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 6—(CP)—A big deer, doomed for destruction over the Horseshoe Falls, escaped from its ice encasement in the upper Niagara River. This afternoon, it sped to safety while Provincial Constable J. L. Erskine organized a rescue squad.

Travelling Spree By Canadians Cuts Dollars

OTTAWA, March 6 (CP)—Foreign tourists spent a record $288,000,000 in Canada in 1949 but Canadians went on a record travelling spree all their own and wiped out a lot of the boon to the federal treasury's reserves of United States dollars.

The Bureau of Statistics summed it all up Saturday.

It said the $288,000,000 spent by tourists here in 1949 was $8,000,000 above the 1948 total. But Canadians spent $191,000,000 in other countries, chiefly the U. S. or $57,000,000 more than in 1948.

So the net tourist receipts fell to $97,000,000 as compared with a record $146,000,000 in 1948.

The Bureau said the volume of longer-term Canadian motor traffic remained abroad more than a day was up 66 per cent and more than half of the increase was due to heavy traffic at Fort Erie, Niagara Falls, Windsor, and Pacific Highway on the west coast.

At the first three of these border ports the traffic doubled and at the Pacific Highway it was six times as heavy as in 1948. Much of this longer term traffic was traced to shopping visits to places like Buffalo, Detroit and Seattle.

Bus Crashes Into Tree Nine People Injured

ST. CATHARINES, March 6 (CP)—Nine persons were treated in hospital here Sunday night for injuries suffered when a Grey Coach Lines bus skidded on the icy highway and crashed into a tree near Beamsville.

The impact split open the side of the bus, en route from Toronto to Buffalo. None of the injured persons were seriously hurt.

"There were no other cars coming, fortunately," said the driver, Jack Travis. "The bus just went into a spin and hit a tree."

Injured were Dorothy Creiner, Buffalo, bruises to head, knee and arm; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rutacki, Buffalo, and Nicelina Salerno, Buffalo, undetermined injuries; William Claridge, Fort Erie, Rose Romsy, Toronto, facial cuts and bruises; Mrs. Helen Rutsche, Buffalo and Norman Schultz, Buffalo.

Arrest 18 On Train

TORONTO, March 6 —(CP)— Sixteen men were arrested today for trespassing after entering and sleeping in Canadian National Railway coaches, newly-cleaned and ready for use. Police say most of them are from Newfoundland and Cape Breton Island.

Eight others, after receiving a three-course meal from the Women's Auxiliary of Woodgreen United Church, slept on cushioned pews in the gallery of the church. Several hostels in the city were filled Sunday night.

Fake Address Said Used On Plane Box

Witness Describes Selling Dynamite To 2 Quebec Women

QUEBEC, March 6—(CP)—False addresses were marked on a 25-pound parcel shipped aboard a plane that crashed Sept. 9 killing 23 persons, witnesses testified today at a murder trial of J. Albert Guay, 32-year-old Quebec jeweller.

Guay is accused of arranging for shipment of a time-bomb aboard the Canadian Pacific Airlines plane in which his wife was one of the 23 victims of its crash at nearby Sault Au Cochon.

One witness testified today that no one by the name of "Alfred Plouffe" lived last September at 180 Laval Street at Baie Comeau. The Crown has already produced testimony that name and address were written on the mystery parcel.

Name and address of the parcel's sender were listed as "Delphis Bouchard, St. Simeon, Que." but a St. Lawrence navigator Delphis Bouchard from St. Simeon village testified today he sent no parcel last September either to Baie Comeau or to Guay in Quebec.

Sells Dynamite

Another witness today, Leopold Giroux, a hardware store clerk, told of selling dynamite, dynamite caps and fuse Aug. 18 to Mrs. Hector Parent and a Mrs. Pitre.

He could not positively identify Mrs. Arthur Pitre who appeared briefly before him in court as one of the two women purchasers.

Mrs. Arthur Pitre was identified by one trial witness last week as the woman who brought the 25-pound parcel with the fictitious addresses to Quebec airport for shipment on the plane that was wrecked.

The Crown hopes to prove that the parcel Mrs. Pitre took to the airport contained a time-bomb made at Guay's request by Mrs. Pitre's brother, watchmaker Genereux Ruest.

Leftist Parties Lead Election

ATHENS, March 6. —(AP)— Gen. Nicholas Plastiras, an old warrior who drove King Constantine into exile in 1922, emerged from Sunday's national elections as a powerful new leftist force in Greek politics.

With nearly one-half of the votes counted today, Plastiras' National Progressive Union held a slender lead over the country's two big traditional parties—former Premier Constantin Tsaldaris' Conservative Populists (Royalists) and Sophocles Venizelos' Moderate Liberals.

Another new Leftist party, the Republican Front headed by former Foreign Minister John Sophianopoulos, polled a sizeable vote that surprised most observers.

Considerative politicians said that Communists—whose party was outlawed as a result of the civil war that ended last fall—turned their support to the leftist parties.

$25,000 Fire Razes 2 Gananoque Stores

GANANOQUE,, March 6 (CP) —A $25,000 fire destroyed two business places and two apartments above them and for a time threatened the entire King Street business section Saturday night.

Burned out were the premises of W. R. Johnston, barber, the E. Kyes egg-grading station and the apartments of E. Gooding and G. Wooton.

Kingston fire department members, here to play hockey with the Gananoque brigade, helped fight the fire.

The building containing the businesses and apartments is one of the oldest in the town's business section. The families occupying the apartments lost their entire household furnishings and personal belongings. The adjacent property occupied by Stedman Stores and the Walkwell Shoe Store suffered extensive smoke damage.

Slippery Roads, 4 Accidents, Priest's Car Tips

Slippery highways late Sunday resulted in four minor accidents near Peterborough but nobody was seriously injured.

Minor injured were sustained by Helen Leeson of Ottawa, a passenger in the car of Arthur A Smith, RCAF, Trenton. While parked on Highway 7, a quarter of a mile west of Peterborough and Hastings County boundary the Smith vehicle was struck in the rear by another car driven by William Osborne of Ajax.

Miss Leeson was jolted forward and received head cuts requiring six stitches to close and she also sustained an injured left wright. She was given medical attention by Dr. W. J. Donevan of Marmora.

Smith told investigating provincial police constables George Stevens and Charles Tutton that he had stopped his car to change a tire.

Priest Escapes

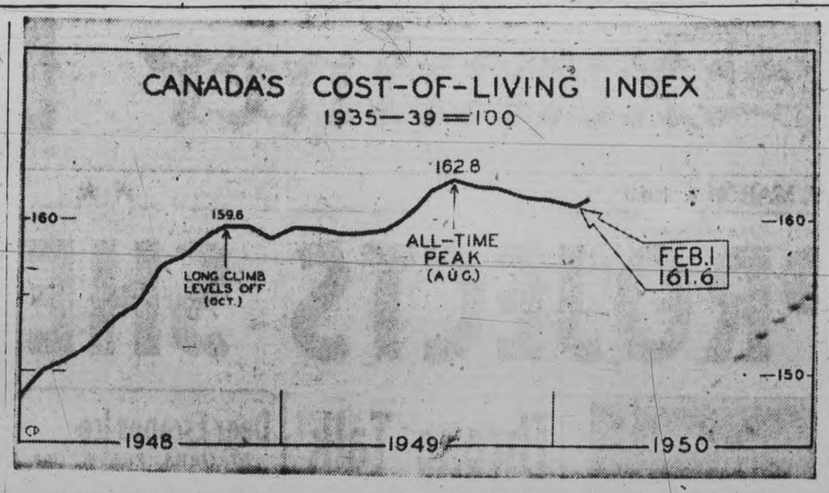
The Rev. J. V. Masterson, pastor of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Lakefield, narrowly escaped injury when his car ran into the ditch and turned over on Highway 36, approximately a mile and a half of the junction with Highway 28.

Damage to the car is estimated at $300.

Provincial Constables Charles Tutton and Fred Pollitt investigated.

Soft Shoulder

About $40 damage was caused to the car driven by Douglas Crocker, 16, Mark St., when it skidded off Highway 28, south of the Cavan turn.



He had turned out to pass a car ahead when his vehicle hit the soft shoulder of the road and skidded into the ditch coming to rest against a hydro pole. The pole was not damaged.

Crocker and his two passengers were shaken up but uninjured.

Provincial Constables R. Pope and T. Fitzpatrick investigated.

Cars of Roy A. Brooks, Frederick Ave., and Harold L. Legrow, Jr., Lock St., collided on the River Rd. shortly before 6 p.m. Legrow received a hurt left hand and wrist.

Provincial Constable Ed. Patterson and R. Healey investigated.

LIVING COSTS UP—Canada's cost-of-living index went up in January, the first increase in six months. Higher food costs in the first month of 1950 shoved the index to 161.6, up 3/5 of a point over the figure at Dec. 31, 1949. A long climb from the end of major price controls in 1946 reached an all-time peak of 162.8 in August, 1949.

Wage Squabble Cafe Man Pays

A police court squabble over wages, ended when Magistrate W R Philp, KC, ordered Hum Thomas, proprietor of the Paris Cafe, to pay Albert D. Barter, no fixed address, $14.50 which Barter claimed were owing to him.

Barter said he had worked seven weeks for Hum as a cook last fall at $16 a week and board. He testified he went back to work for Hum as a cook about Feb. 13, but had no agreement with him about payment of wages.

He said he worked a week and then got another job. He added that he ate some food following that which came to about $1.50. Deciding that his wages should be the same as last fall, he figured Hum owed him $14.50.

Let Him Stay

Hum took the stand to testify he had not hired Barter in any way in February and that he had let him stay around the building and sleep there because the man had nowhere else to go.

He said when Barter finally got a job with the CNR, he agreed to pay him $10 a week board. He added that the only work Barter had done the whole time he was there was to peel four 10-quart pails of potatoes.

Miner Reunited With Prize Dog

QUEBEC, March 6 —(CP)—A blue ribbon Doberman pinscher that spent three months in quarantine here was on its way today to meet its master, a Displaced Person who saved and scraped to save his pet from death.

The dog left here today by express for a reunion with Karel Moravec now a miner in Pamour in Northern Ontario. The Czechoslovakian prize-winning Doberman pinscher had been quarantined at the nearby Levis customs station since Dec. 5. The dog was shipped from Levis in a box with air holes.

Customs authorities said the dog was expected to meet its master at Timmins where the miner will travel from Pamour for the reunion.

Moravec saved $160 to bring the dog to Canada. Then he saved more money to obtain papers to prove the animal was purebred, one of the conditions for entry into the country.

Then when he learned he had to pay $300 for the pet's three-month detention in quarantine Moravec scraped up more money.

Some time ago Moravec wrote a letter in halting, unfamiliar English to a Toronto newspaper to say thanks for the help of 12 anonymous persons who contributed $47 for the dog's return to its master.

He called the gift "a great encourage for liking my new home 'Canada.'"

Queen Glitters At Parliament

LONDON, March 6 (AP) — The Queen made an impressive figure as she attended today's state opening of parliament.

She wore a crinoline gown of white satin, embroidered with gold thread and pearls. At the right side of the skirt was a large embroidered bow from which the embroidery spread across the skirt.

Her crown glittered with diamonds and platinum and her necklace and other jewels were of diamonds. The Queen wore the Order of the Garter beneath her crimson, gold and ermine robe of state.

Princess Elizabeth wore a gown of white satin, exquisitely embroidered with pale torquoise blue paillettes, whose color was matched by the tones of a blue underskirt revealed by a waist-to-hem slash in the front of the skirt.

Big Jump In Food Prices Increases Cost-of-Living

OTTAWA, March 6—(CP)—Housewives seeking an increase in their share of the family budget to cover grocery bills today have an official wedge to use against reluctant husbands—a rise in Canada's cost-of-living index.

Prices for a wide range of foods rose sharply in January to send the index climbing six-tenths of a point. It was the first increase in six months and halted a slow downward movement in the barometer of living costs from the peak of 162.8 in July, 1949.

At the end of January the index stood at 161.6 compared with 161.0, the Bureau of Statistics reported Saturday. The index is based on the estimate that '35-'39 prices equal 100 and the Bureau placed the increase from August, 1939, at 60.3 per cent.

The Canadian increase compared with a drop of 0.4 per cent in United States consumer prices from mid-December to mid-January. Food prices led the drop with a 0.7 decline.

Higher prices for such items as beef, lamb, eggs, oranges, and sugar were the main reason for the January index climb in this country. Among food stuffs only pork was shown as selling at a lower figure.

Food Sub-Index

The increases boosted the food sub-index up 1.9 points to 201.3, compared with 199.4 in December and the July peak of 209.2.

Higher domestic gas and electricity rates sent the fuel and lighting sub-index up three-tenths of a point to an all-time high of 135.9. The miscellaneous group, reflecting higher prices for gasoline, theatre tickets, and newspapers, also reached a new peak with a half-point climb from 131.6 to 132.1.

Slightly lower prices for men's and women's wear sent the clothing sub-index down three-tenths of a point to 183.0. Home furnishings and services slipped six-tenths of a point from 167.0 to 166.4 under the impetus of lower quotations for soap and dishes.

The final sub-index, rents, remained unchanged at an all-time high of 125.0 since a survey on rent is made only on a quarterly basis. The next estimate may not be included until the March index is issued.

sketchy one, touching only upon such legislation as might stir little conflict.

Discusses Atomic Energy

In fact, the speech laid most stress on such non-controversial material as the hope for achievement of a solution to the problem of atomic energy control.

The speech, prepared by the Cabinet and read by King George said the new government will do its utmost "to assist in finding a durable solution to the tremendous problem of atomic energy so that international agreement for adequate control and supervision of atomic energy may be secured.

Control of the production of atomic energy, the speech said, will be attempted through machinery of the United Nations.

Failure to make any reference whatever to nationalization, a program close to the heart of the Labor Party, seemed to reflect the party's desire to avoid controversial issues in the immediate future. But harmony will not be sought at the expense of the national well-being, the speech said.

Limited Program

There will be a limited program of legislation in view of the "heavy volume of financial business to be transacted," the speech explained.

"Nevertheless, should other measures prove in their (the government's) view to be immediately necessary for the maintenance of full employment and the national well being, my ministers will not hesitate to submit them to Parliament, even though they might seem likely to be contentious.'"

This was a warning to Winston Churchill's Conservative Opposition in the Commons that the government is setting a definite limt on the lengths to which it will go to avoid controversy.

The speech paid tribute to the "generous help" given Britain by the United Staes, Canada and other Commonwealth countries. It also praised the "sustained endeavor'" of the British people in increasing industrial and agricultural production.

Whole-hearted Support

The speech also contained a pledge that the "government will maintain their whole-hearted support of the organization for European economic co-operation through which it hoped to work out a new European payments scheme."

This passage might be especially significant since British opposition to proposed schemes for complete convertibility of European currencies has been strongly assailed by some observers.

The British, the speech said, "will play their part in the collaboration with other powers in sterngthening the common means of defence."

Summing up events in the international field, the speech said "formation of a federal German government has made possible the progressive transfer of responsibilities from the Western Allies to the Germans" and allowed "substantial reductions" in operation costs.

Turning to internal policies, the speech emphasized a need to expand British food production.

To Examine Law

The government promised to examine legislation to amend the leasehold law under which Britain's great land - holding families have maintained ownership of large sections of the country while giving 99-year leaseholds.

The wide scope which Britain hopes to maintain in mutual relations with the other countries of the Commonwealth was indicated in the speech's "welcome" of the opportunity for exchange of views provided by the recent Commonwealth foreign ministers' conference in Ceylon.

"In accordance with the recommendations of the meeting, my ministers look forward to co-operating with other Commonwealth governments in matters of common interest in South and South-East Asia," the speech said.

Maniac Rages

Bondolato, 25, police were on his trail. He came upon two young fathers, each with a baby carriage.

One was James Culhane, 28, a shoe salesman and the other was Kenneth Kennedy, 23, a Mohawk Indian and construction worker, who formerly lived in Quebec.

Shouting "Do you know me?" Jones plunged the knife into Kennedy's chest. The knife stuck. As Kennedy tried to stagger away, Jones followed and yanked the knife out of his chest.

Kennedy's five - month - old daughter was not molested.

The father was in critical condition in a hospital today.

On the Run

Jones, rearmed, returned to the spot where he had found the two fathers. But Culhane already was on the run, pushing his 15-month-old son.

Culhane heard a voice behind him—"Do you know me?" But he made it to his own house before Jones got within range. Four men were in a social club on the first floor, and Culhane called to them: "There's a madman out there."

But the madman had lost interest in Culhane by this time, and took a new course on his bloody route. He ripped Annilio Durso, 61, who died early today.

A few feet farther on, the slayer killed 46-year-old Frank St. George on the spot by plunging the knife into him time and again.

A block away, Jones met a friend, James Yearns, 20, a Negro, and slashed him on the wrist as he waved.

Doubling back on his route, Jones plunged his kife into John Gordon, 51, killing him, and wounded Jerome Sullivan, 51, so badly he died in a few minutes.

Professor Can Build Seaway In A Hurry

TORONTO, March 6 — (CP) — Prof. G. R. Lord, of the University of Toronto, and his helpers in the hydraulics laboratory, can build the St. Lawrence Waterway project in quick order once they get the word. They'll build it in detail, too—in one of the scale models for which the engineering department of the university is becoming famous. Prof. Lord is a son of Mrs. E. E. Lord, Dalhousie St., and was educated in Peterborough schools.

Just now Prof. Lord and his students and post-graduate workers have eight or 10 projects in hand. The laboratory works in co-operation with the Ontario Hydro Commission, the Ontario Research Foundation, with provincial and municipal bodies and power and lumber industries.

Apart from hydro projects most of their research at the moment is in design for the Contestoga Conservation Dam near Kitchener. Spillways and gates for a big flood control scheme are also being tested in the laboratory's tanks.

The models are constructed on a 1-60th scale and tested in tanks to which pumps can supply 9,000 gallons of water an hour. Some of the models on which they've worked take upwards of 400 square feet of floor space.

Industrials Continue To Hit High Ground

TORONTO, March 6 (CP). — Industrials continued breaking into new high ground as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Volume for the first three hours was 820,000 shares.

The industrial advance was generally held to fractions. Kelvinator of Canada broke out of the rut for a gain of 5¼ at a new high at 70. Distillers Seagram jumped into the limelight for a gain of $1 at $22 following a quarterly earnings report.

Low-priced mining stocks continued brisk traders, but leading issues weakened.

Base metals also eased on fractional losses in Quemont and Noranda. Consolidated Smelters was firm in early trading, but lost the advantage at the halfway mark.

Western oils brightened on a few penny gains.

Man of Many Secrets Cadogan To Retire Soon

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Mar. 6 — (CP) — A slight, soft-spoken diplomat, who probably knows more secrets of the international affairs than any one else, is preparing to retire.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, 65, has 42 years of British Goverment service behind him. As Britain's chief delegate to the United Nations he has nothing official to say about retirement plans. But he has told associates he expects to leave diplomacy soon.

While he has been in the limelight since his appointment to the UN post in 1946, Sir Alexander has spent the largest part of his career as a top adviser behind the scenes. He held the highest career post in the Foreign Ministry — permanent under-secretary for foreign affairs—during the crucial years of 1938-1946.

The first draft of the document which became known as the Atlantic Charter was written by Sir Alexander before Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt met at Argentia Bay, Nfld., to polish the document, associates say. Sir Alexander attended that meeting and all big allied wartime conferences except Casablanca.

Close Adviser

He has been a close adviser to Prime Minister Attlee as well as to Conservative Leader Winston Churchill. As a civil servant he has taken no active part in party politics, although his father, the fifth Earl of Cadogan, held several cabinet posts in Conservative governments.

With 10 years' experience as head of the League of Nations' section of the Foreign Office, Sir Alexander headed the British delegation to Dumbarton Oaks, where the foundation plans for UN were mapped.

In UN meetings, grey-haired Sir Alexander, who sports a brush moustache, state Britain's views quietly and incisively. Only rarely does he use sharp language to put an opponent in his place.

He never speaks at length. His passion for brevity and clarity once led him to threaten to take away all stenographers from British diplomats abroad unless they turned in shorter and better notes to the Foreign Office.

Sir Alexander has first-hand knowledge of China, which is causing the present UN crisis with the Russian walkout over Chinese representation. He was Britain's first ambassador to China in 1934.

Sir Alexander likes to relax by playing golf with his wife, the former Lady Theodosia Acheson, near their home on Long Island, N.Y. Their three daughters and one son are in England.

Single School System

MONTREAL, March 6 (CP) — A single public school system for the Province of Quebec where children of all creeds would "discuss the things of life together" was advocated Sunday by the Rev. Dr. C. Ritchie Bell, minister of Macvicar Memorial Presbyterian Church.

In addition to these channels, the CBC will use microwave frequencies in still higher bands to establish direct links from studio to transmitter and from mobile units to studio or transmitter or both.

Sends Out Warrant For Pair In Toronto

STURGEON FALLS, March 6 (CP)—Chief Constable John Lafleche said Sunday night that a warrant for arrest of Earl Duffy, 31, and Bert Armitage, 19, now held at Toronto, is being sent from here. Local police have been seeking the pair on a charge of theft of $300 from Forest Dagg of Sturgeon Falls while he was sleeping in a hotel last Dec. 23.

Both accused have previous records in Sturgeon Falls, said the chief. They were arrested at Toronto on charges of armed robbery, possessing burglar tools, and breaking and entering after Max Orgel, Toronto fight promoter, said he was beaten and robbed by the two men Friday night.

Gang Member Shot

DETROIT, March 6—(AP)—Johnny Gach, 34, an associate of former "Purple" gangsters, was shot and killed Sunday night by a shotgun blast. TRADE TALKS—These three men found a solution to a three-month trade controversy between the United States and Canada. But they refused to divulge the nature of the agreement over wheat. It will be presented to the International Wheat Council. Reaches Shore

FORT ERIE, March 6—(CP)—Norman E. House, 65-year-old Stevensville farmer, got back to shore safely Sunday after an ice break-up threatened him while fishing through the ice off Yacht Harbor. He was spotted trying to find a way around a crack in the ice. Game Overseer W. Roy Numa and Fishman Fletcher Teal headed a rescue party which guided House to firm ice by shouted directions.

Gets Small Turnout

COBOURG, March 6 (ENS) — Bitterly cold weather and the competition of other attractions on the same night, have had very bad effect on the ventures of two local service clubs, which were held at the new recreational centre.

On Friday night the Kinsmen Club carnival drew a disappointingly small crowd in spite of the fact that the program of figure skating staged by Oshawa Skating Club was an excellent one. The club, which has donated several thousand dollars to the recreational centre and has also contributed in a large financial way to junior hockey, was hoping to make some money on the carnival.

The small attendance recalled the hard luck the Rotarians had at their trade fair which was held at the recreational centre last December. On that occasion cold weather kept most of the people away and the trade fair suffered as a consequence.

An ironical angle to the Kinsmen carnival on Friday night was that when it was held some years ago at the old natural ice arena, the weather was so mild that the ice was too soft for the skating club to perform.

Operation Saves Baby

TORONTO, March 6—(CP)—A week-old baby Saturday survived a long, delicate operation to correct a congenital gullet stoppage. The infant was flown here from from Saskatoon Friday for treatment at the Hospital for Sick Children, the only Canadian hospital where such an operation has been performed. The stoppage, known as eosophagic atresia—division of the eosophagus or gullet—is said to cause death within 10 days unless corrected.

Jos. E. Bothwell Dies In Belleville, Mich.

He leaves his wife, two sisters and two brothers: Mrs. T. G. Size, Toronto; Mrs. W. L. White, North Monaghan; George of Millbrook and Harry of Cavan. Burial was in Belleville, Michigan, cemetery.

Identify 2nd Victim

MONTREAL, March 6—(CP)—A second victim of last Thursday's Chinatown fire here has been identified by morgue officials as Mrs. Ling Poy, a cook at the Lotus Garden cafe, when the $1,000,000 blaze broke out. The body of 66-year-old Ling Shu, killed when he jumped to the street from a third-floor window of the Lotus Garden hotel, also remained unclaimed at the morgue.

Impresario Killed

Ricci, one of Italy's oldest impresarios, was credited with having presented Gigli, the world famous tenor, to the public in Forli 46 years ago.

Fatality Toll Hits New Low

By The Canadian Press

The rifle-shot deaths of a 15-year-old Toronto boy and his 14-year-old "steady girl friend" were among four fatalities reported in Ontario during the week-end.

A Canadian Press survey showed that besides these deaths in Ontario, there were only two others in Eastern Canada and both occurred in Quebec.

Beverly Thurst, 14, and George Moore, 15, both of West York on the outskirts of Toronto, died in hospital early Saturday after each had suffered head wounds from a .22 calibre rifle.

Police believe the boy shot the girl and then committed suicide as the culmination of a "puppy love" quarrel.

Hendricus Van Der Laan was the only traffic victim in Ontario, he died as the result of injuries received when struck by an automobile at Port Credit.

The frozen body of Alfred Rollins, 41, was found in the house at Strathroy, Ont., where he lived alone. He was thought to have been dead for two or three days.

Andre Saindon, 50-year-old night watchman, was found dead at the bottom of a newly-opened elevator shaft at Quebec.

Albert Boissoneault, 44, wanted by police in connection with a Montreal stabbing, was killed by a train.

Three Found Dead

WATERBURY, Conn., March 6—(AP)—Three men were found dead in a gas-filled apartment here Sunday night. Dr. Harold C. Morrell, medical examiner, said death was caused by asphyxiation by illuminating gas from a kitchen stove.

Pretender Arrives

GENOA, Italy, March 6 (Reuters)—Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne, arrived here by sea Sunday night from Lisbon. His arrival heightened persistent rumors in political quarters here that he was to preside over a secret Spanish royalist meeting in Rome.

$10 Fee Will Be Charged Couples In Civil Marriages

TORONTO, March 6 (CP) — Details of Ontario's proposed new marriage act were disclosed Friday in the Legislature by Provincial Secretary Welch.

Provision for civil marriage is the highlight of the revised Statute, which was given first reading. It limits authorization for such marriages to judges and magistrates, excluding justices of the peace.

The bill allows such marriages to be carried out only in chambers or offices of the judiciary and between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

A $10 fee will be charged couples for civil marriage. The money goes to the government, thus providing it with a new source of income.

First Revision

It marks the first complete revision of the Marriage Act since 1921 and the first time provisions for civil marriages have been introduced on the floor of the Legislature.

Government officials say the revised act leaves nothing to inference and will be earier to administer and more readily understood by clergymen than present legislation.

One section provides that registration of clergymen be extended to permanent undenominational groups. At present registration is restricted to denominational groups and such established organizations as the Salvation Army.

Persons under the influence of narcotics are added to the section in which marriage of mentally ill or intoxicated persons is outlawed.

Heavy Penalties

Heavier penalties are provided for breaches of the act. For marrying mental defectives, the maximum penalty is a $500 fine and one year.

The definition of a church has been enlarged from that of a chapel or meeting house to that of a place of worship set aside for religious worship.

A partner to marriage may apply to the courts to have a spouse declared legally dead when that spouse has been missing seven years. The law would then allow the surviving partner to remarry without being liable to charges of bigamy should the "dead spouse reappear.

The three-day waiting period between issuance of the licence and marriage is retained.

Why do people grow old?

NO ONE KNOWS the complete answer to this vital question.

But, aided by financial support from more than fifty life insurance companies, an important study on the processes of aging is being carried on at Canadian medical institutions. Here significant discoveries have been made in recent years. And the day may come when further discoveries along these lines will help prolong life for all mankind.

This is only one of the medical projects in which the life insurance companies in Canada have a stake. Their financial aid is also helping science to win the war against infantile paralysis, heart diseases, cancer and tuberculosis . . . as well as promoting better nutrition and public health.

These, too, are long-range crusades. But, by increasing the number of skilled scientists working at these tasks . . . and by making it possible for many young "men and women in white" to get further training and experience . . . the financial contributions of life insurance companies help bring success sooner.

In all these ways, the life insurance companies in Canada help you to live a longer, healthier life!

A Helpful Citizen in your Community

When a life insurance representative sells you a policy, he also helps to improve your community. For a large part of each life insurance dollar is put to work, through investments, to build schools, bridges, highways, industrial plants and many other projects that create jobs and make for better living.

You share in these improvements, made possible through the efforts of your helpful fellow-citizen — the modern life underwriter!

Let 'Saturday Night' Show The Way

The Toronto weekly, Saturday Night (which intensely dislikes being called Toronto Saturday Night) snubs The Examiner because we have complained that the population of Peterborough is given in The Canadian Almanac as 25,300, although it is now 35,682. "We have no sympathy with The Examiner", says the Toronto paper (or is it now a magazine—or perhaps a digest?). "The practice of letting local newspapers like The Examiner, or even local authorities like the Peterborough Council, estimate their own population and plaster the results all over works of reference like The Canadian Almanac would be disastrous"

* * *

Our complaint was that the Almanac is using a 1941 population figure. If the Almanac is hitched to the census, let us have a new copy every ten years, and not every year. But luckily there is no need for the Almanac editors to depend on such questionable authority as that of this Peterborough paper or even of the Peterborough Council; Ontario has a Department of Municipal Affairs which will vouch for our figure, and we suppose that its corroboration will satisfy even Saturday Night. Other agencies trust its figures; we think that The Canadian Almanac could improve its usefulness and reliability by doing the same.

* * *

If Saturday Night is indifferent to the passing of time we suggest that it quote its 1941 circulation figures when soliciting advertising. When it does so we shall overlook a discrepancy of 10,000 or so in matters relating to the population of this city.

The H-Bomb's Effect Before Explosion

The announcement that the United States would procede with the manufacture of the hydrogen bomb produced a large crop of apprehension. Worried scientists, statesmen, clergymen, and others, have foreseen effects, before the explosion of this bomb, which range from the total destruction of cities, to the total depopulation of the world. They have contributed to confused thinking on the subject generally, and an excellent example of such thinking was contained in a recent announcement by the new chief of the United States Office of Civilian Defence, Dr. Paul Larsen.

* * *

Dr. Larsen declared that the United States government must be dispersed. He would leave nothing in Washington but the President, the Congress, and the Department of Defence—and these would be condemned to an underground life. The other departments of government would be scattered around the country, and most of them would be underground as well.

* * *

No details were given as to how Dr. Larsen expected the United States government to operate effectually and efficiently while so dispersed. He failed, for instance, to say how the government would get along with its Treasury hundreds of miles away. He specifically recommended, however, a course of action for the Vice-President. "I would recommend that Vice-President Alben Barkley stay out of Washington as much as possible", stated Dr. Larsen darkly. He may visualize a bombproof structure on the bed of the Grand Canyon for Mr. Barkley.

* * *

We have gathered the impression that Vice-President Barkley was managing to stay out of Washington most of the time, and doing it quite nicely. We are quite sure, however, that Mr. Barkley is not doing it because he is worried about some bomb of the future. Mr. Barkley's record as a level-headed politician makes it appear unlikely he would be a victim of of the confused and jittery thinking responsible for Dr. Larsen's impractical proposal.

Don't Be Tempted By Two Forms 'H'

Canadians travelling to the United States need American money. Most go for pleasure, and so fill in a Form 'H', which is an application for U.S. money up to $150. The catch is that a person may have only $150 all told in any one year. So if he gets $150 on a Form H, and later wants to travel across the border again, and to have more money, he is not legally entitled to more U.S. funds. However, if he did not apply for the whole sum of $150 in the first Form H, he may later fill in another Form H, and take out the remainder.

Some Canadians try to get away with more than their allotted $150, and think that after a lapse of a few months, they will come to no grief if they fill out a second form H for a second $150. Last year some of these hopefuls paid in fines and forfeitures $90,397. The Foreign Exchange Control Board officials have shown that they are not to be hoodwinked right and left. During the year 206 men and women were charged with offences under the Foreign Exchange Control Act, and all but five of them were convicted. Many of these cases had to do with persons applying for and getting more than the $150, by filling in several Forms H. One Toronto man made nine separate applications. There would have been nothing wrong with that had they totalled no more than $150. The offence was that he asked for and secured the full $150 each time. But the law caught up with him.

All sorts of devices are tried by people to evade the currency regulations. For instance, a man in Saskatchewan bought (illegally of course) U.S. currency from two other Canadians who had obtained their travel rations, and in addition he sent several U.S. money orders as advance remittances to himself in care of his brother-in-law in the United States. He was found out and fined. The Foreign Exchange Control Board lists on three or four pages, ludicrously ingenious attempts to get around the rules—cases varying from women smuggling five dollar bills in bodices and men with currency in their socks to businessmen pretending to buy race-horses, and getting the money for that purpose, but never showing up in Canada again with the race-horse. One enterprising woman operating an Ontario tourist home had her American visitors pay by U.S. cheque. She did not cash these cheques until she went to Florida, where she opened up a small bank account. The venture cost her $300 and costs.

So long as laws and regulations are an inconvenience, so long will some people try to break them. The present currency restrictions are irksome; the remedy is not to try to break them, but to so balance the Canadian economy that they will no longer be necessary.

City-County Hospital

We note with interest the financial arrangements for the new hospital now rising in Elgin County. A campaign for funds to equip and furnish the hospital has exceeded its $287,000 objective, and the sights have been raised now to $400,000, which officials consider the minimum required for the furnishings and equipment. The new St. Thomas- Elgin hospital is, apparently, like Peterborough's project in that it is a community effort, and has the good-will and warm support of the people. It differs in its method of capital financing. Unlike Peterborough's three and a half million dollar new hospital, which is called Peterborough Civic general hospital, the $2,200,000 St. Thomas-Elgin general hospital is a city-county project. The city of St. Thomas is accepting responsibility for sixty per cent. of the building and maintenance costs, the county of Elgin is paying forty per cent. The ratio of Peterborough city to Peterborough county support of the new Peterborough Civic is about 95 to 5.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Britain's war secretary, John Strachey, protests volubly that he is no longer in sympathy with Communism. Wasn't that what Dr. Karl Fuchs said?

People are said to move every 17 minutes as they sleep. This makes a number of our friends more lively asleep than awake.

A scientist says that a mouse will kill itself drinking whisky if given the chance. Thus increasing the confusion between man and mouse.

Carol Channing, a Broadway star, is quoted as saying: "If I had any more rights than I enjoy now I wouldn't know what to do with them. I'm a status quo girl myself". This is subversive stuff. It is contentment, and contentment leads to stagnation, and the fact that a little stagnation might give the tired old world a rest is of course intolerable

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

BY a strange irony the life of Handel has become cluttered with romantic legends. The story of him practising surreptitiously in the garret on a clavichord may have some basis in fact, but the episode of the "Harmonious Blacksmith" is a complete fabrication. The story that the Water Music was written as a peace-offering to George I appears to have no truth in it. It is true that Handel took French leave of Hanover in his youth, and eventually arrived in England to find that the King of Hanover had in the meantime become King of England, but there is no evidence to suggest that Handel was in bad odour at the court as a result of this. The oft-repeated story that Handel went bankrupt is also untrue. Certainly he was in grave financial difficulties more than once but, he recouped his fortunes by sheer stubbornness, hard work and showmanship. There is an interesting story concerning the origin of the custom of standing for the Hallelujah Chorus. When it was first performed for George II the monarch (they say) was so overcome by the majesty of the music that he rose spontaneously to his feet, and in obedience to etiquette his entourage and the whole audience followed suit. Another more malicious commentator has it that the King was enjoying a quiet nap; when startled out of his slumber by the first crashing chords he rose out of his seat to get his bearings. Far be it from me to pry into the workings of the royal mind, but the second explanation has not the ring of truth. It is typical of those mean and pettifogging minds who are always seeking to tarnish the glamour of the past by nasty little insinuations about the smells and squalor of former ages. As if the Minoans hadn't a word for sanitation!

◇ ◇ ◇

LEGENDS in their place are harmless enough, but when they assume the trappings of historical fact they can be deliberately misleading. The modern tendency toward writing films and musical comedies round the lives of a composers is pernicious in the extreme. The general public gets the idea that Franz Schubert died of mislaid spectacles and a broken heart, while Beethoven contracted deafness through listening to the voice of Nature in a thunderstorm. I was once inveigled into seeing a film purporting to be the life of Chopin. It was called "A Song to Remember"—so far as I was concerned it was A Song to Forget. Apart from the costumes and settings (which paradoxically enough are nearly always scrupulously accurate in films of this nature) everything else was so falsified, and deliberately falsified, that little if any of the real Chopin was left. There is no excuse for this sort of thing. Chopin's life is amply documented, and the details are readily available. The true story of his career is much more interesting than the sentimental hotch-potch served up in the film. Other composers have been treated in the same way, so I hear, and mangled hunks of their more hackneyed works dragged into the action. That is why I studiously avoid films of this type.

THE late James Agate, that Philistine with the equipment of an intellectual, as he was described, says in his published Diary, Ego 9 on January 14, 1946. "... It is in Mrs. Osa Johnson's 'Bride in the Solomons' that I find the final word on Boogie-Woogie. "It appears that if, in these islands, you want a native to bring you your saw you say, "You ketchum one fellah saw belong me." If the man is exceptionally stupid you have to explain to him that the saw is part of the hammer family. Wherefore you say, 'You ketchum one fellah, he brother belong hammer. You push him, he go; you pull him, he come.' Boogie-Woogie bears the same relation to music that the Solomon Islander's gibberish bears to English". Agate was a brilliant dramatic critic who made several forays into the adjacent country of musical criticism, where he was less at home, but in this instance he has hit the nail on the head with such skill that I cannot forbear quoting him to my readers and recommending them to read the Ego series of diaries.

AS the date for our own Music Festival approaches it is interesting to hear news from the Toronto Festival. The singers are winning golden opinions there to judge from a remark made by Alec Redshaw to the effect that the concert group, soprano class was the most outstanding class he had ever judged in any festival. A note of warning was sounded by John Sterling against forcing the talents of youngsters beyond reasonable limits. This reminded me of a remark made by Rae Robertson on his recent appearance in Peterborough. He said that he might have been exploited as a prodigy when he was a boy, but his parents very wisely resisted the temptation, for which he was sincerely grateful. The lot of the prodigy, like that of Gilbert's policeman, is "not a happy one". Poor little prodigy, he is unable to lead the normal life of a child of his own age. Compelled to keep late nights, dashing from one concert engagement to another, not even his earnings are his own, and he is exhibited like a performing animal. His regular studies, both musical and general, must inevitably suffer so long as he keeps up his manual dexterity at the keyboard. Small wonder that so many prodigies fizzle out when they attain maturity and the adroit technique which seemed extraordinary in a child is a commonplace amongst adults. Mozart was amongst the very few who survived this searching test and achieved greatness in his maturity, but his physique had been so undermined by being trotted round the capitals of Europe when he should have been playing marbles on the steps of Salzburg Cathedral that he fell an easy prey to typhus in the prime of life. It is heart-breaking to think of the masterpieces we might have had if Mozart had lived another twenty or thirty years. Right up to the time of his death his style had been developing, and there is no saying what direction his genius would have taken. It is a mystery that his worthy father Leopold, in all other respects such an ideal parent, should have entertained the idea of exhibiting him in city after city, but the outlook of an eighteenth century Austrian, however, conscientious, was very different from the outlook of a twentieth century Canadian parent.

◇ ◇ ◇

A FRIEND of mine, who has sung in local church choirs for years, bewails the pettiness and back-biting that so often goes on in these organizations. I am afraid I cannot quote all that he says on the subject, but he has evidently had some rather unpleasant experiences that one would hardly expect in a body connected with the church. Nevertheless such a state of affairs does exist in some choirs. In my experience the whole trouble can usually be traced down to two or three mischief-makers (usually neurotic or sadistic or slightly schizoid, or whatever the current psychological jargon is), who somehow or other contrive to sow discord amongst the great majority of decent peace-loving choristers. Once they are removed the whole tone of the choir alters, and a much more friendly atmosphere reigns. Of course it doesn't do to be too touchy oneself. If such-and-such a person ignores you it may well be because he or she is short-sighted, is bad at remembering faces, is extremely shy, or is worried about some personal or family problem. It is a confession of one's own inadequacy to jump to the conclusion that a studied insult has been offered. To know all is to pardon all.

British Fabrics At Paris Shows

By ALISON SETTLE

SIX months ago it was the Italians who were active in selling their fabrics to the Paris dress houses. This year it is the Greeks, who have brought unusual woollens, cottons and silks to Paris, mostly with slightly roughened surfaces. From Paris they are taking fabrics, as also Greek-made clothes, to tour America.

British fabrics and clothes have scored a quiet success of their own. In addition to British woollens and cottons, always acceptable in Paris, West Cumberland silks have sold well, together with nylons made by the same mills—and this in direct competition with Lyons. The success of this seemingly small effort must be gauged by the fact that it is in order to support the Lyons mills that the Paris couture is so heavily subsidised.

At the house of Paquin I was told: "What we call our typical dress-of-the season is made from a West Cumberland nylon. It is a cocktail dress which moulds the bust, envelops the shoulders in front but leaves the back bare while the skirt fullness is blown backwards as if in a very high wind. We have also other models in your North of England silks, in particular one of corn yellow, and another in a blend of blue and black".

Digby Morton's showing of British tailoring and fabrics at the Hotel Plaza-Athenee, a collection shown at the invitation of the Paris Couture Syndicate, was so successful that every model has been sold to American buyers, from his grey dust coat to cover summer dresses to his wedge-shaped suits with brief narrowing skirts. It was a delightful compliment that Mr. Christian Dior, leader of Paris dressmaking, sent a vast basket of flowers and fruit with his compliments on the opening morning of the show.

Never has Paris shown fewer gay accessories than this season. Even Hermes, displaying suits and dresses and notable for their good accessories, showed not a single handbag; it was noticeable that all models shown had important pockets. Nor was more than one model of new gloves shown in the display.

For richness of ideas, beauty of colouring and exquisite accessories the palm of the Paris collections goes to a small house, Lola Prusac by name, which has long been known to Parisiennes and Americans, but which has never until this season shown a formal collection. Chinese caps beautifully crochetted were featured by Lola Prusac; also brimmed hats for travel which draw up on a cord. Silver clips and clasps fasten neatly tailored suits worn over the finest hand crochetted blouses. Bright coloured summer dresses are worked with embroidery over lines of fine braid. White china beads embroidered on to minute edgings of crochet lace decorate revers and pockets in both a corn yellow and a string-toned linen.

Paris this year has had some of its greatest successes in its smallest and newest couture houses.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy; Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee. And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth.

And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and walk?

But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy), Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house. And he arose, and departed to his house. (Matt. 9: 2-7.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And John calling unto him two of his disciples sent them to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another?

When the men were come unto him, they said, John Baptist hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another? And in the same hour he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, and of evil spirits; and unto many that were blind he gave sight.

Then Jesus answering said unto them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard. (Luke 7: 19-22.)

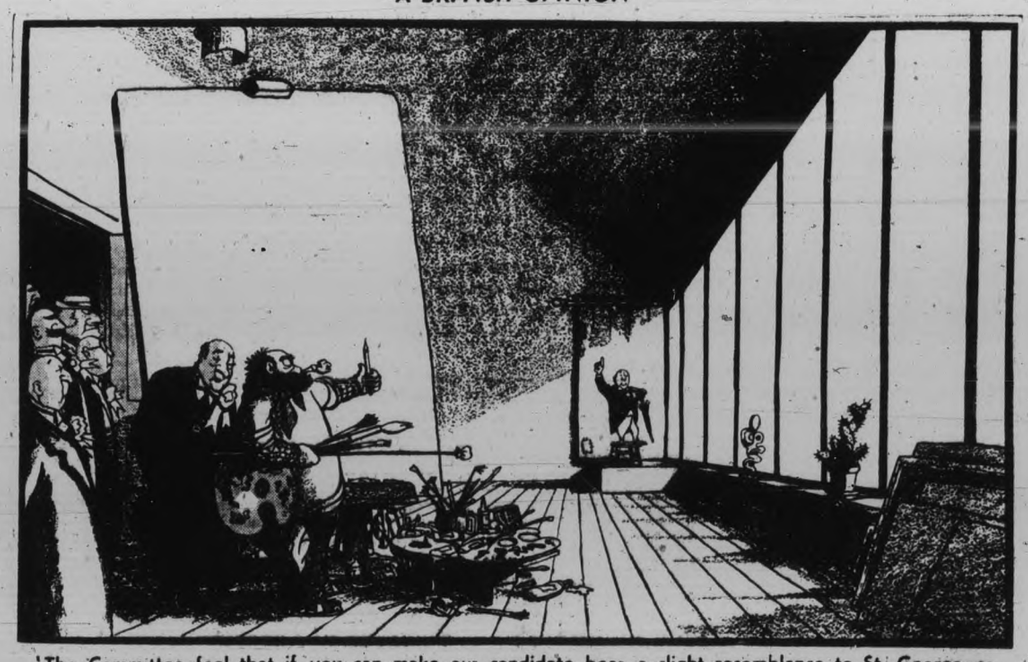
The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ. (Rom. 8: 16, 17.)



Letter To The Editor

APPROVES SANITORIUM FOR CITY

Sir: In your paper I read a letter about the old Civic Hospital for T.B. sanitorium. I agree with the writer that it would be an ideal place. There are many people who have loved ones in Sans across Canada and cannot get to see them but once or twice in six months or more with cost of living and living expenses of today. I agree with the writer that there would not be as many lonesome T.B. patients if they were able to see their friends and loved ones more often. I am mother of four children and have some one I love very much in Weston San who has been there for eight months and I have not seen her since she went away. Now if the San was in Peterborough for rest cure patients anyone could get a baby sitter for a few hours a day, but is very hard to get one while you go to Toronto or somewhere else across Canada. Now here is an opportunity for our City Council and citizens of Peterborough to put a building already erected to good use and make sick people happy at their own home town. Thanking you for your valuable space in your paper. Trusting the Civic Hospital will become ideal place for San. Thank you.

Canadian Film On Cancer To Be Premiered

NEW YORK, March 6 (CP)—A Canadian-produced fi... aimed at telling the public the latest facts on cancer research will have its premiere here March 13, it was announced Sunday night.

The 35-minute film, "Challenge —Science Against Cancer," was jointly sponsored by Canada's Health and Welfare Department and the United States Public Health Service.

GM Workers Vote 8-1 For Union Shop

DETROIT, March 6 (AP)—In the biggest election of its kind ever held, General Motors workers have voted nearly 8 to 1 for a union shop.

The National Labor Relations Board announced Saturday that 171,629 of G.M.'s 230,050 eligible employees approved a union shop. There were 21,950 opposed and 5,774 ballots were challenged.

The results cleared the way for the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) to bargain with General Motors for a union shop, one of its major demands this year. Negotiations will start in less than a month.

Spy Story 'Joke'

LONDON, March 6 (Reuters) — The only British woman sentenced to death for spying during the Second World War was released from prison a few days ago after confessing that her spy story was entire fabrication—"a huge joke" —the Sunday Express reported on Sunday. The woman, 52-year-old Mrs. Dorothy Pamela O'Grady, told her incredible story to The Express after her release. She had served nine years of a 14-year prison term after the death sentence was commuted. She said that being sentenced to death was the "greatest thrill" of her life.

Leaps To Death

LONDON, March 6—(Reuters) —Members of the crew of a Swiss transport told here Saturday night how a Yugoslav refugee leaped to his death from the aircraft taking him back to Zurich, after being refused entry into Britain at Northolt airport ,near London. The man, whose name was given at Nicholas Martinovich, jumped out of the plane Saturday as it flew at a height of 7,500 feet over St. Quentin in Northern France.

Held For Theft

TORONTO, March 6—(CP)— Toronto police Sunday night arrested William Vernon of Montreal, a former employee of the Toronto Club on Wellington St., on a charge of theft of a small painting missing from the club since last December. The painting was spotted by club members on a recent visit to a Montreal art gallery and police investigation resulted in the arrest.

Admiralty Ignorant

BERLIN, March 6—(AP)—The Soviet-licensed news agency said Sunday night the British Navy is training former German naval officers in specials schools at Cardiff, Wales, and Kiel-Mueritz, Germany. It said 60 former officers went to Cardiff for a course which opened three weeks ago, that 180 have attended courses in Kiel-Mueritz, with 165 more to start March 15. (In London, a spokesman said the admiralty knows nothing about it.)

Faces Robbery Charge

VANCOUVER, March 6 (CP)— Arnold (Shorty) Byers, arrested in a Toronto theatre Feb. 20 arrived in handcuffs Sunday and will appear in police court today to face a charge of robbery with violence. Detective Laurie McCullough of the Vancouver police department flew to Toronto Wednesday to pick up the 29-year-old easterner. Byers is charged with the Feb. 17 holdup of a suburban branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Need New Principles

TORONTO, March 6 (CP) — A new declaration by peace-loving countries of the principles of human freedom as outlined in the Atlantic Charter was urged by R. G. Cavell of Toronto, national chairman of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, at a weekend conference here. The conference attended by members of government departments and some foreign embassies was a preliminary to the 17th national conference of the Institute to be held at Kingston next June.

Baker's Son Guest Of Honor At Buckingham Palace Dinner

By GODFREY ANDERSON.

PARIS, March 6 — (AP). — A baker's son and a glassmaker's daughter will sit down to dinner as honored guests of King George and Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace this month.

The baker's son is Vincent Auriol, first President of the Fourth French Republic. The glassmaker's daughter is Michele Acouturier who, as Madame Auriol, is first lady of France.

Although the four-day state visit to Buckingham Palace will be the first Auriol has paid in an official capacity, he is no stranger to London. He escaped from occupied France to the British capital in October, 1943, and lived as a private citizen at a west-end hotel.

This time he will have to wear full evening dress all day. The rigid protocol which governs the lives of all French Presidents throughout their seven years of office requires them to wear tail coats, stiff shirts, wing collars, and white ties with the Red Ribbon of the Cordon of the Legion of Honor upon all state occasions. They even have to wear this in the morning for a formal breakfast.

Unsuitably Dressed

When President Auriol visited Algeria last June he was certainly the most unsuitably dressed man in Africa. For a whole week he trotted from place to place, changing wilted shirts and collars a dozen times a day.

However, the President has gained two slight victories over Jacques Dumaine, the Chief of Protocol, who accompanies him on all official trips. He generally refuses to wear the tall silk hat, which goes with his outfit, preferring to carry it in his hand with his pressed white gloves. He insists, too, on wearing his wrist watch instead of the pocket watch with heavy chain draped across his white waistcoat as the other Presidents have done.

3-Mill Boost In Tax Rate For Toronto

TORONTO, March 6—(CP)— A general increase of $3,800,000 in the civic budget over last year was announced by City Finance Commissioner Arthur Lascelles Saturday at conclusion of a special sitting of Board of Control. Based on last year's assessment rate this is estimated to mean an increase of just over three mills. Last year's tax rate was 30.5 mills.

Controller David Balfour said he would move in city council to increase the mayor's salary to $15,000 and aldermen's salaries to $2,000 but made no mention of an increase for controllers. The mayor at present is paid $12,500 and aldermen get $1,200.

The board took no action on Controller Leslie Saunders' suggestion that Assessment Commissioner A. B. J. Gray be given an increase from $10,00(to $12,000. Controller Saunders said such an increase should be made only if Mr. Gray assured council he would devote his full time to the city of Toronto.

After Mr. Gray said that he had to go to other municipalities to study individual building costs and types of buildings, but that this work was on his own time, Controller John Innes said the board had no right to tell Mr. Gray what he should do with his spare time. Final decision was deferred. The debate arose from a controversy last year over work done by Mr. Gray for the town of Timmins.

Detroit Police Dig In Cellar Can't Find Body

DETROIT, March 6 (AP)—Police Sunday tidied up the home of Mrs. Constance Moxley, 42, in suburban Wyandotte after digging in the cellar for clues of her missing "lonely hearts" bridegroom. They found nothing and abandoned the digging late Saturday.

Smarting under the jeers of Mrs. Moxley, police said they will look elsewhere for Guy J. Moxley, 41, of Texas, missing since March 23, 1949, when the Moxleys had been married three months.

Officials said thrice-married Mrs. Moxley failed to report her husband missing until five months had passed.

Mrs. Moxley went about her household chores as police crews with sledge hammers and picks dug into her basement.

"What are you digging for?" she joshed police. "You'll never find anything there."

WILL TEST NANJO SINGH —Dr. Len Hall, shown above, who takes on Nanjo Singh in the main bout at the Brock this Thursday. And what a clash this should be. Hall combines a rugged, roughouse style of grappling along with some smart scientific work, and will undoubtedly give Singh a real going-over. He has not lost a bout here to date and will possibly have the unusual experience of having the fans on his side. Singh is a downright dirty matman. He throws ethics to the wind and tosses everything but the kitchen sink at his opponents. It should be a rugged encounter. Two other matches will be announced tomorrow.

Tribute To R. Burns

By HERB MARTIN.

With the passing of Ralph Burns in St. Joseph's Hospital, Sunday, the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club lost one of its faithful members, one of long standing.

The late Mr. Burns was taken seriously ill quite suddenly about 10 days ago and for a while it seemed as if he would recover, but the end came on Sunday.

Ralph, as he was known by, was a keen bowler and a strong competitor. He could always be depended upon to give a good account of himself. He joined the lawn bowling club many years ago and was considered one of the best bowlers.

He was well known here, having been connected with R. Knox in the jewelry business. In bowling circles he was a familiar figure not only on local greens but on greens all over the eastern Ontario district.

He won many trophies, but probably the most outstanding achievement in his bowling career, was two or three years ago, when he piloted his rink to win the Oshawa Gold Cup.

He had a pleasant personality and had many friends. He will be greatly missed.

The sympathy of the club is extended to Mrs. Burns and two sons.

Marines Close In First With Torontos

Fouls cost Marines the first game of their intermediate basketball playdowns with Broadview YMCA Saturday night 43-38. The Peterborough quintet had made two terrific comebacks to take the lead but, near the end of the game, the Toronto cagers forged ahead on foul shots. The second game of the points-to-count series will be next Saturday in the Collegiate gym with the locals down five points.

Broadview opened with an all-out attack which gave them an early lead. Peterborough came back to lead only to have Broadview settle down and go ahead 23-17 at the half. The Marines took the offensive in the second half to tie the score. The lead was alternately taken by the teams until near the end when Broadview went in front on foul shots to win.

Marines played one of their most spirited games. Eddie Nicholls took scoring honors with 12 points while Ab Stewart had 11 and Warren Smith six. Joe Stewart was hot on intercention of Broadview's passes while Chum Gillespie and Gord Burns were standouts on the Outboards' defence.

A Good Squad

Broadview displayed a fine all-round squad, good on the defence and the offence. All the players were scoring threats. M. Philip, with 10 points, was their top scorer while D. Hardy was their most effective player as a passer and checker. He also took time out for seven points, two field goals and three foul shots.

Ray (Rocky) Kidd was banished from the game for five fouls while team-mate Al Stewart committed his fifth just at the end of the game. D. Hardy was next closest to leaving as he had four while A. Skidmore and Joe Stewart each had three fouls.

Broadview jumped to an early start in the first seven minutes as they drifted in long 20-foot shots to lead 10-0. The Marines found the floor strange and couldn't get their shots on. They started to roll for the next six minutes. Broadview settled down and managed to squeeze out a six-point lead at the half. Nicholls and Smith led a second comeback attack to start the second half. Marines caught up with the Broadview squad at 28-all. From there on the score alternated until a few minutes from the end. Broadview sank a series of foul shots.

Lineups:

Broadview YMCA—D. Hardy 7, D. Martin 4, M. Philip 10, E. Moores 6, A. Skidmore 3, B. Bergin 6, W. Hardy 7, R. May.

Outboard Marines—J. Stewart 3, J. Thorburn, A. Stewart 11, R. Kidd 2, H. Dibben, E. Nicholls 12, W. Smith 6, G. Burns 3, Gillespie 1, Griffin.

Canadian Skiers Win Nine Tilts At Banff

BANFF, Alta., March 6 (CP)—Canadians skiers won nine of 24 titles in the North American and Canadian ski championships which wound up Sunday.

In only one contest on Mount Norquay's steep slopes, however, did a Canadian win out over international competition. Andre Bertrand, 17-year-old Quebec City student at Laval University, won the Canadian downhill race from a field which included United States, Austrian and Dominion skiers for the best individual Canadian showing.

Noel Paul of Kimberley, B. C., won Canada's only North American title with a win in the Nordic combined, but there was no outside-Canada competition.

Simultaneously with his North American title, Paul also won the Canadian-Nordic combined title.

Peewee Playoffs

Playoffs will commence in the peewee section of the PMHA as soon as ice is available, Secretary Ted Naish of the peewee division reports. The final standing was:

	Won	Lost	Tied	Pts.
Black Hawks	5	0	0	10
Canadiens	3	2	0	6
Rangers	2	2	1	5
Maple Leafs	1	1	3	5
Red Wings	1	3	1	3
Boston	0	4	1	1

The Bruins defaulted two, while Leafs defeated Rangers 2-1 in a sudden-death game to make third place to decide playoff positions. It will be first and third, and second and fourth teams, in two of three, finals being best of three also.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Juvenile Oddfellows came through nicely at Civic Arena on Saturday aft, daubing the Meteors of Belleville with a 6-0 whitewash brush. That gave 'em the series 10-3 and sends them into the third OMHA juvenile "A" playdown round—having earlier rubbed out the Oshawa outfit. Batley went good in goal for Art Heal's lads, while Jensen, Ferguson, Pammett, Armstrong, Golaska were others who caught the eye, but the whole team clicked in fine fashion. Seven of the eight penalties came in the third as it got a bit rougher after speedy, clean going till then. Good stuff.

* * * * * *

Wally Bent's bantam Optimists are out of the playdowns, sad to say. They lost a toughie to Oshawa and launched a protest over the Motor City goalie wearing a baseball glove. Referee Doug Love of Oshawa, who handled the game here, agreed that it was against the written rules. However, neither he nor the local club did anything at the time, just let the protest go through. Word from Jack Christie of the OMHA on Saturday was that the protest was tossed out, as the time to check the infringement in this case was at the game in question. A pretty technical angle, we'd say, but that's the final word.

Legion Off To Wars

Jim Ellis' Legionnaires are off this afternoon for the Jock Harty Arena—run by Queen's—in Kingston. And on that whopping big ice surface they'll tackle the Nylons in the third of their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group finals. Each team has won one, and Nylons had their 21-game undefeated string snapped here on Friday in the best senior scrap seen in Peter Robinson's borough this semester. It should be a swell series before one proceeds into provincial playdowns and the other hangs 'em up. Next one here will be Wednesday, and then away to Kingston again Friday.

* * * * * *

No question about it, Legionnaires looked good in fashioning that 7-4 win here Friday, coming from back of a 4-2 count to do it. And scoring four goals without a return in the third. Their old fighting style of last season when they won a provincial title. We're not discounting the classy Kingston crew yet, by any means, and they may keep winning at home. But we don't think they'll win again in Peterborough. Thus, if Legion can win one game in the Limestone City, we feel positive that they'll take the group championship. But everyone will have a better idea of it by this week-end.

School Hockey Ready

Secretary James S. Weir of the Public School Hockey League has the standings in tonight, the senior and junior schedules being finished and the intermediate section almost completed. The various playoff setups are listed, showing sudden-death semi-finals Wednesday in senior, Thursday in junior and on Friday in intermediate. Remaining scheduled intermediate games are dated, and it is pointed out that referees for all playoffs will be named by the coaches concerned. The playoffs should be hot stuff as the boys battle it out on ice for annual puck titles. Yes, indeed.

Toronto Broadview "Y" yanked out a 43-38 win o'er Outboard Marines in Toronto on Saturday to open their two-game OABA playdown series. Marines, down five points, hope to sweep the series at the Collegiate next Saturday night. Foul shots decided the initial encounter. At Bowmanville, PCVS seniors rolled to a 50-30 victory while PCVS junior "A" cagers took a 23-19 win to open their COSSA semi-final sawoffs, return ones being Friday in the Collegiate. Our bantam PCI-ers play in Oshawa tomorrow for the district title, this team not continuing in COSSA play. YW girls resume playoffs next Friday, and PCVS girls are in playdown action this week-end, also.

Roseneath Wins

ROSENEATH, March 6 (ENS) —Roseneath bantams won a victory over Hastings 4-3, after playing 10 minutes overtime at the local arena on Friday.

Roger Crowe got a goal in the second. In the 10-minute overtime play, Crowe scored another goal assisted by John Selfe.

Bernard Lynch notched a goal for Hastings in the first assisted by Sam Ryder. Radford counted a goal for Hastings in the second. Radford scored one more goal in the third period assisted by Gary Dodd.

Teams:

Roseneath—Garth Waldie, John Selfe, Gerald Adams, Grant Waldie, Donald Towns, George Linton, Ken Marsden, Roger Crowe, Beverly Robins, Theodore McCracken and Ross Derry.

PCVS Hoopsters Take Pair In Semi-Finals

Bev Goulding's lads took a half step towards the COSSA finals in Toronto March 18 when the seniors trampled Bowmanville seniors 50-30 and the junior A's edged Bowmanville 23-19. These games were the first of two-games series points-to-count for the Lakeshore championships and the right to enter the Central Ontario championship play. The return games will be played in the Collegiate gym Friday night.

The senior quintet were hitting the hemp in the style which won the Dominion juvenile championship last year. Doing so, starry guard Harold Grafstein may be lost to the PCVS cagers for the next game. During the game an old football knee injury forced him from the game.

Al Northcott with 11 points and Neil Thompson with 10 points were the leading scorers for the seniors. Carl Sergeant flipped in eight points and Pete Bailey seven. Gallagher was the top scorer for the evening as he led Bowmanville in the second half with 14. In the first half Gallagher had seven points for a total of 21. Frank had five points.

Out of 60 field attempts the seniors drifted in 19, eight in the first and 11 in the second half. Bowmanville only cashed in on four shots in the first and eight in the second. The seniors shot in 12 out of 20 foul attempts while Bowmanville made six out of 18.

Close Checking

In the junior fray few attempts were made for field goals due to the close-checking. The scoring was well spread in the first half for Peterborough as they took an 8-7 lead. Ash, McIlraith and Hempstead were big guns for the locals in the second as they outscored Bowmanville 15-12. Taylor and Stutt were the last-half pointers for Bowmanville.

Taylor led the scorers with eight points while Bowmanville team-mates Dadson had six and Stutt four. McIlraith was good for six points for PCVS. The Collegians made four field attempts in the first half and seven in the last to outdo the Bowmanville boys who had three in the first and six in the second. Peterborough was poor on the foul shooting, getting one point in eight shots while Bowmanville had one in four.

Linups, junior game:

PCVS—Sha 4, Brown 2, Cunningham 2, Fowler, Doighty 3, Fortner, Grafstein, Hempstead 4, Hendren, Langhorne, McIlraith 6, Stewart 2.

Bowmanville—Dadson 6, Stutt 5, Stainton, Taylor 8, Hockin, Kelley, Maguire, Murdock, Bate, Piner, DeGeer, Buchan.

Senior game:

PCVS—Ackford 5, Armstrong Bailey, Cranfield 1, Grafstein 1, Hall 3, Northcott 11, Robinson, Sergeant 8, Taylor, Thompson 10, Young 4.

Bowmanville — Gallagher 21, Hills 2, Frank 5, Coombes, Mohun, Jones 2, Piper, Stainton, White.

Indians Victorious Against Napanee

LAKEFIELD, March 6 (ENS)—Though Lakefield Indians trounced Napanee 14-2 here Friday to open their OHA intermediate 'B' playdowns, the club suffered a serious loss when Ernie Nicholls had an ankle fractured in the first period. He will be out of action for the balance of the season.

After Clark scored from Holmes for Napanee in the first, Percy Nicholls got two, Ernie Nicholls one and Hunter one for Indians, Blewett getting two assists, and Henry and Jopling one each. In the second, Percy Nicholls scored three times, with Blewett, Hunter and Faucett counting one each, Burton helping on three. Barker got the other Napanee goal from Fish. Percy Nicholls again clicked for two in the third, as Peloquin and Fawcett hit the mark once each, the latter, Henry, Hunter and Jopling each helping once.

Teams:

Napanee: Goal, Anstett; defence, Jones, Perry; centre, Bombough; wings, Fisher, Barker; alternates, Fish, Burroughs, Huffman, Holmes, Thompson, McPherson, Clark.

Lakefield: Goal, Acheson; defence, C. Wasson, Jopling; centre, E. Nicholls; wings, Hunter, Blewett; alternates, Peloquin, P. Nicholls, Henry, Chittick, Fawcett, Marshall, Burton, Payne.

Ramblers And Flyers Picking Up Ground

By The Canadian Press.

Both New Haven Ramblers and St. Louis Flyers picked up ground during the weekend in the battle for playoff position in the American Hockey League. The Ramblers came up with a pair of decisions over the lowly Hershey Bears by scores of 4-2 and 7-2. They now trail the eastern division third-place Providence Reds by only a single point.

Meanwhile in the western section, the fourth-place Flyers are two points away from the last playoff position currently held by Pittsburgh Hornets. They defeated Providence 8-5 Saturday and downed Buffalo Bisons 3-2 on Sunday.

Meteors Rubbed Out, 10-3 As IOOF Juves Take Round

Art Heal's peppy Oddfellows decisively eliminated Belleville Meteors 6-0 Saturday at Civic Arena to win the round 10-3 and continue their triumphant playoff march in the OMHA juvenile "A" class. Their next opposition is unnamed, as yet.

Led by Bus Jensen, Doug Ferguson, Roy Armstrong, Ab Buckton, Ken Parmnett and Gus Goloska, the entire squad played in true razzle-dazzle style to outmaneouvre their rivals at every turn, dominate the play most of the way and subdue their game—if outclassed—opponents in convincing style.

Took The Lead

Peterborough led 2-0 to end the first and the round 6-3, on goals by Goloska and Ferguson, assisted by Shearer and Pammett respectively, while Jensen from Bigford, in the sole marker of the second stanza, gave the locals a pretty safe margin in the third as Goloska clicked again from Jensen, Bacon from Robinson, while Armstrong, who played a smart game, registered on a neat solo effort, to wind up the scoring.

Most Effective

Doug Hull, Ron Lupenette and Bill Nolan proved the most effective line for Meteors in the fast going and only smart work by Batley kept this trio off the score sheet while the first line of Barrett, Whalen and Carey also had its moments. Lally, Allen and Doran formed a dangerous trio with the last-named turning in the kind of game usually expected of their stirling performers.

Meteors' defence foursome of Muirhead, Milligan, Elliot and Bland deserve mention for fine work with Milligan very dangerous on the attack. Eight penalties in all were handed out by Referee Vern Goyer who handled the play well with Dick Ouimet, Peterborough's efficient linesman. Seven sins were committed in the third chapter as the boys warmed the penalty seat frozen by one sole misuse to Muirhead in the first chukker, and a spotless second. Most infractions however were of a minor character as the game was cleanly contested though rugged in spots. In the final, play reached its roughest point and culminated in the gating of Bigford and Shearer for roughing.

Belleville — Goal, Schneider; defence, Milligan, Muirhead; centre, Barrett; wings, Carey, Whalen; alternates, Allen, Lally, Doran, Hull, Lupinette, Nolan, Elliott, Bland.

Peterborough — Goal, Batley; defence, Bigford, Armstrong; centre, Pammett; wings, Buckton, Ferguson; alternates, Jensen, Floyd, Goloska, Robinson, Bacon, Collins, Shearer, Kimball.

Referee, Vern Goyer, Belleville; linesman, Dick Ouimet, Peterborough.

Marlies Drop 6-1 Decision To Spitfires

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Marlboros and Hamilton Tigers aren't singing the gentle strains of "Home Sweet Home" after their efforts on Saturday.

Toronto's Junior A Marlboros, even with the support of over 13,000 fans at Maple Leaf Gardens, dropped a 6-1 decision to Windsor Spitfires to fall behind, one game to three, in their Ontario Hockey Association best-of-seven semi-final series.

At Hamilton, a jammed arena of Bengal supporters failed to root their team into the Senior A finals as the Tigers came out on the short end of a 4-1 count with Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen to end their activity for this season. With their fifth victory in the 12-game round-robin series, the Dutchmen now advance to a best-of-seven final against Toronto Marlboros.

Hap Emms had accused his Barrie charges of being a bunch of "homers" after they dropped two quarter-final games to St. Michael's after winning two on Barrie ice.

Lends Weight

Saturday night's 5-0 loss to Guelph Biltmores in the opening game of their best-of-five semi-final would appear to lend weight to Emms' opinion. Barrie have yet to win a playoff game on foreign ice.

In winning their fifth game against three losses Kitchener-Waterloo came out on top of the senior round-robin circus. Marlboros compiled an even break of 4-4 while the Tigers trailed the field with a 3-5 record.

At that, the Dutchmen were outplayed for two periods, counting all their goals in the final frame after crafty Hamilton defenceman Bobby Laurent gave the Tigers a 1-0 lead in the first period.

Mike Dzuira rapped in two markers in the third frame while Harvey Jacklin and Jack Shewchuk collared the others.

Lanky Glen Skov was the big man for Windsor. Counting three times, the clever winger was always dangerous as the Spits played Marlboros dizzy for almost 60 minutes.

A 2-0 lead in the opening session was the blow that softened the homesters, Windsor added one in the second and closed out with a 2-1 margin in the final frame.

Earl Reibel, record-setting junior scorer with 129 regular season points, nicked one goal and three assists while Jack Bailey and Bob Rawlyk got the others.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

The mile bicycle record held by Torchy Peden of Victoria was bettered at Los Angeles 15 years ago today by Frank Bartell, bewhiskered Czechoslovakian, who skimmed around a track at 80.584 miles an hour, four miles an hour better than the Canadian redhead's mark.

Get 2 Smashing Victories As Bruins Come To Life

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Weston Adams, president of the Boston Bruins, must have found some atomic beans for his National Hockey League team. They've taken a new lease on life.

Two smashing victories during the week-end kept alive Boston's slim mathematical hope of reaching the Stanley Cup play-offs, after almost everyone except Adams had given up the Bruins' chances.

The Bruins walloped New York Rangers 5-1 Saturday, then ran up their biggest score of the season in overwhelming Chicago Black Hawks 11-4 Sunday night. Boston is still eight points behind New York, with only nine games to go. New York has 10 left.

Toronto Maple Leafs edged the leading Detroit Red Wings 3-2 on Saturday and New York Rangers beat Leafs 5-2 on Sunday.

Only 9,845 fans, far below Boston Garden capacity of 13,900, saw the big Bruin scoring spree Sunday night. Bud Poile, Woody Dumart and rookie Phil Maloney each scored two goals, captain Milt Schmidt celebrated his 32nd birthday with a goal and an assist, and other goals were notched by Bill Quackenbush, Kenny Smith, Moe Henderson and Paul Ronty.

Bert Olmstead scored two for Rangers, Bep Guidolin and Bill Mosienko getting the others.

Turn On Heat

In the Saturday night clash Rangers and Bruins were tied 1-1 until Bruins drove for four goals in the final frame. Don Raleigh scored for Rangers and Woody Dumart tied it up. Then Ed Kryzanowski, Fern Flaman, Ed Harrison and Johnny Peirson counted for Boston.

In the Toronto-Detroit game the winning goal was scored by slippery Max Bentley near the nine-minute mark of the final period. It was the 20th goal of the season for the great little forward from Delisle, Sask., and he'd been trying for a month to get it.

Captain Ted Kennedy and Cal Gardner scored the other Leaf goals, with Gerry Couture and Ted Lindsay scoring for Detroit.

Bill Ezinicki of Leafs had a nostril pierced when accidentally struck by Sid Abel's skate and required about 10 stitches. Ted Lindsay also required treatment for a cut with a high stick from Gardner, but both returned to action.

At New York Sunday night the Leafs tried hard in their bid to close the gap separating them from first place, but Rangers were too much for them. Twelve penalties were evenly divided, with Ezinicki collecting a five-minute major and two minors.

TCA Now Flies 16,000 Miles Per Day

Trans Canada Air Lines, now sixth largest in the world, in 1949 flew more than 690,000 miles on its various air routes.

H. D. Harling, travelling traffic representative for TCA, cited these statistics Saturday noon when he was guest speaker at the Peterborough branch of the Associated Canadian Travellers.

A nationally-owned corporation TCA now flies routes totalling more than 16,000 miles a day, has some 50 aircraft and 6000 employees. The 690,000 revenue passengers flown in 1949 was a 23 per cent increase over the previous year, and the rate of expansion and service is continuing, Mr. Harling said.

"What could be better evidence of public confidence in TCA?" he asked.

First Flight In 1937

First commercial flight was made in 1937 between Vancouver and Seattle, a distance of 122 miles. At that time TCA had only 70 employees and two aircraft. In 1949 more than 3,900,000 ton miles were fown.

Air travel is no longer unusual said Mr. Harling who said that more than 25,000,000 people reached their destinations by this medium in 1949. Of these 16,500,000 were on United States carriers. And in Europe alone some 25,000 people travel by air every day.

When Charles A. Lindbergh made his successful flight across the Atlantic in the '20s he was considered a hero, Mr. Harling pointed out; yet in 1949 some 300,000 travelled across the ocean on commercial airlines.

Thirty one cities and six major cities in the United States are served by TCA, he said. In Canada, using the North Star Skylines a passenger can go from Vancouver to Montreal in 14 hours, and Toronto to Winnipeg in four hours.

Flight from Montreal to London is completed in 16 hours. Other flight times: Jamaica nine hours, Barbadoes and Trinidad, 15 and 17 hours, respectively, Nassau in the Bahamas, six hours, and Bermuda in less than five hours.

Mr. Harling illustrated his address with a 20-minute technicolor film on TCA travel.

Winners of the day prizes were John Madden, Norton Buell and Tom Mason, President Ed O'Brien was in the chair.

Cobourg Man Guilty Grocery Break-in

On his plea of guilty to a charge of breaking and entry and attempted theft, Edward Jacobs, Cobourg, was remanded for sentence to Thursday by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in Police Court today.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked that the man be remanded until his record, if any, could be found.

Constable Harold Mesley testified he had been dispatched to investigate a disturbance at the rear of McCormick's Grocery store, 877 Water Street, about 12:05 a.m. March 1.

At the rear of the building the lights of the cruiser picked up Jacobs floundering in the snow.

Constable Mesley said a rear window of the grocery store was broken, but Jacobs had apparently not gone into the building. He said Jacobs had been drinking.

Jacobs said he remembered nothing of the affair because he was drunk at the time. He said he had been working north of Bridgenorth and had come into the city that day to buy some liquor.

Dog Rushes Spring

Another tale to be added to the many strange happenings which have been recorded from time to time during the unseasonal winter weather occurred today. Looking out of her window this morning, Mrs. Morgan Cullen, Springville, saw her spaniel happily sporting with a ground hog.

The dog had the hibernating animal out of his winter home and on the lawn—a fairly common sight in the summer, Mrs. Cullen says, but a rarity in March.

Contract Talks Commence With CGE-UE

As the negotiating committee of Local 524 UE today joined the other CGE locals in Toronto bargaining for a new contract, T. P. Davies, president, called on the more than 3,000 Peterborough production workers to show their solidarity.

"The main concern of CGE workers now is to complete negotiations for a contract with the company and thus reach stability and sound bargaining relations," he said.

This followed the unanimous adoption of a long resolution presented Sunday to a membership meeting which UE officials estimated was attended by about 500 CGE workers.

The resolution spoke of the last four months of the inter-union fight in Peterborough as "painful" and added: "red-baiting, the weapon of division, was the sole contribution of the raiding and disruptive forces."

Further the resolution held that the decision of the Ontario Labor Relations Board in rejecting the application of the IUE to become the bargaining agent at the plant left the way open for a renewal of contract links.

"With the dismissal of this application, and with no excuse left to hold off negotiations, the CGE has now agreed to resume joint negotiations with the Toronto and Peterborough plants as of Monday, March 6."

Cobourg, which chose the IUE as its bargaining unit, is not included in the UE-GE Joint Negotiating Committee now discussing amendments to the present contract.

Mr. Davies, who is heading the Peterborough committee in the Toronto talks branded the IUE's application to the OLRB as a "hoax," and elaborated by saying "John G. Morton and his few followers had fooled approximately 25 per cent of the CGE workers."

And he maintained that most of this support had disappeared "when the workers learned the facts as they came out at the OLRB hearings."

He said that union officials were not sure what the new Ontario labor regulations would contain but it would be "against practice and logic" for the OLRB to entertain another application from the IUE within a year.

PCVS Actors Win Honors Kingston Drama Festival

Present and former students of PCVS won the highest honors in the Eastern Ontario Secondary Schools Drama Festival at Queen's University Saturday. Miss Bessie Jeanette Matchett, 610 George St., died Sunday in a Peterborough hospital. She was a registered nurse, graduating from the Belleville General Hospital. Miss Matchett was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and was an interested member of the WMS and Ladies' Aid of the church.

A. Herbert Cox Financier Dies In Toronto

Alfred Herbert Cox, 65, director of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, died in his sleep early Saturday at his home in Toronto.

Mr. Cox was a son of Aaron Cox and his wife Emma Pearce, and was born and educated in Peterborough. The home with its grounds occupied Trinity United Church block, facing on Scott St., to the north. The coach entrance was virtually an extension of Simcoe St., a long road of fine gravel, with parallel flower beds on either side, including rows of pink roses extending from the gate at the sidewalk to the residence.

Mr. Cox attended South Central School and the old Collegiate Institute, opposite Victoria Park, and became a junior clerk with Central Canada Loan and Savings Co. in 1899 when he first went to Toronto. In 1905 he joined Provident Investment Co. as a bookkeeper. The following year he was appointed secretary of the company, became managing director five years later, and in 1925 president, continuing in that office until his death.

He also became a director of Central Canada Loan and Savings Co. and of Toronto Savings and Loan Co. He organized and was president of the Cox Construction Company which carried out many building projects in Toronto and elsewhere from Halifax to Sudbury. Savarin Hotel on Bay St. was one of its works. Glen Manor residential development in east Toronto was another.

Pioneer Settlers

Members of the Cox family have related that a branch of it was transferred to Peterborough from Grafton 150 years ago, in the pioneer stage of the settlement of this area.

Mr. Cox leaves his widow who was Clara E. Foley, daughter Mrs. M. T. Beardmore, and sons, Alfred, Gordon and Harold. The funeral took place this afternoon to Mount Hope Cemetery.

Mr. Cox was executor of the estate of his first cousin, Herbert C. Cox, son of Senator Cox, and 14 years president of Canada Life Assurance Company.

Mr. Justice Wells ruled in the Supreme Court of Ontario in January that his $700,00 charitable endowment by Herbert Cox and his wife for employees of Canada Life was a valid bequest.

Herbert Cox died at his Oakville estate in 1947, succeeded in death by his wife in 1948. Total value of their estate was $1,350,000.

REPRIEVE FOR COLLIE

The life of a handsome, female collie, depends on somebody reading this and recognizing the description of his lost dog. For more than a week now Mrs. Eldon Sisson of 49 Spencely's Lane has been feeding and caring for the collie which is predominantly black with tan and white markings. Unless the owner claims it today Mrs. Sisson feels she will have to turn it over to the Humane Society. Although a lover of animals herself Mrs. Sisson does not want to keep the pet. She has inquired of her neighbors and also advertised but so far has been unable to locate the owner. Today she feels is the "deadline."

St. Laurent Visit May 20? Plans Pending

The Prime Minister of Canada, Right Hon. Louis St. Laurent, may visit Peterborough Saturday, May 20, for one of the events of the city's celebration of centennial year.

That information was received Friday by the special co-ordinating committee appointed by the council with Wm. G. Ovens chairman.

At the outset of general planning of affairs for this year of the 100th anniversary of Peterborough's municipal incorporation it was hoped that Hon. Mr. St. Laurent might be able to arrange for an earlier date, preferably in March. Parliamentary work and other engagements prevented the Prime Minister from accepting the city's invitation this month. Correspondence was suspended at that point, but the May date has been proposed by him as the earliest occasion on which he could come to Peterborough.

Mr. R. J. Bolton, Mayor Swanston and Mr. Ovens were the only members of the committee present Friday. Personal matters had intervened on the time of the others. Acceptance of the Prime Minister's suggestion was recommended, and it is likely that another meeting of the committee will be called for this week to begin planning details of a program for May 20.

Civic Hospital Ready?

It was intimated that the official opening of Peterborough Civic Hospital may be conveniently advanced to that date. It is also proposed that Premier Leslie Frost also be invited for this event which is intended to be the main civic feature of the extended celebration.

200 Canvassers $8,000 First Day

Two hundred canvassers for the Red Cross and Community Chest Fund are now busy making the most intensive drive of the year for donations towards the $75,000 objective which must be raised before Friday night.

A few canvassers have already turned in sums from week-end collections amounting to a total of $8,000. Today was the first week day of the drive and receipts will probably come in quicker after two or three days.

A great deal of the canvassing is being done in industrial plants, business offices and other places of employment, but calls are also being made at houses where it is not expected the occupants are reached through other channels.

Pupils Contribute

Today and every day until Friday, the children's donations will be collected from the schools.

"It is too early yet to tell how things are going," Mrs. S. J. Black in charge of the fund office during the campaign, said this morning. "Although we have only $8,000 so far, more has been collected, but all team captains did not turn their money in before noon today.

Baby Boy Born In Panel Truck

LINDSAY, March 6—(CP)—Albert Buchanan, Eagle Lake baker, is puzzled about this age of speed.

Remindful of the fact that he had lost a race with the stork a few years ago, Buchanan bundled his wife into a panel truck and started on the 10-mile trip to the Red Cross Outpost hospital at Haliburton.

A couple of miles from Haliburton the stork overtook the Buchanans.

Despite the unceremonious arrival at the hospital, mother and son were none the worse from the speedy trip.

Grieg Piano Concerto With St. Paul's Organ

Christopher Gledhill's periodic organ recitals after evening services at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church which have been pleasing discriminating ears during the last year took an interesting avenue Sunday evening. Mr. Gledhill at the organ and Mrs. Mildred Hubbel at the piano played in its entirety the Grieg A Minor concerto. Mr. Gledhill adapted for the occasion the Percy Grainger piano arrangement.

It was a notable tour de force, and the difficulties of tempo coordination betwen an upright piano and the massive St. Paul's organ were handled with dispatch. Mrs. Hubbel played with accomplished assurance. The organ registrations were remarkably interesting and gave the themes effective exposition, the orchestration unaccustomed colour.

NEW ST. JOSEPH NUMBER

To accommodate the patients in the new wing of St. Joseph's Hospital a larger switchboard has been installed by the Bell Telephone Company. This has resulted in a change in St. Joseph's telephone number. The new number is 2,3471, effective Tuesday.

RALPH GARFIELD BURNS, 55, of 589 Aylmer St., died on Sunday in hospital following a short illness. An elder of George Street United Church, Mr. Burns was a well-known watchmaker in the city for the past 18 years.

Ralph G. Burns Watchmaker Dies Suddenly

A well-known watchmaker in Peterborough for the past 18 years, Ralph Garfield Burns of 589 Aylmer St., died on Sunday in hospital following a very short illness. He was 55 years old. Born in Picton son of the late Samuel Burns and Matilda Shaw, he worked at watch-making in both Picton and Moose Jaw before coming to this city 18 years ago.

He leaves his wife, the former Olive Bunnell, and two sons, Gordon and Douglas Burns, both of this city. There are two brothers, Bert of Saranac Lake, N. Y., and Royal Burns of Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. Burns was educated in Picton primary and secondary schools and after coming to Peterborough became a very active member of George Street United Church and has been Elder for the past four years. He served with the Cobourg Heavy Artillery in the First Great War. In his youth he played hockey with the junior and intermediate OHA teams in Picton. In Peterborough he was an ardent member of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

Funeral will be held from the Kaye Funeral Home to George St. United Church on Wednesday for service at 2 p.m. The Rev. Dr. James Semple will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Claim Hancock Bought Home In Vancouver

Aubrey S. Hancock, who was arrested Friday in Vancouver on a charge of forgery in connection with a $100,000 car finance swindle, had settled down in that city some months, police said.

Vancouver police said he had bought a home, a car and had opened a business. Hancock is expected back in Peterborough Tuesday in the custody of Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke and Sergeant William Aggas who flew to the west coast Friday.

Nothing has yet been heard of Paul Imming, 24, Peterborough, believed to be Hancock's partner, who disappeared at the same time in October.

Charged As Accessory

Today in police court here, Richard O'Brien, 25, of 512 Stewart St., was charged with being an accessory after the fact in connection with a contract between Hancock and a Richard Green.

An identical charge was laid against O'Brien last October and withdrawn Jan. 11. James King, George St., faced a similar charge in connection with another contract between Imming and King.

Both men were remanded on $1,000 bail until March 13.

A third man, Jack Douglas, 37, Toronto, was earlier charged with a similar offence and the charge against him withdrawn Jan. 16.

ROLL'S PERFECT SCORE

Ever since Al Garden opened up a bowling alley three years ago in Lindsay there has been a standing award of $25 for the first perfectly bowled five-pin game. On Saturday the 34-year-old former Torontonian had to pay out the best—to himself. Garden took time out from his duties to roll the 12 straight strikes. The perfect game beat out the alley's 1950 record of 426 held by Peter Atman, a partner in the alley.

Two Ring Ceremony Unites June Naylor, Jas. Mitchell

A very lovely wedding took place Saturday afternoon in St. James' United Church when rings and vows were exchanged by Norma Helen June Naylor and James Douglas Mitchell, with the Rev. E. W. Rowland performing the ceremony. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Naylor, McKellar St., and the groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Mitchell, Sherbrooke St.

Baskets of snapdragon and daffodils, banked with ferns, formed a pretty setting, and wedding music was played by Mrs. C. Renaud, organist. Mrs. W. Hepburn was soloist, and before the bride entered the church she sang "Through the Years." During signing of the register, she sang "With This Ring I Thee Wed."

White chiffon velvet fashioned the bride's gown and long graceful train. It was made with a mandarin neckline, long torso bodice and long sleeves trimmed with covered buttons, and full gathered skirt. Her full length train of Swiss net fell from a braided velvet halo, and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Mr. Naylor escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage.

Her attendants were Miss Mary Lou Affleck of Hamilton as maid of honor; her cousin, Miss Connie Fielder of New Liskeard and Miss Marie Sparling of Lindsay, as bridesmaids; the groom's sister, Miss Laferne Mitchell, as junior bridesmaid, and the bride's cousin, little Shirley Irvine of Port Perry, as flower girl. All were in frocks of American Beauty chiffon velvet, which were fashioned alike on princess lines with sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves. They wore elbow-length mittens and braided halos of the velvet, and carried velvet muffs topped with bouquets of white carnations with ribbon streamers knotted with carnations.

The groom's nephew, David Locke, carried the wedding ring on a satin pilow, and Mr. Ray Paul was the groomsman. Ushers were Buster Wellwood and Jim Wellwood of Dundalk and Howard Gillies of Toronto, all cousins of the groom.

The reception of guests took place at the Club Aragon where Mrs. Naylor received, gowned in romance blue crepe with navy accessories and red rose corsage, assisted by the groom's mother, who chose a dress of hunter's green, grey accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride and groom left afterward on a motor trip to Detroit and points in the U.S. When going away Mrs. Mitchell was wearing a brown crepe dress with ivory lame bodice, a cinnamon brown coat with brown squirrel trim, brown hat and accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

by the groom's twin sister, Mrs. E. Rainbow of Lindsay. Mr. Rainbow was the groomsman and Mr. J. E. McElgunn ushered.

The bride was attired in a navy ensemble and carried a finger bouquet of pale pink roses. Her bridesmaid wore fuschia and carried a similar bouquet of white carnations.

Wedding music was by the organist, Mr. Harold Armstrong, formerly of Peterborough. The boy choristers from Father Roman's choir sang Ave Maria, Panis Angelicus and other hymns during the mass.

A reception was held afterwards at the Prince George Hotel where the bride's mother, Mrs. Elmo Kidd of Indian River, and the groom's aunt, Miss Fanny Collins of Peterborough, assisted to receive.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins left on a short honeymoon trip and are expected to spend a few days this week in Peterborough. They will make their home in Toronto.

Being a Mother Full-time Job Rev. Douglas Says

About 80 members of city Home and School Associations attended in a body the service at Knox United Church on Sunday evening, as is their annual practice on the opening day of education week.

The Rev. H. G. Douglas, minister in charge, delivered a fine sermon for the occasion. He said the great privilege of parental power should be used to provide the child with a sense of love and security in his home, and also to control their aggressive instincts. It should be used to build up high ideals and a sense of responsibility which might be accomplished by a sharing of privileges and duties of the home. The parents should also be willing to mete out punishment when necessary by withholding some pleasure of the child.

He referred to the recent controversy about married women working and said he considered parenthood is a full-time job. "Mothers of children should not work outside the home unless circumstances make it justifiable." Mr. Douglas declared.

The parents' duty in regard to the church, he said, is to take, rather than send, the children to services and Sunday school.

Collins-Dickie Wedding Rites

The wedding took place in St Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, recently, of Irene Dickie, Reg. N., of Peterborough, and Mulhern Collins, now with the RCAF in Toronto, and formerly of this city.

The Rev. Father Courtemanche officiated in the ceremony. Mr. E. Taggart of Toronto gave the bride in marriage and she was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Laferne Mitchell, as junior bridesmaid, and the bride's cousin, little Shirley Irvine of Port Perry, as flower girl. All were in frocks of American Beauty chiffon velvet, which were fashioned alike on princess lines with sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves. They wore elbow-length mittens and braided halos of the velvet, and carried velvet muffs topped with bouquets of white carnations with ribbon streamers knotted with carnations.

The groom's nephew, David Locke, carried the wedding ring on a satin pilow, and Mr. Ray Paul was the groomsman. Ushers were Buster Wellwood and Jim Wellwood of Dundalk and Howard Gillies of Toronto, all cousins of the groom.

DOROTHY DIX

Financial Independence Often Turns Wife's Head

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man married to a girl 27 year old who hold a good position. Between us we make a fine living. I love her dearly and give her all my time, devotion and money, but my wife wants her own way about everything When I object to her indifference and leaving me alone so much she tells me she works and supports herself. Is this independence or contempt?

G. S.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: I should say that it is rank selfishness. She does not consider anyone's pleasure but her own, and she takes that ruthlessly, without regard to your happiness.

In the old days when a wife was financially dependent on a husband he was, to a certain extent, the lord and master and could assert himself more effectually than can the husband whose wife make her own money She literally stands on her own feet. She is her own mistress and can do as she pleases. Her husband can rule her only through her love for him.

Ideal In Theory

It seems to me that just because a woman is financially independent it is the more reason for her to be considerate of her husband Theoretically it should make the ideal union, but I am afraid it seldom does. And there are two reasons for this. The first because men are still bound by the old tradition that a wife should be subservient to her husband. And second because financial independence is so new to women and is apt to go to their heads and make them feel that just because they are not beholden to their husbands for their bread and butter they owe them no duty.

But money should have nothing to do with a woman's attitude toward her husband. Earning her own living gives her no right to be arrogant and flaunt her independence in his face nor to treat his wishes with contempt. If he gives her affection and tenderness and consideration, he has given her something far more valuable than food and clothes and she can only repay her debt to him in the same coin.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in love with a man who does not know whether he loves me or not, but says he cares more for me than any other girl. I think we could make a success of marriage, but he has left it to me to decide whether we shall marry or go on as we are. Please advise us about what we should do.

XB LX

ANSWER: Evidently the man is not in love with you or he would be sure of his sentiments. Love isn't a slight ailment that you don't know whether you've got or not. It is a devastating disease that you feel in every bone in your body, and breaks out on you like the measles.

Whether it is wise for a woman to marry a man whom she loves better than he loves her is a question open to debate, with much to be said on both sides. It may be argued, of course, that if a man is not powerfully attracted to a women before marriage, there is slim chance that he will be drawn to her after marriage, and not once in a million times does a man fall in love with his wife. And for this reason a man should start in marriage with a full head of steam on, so to s: ak.

So don't delude yourself with the belief that the man who merely likes you before marriage will become an ardent lover afterward. He will always be a refrigerator as far as you are concerned and will never be able to defrost him. But he may prove "friend husband," and that is a most satisfactory relationship. It may not have many thrills in it, but it will have a lot of good solid comfort.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think that it is any sign that husbands and wives don't love each ther if they fight? Does it make any difference, provided they kiss and make up after it is all over?

MRS. WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Perhaps to people of coarse fiber the daily squabble does not matter, but to a man and woman of fine sensibilities it is torture unspeakable and slays their affection quicker than anything else. They do not subscribe to the comfortable theory that people do not mean what they say when they are in a fury They know that in anger, as in wine, the truth comes out. Nor do they think that saying: "I'm sorry" wipes out the memory of the insults they have received and atones for them.

So while some husbands and wives may safely quarrel, it is a dangerous pastime for others And certainly not to be recommended, except as first aid o divorce

Ask Husband Occasionally If Anything He Wants

By MARY MOORE

Or another subject could be "Does he exercise his prerogative to have food idiosyncrasies?"

If so, sister cook, instead of bemoaning your monotonous fate, be glad that he can be pleased. Be glad that he has an appetite. Be glad that he can provide the food he will eat. Be glad that you can cook the things he likes to please him.

This count-your-blessings exhortation grew from a visit I made to the sick husband of a friend of mine. He has a hemorrhage in his chest cavity and a pain in his sinus and is losing weight steadily, and is under the care of three doctors, but still cheerfully tries to eat everything his wife eagerly bears in on his tray.

I came away pondering on the devotion of some husbands. How they eat everything that is put before them, without a grumble Others, of course, growl all of the time.

But what I want to remind you to do is to ask your faithful spouse if there is not some thing (or things) that you have been forgetting to make for him. Maybe some of the things his mother used to make for him when he was a boy and that he thinks are the height of all treats—maybe that would warm the cockles of his heart.

In our family those things are butter tarts, and boiled suet puddings, and mixed mustard pickles and fresh cherry pie and Yorkshire pudding. (One guess is all you need for guessing the nationality of my forbears.)

Make this week Family Old Home Week and at least try to make some thing that is his own special favourite.

I only know two men who do not like onions, and I think that that is such a low percentage that I am convincing myself that this is a good day to give you the method again for making French fried onion. The other recipes were chosen by gentlemen that I "polled".

French Fried Onions

Peel Onions (it is not necessary to use Spanish or imported onions but they make your work easier) and cut them into ⅜ inch slices and separate these slices into rings. Soak the onions in skim milk for ½ hour, then drain them very well and dip them in flour. Drop into deep hot fat at 385 deg Fahr. As soon as golden, skim out onto soft paper, and serve quickly, preferably with a thick juicy steak.

Refrigerator Rolls

Two cakes yeast, ¼ cup sugar, 1 cup milk, ½ cup shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 beaten eggs, 5 cups bread flour. Crumble the yeast and mix it with the sugar and ½ cup lukewarm water and let stand 20 minutes. Scald the milk. Add the shortening and salt to it. Cool to lukewarm Add the yeast-sugar mix and the beaten eggs. Add flour, mixing well Turn out on floured board and knead until satiny and squeaky —about 2 hours. Knead again and form into any desired shapes Men like Parker House rolls which are made by rolling out round pieces of dough about size of large egg. Spread butter on top and fold over, pressing firmly Let rise to double in bulk Bake on oiled pan at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 18 minutes. If to be kept on hand knead after first rising, then store well covered in refrigerator until needed.

Cream Puffs

One-half cup shortening, lard and butter or butter, 1 cup boiling water or milk, 1 cup bread flour, 4 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt.

Add the shortening or butter to the water or milk and bring to boil. Add the flour all at once and stir fast until ball forms in centre of pan. Remove from heat and cool slightly. Add unbeaten eggs one at a tie, beating after each addition until each egg is incorporated. Mixture should be very stiff by the time all of the eggs are added. Drop from tip of dessert spoon onto oiled cookie sheet and bake at 500 deg. Fahr. for 12 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. to finish baking. To test for "doneness" remove one puff from oven at end of 40 minutes oven time. If it does not collapse puffs are baked. This first intense heat is essential to make the "choux" paste puff.

When cold slit sides to fill with rich cream filling or sweetened whipped cream. If dough is shaped through pastry bag and tube into strips 4 inches long by 1 inch wide and baked as above you will have eclair shapes and need only slit sides, fill with whipped cream and put rich frosting on top.

Directions

I think it is a good time to give you a refresher recipe for preparing deep fried fish. So here we go: Cut flat fish that is not more than ½-inch thick into desired pieces for serving,—but if small leave whole. Wash in lukewarm salted water and dry thoroughly. Rub with a cut clove of garlic, brush with soft butter or margarine on both sides, and dip into breadcrumbs, then into well beaten whole egg mixed with 1 tablespoon water and 1 teaspoon salt: dip in crumbs again Let stand for 20 minutes, turning it over once before frying in deep fat at 350 deg Fahr. for about 5 minutes or until coating is golden brown and fish will flake This treatment is good for fillets of perch or pickerel, haddock, flounder, etc. or shrimps, scallops or oysters.

Since there are 3 items in this dinner that may be oven cooked at high temperature I thought the new potatoes could be one of them—but the temperature must be very high to bake them fluffy

The steamed cranberry pudding is ideal for they are plentiful and this is steamed pudding weather. Combine 2¼ cup washed raw cranberries with ½ cup light molasses, ¼ teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 2 tablespoons cold water. Turn batter into greased top of medium-sized double boiler, cover and cook over boiling water for 2 hours, turning down heat when water boils hard. When done remove pudding from bottom of double boiler but leave in top part. When you sit down to eat your vegetable soup, put boiling water in bottom of double boiler and reheat pudding while you are eating your first and second courses Serve with hard sauce or pouring cream. This is a delicious pudding, was reserved Friday by Magis-

C's Win First, 9-4

CAMPBELLFORD March 6 (ENS)—More than 300 fans, the largest crowd to witness a bantam game this season, packed the Campbellford arena on Saturday night to see the local team turn back the South River puckists by the score of 9-4. This was the first game of a series to decide the Ontario championship.

The game was a cleanly played affair in which the local boys carried most of the play, although both teams had their tense moments.

Young Jack Holmes played for the first time since receiving an injury when playing against Ajax, and Jack scored a goal. Wilson was the spearhead of the Campbellford team, figuring in eight of the nine goals his team scored. He got four of them unassisted. Dooher and Field were also outstanding as were Kincaid and the Harkness brothers for South River.

The South River team came to Campbellford in private automobiles and stayed overnight as the guests of local citizens. The local team, which is sponsored by the Rotary Club, wil be supplied with cars by members of the club, when they travel to South River for the return match.

Harry C. Hills Dies

AUCKLAND, N. Z., March 6—(AP)—Harry Clifton Hills, 65, the man who captured the German sea raider, Count Felix Von Luckner, in the First World War died here Sunday. At the time of the capture in December, 1917, Hills was an inspector in the Fijian native constabulary. Luckner's raider, the Seeadler, was wrecked by a tidal wave after sinking 14 ships. Hills led a party to Wakaya Island and captured Luckner, with five other men.

School Practice For Swim Meet

Public school boys start practising today at the YMCA pool for the Intercholastic Swimming meet which will be held April 5 for the Examiner Trophy. Each school will be given one hour in the pool to pick out a team and a second hour to practise. The schools practising this week are: Queen Mary, Central, King George, King Edward and Mary's schools.

Two contestants will be allowed from each school for each event except relays and the contestants will be limited to three swimming events including the relays. The diving event will be extra.

The boys will be divided into three age groups, 11 years and under; 13 years and under and 14 years and under. For each of these groups there will be free style, back stroke and breast stroke events. In addition there will be a medley relay race of 120 yards featuring three swimmers doing the free style, breast stroke and back stroke swimming. Each school is expected to have an entry in the free style relay of 160 yards. Last year the swimming trophy was taken by King George School.

For each of the age groups there will be diving events. One contestant in each age group will comprise a diving team. Prince of Wales School pupils were the diving champions in 1949.

Closely competing with David's net team are Steve Csumrik's and Ken Kingston's. Csmurik has totalled 30 points and Kingston 27. Albert Dryland and Dave Kerr are battling for fifth position with 24 points each followed by Nels Stanger 21 and Stan Payne 19.

Bomb Rocks Theatre

DETROIT, March 6—(AP)—A dynamite bomb Sunday night blasted the Circle Bar and shook a large movie theatre next door in suburban Dearborn. No one was badly injured. Panic in the Circle theatre was prevented by the manager, Vincent Pope, who assured the crowd of 1,000 there was no danger. He grabbed a loudspeaker when patrons began to rush toward the exits.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

BEST SCOUT OF THEM ALL was Daniel Carter Beard, author, artist, outdoorsman and founder of the movement which became the Boy Scouts of America. In dress and spirit, the perfect picture of the old woodsman, "Uncle Dan" Beard brought the pioneer traditions of Daniel Boone into the Twentieth Century and into the lives of millions of American boys. It was in 1905 when Beard, then editor of a recreation magazine, got the idea for a boys' outdoor organization. He formed the "Sons of Daniel Boone," which grew to 150,000 members in five years. In 1910, Beard's "Sons" merged with a British organization headed by Lord Baden-Powell to form the International Boy Scout movement. Today there are two and a quarter million American Boy Scouts.

Letters, Money Pouring In To Help Sander's Expenses

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 6 (AP)—A doctor wrote: "I understand." Said a nurse in a cryptic note. "I've been all through this many times."

An unidentified person wrote: "In memory of a friend, a cancer victim—she jumped to her death for relief."

Their letters are coming in to a tiny real estate office on the main street of this New England town at the rate of about 200 a day.

In the letters is money to aid Dr. Hermann N. Sander, on trial for first-degree murder in the alleged "mercy slaying" of a dying cancer patient.

Excerpts from the letters were made public Saturday by George Woodbury, chairman of a hometown committee of 16 persons raising funds for Dr. Sander.

Woodbury says his committee has received more than $6,000 so far from about 700 persons from coast to coast and from Canada.

There is no specific goal for the committee, but Woodbury figures it would take at least $40,000 to cover Dr. Sander's trial expenses and make up for the temporary loss of his practice.

Reject Proposal

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP) — Striking American Airlines workers Sunday rejected a government proposal that they return to work during mediation talks. In the New York area, where some 1,200 workers are out on strike, about 900 as a mass meeting voted almost unanimously against the back-to-work proposal, the union said.

Stages Jail Break

WORCESTER, Mass., March 6—(AP)—An armed ex-convict Sunday forced his way into the east wing of Worcester County jail and freed a prisoner, after locking four guards in a cell. Police set up road blocks and sent out a nine-state warning. The escaper was identified as Gerard Joseph Richards, 22, of Fitchburg, Mass., serving a term for auto theft and for breaking out of the same jail about a year ago.

Inquest Announced Into Road Death

An inquest into the death of Reynard Sanderson, Port Hope, will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the police court.

Sanderson was found lying dead at the side of Highway 28 near the Five Mile Turn, south of Peterborough by provincial police December 13.

An autopsy was held the day he was discovered, but no official results of that examination were announced.

SKUNK HAD HAD IT

A city policeman was called out Friday to perform one of their more disagreeable tasks. He was despatched to shoot a skunk. Getting the police shotgun he went to do his duty. Sighting the quarry he aimed and fired. It was a direct hit—but the skunk was already frozen to death and half eaten by dogs or rats.

Bulgarian Describes Terror, Torture

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP) A sensational story of how Bulgaria's Communist police extorted a false confession of espionage and treason from a Bulgarian employee of the United States Embassy in Sophia was disclosed on Saturday night by the United States Government.

Ripping the secrecy from Communist terror tactics, the story was told in a sworn statement by the Bulgarian, Michael Shipkov, and in a State Department announcement explaining the background and nature of his ordeal during the 32 straight hours of questioning and torture.

"For the first time," the State Department said, "a victim of this apparently hypnotic process (by which the Communist police obtain confessions) has had the spiritual fortitude . . . to reveal in detail how a man of integrity can be completely broken and forced to describe in his own words a fantastic story of imaginary crimes of espionage and treason."

Shipkov's affidavit, which the department released at his request, describes the intense mental and physical suffering by which the police gradually broke him until he agreed to become a spy against the American legation which employed him.

Flees to Legation

Instead, however, he returned to the legation, told what happened to him and hid there as a refugee under U. S. protection in his own country.

A few weeks ago he tried to flee to another sanctuary, was captured again by the police, and last month was indicted on the false confession.

Officials here are convinced Shipkov is dead by now or awaiting death in a Sofia prison. Consequently they complied with the request he made in the statement, written last August, to tell his story to the world in order to clear his name.

The State Department linked the methods used against him to the earlier "confessions" obtained from Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty by Communist police in Hungary; from Robert Vogeler, an American businessman recently sentenced as a spy in Hungary, and from many others in the "tragically familiar" pattern of Communist prosecutions.

Shipkov's statement recalls how, after long questioning, he was made to stand bent forward with only two fingers touching the wall to balance him, while the torrent of questions and charges continued.

"This posture did not appear unduly painful . . ." he said, "and yet combined with the mental strain, with the continuous pressure of talk, with the utter hopelessness and the longing to go through the thing and be sent down into silence and peace—it is a very effective manner to breaking down all resistance.

Very Painful

"I recall that the muscles of my legs and shoulders began to get cramped and to tremble, that my two fingers began to bend down under the pressure, to get red all over and to ache. I remember that I was drenched with sweat and that I began to faint, although I had not exerted myself in any way. . . .

"When the trembling increased up to the point when I collapsed, they made me sit and speak. . . . But when I uttered again that I was innocent, it was the wall again."

Shipkov's account went on:

"And after a time of this, I broke down. I told them I was willing and eager to tell them all they wanted. The main appeal is to end the pain, to stop needless, futile resistance, and to come nearer to the moment when they would let me die in peace."

The rest of the ordeal, though it occupied many more hours, was a downhill run from this climax. But Shipkov had two more shocks coming.

The first of these was that instead of simply being pushed off to prison he was forced for hours to tell in detail of his alleged spying and the people who purportedly helped him.

Although Shipkov later denied there was any truth in this, he went through it as part of his confession, implicating officals, fellow employees and friends.

After all the questioning, late Sunday Shipkov was directed to write the six-page confession, under the dictation of his questioners; then to sign it.

Youth Threatens To Kill Girl

TORONTO, March 6 (CP). — Police today termed the shooting deaths of George Moore 15, and Beverley Thrush 14, "an open-and-shut case of murder and suicide" and said the boy planned the fatal tryst.

The girl's father found the High School sweethearts fatally shot Friday night in the boy's suburban York Township home.

Police Chief Robert Alexander of York Township said he learned that the youth had been threatening the girl for some time. He said Moore apparently was jealous and called the girl to his home shortly after his parents went out for the evening.

The Chief said classmates at Vaughan Road Collegiate heard the youth threaten two weeks ago to kill the girl, but "thought he was only kidding." The boy practised shooting in the basement of his home for several days.

Chief Alexander said the girl told her parents some time ago that she no longer wanted to "go steady" with Moore. She also mentioned that he had threatened to "do something" if she broke off with him.

Drunks, Vagrants In Police Court

Pleading guilty to being a three-time drunk, James Maughan 21, was sentenced to three months in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in Police Court today.

Gordon McDougal 24, RR 1, Peterborough, pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance at the Club Aragon Saturday by fighting and being drunk, and was fined $10, and costs.

William Coulthard, no fixed address, got the three weeks in jail he wanted when he pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy after being found in a Smith Township farmer's barn early today. He was fined $5, and costs, or 21 days. He took the 21 days.

A Belleville man, Lionel Clark, pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy, and was fined $5, and costs, or five days. Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson said the man was subject to epileptic seizures and had been jailed for his own protection because of the cold weather. An attempt was made without success, to contact the man's family in Belleville.

Pass Objective

ST. THOMAS, March 6—(CP)—The public drive for funds toward the proposed St. Thomas and Elgin general hospital passed its objective of $400,000 Saturday night, campaign chairman G. P. Spackman announced Sunday. The project, costing over $1,000,000 will be financed partly through government aid.

Find Western Contracts Boost Building

By FLORENCE RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Large contracts in Western Canada sent Canadian construction for February to a new high for that month.

MacLean Building Reports, Ltd., shows Western awards at $31,783,900, a gain of $23,363,900 over February last year and only $1,200,000 below the total for populous Eastern Canada which generally shows the bulk of the awards.

Manitoba, boosted by a $10,000,000 oil refinery at East St. Paul, near Winnipeg, for Imperial Oil, Ltd., and a $4,700,000 residential project (628 residences) at St. James, Winnipeg suburb, led all the provinces with a total of $16,786,700.

A $7,000,000 addition to the MacDonald Hotel and a $1,100,000 street paving contract, both in Edmonton, put Alberta ahead also. British Columbia and Saskatchewan had small declines.

Quebec had a substantial drop. By classification, business, engineering and residential contracts were up, and the industrial division considerably down.

Total Contracts

The total of Canadian contracts in February was $64,781,600, up $1,458,900 from February, 1949. Because of a drop in January the two-month total of $121,467,400 is still $14,600,000 behind the first two months of last year.

January and February are seasonably low months in building contracts and the size of the year's business is determined by the big spring months, especially May and June.

February figures by classifications with February, 1949, in brackets were:

Residential $20,300,000 ($19,200,000), commercial $22,300,000 ($14,080,000), industrial $11,800,000 ($26,300,000), engineering $10,500,000 ($3,700,000).

By regions:

Maritimes $4,554,100, up $2,091,400; Quebec $12,658,000, down $16,500,000; Ontario $15,785,600, up $200,000; West $31,783,900, up $23,363,900.

Adjudicator Says London Most Drama-Minded

By ALBERT HUNTER

MONTREAL, March 6 (CP) — London gets the nod from British adjudicator Maxwell Wray as Canada's most "drama-conscious" city west of Montreal.

Pointing to London's 10,000-member Little Theatre, Mr. Wray said in an interview Sunday night he was "most impressed" by the attendance at regional drama festivals eliminations in that Ontario city and "most dismayed" by that in Ottawa.

"I have one play singled out in each of the cities in which I have adjudicated," he said. He declined to elaborate further.

He said he would announce the eight regional winners in Toronto April 2. Although Canada is divided into 11 regions for the elimination preliminary to the national festival in Calgary in May Only eight of the 11 will be represented.

Two plays by Canadian authors are entered in the Western Quebec festival. The three-act Laurentian-mountain drama "Jupiter in Retreat," by Janet McPhee of Montreal and Herbert Whittaker of Toronto will be presented by the Trinity Players.

The other Canadian-written entry is by Montreal's Jean Louis Carrier—a French version of "Oedypus Rex" entered by Les Comedians Mont-Royal.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

It will be West Point versus Kingston next Saturday when cadets from the United States Military Academy meet Royal Military College cadets in their annual hockey match at Kingston.

The same day, Defence Minister Claxton, will take part in a cornerstone ceremony officially launching construction of a $1,000,000 dormitory at the military college.

The hockey game, now traditional in the two military colleges was inaugurated by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme allied commander in occupied Japan, when he was superintendent of West Point in 1922.

The Canadian school won every annual game until 1935, when its team was held to a tie. Victory again went to the Kingston team in 1936, 1937 and 1938, but West Point won in 1939 and 1942.

The games were suspended after 1942 because of the war. The series was resumed last year when the Canadians visited the American Military Institute on the Hudson River—and lost 3-1.

Don Loney, perennial all-eastern centre, said in an interview Sunday night that he plans to play with Edmonton Eskimos in the Western Football Conference this fall.

The Ottawa Rough Riders' star who returned Saturday from a business trip in Edmonton, said Eskimos had offered him the job of assistant coach to Annis Stukus as well as a full-time player spot.

Loney also said Eskimos are seeking the services of Royal Copeland, Toronto Argonauts ace backfielder.

Loney, who said he has "just about signed" an Edmonton contract, emphasized he was not trying to play one club against another.

Saturday Eskimos announced that quarterback Lindy Berry and end Morris Bailey, star passing combination from Texas Christian University, had been signed to one-year contracts.

At Port Colborne, with Ken Stanley scoring on both of two foul shots awarded with 20 seconds to play remaining, Hamilton Purple Raiders eliminated Port Colborne from the Ontario Amateur Basketball Association Intermediate B play-downs by a single point in the second game of their first round series at Inco Recreation Club Saturday night. Incos won Saturday night's game 52-46 but lost the round 115-114, Hamilton having won the first game at Hamilton last Tuesday 69-62.

At Stockholm, the Swedish National hockey team Sunday night defeated Edmonton Mercurys 5-3, handing the Canadians their first defeat by a European team in their pre-championship tour. The Mercurys, who will represent Canada in the world championships in London this month, have lost two games to British teams made up largely of Canadian talent and have four ties in the 28 games they have played in the United Kingdom and on the continent.

Eyes Of Labor And Industry Focused On Windsor Negotiations

By ROBERT PHILLIPS

WINDSOR, March 6 (CP)—The eyes of labor and industry are focused on this heart of the Canadian automobile industry, where a revolutionary concept of union-management relations is being forged.

Principal participants are the handful of motor-car manufacturers and their thousands of organized workmen, members of the huge United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.).

The big question: To what extent is an employer responsible for his workers' welfare, above and beyond his wages and day-to-day working conditions? The issue centres around company-financed pensions and government social security.

Since the idea entered negotiations late in 1949, a victory has been scored by each side: Labor has won industry's voluntary acceptance of the principle of company-paid pensions; Industry has won government approval, in one conciliation hearing, of its claim to be able to administer the pension in its own way and to set rates independently of foreign influence.

Little Settled

But little is settled. The Union's demands of Ford Motor Company of Canada Ltd., where more than 11,000 are employed, has been before a Conciliation Board. Similar demands of Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Ltd., employer of some 4,000, now are under conciliation.

This is what the U.A.W. wants from Ford and Chrysler:

A $100-a-month retirement pension, at 65 for workers with 25 year's service; lesser amounts for workers disabled before retirement age or who have less than 25 year's service at normal retirement age.

It wants the companies to pay the full shot and asks that the pension fund be administered by a seven-man board—three company and three union nominees and a neutral chairman selected by the six.

Counter offers of the two companies are the same in some respects.

They each suggest $35 a month for workers at age 65 after 25 years' service. They agree to pay it all but want a company right to administer the money in their own way. They do not agree with the Union's proposal of a cents-per-hour system of deferred wage increases as the basis for providing the funds.

First Report

The first conciliation report — concerning the Union's demands from Ford—was disclosed last week. Chairman C. P. McTague and company nominee J. Clifford Adams support the company plan. Union nominee Drummond Wren backs the Union proposals.

What will result from the report—not binding on either party—is not yet known. Ford officials say they are preparing new calculations before making comment. Union spokesmen say they will direct all U.A.W. members to reject the majority report. They say they still expect further negotiations with the company and "hope for satisfactory agreement" in spite of the report.

A Canadian union's choice of $100 as its pension objective arises from adoption of that amount as the basis for agreement between the U. A. W. in the United States and the U. S. Ford Motor Company last fall.

"That agreement says the majority report of the Canadian Conciliation Board which sat on the Ford-Union dispute here, might be described as "an agreement to underwrite the difference between $100 a month and what is provided by General Social-Security payments under Social Security Legislation in the United States."

No Parallel

The board adds:

"It is quite obvious that in Canada there is no parallel at the present time."

U. S Social-Security Legislation provides a sort of retirement fund which pays the participant an amount up to $34 a month. It is financed by government and employer contributions.

Only comparable arrangement in Canada is the present non-contributory old-age pension plan to which the Federal Government pays 75 per cent up to $40 to persons aged 70 who can establish need.

The year was 1885 . . .

. . . above the crackling rifle fire of the Battle of Batoche in the Northwest Rebellion rose a make-shift red and white flag. It had been sewn together by Major-General (then Surgeon) G. Sterling Ryerson from factory cotton and pieces of red cloth "borrowed" from an ammunition cart. Under its protection wounded men were carried from the field. For the first time . . . the Red Cross flag had been flown in Canada!

Eleven years later the first "colonial" branch of the Red Cross in the British Empire was formed in Canada. The General Ryerson who had patched together the flag at Batoche was elected chairman of the executive. Even in their humanitarian efforts, the men of Canada demanded democratic procedure.

Today all over the world, the Red Cross is built on the recognized principles of democracy. Not only does the Red Cross deserve your support—it is a dramatic reminder that men of all races and beliefs can work together for the welfare of others—under all conditions—in war, in peace, in flood or famine, or personal distress.

Flynn Amazed At Publicity He Collects

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, March 6 (AP). —One thing amazes Errol Flynn about himself—how he manages to keep making headlines. For many years Flynn has been one of the most persistently publicized of movie stars.

"For the life of me, the remarked with a grin and look of I can't understand why a quiet, reserved fellow, like myself should be involved in the news so much," he expressed doubt in his self-evaluation. But the actor continued:

"I will swear this—that I have never in my life sought headlines nor have I in any way gone after publicity stunts or anything of that nature. Heaven knows, there have been times when I wished I could be able to avoid headlines."

Flynn seems destined to continue making headlines. He said he will marry Princess Ghika of Romania when he returns to Europe.

"That is," he added, "if the situation is the same as when I left. And from all indications, it is."

Home Is Hollywood

He added that he is no longer worried about whether she can cook. I asked where they would live.

"Not in Romania," was the answer.

The sportsman is back in Hollywood after a year's absence. He is making "Kim," for which he shot location scenes in India.

One of the flossiest parties of the season was the Redbook affair, at which the magazine gave its award to 20th-Fox for high quality of production.

Among the beauties present, most of them vieing for low-cut gown honors, were: Gene Tierney, Wanda Hendrix, Anne Baxter, Dorothy McGuire, Arlene Dahl, Ann Sheridan, and Jeanne Crain.

New Blood Test 75% Accurate In Detecting Cancer Cases

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 6 —(AP)—A new blood test is 75 to 80 per cent accurate in detecting whether a person has cancer.

It has been tried on more than 2,500 persons in the last two years. It misses some who have cancers. In others, it gives a "yes," reply in people who haven't cancer.

Its batting average is thus much like those of several other tests recently developed. They all show we are close to having useful, quick blood tests to spot cancers early, and thereby save thousands of lives annually.

The new test was developed by Dr. E. Everett Cliffton of Yale University School of Medicine He measures the amount of a chemical, called an anti-enzyme, in the blood. It counteracts an enzyme that digests protein, the stuff that body tissues and cancers are made of.

Correct For 75%

In cancer, the blood contains more than normal amounts of the anti-enzyme. This extra amount may, in effect, smother the enzyme that keeps a brake on growth of cancer or other tissues

This blood test has been correct in about 75 per cent of patients who actually did have cancer, Dr Cliffton said.

But it also says "yes" in most people who have acute infections, have just had major operation, or in pregnant women. These conditions also raise the amount of anti-ezyme in the blood.

If such cases aren't counted, the test went wrong by saying "yes" in only five per cent of some 911 people who didn't have cancer, Dr. Cliffton said. Really sick people, or pregnant women, wouldn't likely be going to cancer detection centres.

The test also misses spotting some people who really did have cancer. It seems to give false answers of "no cancer" more often when the cancers are spreading than when they are confined to one site.

Get Hardest Cases

The test was best at detecting the cancers hardest to spot by usual means, Dr. Cliffton aded. It was 92 8 per cent accurate in finding cancers of the lung, 90 per cent in cancers of the kidneys, liver or pancreas, and 80 per cent in stomach and bladder cancers.

It was only 40 per cent accurate in finding breast cancer, and about 55 per cent for cancers of the vervix, uterus and ovary.

It misses skin cancers unless they are about three-tenths of an inch in size. Skin cancers, however, are the easiest to find by regular means.

No cancer test has yet been found that is perfect.

$450,000 Sewage Plant Now In Full Operation

COBOURG, Mar. 6—Cobourg's sewage is now going through its new sewage disposal plant, the entire system having been built at a cost of around $450,000. The plant, the most modern of its type in Canada, is located at the west end of the town and at present is serving all of the town from a line one block to the east to the eastern limits of the town. The extreme west end of the town still empties the sewage into the factory creek. The plant is so designed that in the event of any blockage, the overflows will bypass the sewage directly into the Factory Creek which runs nearby the sewage disposal plant. All that remains to be done to complete the work is landscaping of the sewage disposal plant and this will be done in the spring.

CURIOUS CROWDS stand outside London's Old Bailey Court as Dr. Klaus Fuchs, Britain's third-ranking atomic scientist, pleaded guilty to charges of betraying Anglo-American atom-bomb secrets to Russia. The 38-year-old German-born scientist was sentenced to 14 years in prison.

It was the third time in four days a record distance was jumped on the newly-built hill here. The hill was built up to a height of 161 (525 feet) especially for attempts on the world record.

Mission Band Wins Standard

MILLBROOK, March 6 (ENS) —Twenty children attended Mission Band in St. Andrew's Sunday School Rooms in Thursday afternoon. During the workshop period the children continued with the making and dressing of Oriental dolls under the direction of Mrs. Arnold Fallis. For the third year the Band has won the Standard of Efficiency. Alice Hawkins, president, placed the red star, the award for efficiency for 1949, received from the Presbyterial secretary, on the banner.

Mr. W. Fred Fallis, treasurer of Durham County Temperance Federation, gave an illustrated talk on the effects of beverage alcohol. The candles on the worship centre were lighted by Helen Wright.

The poster which won first prize at the Presbyterial contest for Mission Bands in Peterborough was displayed. It was the work of Helen Ingham, 9, of the local Band. Cookies were passed by Alice Hawkins, the hostess.

Jury Finds 2 Guilty Spying In U.S.

Rules Judith Coplon And Gubitchev Guilty After 10 Hours

NEW YORK, March 7—(AP)—A Federal jury today found Judith Coplon and Valentin Gubitchev guilty of conspiring to spy against the United States.

After 10 hours deliberation, the Federal Court jury found the former government clerk and the Russian engineer guilty of conspiracy and attempted espionage.

The jury of six men and six women had been out since 4:34 p.m. Monday and had been locked up overnight. It resumed its deliberations at 9:50 a.m. today.

Miss Coplon was found innocent of one count of the four-count indictment which charged her with attempted espionage in that she attempted to transmit Classified documents to unauthorized persons. She was found guilty also on another count of attempted espionage.

Gubitchev was convicted with Miss Coplon under the first count which charged conspiracy to commit espionage by removing classified documents from government files and to defraud the United States of Miss Coplon's impartial services.

Gubitchev Alone

Under count three of the indictment, Gubitchev was found guilty of attempted espionage in that he was an unauthorized person attempting to receive secret documents. This count named Gubitchev alone.

Miss Coplon was found guilty under count four which charged her alone with attempted espionage in that she attempted to transmit documents relating to the national defence to a citizen of the Soviet Union, "with intent and reason to believe same were to be used to the injury of the United States for the advantage of a foreign power."

At the request of Prosecutor Irving H. Saspol, Judge Ryan remanded both defendants until Thursday morning for sentence.

Pleading there was no prospect of early agreement on a verdict, the six men and six women of the jury broke off their deliberations shortly after midnight Monday night.

Princess Sick Misses Visit

LONDON, March 7 (AP) — Princess Margaret has influenza, Buckingham Palace announced today.

The 19-year-old younger daughter of the King has been confined to her room at the Royal Palace and will be unable to take part in ceremonies today attendant to the state visit of French president Vincent Auriol.

Fun-loving Margaret was up and about Monday and watched the Royal procession for the state opening of parliament, although she could not take part because she is not 21 years old.

She was sick this morning and the King's doctor, Sir John Weir, said she had influenza and ordered her to remain in her room.

General Chen Cheng Nationalist Premier

TAIPEE, Formosa, March 7—(AP) — Gen. Chen Cheng, 52, apple-cheeked pint-sized foe of Communism, today was nominated premier of Nationalist China by President Chiang Kai-shek, his long-time friend.

The five-foot ,two-inch Chen seemed assured of the required approval of the legislative Yuan. There had been some opposition earlier.

His nomination came on the heels of dispatches saying several hundred Communist soldiers in Kwangtung Province had deserted to Nationalist guerrillas. The desertions were the first claim by Nationalist sources.

A shake-up of the Nationalist cabinet seemed assured if Chen is confirmed for the premiership.

Guess Who'll Win Yugoslav Election?

Answer Simple—Marshal Tito and Communist Party, Only Candidates

BELGRADE March 7 (AP).—Guess who will win on March 26 in Yugoslavia's first general elections in five years?

The answer is simple: Marshal Josip Broz Tito and his Communist-dominated People's Front Party, of course.

The reason is equally simple. There is no competition for Tito and his party in a country which once had as many parties as it now has republics.

Although Yugoslavia's new election laws permit anyone who can collect 10 signatures to become a candidate for parliament, there has been no sign as yet of any opposition emerging to challenge those who have the blessing of the "People's Front."

The voters will choose a total of 405 members of the Lower House of Parliament and 215 of the Upper House, picking them from their own district.

The regulations provide that the voter, upon entering the balloting room, is given a small rubber ball. He drops this into a cushioned box for the candidate of his choice—or in an opposition box. The voter is required to plunge a closed hand into all the boxes and then—at the end of the line—to display an unclenched fist to show the ballot has been cast.

At day's end the rubber balls are counted to determine the margin of victory. Best guess here is that it will be about 97 or 98 per cent in favor of the People's Government.

CNR Restoring 25% Cut In Rail Service

MONTREAL, March 7 (CP)—Canadian National Railways trains will be rolling at full tilt Wednesday for the first time since last Jan. 9.

C.N.R. president Donald Gordon announced Monday that Wednesday would be the day for restoring the 25-per -cent cut in steam-powered passenger service on the railways' lines. The cut was made because of the severe coal shortage in the United States and dangerously low C.N.R. stockpiles.

Settlement of the long-drawn-out labor dispute between U.S. coal mine operators and union miners during the weekend paved the way.

"All trains in Canada that stopped running because of the coal shortage will go back on their normal schedules," said Mr. Gordon.

Preferential treatment will be given to movement of coal consigned to commercial and other users, he said.

During the coal crisis, the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada's other great rail system, did not cut train service. CPR spokesmen said their stockpiles were sufficient to meet conditions.

Curtailment of CNR service had repercussions in the Commons. Last Feb. 21, Mr. Chevrier said that R. C. Vaughan, former CNR president, had disregarded a decision by the company's board of directors about getting up a stockpile objective of 2,365,000 tons of coal.

Mr. Vaughan, succeeded as president by Mr. Gordon Jan. 1, said in reply that the sole reason for the coal scarcity was the US strike.

Paris Subway Lines In Operation Again

PARIS, March 7 (AP)—All of the city's subway lines were operating today despite a Communist-called transport strike, the ministry of public works and transport said.

Traffic was slow and only about 55 per cent of normal, however, for all available cars were running.

Non-Communist union members appeared to be deserting the walkout ordered by the Red-led Confederation Generale du Travail to enforce demands for a 3,000-franc ($8.50) monthly cost-of-living bonus for transportation workers.

Mrs. Pitre Testifies Guay Told Her Bomb In Parcel

QUEBEC, March 7—(CP)—Mrs. Arthur Pitre testified in court today she first learned from jeweller J. Albert Guay that a parcel she placed aboard an aircraft at his request last September contained "a bomb." Guay is on trial for the murder of his wife Rita, one of 23 persons killed when a Canadian Pacific Airways plane exploded and crashed into a mountainside last Sept. 9.

Mrs. Pitre said Guay first told her the parcel contained a statue. But 10 days after the crash, when newspapers were telling of a "mysterious woman" placing a parcel on the plane, she learned from Guay that the parcel held a bomb.

Guay, the woman said, suggested she would have trouble with the police; that she should do away with herself and leave a suicide note saying she caused the plane wreck thinking Guay was aboard and that she did so because she owed him money.

Mrs. Pitre's appearance in court for the second day running quickened public interest in the trial.

Would-be spectators lined up before the courtroom doors opened and some sharp-thinking early comers sold their spots to late arrivals.

One man got $2.50 for his place near the front of the lineup.

Interested In Waitress

Under questioning by Crown Prosecutor Noel Dorion about a visit from Guay Aug. 17 or 18, Mrs. Pitre said Guay wanted information about waitress Marie-Ange Robitaille but didn't want the girl to know he was inquiring.

Mrs. Pitre said Guay later asked her to buy dynamite for a "Mrs. Cote" to blow up some stumps. She said she bought the dynamite Aug. 18 in a hardware store and turned it over to Guay.

Mrs. Pitre said later in August she saw Guay two or three times He wanted to get information to Marie-Ange Robitaille. On one occasion, she said, Guay was discouraged over relations with his wife and said he had to "do something."

"He said he didn't know if he would poison himself or poison his wife," said Mrs. Pitre.

Keeps Appointment

Mrs. Pitre said that Sept. 8, eve of the plane crash, Guay telephoned her to meet him at Palais Station the next morning at 8.30 a.m. She kept the appointment.

At the station she met Maurice Laroche, Canadian National Railway's employee.

Just after 8.30 Guay came out of the station lunch counter. Guay went over to a row of parcel lockers, opened one, and took out a cardboard parcel carrying a "Fragile" label. The parcel was addressed to a "Mr. Bouchard."

As brought out previously at Guay's preliminary hearing, Mrs Pitre said the jeweller told her the parcel had a statute in it and he wanted her to ship it on the morning plane for the St. Lawrence north shore.

On her return from the airport Mrs. Pitre went to an hotel to meet Guay but didn't find him During the afternoon, at her own place, she heard of the plane crash.

The witness said that a week after the plane crash Guay visited her and mentioned there was $1,000 insurance on Mrs. Guay.

Meets Waitress

The next day he called again and wanted to see Marie-Ange Robitaille.

At Mrs. Pitre's request the girl came to the Pitre apartment and in a bedroom held a 15-minute conversation with Guay. Mrs. Pitre heard only the words "21 years" and later, "six months." The waitress and Guay left together.

Early Sept. 19 Guay visited Mrs. Pitre and told her the newspapers had stories of a "mysterious parcel" having been taken by a woman to the Quebec airport on the day the death plane was wrecked, she testified. He sug-

21 UK Scientists Fired On Politics

LONDON, March 7—(AP)—A civil service spokesman said Monday night that the government discharged 20 scientists during the last two years because of their political beliefs. He intimated that many were removed because of earlier Communist contacts.

The spokesman, C. L. White, secretary-general of the Civil Service Clerical Association, said 25 persons in other government departments had also been "dealt with."

"But," he added. "they missed Dr. Fuchs."

Dr. Klaus Fuchs, German-born British atomic scientist, was convicted last week of betraying British-American secrets to Russia and was sentenced to 14 years in prison.

White's statement o i the government firings for security reasons followed by a few hours Prime Minister Attlee's defence of the British secret service in the House of Commons.

Attlee told the opening session of the House that "there is a good deal of loose talk in the press suggesting inefficiency on the part of the security services. I entirely deny that."

Referring to the Fuchs case, he said he takes "full responsibility" for the efficiency of the security services.

I am satisfied," he added, that unless we had here the kind of secret police they have in totalitarian countries, and employed their methods, there was no means by which we could have found out about this man."

Loses Throne Prince Says To Appease South Africa

LONDON, March 7. (AP) — Seretse Khama, Prince of the African tribe of Bamangwatos, has accused Britain of depriving him of his throne and ordering him and his white British wife into exile to appease the color-conscious South African government.

The Oxford-educated negro, 27, chosen by his tribe to rule in the dusty British Protectorate of Bechuanaland, said he was told Monday he was not to return home without permission for five years.

At a press conference in his tiny London flat, Seretse said he had been advised to bring back his wife, the former London typist Ruth Williams whom he married in 1948, because she was a "disturbing influence in the territory." She is waiting to have their first child back in Serowe, the capital of his native land.

It was Seretse's marriage to the white girl, without approval of the tribal elders, that set off repercussions which echoed loudly in neighboring South Africa and Southern Rhodesia.

Seretse was told by Patrick Gordon-Walker, Commonwealth relations secretary, that Britain intends to rule his tribe directly and he is not to return.

"I maintain that it was because the British government wanted to appease (Prime Minister) Dr. Malan and keep the union of South Africa in the commonwealth, that they have done what they have," Seretse said.

Gordon-Walker called Seretse's statements "startliug". There had been no official announcement of the government decision, but he said if one were to be made it would be made in the House of Commons.

Some 200 canvassers are collecting throughout the city and until they report to their team captains in time for the Wednesday luncheon, only incomplete totals can be announced.

Give Respite If Steel Left Alone

Labor Government Rejects Proposal Call It 'Quaint Idea'

LONDON, March 7—(CP)—Winston Churchill offered the Labor government today a chance to ease its precarious position in exchange for postponement of steel nationalization.

In his first clash with Labor since the elections which cut Labor's majority to seven, Churchill put Prime Minister Attlee on the spot with a request for a definite pledge that Labor would not take over steel until a date "not later than nine months after the next general election."

The government rejected the proposal. Speaking for the government, Herbert Morrison, deputy prime minister, labelled Churchill's proposal "a quaint idea." He indicated Labor would prefer to face a running battle in the House.

Attlee told the Commons Monday that Labor would stick to the schedule for nationalization of steel. "Our purpose is to give effect to acts passed by parliament," he said.

Offers Respite

What Churchill offered Labor was a respite from the threat of a sudden overthrow. It would relieve the pressure on many government ministers who would otherwise have to drop their duties at any time to rush into Commons for a vote.

The nationalization bill passed by the last parliament provides that government directors be appointed after Oct. 1, 1950 and that the actual takeover of the steel industry should be accomplished between Jan. 1, 1951 and Jan. 1, 1952.

The Conservatives decided Monday night to press for a vote expressing dissatisfaction with Labor's policies on nationalization of steel and construction of housing. A vote on the nationalization motion is due in the Commons Thursday, while a vote on Churchill's second motion is due next Monday.

Give Voters Chance

Churchill opened debate on the government's program by saying the British voters had declared against government ownership of industry. He said the postponement he proposed would give the voters "a further chance of affirming their repudiation of it."

Alternately belligerent and humurous, the Conservative spokesman twitted the government on the fact that the Commons now is almost evenly divided. Labor has an over-all majority of only seven seats in the 625-member house.

At one point Churchill called for a parliamentary committee to study reform of the British electoral system. He said reform would be justified by the fact that 186 members of the new house had been elected by a minority of those who voted in their districts.

Discussing Britain's economic woes, Churchill warned against any further devaluation of the pound, which last September was cheapened from $4.03 to $2.80 in U. S. funds.

Order Dairies Put Up Bonds

TORONTO, March 7 (CP). — Unless a dairy can put up a bond or establish credit with a bank it will not be licensed, Agriculture Minister Kennedy told the Ontario Legislature Agriculture Committee today.

CCF Leader E. B. Jolliffe said the law should be lightened because the Milk Control Board could not depend on farmers to report failure of dairies to pay promptly for milk produced.

Roscoe Robson (PC-Hamilton East) said some farmers were afraid to complain when a dairy was low in paying in case the dairy would refuse to accept their shipments.

Mr. Jolliffe said some dairies pay farmers on a monthly or six-week basis. This meant dairies were using money owed the farmer as working capital.

Goes On Trial

SUDBURY, March 7 (CP)—John H. Balazs, a United States hunter from West Lake, O., Monday went on trial on a charge of manslaughter, laid following the death of a guide in a hunting accident. The charge was laid after the shooting of Albert Badgerow of nearby Nairn. Five Crown witnesses will be heard today.

Court Frees Wrong Man, Poses As Drunk

TORONTO, March 7 (CP) — A man awaiting trial on a narcotics charge walked out of court today after posing as a man accused of drunkenness and paying a $10 fine.

Ambrose E. (Eustace) Johnston 37, stood up in the prisoners' dock when the name of a person charged with being intoxicated was called. Johnston pleaded guilty to the drunkenness charge, was fined $10 and was escorted to a fine-paying wicket by a court officer.

Johnston had been scheduled to appear in another courtroom on a charge of illegal possession of drugs. Jack Stephenson, 46, and Stephenson's 37-year-old wife, Grace, charged with Johnston with having drugs illegally, were remanded in custody until March 14.

Police said that in some manner still under investigation, Johnston managed to mingle with the drunks in the cells below the courtroom. With the other prisoners, he was brought up the stairs leading directly into the prisoners' dock and the court clerk started to read the charges.

Johnston, whose narcotics case was to have come up in a different courtroom, answered to the name of "Brown" when the first drunk case was called, paid the fine and left the building.

A warrant for his rearrest on the narcotics charge was sworn out immediately.

Asked what happened to the real Mr. Brown, police officers referred reporters to Inspector W. J. McAllister. The inspector is out of the city on holidays.

Head-on Crash Kills Two Men

HAMILTON, March 7 (CP) — Stanley Moffat of Glanford Station, Ont., and Melvin Reed of nearby Mount Hope were killed early today in a head-on automobile collision near Mount Hope. Two other persons were slightly injured.

The injured are Ross MacDonald, 33, of Mount Hope, and John F. Richardson, 26, of Caledonia. Both suffered cuts.

Police reported that an automobile driven by Reed, 47, collided with a pick-up truck operated by Richardson. Moffat, 53, was riding in the front seat of the car, police said.

Reed was a popular curler and had competed in outstanding bonspiels throughout the province.

Police Seize $51,000 At Buffalo In Bogus Bills

BUFFALO, NY, March 7. (AP) —Police have seized nearly $51,000 worth of counterfeit Canadian and United States bills that they say were hidden in the home of a 41-year-old construction worker.

Authorities called it the biggest bogus money find on record here.

Edwin Manning, United States Secret Service agent, identified the man as Christopher Mercio, alias Morelli. He was charged with possession of counterfeit money.

Police said they searched Mercio's home Monday after receiving "a tip about policy slips." Hidden behind a gas meter they found $980 in counterfeit Canadian bills.

A more thorough search was made Monday night and authorities reported they found $50,000 in fake bills in paper bags on a pantry shelf.

Manning said the money was divided about evenly between Canadian $10 bills and American $10 and $20 notes. He said he had "no idea of its source."

Also seized, Manning said, were about 500 Irish Sweepstakes tickets and a loaded revolver.

Police said they would charge Mercio with possession of lottery tickets and a dangerous weapon.

At Toronto, police made another arrest Monday night as they continued investigation of the recent appearance of counterfeit bills in Toronto. John Kostinchuk, 33, faces charges of passing bogus $10 bills. Police said he had five bogus bills when arrested.

Earlier, a man and a woman were charged with attempting to pass counterfeit bills and with possessing them. Another woman was arrested Sunday on a charge of possessing bogus currency.

Federal-Provincial Plan For Low-Cost Housing Outlined To Legislature

Frost Hopes Down-Payment Dropped Soon While Griesinger Expects 10% Down; Agree Buyers Won't Have To Stand Losses

TORONTO, March 7—(CP)—Planning Minister Griesinger outlined in the Ontario Legislature Monday probable terms of the joint Federal-Provincial housing plan. Premier Frost said terms of purchase would have to be worked out with the Federal government since costs of the project would be shared 75 per cent by the Federal government and 25 per cent by the province. Mr. Griesinger indicated, however, the houses will sell for about $5,800 with a 10-per-cent down-payment, and an interest rate of about 4½ per cent.

Mr. Frost said it was possible there might be no down payment and a smaller interest rate to compensate for the longer term of payment.

The Legislature passed through committee stage a bill which complements Federal legislation permitting the federal and provincial governments jointly to acquire and improve land for housing purposes.

Pass Amendment

The House in committee also passed an amendment to the High School Act which, among other provinces, would have the effect of abolishing high school examinations.

Mr. Griesinger told the House a London, Ont., contractor "hopes to build for $5,800." The down payment would be 10 per cent or $580, he said. Interest would be charged at the same rate provided under the National Housing Act, 4½ per cent.

Opposition members asked assurance that persons making a down payment on a house would not lose their money through failure of a private contractor to fulfill his undertaking.

Mr. Frost said he would have "the strongest objections" to turning over improved land to "fly-by-night builders or incompetents." "It all boils down to a matter of good administration and business judgment."

Will Sustain Losses

Mr. Griesinger said in cases where the partners in the plan — the three levels of government — undertake to build the houses themselves they would sustain any losses incurred, not the prospective purchaser.

Education Minister Porter said elimination of high school entrance examination was designed to help bridge the psychological gap between elementary and high

'Quake In Philippines

MANILA, March 7—(AP)—An earthquake frightened people out of their homes in the Central Philippines today. The main shock was felt at 10.07 a.m. (9.07 p.m. EST Monday night). No damage was reported. Northern Mindanao, one of the nine islands reporting the quake, was shaken intermittently for 43 minutes.

3 Die, 5 Missing As Fire Sweeps Building

OCEAN FALLS, B.C., March 7 (CP)—Three persons burned to death when fire raged through the top storeys of an apartment house here early today. Five others are missing.

The blaze broke out at 2 a.m., and lighted the entire town of 3,000. Residents rushed to the aid of firemen who brought the blaze under control after two hours.

Ocean Falls, 250 miles north of Vancouver is owned by Pacific Mills Ltd., pulp and paper mill operators.

At least 18 families, which included many children, occupied the three-storey wooden structure.

Townsite director Alex Charlson said cause of the blaze had not been determined.

Spokesman for the company said names of the dead and missing could not be released immediately.

Company officials are flying to the scene from Vancouver.

Third Of Miners Back At Work

PITTSBURGH, March 7—(AP)—Coal production in the United States sped toward normal today in the wake of a month-long soft coal strike.

Nearly one-third of the idle diggers happily shouldered picks and shovels Monday. The work return of the 372,000 striking United Mine Workers was expected to be virtually complete today.

Industries, hard hit by the shutdown, quickly threw off the strike-imposed shackles.

Steel firms and railroads recalled thousands of the more than 225,000 workers made idle by the coal walkout.

Wheeling Steel Corporation scheduled full scale resumption of production as did other companies which had curtailed because of fuel shortages.

The Interstate Commerce Commission decided to keep in effect its partial ban on coal-burning freight and passenger train service until carriers can build up depleted coal stockpiles.

Leverett Lyon, an official of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, estimated the strike cost industry in the Chicago area alone $30,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Late Returns Give Royalist Party Lead

ATHENS, March 7 (AP)—Late vote returns from the 146,000 Greek soldiers gave the Conservative Populist (Royalist) party a narrow lead today in Greece's parliamentary election.

The Populists, headed by Deputy Premier and Foreign Minister Constantin Tsaldaris, had expected an easy victory in Sunday's election. But the surprising race by the newly-organized left-wing National Progressive Union kept the Populists in second place until more than 80 per cent of the votes had been counted.

With none of the six major parties obtaining anything close to a clean majority, politicians already were speculating on means of patching up another coalition government—the 12th since the end of the second world war.

MP Threatens To Resign Over Nfld. Rates

OTTAWA, March 7 (CP) — A Progressive Conservative member from the new province of Newfoundland threatened in the Commons Monday to resign his seat if the Federal Government does not live up to its agreement on freight rates for Newfoundland.

Gordon Higgins, lawyer-member of one of the first delegations to discuss union terms with Canada, said he will give up his seat —St. John's East—and do all he can to get the new province to secede from Confederation if the government does not abide by the union terms.

Under the Confederation arrangement, he said, the Maritime Freight Rate Act was to apply to Newfoundland. However, the Board of Transport Commissioners ruled recently that the union terms did not bar the Canadian National Railways from exercising its usual discretion on rates applying to the Newfoundland area.

Not Sure of Methods

Later, Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland told reporters here he is carrying the province's fight for a better deal in freight rates to the Federal Cabinet and expressed confidence the controversial issue will never sever the bonds that now tie the rest of this country with the island province.

Outside the House, Mr. Higgins said he was not too clear on what procedure would have to be followed for Newfoundland to leave Confederation. Possibly, the province sould follow a reverse procedure to that which brought it into the union.

In the Chamber, Mr. Higgins suggested that all Newfoundland members, who include State Secretary Bradley and four other

Brakeman Dies Saving Train

LONDON, Ont., March 7 (CP) —A railway brakeman died in the act of saving his train from possible derailment Sunday night, officials said Monday.

The body of Joseph L. (Sam) Baskerville, 53, of London, was found beside a Canadian National Railways freight train near Aldershot in the Hamilton area. A few minutes before he had brought the train to a halt by pulling the emergency air cord.

Death was believed due to a heart attack. No inquest will be held.

Other members found a "hot box" on a car. That is an overheated bearing in an axle which can cause a break and throw the train off the rails. They said there was no doubt that Baskerville, a rear-end brakie, had seen the red glow of a "hot box" and signalled the engineer to stop.

"Mr. Baskerville died in the performance of his duty," Divisional Superintendent John A. Murphy said today. "His alertness saved the train from possible danger."

Prices Turn Easier On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, March 7 (CP) — Prices turned easier as activity slowed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. The three-day advance in industrials slowed to a halt and mild selling pressure pushed market leaders into the minus column.

Volume for the first three hours was 779,000 shares.

Losses almost doubled gains in industrials. Steady advances in recent sessions have pushed the industrial list into new high ground. Selling pressure appeared late Monday when strong gains were reduced and continued today. Utilities, agricultures, constructions, liquors and textiles dipped. Papers also tended easier while steel stocks were mixed.

Junior gold producers dipped pennies in dull dealings. Smaller issues were moderately active. Mosher Long Lac, a feature of recent sessions, slumped sharply following news of financing plans.

Base metals also dipped. Early gains were wiped out and losses appeared. Sherritt Gordon was under brisk pressure and International Nickel dipped a fraction. Noranda found some support.

Western oils moved quietly. Several market leaders showed moderate advances in early dealings but later selling wiped out most of the gains.

Warsaw Youth Gets 2 Years On Theft Series

On his pleas of guilty to four thefts of cars and four breakins, entry and thefts in cottages, a service station and a school, Russell Davis, 19, of the Warsaw area, was sentenced to 18 months definite and six months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court today.

Magistrate Philp reserved judgment in two charges against William John Robinson, said to be Davis' companion on the lawless spree from Jan. 23 to Jan. 29. Robinson also faces the six other charges identical to those of which Davis has been convicted. Davis was sentenced to the same term in each offence, the sentences to run concurrently.

In Evidence

Earl Hall, Buckhorn, testified against Robinson, that his car had been stolen from his garage the night of Jan. 24. The car was later found in Port Perry on Davis' direction to the provincial police.

Ivan Haugan, a Port Perry restaurant owner, testified the morning of Jan. 24, he saw two men at the back of his store put something itno a car, signal to him they wanted to leave the car there and left.

He identified Davis, but was not sure his companion was Robinson because both men were badly in need of haircuts. However, he had picked photographs of the two men out from about 10 police showed him Jan. 29. He picked them out again in court today.

The pictures were identified as those of Davis and Robinson by Constable Ray Hope.

Constable Edward Patterson testified he arrested the two men walking together on Highway 36 in Burleigh township, the morning of Jan. 29.

"It's A Frame-Up"

In cross-questioning Constable Patterson about the arrest, Robinson said, "All I can say, it's a frame-up."

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw put Davis in the witness box to testify against Robinson. After some reluctance, Davis said Robinson had been with him when Hall's car was stolen in Buckhorn.

Davis admitted that the statement to police after his arrest was true.

The statement told a long story of thefts and travelling from buckhorn to Port Perry and back taking in all the charges which have been laid against him.

Robinson said Davis could not read the statement and did not know what was in it.

"I can read small words, but if they get very big I can't," said Davis, and proceeded to read his statement.

"What made you tell my mother I wasn't with you?" Robinson asked Davis.

"I was trying to get you out of it," Davis replied.

Wants Full Debate

Churchill also announced he would press for a full debate on economic and money policies.

Discussing the Liberal party, upon whom he inferentially cast the blame for a lack of a conservative margin of victory in the elections—the Liberals and Conservatives together had polled more than the Labor total—Churchill said:

"It has perhaps been readily assumed that the nine gentlemen (the Liberal members) below the gangway on this side will have in this parliament a position of undue influence. I hope the House of Commons is not going to allow itself to be dominated or let its fate and future be decided by any small body of members."

Liberal leader Clement Davies retorted tartly:

"I do not believe the leader of the opposition yet knows the election is over, judging from the speech to which we have just listened."

Davies said another election in the next three or four months would be "unthinkable". He asked why the Tories were rushing to challenge the government on the steel bill, since "no effective matter can be undertaken until Jan. 1, 1951."

Shipkov Admits Guilt To Reds

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 7 — (AP)—Michael Shipkov, former Bulgarian translator in the United States Legation here, confessed Monday to a people's court that he had spied for the U. S. under the personal direction of the former American minister, Donald R. Heath.

(The trial opened only two days after the U. S. State Department had released a dramatic affidavit, signed earlier by Shipkov, revealing how Bulgarian police had extorted a false confession from him by ruthlessly breaking down his will. He had requested that the affidavit be made public in order to clear his name in the event of a trial, which he evidently felt was inevitable.)

Shipkov told the court that Heath—Minister in Bulgaria until the U. S. broke relations with that country and closed its legation in Sofia last month—had "inspired in me the conception that the present (Communist-led Bulgarian) regime is transitional."

gested she might have some "bother" if police officers started to question her.

Mrs. Pitre said she told Guay she had no idea why police should bother her and to this he suggested she should go away or destroy herself. She should turn on the gas or take sleeping pills.

She said he then told her the parcel she carried to the airport Sept. 9 had a "bomb" in it.

To Leave Note

Mrs. Pitre said Guay told her to leave a suicide note before she killed herself, saying that she had caused the plane wreck thinking Guay was aboard and because she owed him money.

Cross-examined by defence lawyer Gerard Levesque, Mrs. Pitre said Guay told her Sept. 19 the parcel contained a bomb. Her brother Jean Marie Ruest told the whole story to police.

Mrs. Pitre said she told police investigators Sept. 23 the parcel she took to the airport contained a statue.

Levesque asked why she didn't tell about Guay's statement that the parcel held a bomb and the woman said she wasn't asked whether there was a bomb in the parcel. Anyway, she was sick at the time.

Levesque asked whether Guay's visits weren't to collect money owed him.

"Not always," said Mrs. Pitre.

Levesque asked Mrs. Pitre if she was fired from her restaurant job Sept. 9.

"No, I gave notice."

"Did you say you'd trim the boss?"

"I may have said that."

"Do you go around trimming people?"

"I wouldn't say that."

Decide Clay Hopper To Manage St. Paul

MONTREAL, March 7 — (CP)— Headquarters of the Montreal Royals of the International Base ball League announced today that Clay Hopper next season will manage Saint Paul of the American Association and Walter Alston manger of the Saints will lead the Royals.

Hopper was the successful leader of two pennant winners here and his teams twice won the Little World Series for Montreal.

No reason for the shift was given except the club announcement which said, "in keeping with a policy of Branch Ricky, president of the Brooklyn Baseball Club, there will be a change in the field management of the Montreal baseball club during the 1950 season."

schools. Some students were unable to adjust to new conditions and new curricula in their first year of high school.

Opposition members said the examinations provided a yardstick of students' achievements and relieved teachers of the responsibility of deciding when a student should be promoted.

Provide Yardstick

C. H. Millard (CCF-York West) said entrance examinations at least provided some yardstick of the extent of a student's formal education.

"At least it proved he could read and write," he said.

Mr. Porter said the entrance certificate now was of little value to a student seeking employment and the only worthwhile criterion of his formal education was matriculation certificates.

C. H. Taylor (CCF-Timiskaming) said elimination of entrance certificates left the responsibility for deciding promotion on the teacher. In many cases in rural areas "where the teacher is probably the aunt of half the children of the district" this would mean children would be promoted to high school when they were not capable of doing more advanced work, would fail their first high school year and cause the community a great deal of expense.

Cautious Approval

Real estate men gave cautious approval to the housing plan outlined by Griesinger.

J. P. C. MacLatchy, president of the Toronto Real Estate Board, says he fears the plan would place too little responsibility on the purchaser, leaving the provincial and municipal government without security.

"It seems to me that if the buyer got tired of the place he could just walk out," Mr. MacLatchy said.

Mr. MacLatchy said the board would discuss the plan at its regular meeting today. He saw the plan as "a social and political set-up. . . not the whole answer, but certainly good in many respects."

Future Of Big US Cities Depends On Seaway

CHICAGO, March 7 (AP)—The industrial future of Chicago, Detroit and other large industrial cities in the area "depends upon the development of the St. Lawrence River," the chief of the rural electrification administration said Monday.

Claude R. Wickard, REA administrator, said the administration's program reached new heights of accomplishment last year, "despite strong and concerted attacks by its enemies."

Railroads, private power corporations and other interest, mainly in the Eastern United States, long have opposed the Canadian-American St. Lawrence seaway and power development, which has never been approved by the United States Senate

Snatch Wing Prospect

TORONTO, March 7 (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs, it became known today, have put the snatch on a promising young player prospect Detroit Red Wings were grooming for their own use in the National Hockey League. The player is Eddie Stankiewicz, a Kitchener lad who is playing on the forward line this season for Windsor Spitfires in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series. The Spitfires are sponsored by the Red Wings but Stankiewicz had not signed a contract. When the Leafs learned that they promptly put the player on their negotiation list.

Beast Wrecks Station

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 7 (AP)—An explosion and fire wrecked a pumping station today, leaving this city of 75,000 without a natural gas supply. Approximately 7,300 homes depend on gas for heating and other uses. About 50 industries also use gas but most of them can switch to standby equipment. The blast and fire destroyed the pumping station—a relay booster plant—and a nearby gasoline service station. No one was injured.

Says Farmers Want Complete Produce Control

TORONTO, March 7—(CP)—Charles McInnis of Iroquois, president of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association, said Monday that farmers want control of their produce "all the way through."

He told a meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture that producers feel that changes in the Farm Products Marketing Act have not gone far enough. The Federation is seeking provincial legislation which will fit in with the Federal Agricultural Products Market Act to give them control of sales on an interprovincial and export basis.

He was commenting on amendments to the act, which got third reading in the Ontario Legislature Monday.

Want Guarantee

W. E. Tummon, secretary of the Association, said some guarantee should be given commodity groups to allow them a chance to view changes in the Marketing Act before they become law.

M. M. Robinson, secretary of the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Association, said producers would "have to go after" authority to get possession of their produce until it reached the consumer.

Egg prices may be forced upward against next fall as a direct result of the slump which occurred in recent weeks after last winter's peak prices, delegates said. Poultrymen will meet March 15 in Toronto to discuss formation of a poultry producers' organization within the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

Parking Lot Sale Meter Removal Occupy Council

CAMPBELLFORD, March 7 (ENS)—The question of the sale of the Front St. parking lot was considered again by the town council Monday. The mayor, who is owner of the lot, reported a Picton businessman wanted to purchase it for erection of eight bowling alleys.

The mayor left the chamber while, under the chairmanship of Reeve Locke, council discussed the matter.

It was moved by Councillor W. Kingston that by-laws 1437 and 1502, be rescinded and that the purchase price of $2,600 be retained by the municipality until such time as an agreement shall be signed for the purchase of the lot by a responsible purchaser. The deed is to be delivered to the purchasr when council considers such building is nearly completed. Failing this, that Mr. Ayrhart is to be refunded the sum of $2,600 upon restoring the property to the condition it was in before his purchase. This motion was seconded by councillor C. Maier.

Meter Problem

A letter from the Mi-Co Meter Company was read. This was with regard to removing the meters now installed on the streets of the town. The town wants to have the meters removed before the one year trial period expires and to do this, it would have to remit an amount equal to 75 per cent of the average monthly take to the company.

The company has set this amount at $4 a meter a month, whereas the average in Campbellford has been only $2.

Payment of $4,140 would have to be made, less any payments already made, which amount to some $1,850. This matter was left over till next meeting.

Mr. Bidgood was given permission to plant flowers and make a park on the vacant lot beside his home on Front St. north. Permission was granted on the understanding that it would incur no expense to the town.

Salary increases for Clerk J. F. McGregor and Treasurer Eldon Ibey, were approved and made retroactive to January 1. Provision for these increases was made in the 1950 budget.

The matter of snow removal was considered, and council came to the conclusion that the streets of Campbellford were in better condition after the last heavy snow fall, than were streets in any of the towns between here and Windsor. These conclusions were based on personal inspections.

Recover Diamond

PARIS, March 7 (AP)—Police said they had recovered a diamond worth $110,000 that was among the gems stolen from the Aga Khan and his wife last summer. Two arrests have been made. Most of the loot was recovered recently by police at Marseille.

Don't Let It Get You

ITHACA, N.Y., March 7 (AP)—Are you bothered by your grammar? Do you say "It is me" instead of "It is I?"

Don't worry about it or you may develop an inner conflict and become confused and insecure, says a Cornell University authority on languages.

When someone asks you who you are, go right on saying "It's me."

"A dictionary or grammar is not as good an authority for your speech as the way you, yourself speak," says Prof. Robert A. Hall, Jr., of Cornell's division of modern languages.

Hall contends the English language and our teaching of it are cluttered up with "folkloristic notions" and "school dogmas."

Elect Mrs. MacMillan Head Of Prospectors

TORONTO, March 6 (CP)—Mrs. Mrs. Viola R. MacMillan of Toronto was re-elected president of the Prospectors and Developers Association, a position she has held since 1944.

William Dennis of Toronto was elected vice-president. George A. MacMillan was re-elected secretary and Doris Drew assistant secretary.

New directors are W. J. Wiltsey, Noranda, Que.; Mel Robb, Haileybury; Alan Musselwhite, Flex Roach, John Dennis and Robert Elliott, all of Toronto. Retiring directors are James Cryderman, Sudbury; Conrad Hansen, Sioux Lookout; and Don Hurd, Kirkland Lake.

Court Has Refused To Set Aside Ruling

TORONTO, March 7.—(CP).—An Appellate Court Monday refused to set aside a previous ruling regarding sale of shares in the Sawdust Mining Syndicate by Reginald Thrush of Chapleau to Alex P. Read, one of the original members of the syndicate.

Thrust claimed that he sold half his interest to Read when the latter, as a syndicate member, was his trustee. He said Read failed to disclose to him the full knowledge of the property.

The sawdust syndicate was formed by nine men who staked claims in Leson, Rennie Stover and Brackin townships. The claims were bought later by Macassa Mines for $20,000 cash and 150,000 shares of Renable Mines, Limited. Thrush said he bought $500 worth of stocks, sold half to his solicitor for $250 and the other half to Read for $500.

GuideToCampbellford Prepared For Town

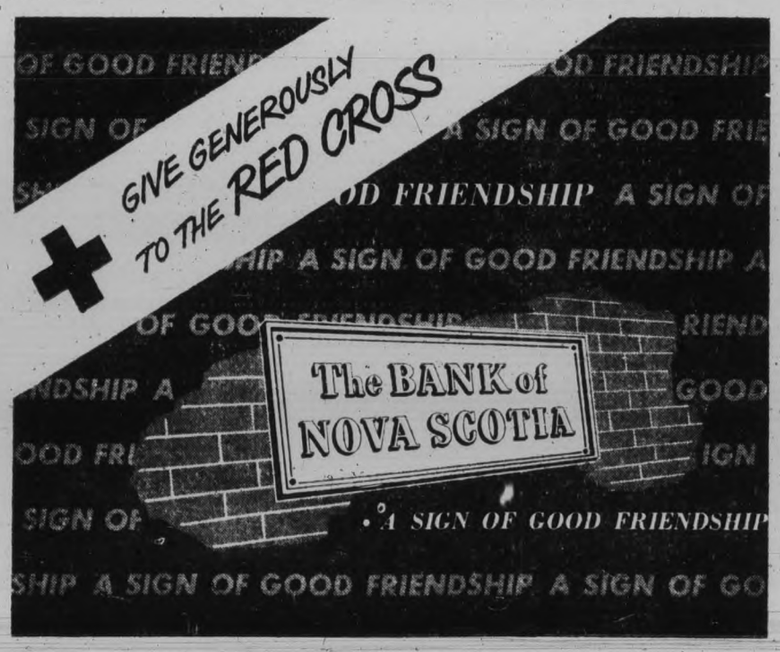
CAMPBELLFORD, March 7 (ENS)—A synopsis of Campbellford in booklet form was presented to the town council Monday by J. C. Birmingham, who was compiler and editor.

It includes a plan of the town and lists all streets, lots, businesses, industries, churches, schools and recreation areas.

179,894 Accidents Reported To Board

TORONTO, March 7.—(CP).—A total of 179,894 accidents were reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board in 1949 the Ontario Legislature learned Monday.

The Board's annual report, tabled in Legislature, said during this time benefits paid amounted to $19,028,350. It stated also that industry continued at about the same level of activity as in 1948. Payrolls and accidents increased slightly.



Assessment receipts from schedue (1) Industries— the bulk of those covered by the Board — were $24,434,676. The average rate of assessment charged employers was $1.27 for every $100 of payroll. Compensation and medical aid for workers in these industries amounted to $15,725,669. Total benefits awarded under schedule two, covering Dominion and Provincial governments and some industries, were $2,961,844.

A Chance For A Civic Auditorium

There is no dispute about the fact that Peterborough needs a civic auditorium, capable of seating between 1,000 and 1,300 people, and available for public meetings, lectures, concerts and plays. And there is also no dispute about the fact that Peterborough will not get such an auditorium if it has to be built entirely anew. The scheme is to include an auditorium in the new City Hall has fallen through for lack of money. As time passes it becomes clearer that the Memorial Centre will not supply this lack in the city's equipment. Can anything be done?

* * *

A golden opportunity was missed when the city failed to acquire the old Opera House for this purpose. It had the basic requirements for an auditorium, and it could have been remodelled at a cost which would have been small when compared with the outcome. But that opportunity was lost, and it must be said that the early days of the war were not a time when the city could see its way to expenditure of that sort. The war is [illegible] for an auditorium however.

When the new Federal Building is finished there will be two large, substantial buildings free in Peterborough—the Post Office and the Customs House. The Dominion Government will wish to sell them, and will doubtless be ready to entertain reasonable offers. The future of the Post Office cannot easily be guessed for it is not a building readily adaptable to anything but its present purpose. The Customs House, however, is more promising, and we suggest that it might provide an excellent shell within which a suitable civic auditorium might be built.

* * *

There may be great difficulties in the way. But on the other hand, if the building could be acquired at a reasonable figure— and there are not likely to be many eager buyers—it might provide Peterborough with something which it needs for a great deal less than any auditorium, specially built, would cost.

Sentence And Reprieve

The press has given a good deal of editorial attention to the case of the 17-year-old Ontario boy who was recently found guilty of murder, sentenced to be hanged, and then reprieved with a commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment a week before the time for his execution. Many newspapers protested that a boy of seventeen should not be hanged under any circumstances. Many more have said that the delay of his reprieve until a week before the date for his hanging was torture of a kind which should not be tolerated in Canada.

We agree that it is a dreadful thing to hang a boy of seventeen, but when a boy of seventeen knowingly and wilfully commits murder, what is to be done with him? We do not agree with the assumption that as many murderers as possible should be reprieved, and that they should be given the comfort of a reprieve (such as it is) at the earliest possible moment. In fact, we question once again the idea that it is an act of mercy to deliver a man from the gallows in order that he may spend his life in prison.

The boy who has been reprieved has a probable fifty-three years of prison life before him. Will life be such a boon to him under those circumstances that it should be desired? And is it not true that the people of Canada will have to maintain him, at a considerable expense, during every hour of that time? Is the reprieve worth having, for him or for the rest of us?

There appear to be a great many people who think that death is the worst thing that can happen to a man. Compared with a lifetime of imprisonment it appears to us to be an easy and merciful release.

Are Canadians Spendthrifts?

Last year American tourists spent in this country the record sum of 288 million dollars, eight million dollars more than in 1948. That is big business worth cultivating as intensively as we do, worth perhaps even greater cultivation to attract even more U.S. tourist dollars, to help us balance our very awkward U.S. trade deficit. But that record is only the obverse of the dollar bill trade.

We dollar-short Canadians managed to spend—as tourists outside our borders, chiefly in the U.S.A.—the huge sum of 191 million dollars. This was $57,000,000 more than touring Canadians spent in 1948. So the year's gain over 1948 from the American tourists was completely wiped out; the net result of the Canadian-American tourist business was $97,000,000 to Canada's credit, but $49,000,000 less in American dollars than in 1948. This drop came in a year when Canada made the greatest tourist-drawing effort in its history, and spent large sums doing it.

The increased Canadian spending in the U.S.A. was in a year when restrictions on the amount of U.S. currency travelling Canadians are allowed for spending were still in force. What would happen if these restrictions were removed is rather frightening to contemplate.

What is the matter with us, that we spent so much in the U.S.A.? Are we more susceptible to American publicity than Americans are to our tourist advertisements? Are the Americans cleverer in advertising their tourist wares? Perhaps the wares they offer are better, more attractive. If so, then it is up to the Canadian tourist industry to improve itself, by offering more and better. There is, of course, the undoubted attraction of such cities as New York, the winter climate of Florida, and the magnetism of the most powerful and humming nation on earth —which is a powerful magnet to Europeans as well.

Whatever the reasons, Canadians are spending on U.S. jaunts more than the country can easily afford—despite the restrictions, and the devalued Canadian dollar. In fact, Americans are spending in touring in Canada—reckoning on the basis of total populations—about two dollars a person. Canadians are spending about $14. That is, Canadians are spending on an average seven times as much in touring the U.S.A. as Americans spend touring in Canada. Reckless spending of hard-earned American dollars dearly-needed for essential national housekeeping purposes? In our Canadian-American tourist business we do not pay as we go, we squander as we go.

Masaryk's Day

Today is the centenary of the birth of Thomas Masaryk, the liberator and first president of Czechoslovakia. The country which he founded and to which his life was devoted is now under Russian domination, but we must not therefore assume that Masaryk's work was wasted and that the dream of freedom which he entertained for his beloved land is at an end. Tyrannies are terribly powerful and long-lasting, but they are no more powerful or long-lasting than the example of great men, and the yearnings of free men. Masaryk lives in the hearts of his countrymen, and he is remembered with respect and indeed with reverence by people everywhere who value freedom. There will be no outward show of rejoicing in Czechoslovakia today, but can we doubt that millions of Czechs will rejoice in their hearts? It is impossible for a conqueror to quench the flame that burns in the hearts of a vanquished people.

During the years of his triumph we often forgot that Masaryk was a political philosopher, as well as a statesman of genius. Now that the country which he founded—or perhaps it would be more correct to say, which he brought to life after a long sleep—is once again under a despotism, it is to his political philosophy that we turn. He was a political realist in the truest sense of those words. That is to say, he did not theorize about politics in the void: he stood for a unified concept of life, in which the intellectual, political and spiritual genius of the nation worked together and without rivalries for the general good. He was not only a great Czech; he was a great citizen of the world.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A doctor says that it is unhealthy to suppress a laugh. There are times, however, when to let the laugh go is to bring on discoloration of the eye.

A horse in Oregon recently killed fifty lambs. But let us not judge too hastily. Maybe the horse was trying his best paces, while the snide little lambs stood around and said "Ba-a-ah!"

A prison expert says that men in penitentiaries should be kept up with the news of the day. Nothing, of course, would be more likely to make them contented to stay where they are.

Mr. Attlee's Moderate Cabinet

By HENRY FAIRLIE

WITH the formation of Mr. Attlee's new government, the political situation is a little calmer. It is generally assumed that neither of the two great parties wants another General Election before autumn; for this reason, the Government's programme is likely to be as uncontroversial as possible, and the Conservative Opposition will not harass it more than is necessary. It is, of course, possible that the Government may be defeated before the autumn and that it will then dissolve Parliament and go to the country. But neither of the two great parties seems at the moment to wish for such an occurrence.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE first task which faces the Government —and Sir Stafford Cripps in particular— is the introduction of a new Budget. If Sir Stafford could look forward to five years more in office, he could start confidently on a more realistic financial and economic policy, hoping that however unpopular it might be at the start, it would, within five years, bring more stability to the country's economy —and so more benefits to the voter. But the Budget will be framed—and looked on—as part of the next General Election campaign. It cannot be hoped, therefore, that it will be anything more than an interim measure, designed to annoy as few people as possible—without doing any unnecessary harm to the country's economy.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS is, perhaps, the most serious result of the election stalemate. Weak government today is, to say the least, undesirable; but weak government is what the country will assuredly have until the next election is held. The King's Speech, outlining the Government's programme, was read on Monday. Conservatives and Liberals will not decide what their tactics in the House of Commons will be until they have carefully considered it. If the Conservatives want to challenge the Government immediately, they will act upon any referenc ein the Speech to the Iron and Steel Nationalization Act. This Act is already law, but vesting day (when the State takes over the industry) is not until June 1, 1951. Nevertheless, there are certain administrative steps which have to be taken this year to prepare for vesting day — and the Conservatives may choose to ask that these changes should be postponed until after the next polling day, whether it comes in June or October.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS would put Labour in a difficult position immediately. There was a majority of votes—for Conservatives and Liberals—against nationalization. So the Government can hardly claim that it has a mandate to continue with preparations for the nationalization of Iron and Steel. Yet to admit the Conservative case would be a hard blow. Nevertheless, the arguments for postponing the administrative steps which must be taken under the Act seems to be almost as strong on the Labour as on the Conservative side. Labour, after all, cannot win the next election without the support of a substantial section of the moderate "centre" vote: it would alienate much of this vote if it decided to proceed with the nationalization of Iron and Steel in the face of the election results.

◇ ◇ ◇

MR. Attlee's Government changes suggest that the new Ministry will not find it difficult to lean toward moderation. No concession has been made to Labour's left-wing. Mr. Aneurin Bevan had publicly declared that he wanted to move from the Ministry of Health—but he is still there. The new Ministers and those who have received promotion are all sound "centre" men. Mr. James Griffiths (Colonies), Mr. Hector McNeil (Scotland) and Mr. P. Gordon-Walker (Commonwealth Relations) are now in the Cabinet, and Mr. Bevan, if he is the leader of a left-wing group as some people say, cannot look to them for support.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE only other recruit to the Cabinet is Mr. Shinwell, who has been promoted to the Ministry of Defence. Since he was "kicked upstairs" from the Ministry of Fuel and Power to the War Ministry in 1947, Mr. Shinwell has become a far more moderate man, and incidentally has proved himself a good administrator. His political opinions are always a matter of speculation, but he certainly seems to have learned the lesson that promotion under Mr. Attlee does not go to those who set themselves up as free-lancers on the left.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE is nothing startling in the promotion of Mr. John Strachey, who must be glad to get away from the least popular of departments, the Ministry of Food. He has been succeeded by Mr. Maurice Webb, the chairman of the Labour Party. Mr. Webb will probably see that the most important problem in the Ministry of Food is public relations—he was himself a political journalist once—and it was in this field that Mr. Strachey so lamentably failed. As for his political views, Mr. Webb is as sound an Attlee supporter as Mr. Attlee himself could wish for.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE only real surprise in the list of changes is the appointment of Mr. Richard Stokes to be Minister of Works. Mr. Stokes—a Roman Catholic—has been one of the persistent critics of the Labour Government—especially on the question of German dismantling. It can be taken for granted that Mr. Ernest Bevin will not welcome his admission to the Government. Whatever Mr. Attlee's motives —a personal liking for the man; a desire to show that he has no objection to independent critics; or perhaps even a hopeful move to pacify the Catholic vote in industrial centres —whatever the motive, Mr. Stoke's appointment makes no differences to the political balance of power inside the Government; he is too unorthodox to put in any category.

◇ ◇ ◇

WITH a new Government in office, the country now waits to see what moves the parties will make in the House of Commons, and how they will set about attracting that powerful block of centre opinion on which the result of the next election depends.

BE THERE WHENEVER THEY CALL

Records Of The Century At P.C.V.S.

By HELEN R. McGREGOR

WHEN a centennial year comes round, the value of written records is apparent. In this respect the Collegiate is fortunate, for although The Echoes itself goes back only to 1905, reminiscences preserved in its volumes cover the rest of the century fairly well. Of these, one written by a student of the 1850's is most interesting.

In The Days That Are Past

"The school of fifty years ago was a rough-cast affair that stood at the corner of Hunter and Sheridan Streets. By one door the boys entered to take up their studies and by the other they escaped with their lives.... Punishment was divided by mutual agreement into three classes, whipping, threshing, and whaling. The first was administered on the hands, the second about the shoulders and back, and a whaling was something that searched out every available part of the anatomy and was remembered. Indiscriminate and unduly severe punishment did much to hold teachers and pupils apart.... The whole aggregation of instruction was known as the Peterborough Union Grammar and Common Schools, so long as the capital letters held out."

Running The Dams

From 1860 the Grammar School occupied the third floor of what is now Central School. "Co-education of the sexes," says an Old Boy, "was not in vogue." In 1864 there were forty-one pupils (population 4,000). The subjects taught were English, Latin, Greek, French, Algebra, Euclid, Geography, History, Physical Science (but no Chemistry) Natural Philosophy, Writing, Drawing and Political Economy. The matriculation examination had to be taken at Toronto in September. The favourite sport in its season was running the dams: "Just as the crib of square timber entered the side and the men were busy hauling in their oars, two or three boys would jump from the pier to the crib. With a majestic sweep the crib sped down the smooth swift waters of the slide.... Sometimes the whole crib went under water and men and boys alike were drenched.... As this sport was often indulged in at the noon hour, not a few afternoons had to be endured in a wet suit of clothes until four o'clock."

Dr. Kenner's Regime

In 1891 the Collegiate first acquired separate quarters, a building next door to the public school. In 1893 Dr. Kenner joined the staff. It is notable that of the century we celebrate, Dr. Kenner's unique service of fifty years in one school, spans one-half. In that period the staff increased from 7 to 40, the student body from 210 to as high as 1185. Coincident with Dr. Kenner's promotion to principal in 1908, was the move to the present site on McDonnel. An enthusiastic editor wrote in prophetic words: "The site is one of the best, if not the best in the city, and the dreamer may see in his mind's eye our City Hall and Public Library of the future in the immediate vicinity." Students described the new Collegiate (now known as "the old part of the building") with dignity and awe, especially the new laboratories for the teaching of science. But not so the site that they had left: "A geometrical point is a hard thing to see at any time but more especially so under the light conditions prevailing in the old school.... Most of the taps were frozen up and the thirsty student had to content himself with reading the instructions pasted above the sink—that the sooner they paid their fees the better.... The outfielders of teams had found it very difficult to perform their duties when it involved climbing over fences, racing across backyards, and scrambling over hen houses."

Fair Agonists

There is no better criterion of the third quarter of the century than the articles on girls' sports. An early editor advocates a walking club for the girls. "The sweet country air and pleasure of motion combine to make long walks most enjoyable." Then follow account of paper-chases: "There was nothing to equal the graceful step of Miss N—— over a five-foot fence," and of hockey matches of all things: "On facing off Misses D —— and B ——, missing the puck, banged into each other and were given a two-minute rest." By 1916 "there was much interest shown in the girls' races. The rain had no more effect upon the girls than upon the boys, and the fair agonists (How few in 1950 will appreciate the apt classical flavour of the word!) displayed great prowess in their events." The editorial viewpoint was always emancipated: "Few seem to take a rational view of the matter and to consider athletics as a necessary part of a girl's life. It is considered to be a passing phase like a high pompadour or a taste for ice-cream."

◇ ◇ ◇

FOR the rest, The Echoes records the two wars, a generation apart but with strikingly similar activities of students and ex-students; an increasing enrolment (the new part of the present building being opened in 1928); and with the long-standing interest in cadets and sports, an encouraging and ever-widening interest in music, writing, art, and the drama.

Safeguard Water

Some of our cities and towns may be much closer to a water supply crisis than is comfortable, simply because they haven't taken watershed protection seriously as in Europe and some parts of the United States. Either citizens and municipal authorities don't know or are ignoring the vital part forests play in regulating stream flow and preventing erosion. Danger signals could be the silting of reservoirs. It took only five years for the reservoirs of Santa Barbara, California to become almost half filled with sediment after fire had taken its toll of the city's watershed forests.

One Canadian city is doing something right now about the problem and this should be an incentive to other centres. Victoria probably took her cue from the discovery that silting of one reservoir was due to clear logging and burning of part of the Goldstream watershed 15 years ago. Anyway she has put her watershed forests under management and a full-time forester is now on the job.

Municipalities right across the country would be well advised to apply the same engineering sense to water supply as to industrial enterprise.—Woodland World.

The Eye-Opener's 'Wreck'

Maclean's Magazine carries an interesting article on the old Calgary Eye-Opener and its famous editor, Bob Edwards. It was Bob who said that every man had a favourite bird, his was the bat. Which accounted for the paper not issuing for a week or so at a time. In a battle with the C.P.R., when R. B. Bennett was the company solicitor and when they wouldn't allow Mr. Edwards' paper to be sold on the trains, the Eye-Opener carried a series of pictures, everyone purportedly a train wreck on the C.P.R., until it came to a fifth one. It published Mr. Bennett's picture under the headline: "Another C.P.R. Wreck". After that the Calgary Eye-Opener was sold on all C.P.R. trains.—St. Catharines Standard.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then Paul stood up, and beckoning with his hand said, Men of Israel, and ye that fear God, give audience. The God of this people of Israel chose our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt as strangers in the land of Egypt, and with an high arm brought he them out of it....

And afterward they desired a king: and God gave unto them Saul the son of Cis, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, by the space of forty years. And when he had removed him, he raised up unto them David to be their king; to whom also he gave testimony, and said, I have found David the son of Jesse, a man after mine own heart, which shall fulfil all my will. Of this man's seed hath God according to his promise raised unto Israel a Saviour, Jesus....

Men and brethren, children of the stock of Abraham, and whosoever among you feareth God, to you is the word of this salvation sent. For they that dwell at Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the voices of the prophets which are read every sabbath day, they have fulfilled them in condemning him. And though they found no cause of death in him, yet desired they Pilate that he should be slain. And when they had fulfilled all that was written of him, they took him down from the tree, and laid him in a sepulchre....

And we declare unto you glad tidings, how that the promise which was made unto the fathers, God hath fulfilled the same unto us their children, in that he hath raised up Jesus again; as it is also written in the second psalm, Thou are my Son, this day have I begotten thee.

And as concerning that he raised him up from the dead, now no more to return to corruption, he said on this wise, I will give you the sure mercies of David. (Acts 13: 16, 17, 21-23, 26-29, 32-34.)

Letters To The Editor

MEN TAKE BOYS' JOBS

Sir: I have read with interest your different letters re married women working. Well, I am married but I do not work out, but I would like to say a bit about married men. I know several who work all week and I might say, receive a good wage, who are working Saturday's in stores or nights at other little jobs. I would like to say they do not need this work, as a lot of them have wives who work. I am sure there are lots of High School boys who could use a Saturday job but can't get one, because the married man wants extra money.

They have their unions working for them for a 40 hour week, and then when they get it and find they have a whole day to themselves, out they go and look for a job no matter how low the wage. I for one think this is awful and a lot worse than a married woman working. Thanking you for space in your paper. I am,

"A HOUSEWIFE".

SUPPORTS SANITARIUM FOR PETERBOROUGH

Sir: In reply to the "Lonely Patient" regarding using the Civic Hospital as a "Sanitarium" and not a "Mental Hospital".

I am also a patient in Toronto, and can sympathize with this party, being away from your home and your loved ones.

I really think this is a wonderful idea, as I'm sure there would be more use of a hospital for T.B. patients than a mental one.

It is true, they say the biggest part of the cure is being contented and happy, but when you're alone and among strangers, it is hard to do this.

I am all for this idea, and hope that our prominent men in Peterborough will see what can be done about it; also Dr. Kelly may be able to suggest something.

It would be wonderful to know that we could at least go back home and have our rest, where we would be so much happier and improve so much quicker.

Thanking you,

ANOTHER LONELY PATIENT.

Too Many Specialists

The Bishop of Honduras had written to the London Times complaining of the dilatory methods of the Foreign Office and of decisions "taken with little reference to the moral and human needs of the individuals that live in the colony". Apparently a policy of centration on one commercial activity, forestry, has brought the colony to a critical state. The bishop wonders "how we even achieved a name as Empire-builders". But he answers that: "It is not the man, either in the Colonial Office or the colony, it is the method." Delays, reports and the visits of highly paid experts are mentioned. When the Briton made his name as an Empire builder the man on the spot was little hampered by cables from home. Centralization does not go with British genius. The Empire builder acted and reported home. What is worse, air travel has inflicted on the man on the spot, the man who knows the land and its people and should have wide authority, all kinds of specialists.—Saint John Telegraph Journal.

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE WHIP—Arza Clair Casselman became a member of the House of Commons in 1921, winning in the Eastern Ontario constituency of Grenville as a Conservative. But he resigned shortly after that to clear the way for Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen to enter Parliament. Mr. Casselman was successful in Grenville-Dundas in 1926, 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945 and 1949. He is a lawyer, first world war veteran and father of two sons. Born in Dundas County Jan. 19, 1891, he was first appointed Progressive Conservative whip in the Commons in 1936.

But the department noted that 56,953,000 Americans had regular jobs in February, including those not actually laboring because of strikes.

PSORIASIS

A New Concentrated Prescription Found

Psoriasis is a chronic skin eruption characterized by circumscribed red, scaly adhesions. We do not know that a cure for Psoriasis has been found, but this prescription will clear the skin for approximately six months to one year. The prescription is a clear, colorless and odorless liquid and it contains no oil or grease. Clothing and linens cannot be stained or marked. Application is simple. The affected parts are washed with a pure soap and warm water, the prescription Exoff Concentrated is then patted on with a small swab of cotton—apply night and morning. You can get this prescription at all druggists, simply ask for 3 ounces of Exoff Concentrated and if your skin is tender or gets dry, you should also obtain ½ ounce of Exoff Ointment. Cut this out as a reminder—it is well worth a trial.

Urges Railways Let Trucks Do Short Hauls

OTTAWA, March 7 (CP) — Suggestion that the railways should consider leaving short-haul business to trucks and concentrating on long-distance traffic was advanced Monday by a provincial lawyer before the Royal commission on transportation.

M. A. MacPherson, Saskatchewan counsel, said the commission should determine whether there should be some integration of rail and truck services or whether the railways "may be following a mirage in trying to get traffic of all kinds" for themselves.

(The controversy between rail and truck interests has been a major issue before the commission. The railways have contended that truck services bite deeply into their revenues.)

Monday, Mr. MacPherson, suggested to S. J. W. Liddy, assistant Comptroller of the Canadian Pacific Railway, that it might be wise for the railways to accept the present situation—that trucking is here to stay as part of the transportation picture.

Mr. Liddy said the CPR had made certain investments in truck firms, with a view to "seeing what is in" the trucking business. He said he thought the company's main purpose in doing this was to co-ordinate truck and railway business, all on the thesis that the railway provided the cheapest service on long-haul traffic.

The Saskatchewan counsel said he wondered if the railway should not carry on long-distance traffic and abondon the other field to trucks.

Popski's Private Army Hits Print, Called Best War Book To Date

By WILLIAM BOSS.

LONDON, March 7 (CP). — Popski is in print. Publication of Lt.-Col. Vladimir Peniakoff's "Private Army" — hailed as the best-written war book to date—puts on the record history some thought never would be written.

Popski's private army was a legend to Canadians who served in North Africa and Italy. Stories were rife about the hand-picked, jeep-borne band whose mission was reconnaissance and destruction deep behind the enemy's lines.

Until the Canadians reached Ravenna few Dominion soldiers had more than 2heard of the "PPA." There, however, the little force materialized more for the Canadians than it had for the oth - Allied formations in the war to that point.

Once the winter line had been stabilized along the vale in Comacchio and the Senio River, Popski operated for a time through a sector of the Canadian front commanded by Major Loran Baker, MP.

International Brigade

For Yarmouth, NS, Baker's troops were a veritable International Brigade of Italians, "Popskis," some British and some Canadians, not to mention Italian partisans.

Peniakoff had become Popski during the desert fighting—it was a much more easily recognizable version of his name over radio inter-com.

This Belgian of Russian descent was educated at Cambridge, where he conceived a "somewhat ridiculous fervor" for England.

In 1940 he joined the British Army and soon his special knowledge of the desert in North Africa brought him command of a force whose specialty was roving behind the enemy lines, getting information, blowing up the gasoline dumps and generally harassing the opposition.

His private army was formed after the invasion of Italy and Popski was given a free hand in the planning and execution of its sabotage and reconnaissance work.

His men were primarily hard but human. They numbered about 100.

"We preserved the decencies," he says, "raped no women, tortured nobody, looted in moderation, and only from those who could well afford to lose, went wenching only with the best, and, when we could, looked after the girls we got in trouble."

They fought their own war and loved it.

Kingston Edges Legion, 5-4 To Go Up In Group Playoffs

Edging out Legionnaires 5-4 in Kingston last night before 2,300 fans, the Nylons want one game up in their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group finals. The fourth game will be played here tomorrow night and the fifth back in Kingston on Friday. It was another clean, fast and tight fray between these smart, well-matched rivals, the score being 3-2 for Legion in the first and 5-4 for Nylons going into a scoreless third.

IN ON TWO — Playing his usual steady, hard - working game, Bob Parnell was in on a pair of goals last night in Kingston, but the Nylons still managed to yank out a 5-4 win to go one up in their senior "B" group finals.

Once again, the big ice surface seemed to bother the Legion some, along with penalties. They drew six of the nine handed out—two costing goals. The long trip didn't help either, and the Ellis outfit didn't look at their best in this fray, even though they had a margin on play in the first and third frays. The homesters had a definite edge in the second as they outscored Legion 3-1 in that chukker and won the game right there.

Led The Way

Bob Parnell, Dootch Vitarelli and Joe Rochetta were each in on two goals for the ex-servicemen, Toodie Greenlaw, Keith Montgomery and Doug Mortimer being in on one apiece. Joey Catlin and Ken Partis were in on a pair apiece for Kingston, with single marks going to Plumb, Hawkins, Gerow, Armstrong and Patterson. Both goalies were really good in this game, and again Udall had more work to do. Despite more Legion penalties, the visitors were in on his doorstep much oftener than Kingston bothered Nicholls—and both made some swell saves.

Catlin scored early from Gerow on a flip forward pass through defence, but Rochetta got it right back on a similar play from Vitarelli. With Coombs off for tripping, Catlin got another from Partis on a return pass right through defence as Ross sprawled after one save. Later, Greenlaw tied it up on neat close-in combination and fast with Doug Mortimer and Parnell feeding the puck ahead. Montgomery put Legion up 3-2 on a pass from Parnell, finishing off the play smartly as he wove in on goal. Hill drew a misconduct for shooting the puck into the crowd and Patterson got a minor for hooking near the close.

Nylons' Frame

Plumb took Armstrong's pass-out with a slap shot to even the score at 5:46 of the second heat and, with Montgomery off for tripping, Nylons scored another one. Hawkins from Patterson as the team ganged up and peppered Nicholls. With Monty back, Partis went around the net fast to backhand one into the corner and make it 5-3 as the big crowd cheered, figuring it was going to be a walkaway. Patterson got the nod for high-sticking, with Doug Mortimer right on his heels for hooking. All were back when Dootch Vitarelli scored from Rochetta in a scramble as Legion started to fight back, and it was 5-4. D. Mortimer got it again for roughing.

All through the scoreless third, Legionnaires roared in there to blast away at Udy Udall, but the bespectacled goalie was both good and lucky. He was on his fanny a lot of the time, but the burnt biscuit did not get by him. Armstrong went off once for holding and Udy was extra busy, having good cover-up aid from his teammates, and later the pressure was eased for two minutes when Crowley climbed the wall for slashing. They ganged up continuously on Udall but couldn't hit the mark, missing numerous fine chances as the crowd gasped and Nylons iced the puck to take off the pressure. With 30 seconds to go, Nicholls was pulled to let six forwards press in, but time ran out on the Legion crew.

Legion—Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alternates, Parnell, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Hill, Stewart, Coombs, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.

Kingston—Goal, Udall; defence, Murphy and Plumb; centre, Partis; wings, Catlin and Gerow; alternates, Armstrong, Joyce, Hawkins, McKeown, Graves, Patterson, Aitken and Harrison.

Referees, J. Crombie and L. Heffering.

U.S. Takes Lead In London Figure-Skating

LONDON, March 7 — (CP).—Suzanne Morrow and Marlene Smith, Canada's best amateur women skaters, today faced the difficult task of salvaging at least one title for the Dominion as the world figure skating championships entered its second day.

The United States dominated the opening session of the three-day championships Monday, winning one title and gaining strong leads in two others.

Today's skating started with the women's six compulsory school figures which counted for about 60 per cent towards the final judging. Miss Morrow and Miss Smith sought to lift the women's crown held by Alena Vrzanova, 18-year-old Czech beauty who won it in Paris last year after Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott turned professional.

Miss Vrzanova ruled the favorite to retain her crown. Four American women were in the event. Of the four, Yvonne Sherman, black-haired New York star and the North American champion, loomed the best bet. She finished second in Paris last year. The others were Virginia Baxter of Detroit, Andra McLaughlin of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Sonja Klopper of Brooklyn.

Take Gold Medal

The Kennedy kids of Seattle—18-year-old Karol and 21-year-old Peter—gave the United States its first gold medal Monday by winning the world pairs crown over a star-studded field.

Miss Smith and Don Gilchrist of Toronto, the Canadian pairs champions, finished sixth in the field of 12 with 87.07 points. Their program featured spectacular lifts and a wide variety of jumps and steps. The Canadian couple also danced to "Beautiful Galathea" by Von Suppe. A crowd of 7,000 in London's largest rink gave them hearty applause.

Dick Button of Englewood, NJ, probably the greatest men's figure-skater in the world, appeared certain of retaining his crown. Button was given 824.71 points in the compulsory figures to 778.86 for Ede Kiraly of Hungary, his nearest opponent and also runner-up last year. The free-skating phase was scheduled tonight.

Meaford Drops Game To Cobourg By 65-29

MEAFORD, March 7. — Although they defeated Cobourg by a score of 43-36, Meaford was eliminated in the Ontario Basketball Association intermediate "B" playdowns as they dropped the first game in Cobourg by a score of 65-29.

Absent from the opening game of the series, Ralph Franklin returned to the Meaford lineup and potted 14 points; John Bonner, 14, and Prittie, eight, were best for the winners. Hamilton led the smooth-working visitors with 15 points. Cobourg will now enter the Ontario finals against Ridgetown.

64 Rinks Entered In Hamilton 'Spiel

HAMILTON, March 7 — (CP) —The Hamilton bonspiel got under way Monday with a total of 64 rinks in the hunt for honors in the five events. Play continues until Thursday.

Four Hamilton rinks came through with victories in the second round games played Monday night in the main Spectator Trophy.

One Victoria Club rink, skipped by H. Robey, stayed in the running with an 11-7 victory over the Hamilton Thistle quartet skipped by Dr. J. Onhouser. In the opening round the Robey rink knocked off Bob Sutherland's Guelph foursome.

C's Cagers Good

CAMPBELLFORD, March 7 — (ENS)—The boys of Campbellford High School completed their basketball schedule for the year at Wellington recently, where they succeeded in gaining a 36-13 victory.

In the junior league, in which the Campbellford boys were entered, Albert College, Belleville Collegiate, Ontario School for the Deaf, Picton, Trenton, and Wellington also had teams. This year Campbellford had a strong team and placed third in the league, winning all games except those against Albert College and Belleville Collegiate, and the margins in these games were small. Campbellford tied the league-leading Belleville Collegiate team 28-28 in the final game, only to be beaten in overtime. The forward line of Paul Bennett, George Heath and Jif Jeffs was mentioned by several of the coaches as the best line in the league.

Players for Campbellford were: centres, George Heath and Raymond Reid; forwards, Paul Bennett, Jim Jeffs, William Lelliott, Ken McFarlane; guards, Robert Bibby, Maurice Kelly, Donald Rose, Aubrey Sharp, Robert Barnum, Howard Sheppard.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It's Nanjo (the banjo) Singh against Doc Len Hall this Thursday night in the main pro grappling bout at the Brock St. arena. Yes, sir (and you, ma'am), they've pitted this pair of villains against each other to headline a lively three-bout mat card. They're as rough a duo as ever tore an ear off a passer-by just to keep in practice. Odd thing, though, is that the usually disliked California pharmacist will prove the more popular Thursday here, as he isn't as low a hombre in many fans' minds as the Hindu of the choke holds. The "banjo" plays on the neck cords like a musician at every opportunity. Hall hasn't lost a decision here yet, so it should be quite a show.

Bun Kingdon's junior "B" Oddfellows are all set for OHA group finals, having kept in shape since they rubbed out the Kingston Vics the middle of last week. A tough series it was, too. Don Anderson advises that, since Oshawa trimmed Belleville again last p.m., the Oddfellows open their big playoff series with Oshawa tomorrow night in the Motor City. Second game of the best-of-five sawoffs will be here Friday evening, and then back again to Oshawa on Monday. The IOOF-ers are really playing hockey now and should take the group crown. Set aside Friday eve, folks, to see a streamlined junior puck joust.

Marlies Meet IOOF

And Len Symonds sends in word that the juvenile "A" Triple Links are drawn in their third OMHA playdown round with Toronto Marlboros. A two-game series, goals to count, opening in Weston at six p.m. Friday with the return go this Saturday night at 8.30 in Civic Arena. It is a quarter-final series, the winner to meet the Kitchener-Waterloo survivor, the finals then being against the Western Ontario victor, down around London or Windsor. Marlies are undefeated in their last 16 games, 12 in loop play and four in playoffs. Connie Smythe goes to a lot of their tilts, but may not come here as it's Saturday and Leafian night at the Gardens.

* * * * * *

No doubt another whopping crowd at Civic Arena on the morrow at 8.30 after sundown when Kingston Nylons and Legionnaires tee off again. The fourth fray of their best-of-seven serial. Nylons now being one up after their 5-4 win at home last night. Another sizzling playoff scrap between two fine senior "B" clubs, speedy, clean and exciting. First-rate hockey all the way, and highly important. Another loss for Legion would put 'em right back of the eight-ball, but a win for the Ellis outfit would sew up the sawoffs tight again. And time is running out for these clubs as this gruelling series grinds itself along.

* * * * * *

Not A Sellout As Yet

Manager Walt Smillie of the arena tells us that there were almost 2,000 paid customers at the last Nylons-Legion tilt, but that the place hasn't yet been entirely sold out. It will hold perhaps 2,200, and there are just 613 reserve seats. So there'll be room for all of you, folks. Legion didn't get the best of the deal on penalties last p.m., drawing six of the nine handed out—and two of them cost goals. While the boys battled as hard as ever, and had an edge on play in the first and third frames, they didn't click right up to top form. Didn't clear the puck too well at times and lacked the scoring punch with dozens of close-in chances. They miss a payoff performer like Bob Greenlaw.

* * * * * *

However, 'twas a dandy duel and those Nylons are plenty fast and potent. Big Patterson (No. 4) bounces 'em around hard, and Udall was in great form, as well as carrying a pocket full of rabbits' feet. Partis was in nifty two-way form, with Gerow and Catlin breaking like fools when the opportunity came. Ross Nicholls was good, too, and Burns checked well. Monty's stickhandling was a feature, while up front Rochetta, Vitarelli and Parnell proved the most dangerous as some 2,300 fans found. Mike Rodden—who sends his regards to Dick Sheehy and Jerry Coughlin—likens Gerow's burst of speed around defence to that of Maurice Richard. One Legionnaire aptly remarked to us: "Looks like we need seven or eight chances right in there to score one goal." Oh, well, let's even it up tomorrow night here.

Name Sam Murphy Winner Of Craig Memorial Trophy

Sam Murphy has been named the winner of the Fred Craig Memorial Trophy, given annually by The Examiner to the baseball player in the city judged most valuable to his team. Alex. Kay, commissioner for minor ball in Peterborough, made the decision early in the hockey season, but the announcement was held back until the first spring month when thoughts begin to turn again to the diamond sport.

SAM MURPHY
The Fred Craig Memorial Trophy Winner.

Mr. Kay took a long time to reach his decision, saying that as he went through copious notes on other outstanding players for the 1949 season, the name of Sam Murphy kept coming up again and again. He is a right-handed pitcher, not a fast thrower, but with fine control and a good curve. He proved the main cog in the juvenile Southenders' machine, as it ground through the City Baseball League schedule to win the city title.

Played Four Years

Young Murphy, who is 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy of 339 London St. He played in the City Baseball League four years, starting as a shortstop but pitching for the past two season's for Gord Young's Southend squad. Medium-sized and redheaded, he wears glasses, and has played minor hockey and football, too, as well as lately acting in an executive sports capacity at Collegiate where he is in his fifth year. He is president of the PCVS Students' Council, and has been thinking of entering law.

The Craig Trophy is in memory of the late Fred (Josh) Craig, former sports editor of The Examiner and keen follower of baseball. It was first put up in 1945, with Jack Sisson the winner, Al Menzies won it the next year, followed in 1947 by Ken Pammett, and in 1948 by Don Pagett.

UMPIRE FOUND DEAD

William Guthrie, former American League baseball umpire, was found dead Monday in his Chicago hotel room. He was 64. Guthrie was released as an American League umpire in 1933 after serving five years.

Kitchener Curler Still Undefeated

VANCOUVER, March 7 (CP)—A dour Edmonton curler and an Iowa-born resident of Kitchener, loomed today as powerful men in the chase for the Dominion curling crown.

Still undefeated after two rounds of the classic were Cliff Manahan, the power behind the Alberta entry he skips and quiet Carl Asmussen, making his first showing in the event.

Manahan's rink defeated northern Ontario 13-12 in the first round Monday and New Brunswick 12-9 in the second. Asmussen's Ontario squad nipped Saskatchewan 9-6 and Manitoba 11-8.

Undefeated too, with victories over British Columbia and Prince Edward Island was Barney Haines, a Nova Scotia electrician skipping a young rink.

IN SEMI-FINAL—Vern Baxter (above) who meets Steve Stanlee in the semi-final match of this Thursday's mat card at the Brock. Baxter likes his action rough and he and Stanlee should dish up a torrid go as the blonde New Yorker can go along with most of the ring toughies. The opening bout will feature big-chested Barney Bernard against the fast-travelling Juan Hernandez. The main event brings together Dr. Len Hall and the hated Hindu, Nanjo Singh. Manager Jim Laidlaw has rounded out a well-balanced card with six top-flight grapplers in action.

Bob McFarlane Steals The Show

MONTREAL, March 7 (CP) — Big Bob McFarlane of the University of Western Ontario Monday night stole practically all the thunder from the much-touted John Joe Barry of Ireland in the Canadian Legion's fourth annual Dominion indoor track championships here.

Barry won the Legion mile, but McFarlane ran away with practically every race in sight, scattering records as he went. He gained sweet revenge on Mal Whitfield of Dayton, O., brilliant United States middle-distance runner who holds the Olympic Games 800-metres record.

Whitfield, a resident of Dayton, O., Monday night ran against McFarlane in the 500 yards. When Whitfield won the Olympics 800-metre, London, England, in 1948, McFarlane did not even qualify. But Monday night Bob ran the 500 in 58 seconds flat to break the old meet, Canadian indoor and provincial indoor open records.

McFarlane earlier had won the 1,000-yard race and after a rest helped brother Don, also a Canadian Olympic representative in 1948, and two others from the London, Ont., university win the one-mile relay.

Canadiens Grab 3rd Place Tie Detroit Red Wings 2-2

MONTREAL, March 7 (CP) — Montreal Canadiens Monday night took sole possession of third place in National Hockey League standings by tieing Detroit Red Wings 2-2 in the only clash scheduled.

The one point the Habitants garnered broke a deadlock with New York Rangers.

In Monday night's tussle before 14,341 fans at Detroit, Marty Pavelich's third period goal saved "Sid Abel night" for the Red Wings.

Abel, popular team captain, was presented with an automobile by fans in a pre-game ceremony. The fans — sporting red buttons marking "Sid Abel Night" —were rewarded when the fiery centre player bagged his 31st goal in the middle period.

Ted Lindsay, second youngest member of Detroit's ace attacking line, leads the scoring race with 20 goals and 43 assists for a total of 63 points. Lindsay was unable to pick up any points Monday night, but did add two minutes to his ever-increasing total of penalties.

The battling Renfrew born left-winger is third in the penalty field. Chicago's Bill Gadsby is most penalized player with 124 minutes in the cooler; one minute more than Toronto's Bill Ezinicki. Lindsay follows with 120 minutes.

Abel's goals and 28 assists gave him a strong hold on second place in individual scoring with 59 points, three ahead of Gordie Howe who completes a Detroit three-man line at the top of the list with an even 28-28.

In fourth place is Boston's Paul Ronty with 23 goals and 31 assists, having unseated Maurice (The Rocket) Richard of Montreal from that position during weekend games.

Richard continues to lead in the sniping division with 34 markers which added to his 19 assists give him a total of 53 points. Tied four points behind are Metro Prystai of Chicago and teammate Doug Bentley.

Most penalized club is Toronto with 698 minutes in the hoosegow.

Bill Durnan's chances for the Vezina Trophy don't seem compromised by his week's leave of absence with an injury.

The 35-year-old Montreal goaltender has been sidetracked since last Thursday when he suffered a deep cut above the left eye during a game against Chicago. Big Bill was operated on Monday night to drain the blood from the gash and club officials say he won't be back in the line-ups for at least a week.

Replacing him in the Habitants' nets is Gerry McNeil of Cincinnati Mohawks, a Montreal farm club of the American Hockey League.

Durnan still leads the regular goalies in the league with 130 goals against in 58 games for an average of 2.24. Harry Lumley of Detroit is next with 12 goals in 53 games for a 2.32 average.

Sure Cartoon To Take Prize, Typist Correct

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC, March 7 (CP)—Lucien Emond is a pint-sized provincial government clerk-typist whose self-confidence as an artist would stagger a mature professional. Recently, the 24-year-old unknown carried off a $200 prize as the best amateur cartoonist in Quebec province.

A jury which included one of Canada's best-known cartoonists, Montreal's Robert La Palme picked the young Quebecer's cartoon of Lower Town street scene crowded with some 100 figures, from the work of 45 contestants, most of them from Montreal's Fine Arts School.

Emond sent in the cartoon, he says, feeling absolutely sure he would win first prize.

The youthful Quebecer started cartooning only a year ago. He relates that after examining the local papers day after day he came to the conclusion he could do as well as any of the artists represented in the local pages.

Ask For More

He followed up his decision with a cartoon and offered it to Le Soleil. The Quebec French language daily accepted it and asked for more.

A few months and many cartoons later, Emond, decided to do up one of his cartoon in water color. Again, without hesitating or inquiring, he walked into a weekly newspaper's office in Montreal and offered the painting. It was bought on the spot. The publication is to feature the drawing in full color next summer.

Emond wanted to become an engineer but a severe attack of asthma halted his studies. He turned to drawing, finally enrolled in the Quebec Fine Arts School where he learned the fundamentals of drawing.

Seek New Contract

TORONTO, March 7 — (CP) — The Canadian Seamen's Union said Monday it will apply for conciliation proceedings to negotiate a new contract for Paterson Steamship Limited, Fort William. The union is asking for a number of changes in working conditions in the Great Lakes fleet.

GOOD NEIGHBOUR POLICY

Hanging out my laundry I noticed that Mrs. Layton's, next door, was whiter. I couldn't help asking her why. 'Reckitt's Blue keeps out that yellow tinge', she said. 'Just swish it through the final rinse. You can only obtain pure white with blue, and you don't take chances with anything that may damage fabric.' That's what I call good neighbourliness and good advice. It's Reckitt's Blue for me from now on, particularly as it costs so little.

MP Threatens

Liberals, resign with him over the railway issue.

The only immediate reaction was interjection by T. G. W. Ashbourne (L-Grand Falls-White Bay) to the effect that Mr. Higgins should speak for himself.

His statements, stirring the Chamber during a dull throne-speech debate, coincided with a complaint by A. Wesley Stuart, Liberal member for the New Brunswick constituency of Charlotte, that the "selfishness of Upper Canada" was hampering Maritime development.

Other speakers included E. B. Huffman (L-Kent) and E. Catherwood (PC-Haldimand).

Writ For By-Election

Speaker Ross Macdonald announced the issuance of a writ for a by-election in the Nova Scotia seat of Annapolis-Kings. Election of the sitting Liberal, Angus Elderkin, has been declared void because of irregularities in service voting.

Mr. Stuart, deploring the continued centralization of industry in central Canada, said the Maritimes were forced through high tariffs to support monopolies in Ontario and Quebec. Yet, they found it harder to sell their products in central Canada than in the United States.

Noting that some persons were advocating early construction of the St. Lawrence seaway as a means of moving Labrador ore to central Canada for smelting, he suggested every Maritime member oppose the project if a better argument could not be advanced. The ore could easily be treated in the Maritimes.

Blames Union

Mr. Higgins attributed growing unemployment in Newfoundland to the union with Canada and urged that Newfoundland fishermen be allowed to accept sterling as payment for their product. At most, this would cost only $15,000,000 and would assist them until they could fall into the Canadian trade pattern.

The rest of Canada was receiving benefits which were not even mentioned before the island joined the Dominion. For example, the other provinces now were selling to Newfoundland $40,000,000 more in goods than they were able to dispose of there before Confederation.

Mr. Catherwood suggested the government adopt a policy of selective immigration. He did not think that immigration should be curtailed. The country could support a larger population, despite the fact there now was some unemployment.

Mr. Huffman asked for changes in the Veterans' Land Act to enable veterans to buy decent land for small holdings and still be able to build adequate homes. More stress should be placed on conservation.

Capt. Laking Dies

Laking was born in Dundalk and as a young man was a speed skater and played lacrosse and hockey. He had served as master of a number of freighters including the United Lumberman and the George I. Canadian Drama Needs Expert Direction—Wray

MONTREAL, March 7 (CP)—Maxwell Wray noted British actor, director and producer, finds that Canadian amateur dramatics are in a "healthy" state but need "expert" direction.

Mr. Wray is adjudicating regional drama festivals throughout Canada, preliminary to the Dominion Drama Festival in Calgary the week of May 8.

"The Dominion festival crystalizes something good in Canadian drama," he said Monday night at the opening of the Western Quebec regional contest at which he judged the Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Association entry—J. B. Priestley's "I Have Been Here Before."

Need Expert Leadership

Noting he had seen 30 plays in six regions already, he said:

"I have come to the conclusion that there is an extremely strong dramatic movement in Canada. It is in a healthy state, but still in its infancy. Amateur drama in Canada needs expert direction."

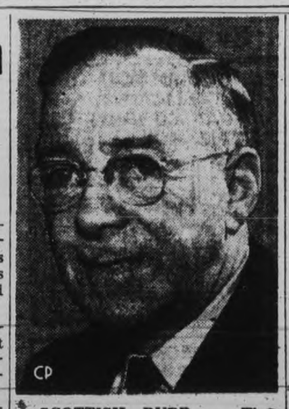
Mr. Wray lauded the Montreal group for its "reasonable and intelligent" interpretation of Priestley's three-act suspense-filled drama which deals with the recurrence of time events—the reliving of certain events in one's past life. However, he said, the cast of six failed to bring out "the delicate atmospheric pressure" required of the mystery drama.

Tonight's performance will be Jean Cocteau's version of Sophocles 'ancient Greek tragedy "Antigone," entered by La Compagnie du Masque.

Sell In Ordinary Way

OTTAWA, March 7 (CP)—The government hopes to sell "in the ordinary way" all of the 25,000,000 pounds of butter it now is holding, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Monday in the Commons. He was replying to L. E. Cardiff (PC-Huron North), who asked about a newspaper report that the government was going to dispose of 10,000,000 pounds of butter.

Open Ford Fund



DETROIT, March 7 — (AP) — Henry Ford, II, president of the Ford Motor Company, Monday announced the formation of the Ford Motor Company fund, a charitable, non-profit organization. While he did not disclose the amount of money it would have available, its purpose "will be the alleviation of want and human suffering and the betterment of mankind."

New Lehr Dies

BROOKLINE, Mass., March 7 (AP)—Lew Lehr, 54, famed for his newsreel comedies and his remark that "Monkeys is the cwaziest people," died Monday. Although known largely as a fat comedian with a pinpoint black mustache, whose forte was describing the movie antics of performing chimpanzees, Lehr was also a writer and editor of short subjects.

Stove Explodes

THREE RIVERS, Que., March 7 (CP)—The freak explosion of a kitchen stove water front Monday killed eight-year-old Roland St. Yves and injured two of his brothers and a sister. The explosion occurred in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alderville St. Yves, of the nearby Ste. Ursule parish. The St. Yves have 17 surviving children.

SCOTTISH BURR — The gentle Scottish burr of William (Scotty) Bryce was heard first in the House of Commons after his election as a CCF member from the Manitoba constituency of Selkirk in a 1943 by-election. He was returned in 1945 and again in 1949. Born Sept. 17, 1888, at Lanark, Scotland, he came to Canada in 1919 and farmed at Dugald, Man. Mr. Bryce was president of the Manitoba Farmers' Association from 1941 to 1943. He has one son and three daughters.

Canadian Oil And Ore Could Kill Deficit

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 7—(CP)—Canadian oil and iron ore deposits can conceivably wipe out Canada's trade deficit with the United States, George Prudham, parliamentary assistant to the minister of resources and development, said here Saturday night.

Speaking at a joint meeting of the American Institute of Planners and the Canadian Institute of Professional Town Planners, he said an active and growing resources program is important to Canada and that high levels of employment are dependent on large volume of private investment within the country.

VANCOUVER, March 7 (CP)—Life-giving barley was dropped from the air Monday for a flock of 100 rare trumpeter swans wintering at ice-coated Lonesome Lake, 350 miles northeast of here. Give Them Cards At 4 Years Open Ice-Box For Teen-Age Priest Tells 1,000 Parents

"American and Canadian parents are the most wonderful in the world," the Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., told an audience of about 1,000 in the Brock Street Summer Gardens on Monday night. "But", he added, "they are desperately afraid of their children." The speaker, a cassocked Jesuit priest with an avuncular manner, quipped and wisecracked his way through a 90-minute speech entitled "Fun in the Family." But the hard core of his address contained conclusions drawn from his many years of observing children and parent-child relationships.

In a seeming paradox, similar to others he used throughout his night's message, he turned to the parents and said: "You are closer to the original colonial people of this continent than to your own children."

As different nations have developed their own costumes, customs and language, so have today's children.

The "sloppy-joe" sweaters of the girls and "pork-pie" hats of the boys are typical of the 'teenagers desire for their own costume, he stated. Customs are similarly apart from the adults and the esoteric language completely baffles grownups who have not a glossary handy.

"They battle you," he reiterated to the parents, "and they intend to keep on baffling you."

Fun in the family doesn't basically mean fun between parent and children but between mother and father, stated Father Lord.

The relation between parents will be reflected in the attitude of their children, he said.

"The youngsters of today are the most observant and logical people that ever lived," continued Father Lord who likes children and doesn't think they are going to the dogs.

An example of this observation and logic is the laconic reply given by youngsters to some grownup preamble: "So what?"

"That's a pretty hard question to answer sometimes," he said.

Jack Douglas Again Charged

Jack Douglas, 37, of Toronto, was charged today in police court with being an accessory after the fact in connection with an alleged phoney contract between an H. Moore and Hancock Motor Sales, and was remanded on $2,000 bail until March 29.

He was previously charged with the same offence, but the charge was withdrawn Jan. 16. Now that Aubrey S. Hancock has been arrested in Vancouver, and is expected in Peterborough at any time, Douglas joins two Peterborough men also charged with being accessories after the fact in connection with the alleged $100,000 car finance swindle which led to a charge of forgery against Hancock.

The other two men, Richard O'Brien, 25, of 512 Stewart St., and James King, George St. N., appeared in court Monday and released on $1,000 bail.

No action is expected in the charges against these three men until Hancock has been formally charged.

SKIING TONIGHT

A large crowd of skiers is expected to be on the Kempt's Hill slopes tonight as the skiing season in this area begins to show signs of closing. The conditions are described as good for this time of the year. Skiing was excellent Saturday at Kempt's and Bethany but on Sunday conditions were the opposite when the Ski Club was host to a bus-load of skiers from Toronto at Bethany.

RETREAT SPEAKER

The Rev. William G. Berry of Regina will be the guest speaker at a "Lenten Fellowship Retreat" in Mark St. Church Wednesday night under the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church. The meeting will be under the chairmanship of the Rev. Dr. James Semple of George St. Church.

Her Great Voice Great Art Enthrals Host

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

The concert given by Kathleen Ferrier on Monday night reached a level which no singer visiting Peterborough has touched during the experience of the present writer, which covers eight years of concert-going in this city. We have had some fine singers here, under the auspices of the Community Concert Association and other groups, but none to rival this magnificent English contralto.

To say that Miss Ferrier has one of the great voices of our time, and that she uses it with great technical skill, is merely to repeat what everyone knows. What we have not seen wide comment upon is the artistry and intelligence which she applies to each song. It is usual to refer to singers as "artists" though this often means a misuse of the word But Miss Ferrier adds to her natural gift and her technical accomplishment qualities of taste discretion, humour and poetic understanding which put her work in a class with that of a very few of the greatest singers now living

Miss Ferrier has an appreciation of the dignity, grace and nuance of the English language which is unique among concert singers in North America. She has no decided accent of any kind, and singers who are anxious to gain a command of beautiful English should wear out many albums of her records, studying her judicious use of our vowels and dinhthongs, and her perfect command of consonants. But it is safe to say that this perfection of speech is not the result of training only, but is in far greater degree the outcome of a genuine love of the language and of great poetry.

Superlative Program

This would be of no avail if it were applied to trivial songs. Miss Ferrier's program was a model of musical planning. What is the usual singer's program? A handful of foreign classics perfunctorily performed, a handful of lieder; a riproaring aria or two from opera, and finally a bundle of radio-broadcast trivialities and cheap settings of cheap verse. In the encores the program touches bottom, having slithered painfully from the best of song to the worst. What did Miss Ferrier do? She began with a group of fine Handel and Purcell arias in English; she continued with two Elizabethan songs and Lotti's beautiful "Pur dicesti," and ended the first part of her program with "Che faro" from Gluck's "Orfeo." After the interval she gave us five admirably chosen songs in German, and ended her program with five lovely folk - songs, performed without a trace of that disagreeable patronage which lesser singers so often feel appropriate to songs which are simple, but not trivial. Her encores were on a level with the best which she had sung otherwise. This was a program which was varied, but which never sagged, and never betrayed or insulted the audience.

The evening was a delight from start to finish. Mr. John Newmark played Miss Ferrier's accompaniments with warm sympathy and great spirit, and his two solo numbers were performed on the high level of musicianship which Miss Ferrier had set. He is to be thanked for showing us afresh how much beauty there is in MacDowell's much-abused reverie "To a Wild Rose."

This concert brought the Association's series to a close in a manner which will rank in memory with such highlights of past seasons as the visits of William Primrose and Gregor Piatigorsky.

Bank Gong Goes

Police court procedure was shattered today by the sudden ringing of an alarm bell which echoed through the whole police station.

It was the burglar alarm of the Bank of Montreal and Constables Andre Dalton, Claire McGillen and provincial constable Ray Pope went charging over to the bank across the corner. They had answered false alarms before but they were taking no chances.

Once again a girl clerk had stepped on an alarm switch situated on the floor.

CGE Turns Over $16,000 To UE Withheld Dues

About four months' checkoff dues, totalling some $16,000, are being turned over to the UE by the CGE, UE officials said today. This was learned Monday afternoon in Toronto during the Company-Union discussions for an amended master contract.

Dues were withheld during the four-month battle between the UE and IUE (CIO-CCL) for the allegiance of the more than 3,000 production workers at the Peterborough plant. The Company said it would withhold the money and put the whole matter in the hands of the courts pending outcome of the jurisdictional fight.

A week ago today the Ontario Labor Relations Board rejected the application of the IUE to be the legal bargaining agent at the Peterborough plant. Apparently this was sufficient reason for the Company to decide the matter was settled, withdraw the matter from the courts, and put the cheque in the mail.

On November 3, after the split was openly made in the ranks of the CGE workers, the UE issued an injunction enjoining the former top executive (many of whom turned IUE) from handling the union's funds. This involved an account of approximately $16,000 also.

Still Controversial?

Cyril (Cy) O'Donnell, recording secretary of Local 524, IUE, said today he was unable to account for the Company's actions.

"I understand it was in the hands of the courts," he said, "and now it seems that the Company was just withholding the money."

He agreed the Company had a right to regard the UE as the legal bargaining agent now that the IUE application had been rejected, but said the ownership of checkoff money, withheld during the four-month fight, was still a matter of controversy.

Monday afternoon the Company officials re-opened negotiations with the four Toronto UE plants—and for the first time—Local 525. Previously they had not agreed to Peterborough's sitting in on the joint talks.

Approximately 5,000 workers in the Toronto and Peterborough plants are affected. The Cobourg plant, formerly a member of UE-GE Joint Negotiating Committee, has since joined the IUE and is consequently not included.

A strike vote has been taken and approved by the four Toronto locals but its implementation was withheld pending outcome of the IUE application in Peterborough.

Will Implement Report

The Company has offered to implement the majority report of the Conciliation Board which brought in its recommendations at the end of December. Main provision of the report was a reduction in the work week at the Toronto plants from 44 to 42 hours, and in Peterborough from 45 to 42 hours, with a compensating pay increase of 4.77 per cent.

In a minority report the UE asked that the work week "be reduced uniformly to 42 hours with a wage increase, on this issue, sufficient to maintain take-home pay."

The Union also asked that increases be retroactive to July 1, 1949 instead of 10 weeks prior the agreement as recommended in the majority report.

Borrow $615,000 To Finish Sewage Plant

Authority to borrow $615,000 by the issue and sale of debentures to pay for improvement and completion of the sewage disposal plant was embodied in a bylaw to which the council gave third and final reading Monday night.

Hardy Construction Company are working on this contract. The bylaw received the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board, to whom it was submitted after the second reading The debentures will be issued when the money is needed.

A little sheaf of bylaws before the council Monday night represented the cost of civic expansion Completion of the sewage disposal plant was one of the projects entailed in the development.

Another bylaw introduced by Ald. H. F Waddell, seconded by Ald. J. A. Dewart, sanctioned the issue of debentures in the amount of $22,000 for the purchase of lands required for pro ective i dustrial sites. A kindred bylaw authorized actual purchase of the properties.

New Sidewalks.

Permission to borrow $14,789.77 for the laying of concrete sidewalks was provided in a bylaw by Ald. H. Dodds and Ald. J D Miller. The construction bylaw was passed last year, and presumably City Engineer Chalmers has completed essential improvement Streets named in the funding bylaw were: Carlisle, Braidwood Hunter, Water, Kent, King, Hart George, Sherbrooke, Elm, Arndon Monaghan Road and St Catherine.

Still another bylaw authorized the borrowing of $142,369 58 to pay for the street pavement laid last year on: Water, Sherbrooke King, Armour Road, Monaghan Road and Park Hill Road. It had received the approval of the Municipal Board and required third reading. This bylaw was introduced by Ald Dodds and Miller.

Borrowing of $98,053.47 is required to pay for the sewers which City Engineer Chalmers built last year. Most of this work was done on the new streets and some of it, on older streets which came into the city with annexation from North Monaghan.

Twenty Six Streets.

As a reminder of the extent of this work and its distribution around the city, the streets in the Dodds-Miller bylaw were named as follows: Caddy, Wolsley, Monaghan Road, O'Connel Avenue, Rose, St. Catherine, St. Mary's, Mervin, Frank, Swanston Mark Hazeldean, King George, Hawley, Little, McKellar, Snelgrove, Graham, Montrose, Lillian, Howden, Lundy's Lane, Gillespie, Carlisle St. Luke's and McFarlane.

The street paving program proposed for this year was outlined in another bylaw which received two readings. Its details have already been published.

The sections of streets listed are: Park St. from McDonnel St to Park Hill Road.

Rogers St. from the end of the present pavement to St James St

Lock St from Lansdowne to King George St.

Monaghan Road from Sherbrooke St. to Wolfe St.

Perry and Townsend Streets between Park and Aylmer Streets.

And storm drains on: Lock St from Lansdowne St. to King George St.; and on Lansdowne St. from Romaine St. to Lansdowne St.

Not Yet Needed.

Ald. Doug Miller said he had been asked why the stretch of Monaghan Road from Wolfe St to Frank St. had been ommitted

Mayor Swanston said that a sewer had t yet been built on that block of Monaghan Road. "There is no use putting down a pavement, and then having to tear it up another year."

Ald. Miller: "Do you think a sewer will be needed there?"

Mayor Swanston: "I have reason to believe that it will be needed, although it has not been neccessary up to now. The prospects are that it is coming into being."

Ald. Miller: "Thanks, Mr. Mayor."

Dump Down, Up

Old fashioned garbage collection equipment had a humiliating experience this morning. Turning from Murray St. into George St., part of the load piled high along the sides spilled off and scattered over a wide area on the road.

Quickly a rescue squad went into action and several men gathered up the spilt boxes of garbage and bits or refuse. They collected it and piled it, not back into the horse-drawn wagon, but onto the loading platform of the Sani-van which hoisted it into the hopper.

Loyal Worker Is Said Of Dr. A. J. Madill

Dr. Alonzo J. Madill, who died suddenly Friday on a city bus, was a man like the servant with five talents in the biblical parable. He had many native abilities and he used them all, said Rev. Ivan C. Morgan in a funeral tribute to Dr. Madill in Murray St. Baptist Church Monday.

"No minister could ever dream of having a more loyal supporter and worker in his congregation," Rev. Morgan continued. "He was a Christian through and through."

All his talents were used in the interest of the church, Mr. Morgan stated. He told of Dr. Madill's readiness to perform the many little tasks about the church which others did not think of. One example of this was that Dr. Madill, early each Sunday morning, came to the church and made sure that hymn books were distributed throughout the pews.

Representatives of the many interests of Dr. Madill's life were on hand to demonstrate their regard for him. Among the large gathering in the sunlit church were former Normal school students whom he had taught as Science Master for 26 years until his retirement in 1944.

The Nomal school's principal, Leo Copp, and the teaching staff were present. There were also members of the Horticultural Society and organizations of which he was always an acttive member.

As well as Dr. Madill's many unofficial activities about the church he was superintendent of Sunday School 20 years, a member of the Board of Deacons for about the same period and its chairman at his death.

Dr. H. H. Bingham, General Secretary of the Baptist Conference of Ontaro and Quebec and a lifelong friend of Dr. Madill, assisted at the service with a prayer. Led by members of the church choir, the congregation sang Dr. Madill's favorite hymn, Still, Still With Thee.

Honorary pallbearers were: A. W. Wray, W. G. Shiner, D. A. Loomis, Albert Gifford, W. Tranter, Dr. S. J. Graham, H. H. Graham, G. W. Fitzgerald and Rev. L. B. McDormond.

Active pallbearers were: Frank Ephgrave, Howard Frise, Louis Horning, Earl McNabb, Orley Axford, and Clarence Boorman.

Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Packinghouse Union Re-elects Wm. Gunn

Following is a complete list of Local 293 officers who represent the organized employees of Quaker Oats: William Gunn, president; Orvil Wesenberg, vice-president; Watson Butcher, financial secretary; Dorothy Murphy, recording secretary; Cecil Watson, treasurer; Bruce Morgan, chief steward; and trustees Fred Flaherty and Edward Duncan.

City Council Seeks To Cut 1950 Expenditures To Permit 49 Mill Rate

Peterborough's 1950 tax rate was emerging at 49.5 mills (four mills more than last year) at the meeting Monday night of the finance committee of the council. Adjournment was sounded on a note of agreement to return tonight in quest of a loose half-mill that could be pried off in further fractional retreat from the 50-mill mark. Separate School Board's requisition was not in the council's hands Monday, and thus there was no possibility of striking the rate. So, with time on its hands, although the estimates of the Separate School Board are due today, the finance committee Monday night decided to delve into the volume of figures, chiefly expected expenditures this year, for $19,000 that might be subtracted from the imposing total, without loss of efficiency in the civic administration and maintenance.

Ald. Herbert Young remarked that the public had become reconciled to the prospect of a 50-mill rate for this year.

"But, that's no reason why we should not try to keep it at 49 mills," said Ald. Doug. Miller. "I believe we can do it."

Ald. A. B. Burrows said: "I agree with Ald. Miller. If we can keep the rate at 49 mills, let's do it. If property owners have become conditioned to 50 mills for this year, that's no reason why we should adopt it."

Ald. Burrows continued: "We haven't really sat down and pared anything as it was pared last year. We have all become so conditioned to a 50-mill rate that we appear inclined to accept 49½ mills with little criticism. We are taking too much for granted."

Equivalent to $19,000

Replying to Ald. Burrows, the chairman, Ald. Hugh Waddell, said half a mill in the tax rate was equivalent to $19,000.

"I think we could find it for half a mill," Ald. Burrows said.

Ald. Miller: "I think so too. We might begin on the parks committee, and then, Mr. Matthews of the Utilities Commission said they might do a little better on the water rate if we needed it."

Ald. Waddell had previously reviewed the council's tax structure for this year, and stressed the fact that the number of mills controllable by the council was no larger than last year.

The bulk of the increase in the rate over that of 1949 was a reflection of the first payments on the $1,500,000 borrowing for the Civic Hospital. There was also half a mill increase in the public school rate required by the growth of the city and its junior population.

The first debentures for the hospital amounted to $600,000, but further financing became imperative and the issue of debentures for the additional money was in the amount of $1,500,000

Ald. Miller recalled that the year the council had a deficit of $30,000 "the chairman of the finance committee did not bring the committees together and call a halt on spending as was done last

Look Out For Bogus Bills Ten Dollar Phonies Around

Look at your ten-dollar bill, or bills if you have them in multiple, for little green dots, and know thereby that it is genuine currency.

Mr. A. D. Cameron of the Bank of Montreal showed the Examiner the distinguishing marks, comparing an honest bill with two specimens of a fairly clever forgerer. You probably would not notice them unless your attention was directed to them. They appear to be little ink spots, irregularly placed in the watermark of the paper, front and back, and cannot be rubbed off. Mr. Cameron's name for them is planchettes.

The two bogus bills were received from the RCMP, Ottawa, and have to be returned. The paper itself is of softer fibre, feels mo 'raggy,' than that of the genuine ten-dollar bill.

In small type under the words "Bank of Canada" is the line "will pay to the bearer on demand" which has a smudged appearance in the counterfeit. It is rather indistinct and the ink of the words can be rubbed off.

The bogus tens that have been picked out of circulation have been in a group of lettered prefixes in front of the serial numbers which are printed in red. In front of the number of any ten-dollar bill are two letters in red, one above the other. The group to be suspicious of is designated by these letter combinations: O/D; R/D; S/D; T/D and U/D.

Mr. Cameron said the engraving work of the forgerer is close to excellent, and is readily deceptive in ordinary exchange.

Home Is Blamed For Increase In Crime Today

Contrary to common belief, crime in Canada is increasing not decreasing, Col. Wallace Buntin of the Salvation Army told the Rotary Club Monday. Col. Buntin is Prison Secretary for Canada for the Salvation Army. His topic was "After Prison, What?"

Many of the worst crimes, in the increasing underworld, are being committed by youths 15 years to 25 years old, said Col. Buntin. The Ten Commandments are broken a hundreds time and over by them, he added. The cause of 99 per cent of crime can be traced back to the home. The home, he explained, is "a city within a city, a country within a country and a world within a world."

Col. Buntin emphasized the importance of building the character of youth in the home rather than in a jail or prison.

During a trip to the United States where he visited many prisons, Col. Buntin said he was asked many times the question that is disturbing the world today, "After Prison, What?" As in Canada the crime wave is increasing in the United States. In Canada in two years two prisons have been added.

As far back as 1879 when the Salvation Army was known as the Christian Mission, work was started to help the criminals. In Melbourne, Australia, the Salvation Army started the "prison gate homes." From there the homes were started in 1882 in England, 1884 in the United States and in 1889 in Toronto.

The Army workers met the prisoners when they left the prisons. They took them to Salvation Army homes where the men and women were rehabilitated into society. The "prison gate homes" have now spread to 90 countries and colonies.

Working with the thought that in every heart there is human feeling which can be restored by grace, Col. Buntin intimated, the workers talk common sense with the criminals, not religion. In this way, the men see a brighter and better day.

Col. Buntin said that every day in the courts in Canada there is a representative of the Salvation Army. These men give no thought of denomination, creed or nationality, he added, but think of the individual as someone's son, father or husband who has gone astray. The criminals are given the right hand of fellowship.

The first contact with the criminal is made in the courtroom. When the criminal is in prison, they are able to sit and talk with them easily. Humorously, Col. Buntin told of one visit to a prison where he joined in a poker game with long-term criminals. By talking in their language and playing their games he became their friend. Gradually he taught them how to make a Bible out of a deck of cards. Most of these men fitted back into society upon leaving prison.

Ross L. Dobbin introduced the speaker who was thanked by Thomas Taylor.

Friends Advise Young Student Against Taking Part In Politics

Since he graduated from PCVS, during the latter part of the war, Raymond Sutcliffe, son of the Rev. Joseph H. Sutcliffe, the Rev. Ivan Morgan's predecessor as minister of Murray St. Baptist Church, he has enjoyed an exciting period of study in political science.

With nine other top students in his political science class at Colgate University, Hamilton, New York, he spent a term in Washington, studying the workings of Congress with particular attention to parties and pressure groups.

After majoring in political science, Mr. Sutcliffe entered the Maxwell School of Citizenship, Syracuse, in January this year.

Raymond Sutcliffe decided to plan a career in public administration, despite the advice of most of his friends not to get mixed up in politics.

"Friends advised me against taking part in anything connected with politics," he said recently, when discussing his plans, "they told me it is unclean. But I am convinced that politics and public administration will make a fascinating and useful career," he declared.

Born in Sangerfield, N.Y., in 1927, Mr. Sutcliffe lived in Peterborough 18 years, returning to the states in 1945.

He had just time to acquire a liking for his studies when he joined the Army Air Corps and from 1946 to 1947, served as personnel consultant in the Corps.

Back at Colgate, he completed a four year course in three years.

He attended summer sessions to make up time lost in military service.

Report Chaplin To Cash In On Television

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, March 7 (AP) —The town has been buzzing with reports that Charlie Chaplin is spending $500,000 to improve his relations with the public. Now there appears a reason for the move—television.

At first, the Chaplin reports seemed like merely an attempt to get back into the good graces of the American press and public. But observers feel that the real reason is an attempt to cash in on the new medium.

There have been indications that the famed comic would like to video, thus creating a new and widespread audience.

Notes 'N' Stuff

Ronald Reagan celebrated his 39th birthday on the "Louisa" set. Says he: "I'm going to pull a Jack Benny: this is the last birthday I'm going to celebrate."

Quebec-born Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powell made one of their infrequent public appearances to see Sarah Churchill and Jeffrey Lynn in "The Philadelphia Story" at the Biltmore.

Deborrah Kerr feels that only a fluke would cause her to win the academy award for her acting in "Edward, My Son." But she's still hoping.

Emlyn Williams, British playwright-actor, will stay in Hollywood for his second U. S. film after he finishes "Three Husbands." He'll make "The Dungeon" with academy contenders Mercedes McCambridge, wife of Toronto's Fletcher Markle, and John Ireland. Williams returns to Britain in May to do a play.

Marta Toren wants to bring her four-year-old nephew to the US, but can't adopt him because she is unmarried.

Express Sympathy

TORONTO, March 7 (CP) — The Ontario Legislature Monday expressed sympathy to W. J. Grummett (CCF-Cochrane South) whose father, John Grummett, 85, died Friday night at the home of his daughter in Owen Sound.

MULE-HEADED STRIKER—Though not a union miner, Pete, a 12-year-old mule at the Bosack coal mine near Pottsville, Pa., is engaged in a one-mule strike. Pete and two miners were trapped for eight hours in the Basock mine before being rescued, accounting for the mule's reluctance to re-enter the pit.

Three Canadians Awarded Grants

Arrested In Peterborough Man Sentenced To 10 Years

BRANTFORD, March 7 (CP). —Sydney Fenton, 36, Monday was sentenced to 10 years for wounding with intent to maim, George Tipper, Elgin Street confectioner, October 15.

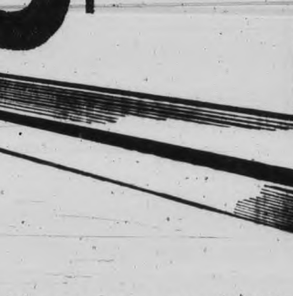
Sentencing Fenton, Magistrate R. J. Gillen said: "You should consider yourself lucky that you are not facing a murder charge."

Evidence was that Fenton used a 15-inch file to assault Mr. Tipper with the intent of robbing him.

In a statement to police following his arrest in Peterborough, Fenton said that the robbery was planned by a woman with whom he had been living as man and wife.

Dwelling on Fenton's statement that the woman led him to carry out the attack on the confectioner, Magistrate Gillen said his attempt to lay the blame on the woman was "rather cowardly."

"Even if she did, there is no evidence here that she wielded the file," the magistrate declared.



Fenton's statement said he met the woman in Kirkland Lake two years ago and she later enticed him to come to Brantford to live with her in 1948.
